Sole Survivor Saw No Signal Man

YOUNG JOHNSTON TELLS HIS STORY OF FATAL CRASH

Only Survivor of Crash Near Cobourg Says No Signalman Was Present.

SAW THE TRAIN.

Young Man Shouted Warning to His Father, But it Came Too Late.

COBOURG, May 27. — (C. P.) — The sole survivor of the smash-up at dawn yesterday when six members of the Johnston family of Hamilton were killed by a west-bound C.N.R. engine, declared to-day there was no signal man at the crossing from the time the occupants of the car came in view of it till the moment the fatal crash occurred, according to an interview given to-day.

Doing about 15.

"I was watching for the crossing," Robert Johnston, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Johnston, Sr., who is now in the hospital with severe cuts and bruises.

"We were doing about 15 miles an hour. When we first sighted the crossing we were quite near it. There was no sign of a flagman. I saw a train. I shouted to dad to stop. It was too late. There was a blinding light, then a terrible smash.

"The next I remember was coming to on the side of the track. I seemed to be in the midst of the others. I heard father groan, and I put one of the car cushions under his head. I then saw one of the children move. I picked him up and wiped the blood from his face. It was Robbie."

The young man remembers very little more. "I was taken to a nearby house, and then to the hospital. That is all I remember."

NOTED VIOLINIST PLAYS ON STREET

Jaques Gordon Collects $5.74 Acting Beggar to Settle Argument.

PEOPLE LOVE MUSIC.

CHICAGO, Ills., May 27.—(C.P.)—A prince of violinists hid behind the tatters and smoked glasses of a blind pauper on a Chicago street corner.

From his $40,000 Stradivarius flowed the same golden notes with which he had cast his spell over rapt audiences in many a crowded concert house. Little clusters gathered about. A few, unhurried by some more important errand, lingered long enough to hear Schubert's "Ave Maria" to its end.

A few dimes and pennies jingled in the beggar's cup, and the listeners straggled on.

Jacques Gordon, for nine years concertmeister of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, whose cultured bow draws $1,000 in the concert hall, wheedled $5.74 from a casual street corner audience yesterday.

The famous violinist undertook his beggar's role to decide a dispute concerning whether the public appreciated music for itself or was attracted by the magnetism of society audiences and the fame of the artists. With a group of friends he conspired to play the beggar on a corner of Michigan boulevard.

So Jacques Gordon settled for his conspirators that pepole go to concerts because they love music. And he gave away to charity the $5.74 "box office" receipts of a street corner recital by a concertmeiser on a $40,000 Stradivarius played by Paganini.

DR. ALFRED J. GRANT DIES AT HIS HOME IN LONDON

LONDON, Ont., May 27 (Canadian Press). — Dr. Alfred J. Grant, chief surgeon of St. Joseph's Hospital and vice-president of the Ontario Medical Association, died at his home here this morning after an illness of three weeks with heart trouble combined with pneumonia.

Dr. Grant occupied a prominent place in his profession. He had served on the Board of Education as chairman of the High School Committee, and for two years was president of the London Chamber of Commerce. He was a valued member of the teaching staff of the University of Western Ontario Medical School of which he was a graduate. He was born in London, a son of the late James Grant.

Catholics May Eat Meat Two Holidays

CHICAGO, Ills., May 27 (Canadian Press). — Catholics of the Chicago Archdiocese by special dispensation of His Eminence George Cardinal Mundelein will be permitted to eat meat on Memorial Day and Independence Day, both of which fall on Friday this year. The Rev. Mgr. Maguire, Chancellor of the Archdiocese, said the dispensation, unique in the Catholic Church in the United States, was given in order that no hardship would be caused to holiday picnickers.

FORTY ARE KILLED DURING FIGHTING ON WATERFRONTS

Centre of Conflict is Between Burmans and Hindus.

SITUATION CRITICAL.

Hospitals Full as 740 Are Treated For Dagger and Gunshot Wounds.

RANGOON, Burma, India, May 27 (Canadian Press). — Rioting continued here to-day in spite of the strictest police regulations. With 40 natives killed and 740 treated for wounds in the hospitals the situation was regarded as critical.

740 Wounded.

An official report of the casualties not counting those of to-day indicated that 740 had been treated in the hospitals, including 2 for gunshot wounds.

These figures, it was emphasized, did not include persons who had received treatment at the scene of the riots on the waterfront, and did not include to-day's figures.

All doctors and nurses in Rangoon to-day were requisitioned by the Government for special duty at the hospitals which were filled to overflowing with victims of the disorders. The Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals took personal command of the relief work.

The natives, of whom it appeared nearly every individual was armed, wielded daggers with such telling effect that the number treated for lacerations far exceeded that of the firing by police, or those belabored with staves.

The center of the conflict was between Burmans and Hindus.

Other Andras coolies were found to-day, suffering from gunshot wounds received during the fight with the Burmans.

ELEVATOR MAN IS NOW BARONET

Quits Job Held For 12 Years to Take Title in England.

WATERLOO, Iowa, May 27 (C.P.). —Dick Wolsley has quit his job as elevator man after 12 years and turned his ear to the call of a British baronetcy. Miss Marian Elizabeth Baker of Brixham, England, came here Saturday seeking "Sir Reginald Beatty Wolseley, ninth Baronet of Wolseley." The only Wolseley in town was the 53-year-old elevator operator.

Miss Baker talked with him. She said his mother had died last November and that she had asked Miss Baker to hunt out her son and bring him back to England. She said his elder brothers were dead, and that he was heir to the title and estate.

Sunday, Wolseley and Miss Baker were married. They plan to return soon to England. Wolseley said he left England 33 years ago to make his fortune in the United States.

According to available records, Reginald Beatty Wolseley is a collateral relative of Sir Capel Charles Wolseley, ninth Baronet and holder of the title in 1920.

OTAWA, Ont., May 27 (C.P.)—Flying Sergeant R. W. Pike of the Royal Canadian Air Force, was killed at the Rockcliffe Airdrome here early this afternoon, when the plane he was piloting crashed to earth from a low altitude. Sergt. Pike was alone in the machine. He is believed to be a native of Vancouver.

TRAIN HITS AUTO TWO MOTORISTS SLIGHTLY INJURED

George Young and Robert Smith Are Taken to St. Joseph's Hospital.

LEARNING TO DRIVE.

Car is Driven Into Collision With C.P.R. Train at Park Street Crossing.

When their car was struck by the C.P.R. train last evening at the Park street crossing just above Chamberlen street, two men, Robert Smith, resident of the Alparka Apartments, and George Young, of 46 Lafayette street, both employees of the De Laval Company, escaped with only minor injuries.

Smith, who had just purchased a car, was being taught to drive by Wilson. Last night Smith was having another lesson when he drove the car into a collision with the C.P.R. local from Toronto at 7.55. They had just started out and were driving south on Park street from Smith's home.

Train Moving Slowly

Eye-witnesses of the crash state that the train was moving slowly, the bell was ringing and the whistle was blowing. Several persons shouted, trying to warn the men of their danger as they drove the car toward the tracks.

It was first feared that the men were badly injured. Dr. Murray Fraser was called and they were conveyed by ambulance to St. Joseph Hospital. A thorough examination showed that there were no broken bones and that they were suffering merely from shock and scratches as a result of their experience.

T. Lloyd, of Toronto, was engineer on the train, and Jack Perry, also of Toronto, was the conductor. The train was stopped in 35 feet. The engineer stated that he was approaching the crossing at five miles an hour.

RAID ON HOTEL ROOM NETS $300,000 ON JEWELS

NEW YORK, N.Y., May 27 (Canadian Press). — Jewels valued at $300,000 were in possession of police to-day as the result of a raid on a room in the Hotel Commodore in which a woman and four men were arrested. Brooches, bracelets, and rings set with diamonds, rubies, and other gems were seized.

Police Commissioner Mulrooney said he considered the prisoners to be members of an international gang of jewel thieves and the gems part of $1,000,000 worth of loot which they have taken in the last few months.

To Investigate Charges

ROYAL COMMISSION TO PROBE ALLEGED MALADMINISTRATION. A Royal Commission has been named by Hon. M. A. MacPherson (top, right), Attorney-General of Saskatchewan, to investigate the charges of maladministration by the late Gardiner Government and directed by Hon. J. F. Bryant (lower, right) at the last session of the Legislative Assembly. The Commission is comprised of Mr. Justice P. E. Mackenzie, Mr. Justice J. F. L. Embury, and Mr. Justice James McKay (left), who is the chairman.

CAMPAIGN REACHES $117,053, $11,477 REMAINS TO BE RAISED BEFORE OBJECTIVE IS SECURED

Flier and Lion Cub Start for Record

Roosevelt Field, N. Y., May 27. (C.P.) — Accompanied by Gilmore, his lion cub mascot, Lieut. Col. Roscoe Turner, took off at 4.03.40 a.m. (E.S.T.) to-day on a one-stop flight to Los Angeles in an attempt to establish a new speed record from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

$30,000 FIRE.

STRATFORD, Ont., May 27. (C.P.) —A large three storey frame chopping mill, the property of Harold Smith, was completely destroyed by fire last night, which caused damage estimated at $30,000.

Ladies' Auxiliary Contribute $600 Toward New Y.M.C.A. Addition.

WILDCATS WIN HONORS.

Team Reports To-day Totalled $4,673—Only One Big Gift.

Workers in the Y.M.C.A. $128,500 campaign to-day commenced to scour the city for $11,477 to enable them to meet their objective when the total subscribed sum to noon to-day was reported as $117,053 at the regular noon report luncheon.

In to-day's announcements a subscription for $600 by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Y.M.C.A. was reported by the Big Gifts Committee. Team reports totalled $4,673, and a total to date of the Friday Night Supper Club amounting to $1,246 were included in the grand total.

Wildcats Are Winners.

Division honors for the day were taken by Division B, the Wildcats, led by Major J. R. Marshall, which has a total of $2,841 in subscriptions to-day and a total for the entire drive of $9,537. Colonel R. Abbott's Division C yielded the flag which it captured yesterday. Captain F. G. Stinson and his team reported the largest team total of the luncheon and was given charge of the money-bag. The team report was $1,669 for the day.

Once again the squad captained by Arthur McLeish reported the largest number of subscriptions and held the emblematic sole which it has held since the opening of the campaign.

Another plea for support by the citizens was expressed by T. R. Jordan. He reminded the large corps of men that the last report luncheon of the drive will be held to-morrow at 12.12 o'clock noon in the Y.M.C.A. Gymnasium. The next meeting of the workers will be at the Victory Dinner on Thursday night. The remaining $11,477 must be raised by then, he said, and he claimed that although it may look like a simple matter, it will be a very difficult task. He urged the workers to seek the support of every citizen. After to-morrow's luncheon the card restrictions will be removed and the men will be free to canvass throughout the city.

Division totals to-day and to date were as follows:—

Division A, Colonel W. R. Breyfogle, $975, $13,659; Division B, Major J. R. Marshall, $2,841, $8,537; Division C, Colonel Abbott, $630, $11,037; Division D, Colonel R. M. Glover, $177, $6,863; Division E, Major C. S. Cummer, $685, $6,342.

Team totals to-day and to date were as follows:

G. A. Gillespie, $426, $2,575; G. S. Matthews, $25, $2,582; J. K. Hughes, $72, $1,776; T. H. Gillespie, $15, $1,610; G. D. Carlisle, $402, $5,116; Dr. J. J. Craig, $558, $1,700; F. G. Stinson, $1,669, $1,961; Dr. G. R. Scott, $195,

DOMINION HAS LOANED PROVINCES SUM $162,910,017.09 SINCE 1922

Old Age Pensions and Unemployment Relief Included in Total Figure.

B. C. RECEIVED EXTRA.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 27 (Canadian Press). — Since April, 1922, the provinces of Canada have obtained from the Dominion Government, or at the end of the fiscal year will have obtained, amounts of money totalling $162,910,017.09, exclusive of payments made in various provinces to pensioners of the Great War. If these were added, the sum disbursed from the Federal treasury would amount to $396,714,414.68. The first figure is comprised of provincial subsidies, special subventions to the Maritime Provinces, contributions from highway construction, disbursements on account of the Maritime Freight Rates Act, expenditures for experimental shipments of coal from both the Maritimes and Alberta, old age pensions, unemployment relief, technical education and aid to agriculture.

The statutory subsidies to the nine provinces total:

Prince Edward Island	$3,005,455.04
Nova Scotia	6,294,792.19
New Brunswick	5,334,126.08
Quebec	18,051,359.04
Ontario	21,140,893.44
Manitoba	11,947,078.88
Saskatchewan	15,449,092.00
Alberta	13,150,802.80
British Columbia	5,910,533.28

In addition to that, $15,000 has been paid to British Columbia since 1925 in steamship subventions.

BETTER LABOR RELATIONS REQUIRED IN AUSTRALIA

Industries Need Encouraging, Dr. E. C. Page States.

SYDNEY, Australia, May 26.— (C. P. Cable via Reuter's.)—Two things are necessary to make Australia a more attractive field for the investment and efforts of capitalists in the opinion of Dr. Earl C. Page, leader of the Country Party and formerly Commonwealth Treasurer in the Coalition Government of the Rt. Hon. Stanley Bruce. The first of the two essentials, he told a meeting of his party to-day, was the achievement of better relations between employers and employees and a generally more amicable industrial atmosphere, while the other lay in more encouragement for industries producing readily saleable articles and the removal of duties from engineering products.

Tariff encouragement for engineering industries, said Dr. Page, could not harm any other native industries for engineering plants provided the tools for other industries and should be made available at the lowest possible cost.

Provincial Courts May be Solution Bishop Seager Says

Delegates to Anglican Synod of Ontario Warned That Divorce Will Sap Foundations of Any Civilization — Secularism Changed Turkey and Russia.

ANGLO SAXON CIVILIZATION SHOWING SYMPTOMS OF BECOMING SECULAR— AFRICA, INDIA HE INCLUDED

Clergy Urged to Teach Boldly Great Ideals of Christian Marriage—Divorce Courts Can Be Great Help if They Help to Prevent Hasty Action By Foolish People.

KINGSTON, Ont., May 27 (Canadian Press). — Warning delegates to the Anglican Synod of Ontario that the ominous increase of divorce in Ontario was one of the symptoms of the egotism springing from the spread of secularism throughout the nations of the world, Rt. Rev. C. A. Seager, Bishop of the Diocese, in his annual charge at the opening of the 63rd annual Synod of the Diocese of Ottawa, to-day declared the growth of divorce would sap the foundation of any civilization.

Secularism, His Lordship said, was responsible for the changed conditions in Russia and Turkey. "A relatively few years will see a new civilization in Turkey, India, and Africa which will probably be frankly secular," he said. "Nor is our own Anglo-Saxon civilization without symptoms of the same thing."

Radical Change Necessary.

Commenting on the recent Parliamentary decision providing for hearing of divorce cases in Ontario by the Civil Courts, Bishop Seager said: "Certainly some radical change in the administration of divorce laws was necessary in Canada. Probably in theory, and we shall earnestly hope in practice, provincial divorce courts are the best way out."

Too much consideration could not be given to the conception of the duty of the court and the lines along which it ought to function, he declared. Its constitution, procedure, and ideals should be lofty and enlightened. "If it will conceive its main duty to be to prevent divorce and to help to prevent selfish and foolish people from hasty action, if it will give room and time for consideration and take the trouble to give enlightened guidance, it will make a real positive contribution to the solution of the problem for this province. Any increase in the evil of divorce will sap the very foundation of any civilization. It has been a main element in undermining civilization in the past and it will do the same again."

His Lordship held that it was the duty of the church, not so much to pass opinions upon divorce courts but to teach its people that "egotism and selfishness which are the products of secularism are false logic and that human happiness consists in the exercise of that unselfishness and consideration for the welfare of others which is the essence of the spirit of Jesus and the soul of Christianity"

Clergy Reminded of Obligation

Reminding the delegates that the church through its general synod forbids Anglican clergymen to marry divorced persons unless one of the parties concerned in the divorce is dead, Bishop Seager charged them to "teach boldly and faithfully the great ideals of Christian marriage."

Dealing with the proposals for Christian reunion in South India, His Lordship declared the issue was as vital as any that has come before the Anglican communion since the reformation. He said that for Anglicans the principle of episcopacy was essential in any ecclesiastical reconstruction. It is a great pity in

LABORITE GOV'T IS SAFELY PAST INDIAN QUESTION

No Division Arises Over Tory Motion to Reduce Benn's Salary.

Unemployment To-morrow.

All Three Parties Prepare to Have Strong Attendance For Debate.

LONDON, May 27 (C.P. Cable). — The Labor Government has passed one of the lions in its path—a lion which, a few days ago, was growling loudly.

There was no division in yesterday's debate on the situation in India and Hon. Wedgewood Benor, whose salary Conservatives had moved to reduce as a tangible method of expressing dissatisfaction with the Government's handling of the Indian trouble, indulged in some sharp repartee with Conservatives and Left Wingers of the Labor Party. Apart from this the debate was without incident.

The next Government test comes to-morrow when unemployment is the subject of debate. All three parties are arranging to have a strong attendance in the House. The Left Wingers and the Liberals each held a meeting to-day to discuss their attitudes in to-morrow's debate.

The Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George, in a speech at Nottingham last night, expressed the belief that Liberals only had the ability to effect a solution of the country's problems. "Every party except ours has tried and failed," he declared. "Give us a chance and we will show them how the thing should be done."

The Rt. Hon. Ramsay Macdonald, Prime Minister, stated at Horden, in his Seaham constituency: "We are not searching for an election, but if other people force it we will have to have it."

THREE EUROPEANS FACE CHARGE OF STEALING AFRICAN NATIVES

Bushmen Claim Whites Burned Their Huts and Took Away Families.

FORCED TO WORK ON FARMS.

WINDHOEK, South West Africa, May 27. (C.P. Cable via Reuters)—"Man-stealing" is the charge faced by three Europeans at the Criminal Sessions here, and widespread interest has been aroused in the case.

Bushmen were the victims of the alleged kidnapping. They charge that the three accused men with their followers, armed and mounted, descended upon a small native kraal burned the bushmen's huts and marched off a number of natives and their families.

Then natives were hitched to the riders' saddles and jerked and whipped along at a fast pace the witnesses claim. One says he was forced to run all night with feet so sore that it proved an ordeal of excruciating pain.

The next day the men were distributed among the farmers of the district and forced to work for them under pain of the lash.

Two Lost Aviators Live With Natives

MADRID, May 27 (Canadian Press). — The missing Spanish aviators, Burguete and Nunez, lost for several days in the wilds of Africa, have been found. They are safe and well with tribesmen in the interior of Rio de Oro.

General Burguete and Nunez, who were forced down during a flight from Cape Juby to Spain, were reported to be prisoners of a nomadic tribe. The Colonial authorities to-day were attempting to effect their release.

CARDINAL LUCON DYING.

PARIS, May 27. (C.P.)—Cardinal Lucon, Archbishop of Rheims, who was created a cardinal in 1907, to-day was reported dying. He is 87 years of age. Cardinal Lucon became known throughout the world from 1914 to 1918, when he remained in Rheims while the city was abandoned by the greater part of the population because of the continual bombardment.

SIX DEAD BODIES VIEWED BY JURY; ADJOURN INQUEST

Three Generations in One Family Represented in Death List.

THIRTEEN IN PARTY.

Two Boys Are All That is Left of Two Happy Hamilton Families.

COBOURG, May 27.—Six dead bodies, representing three generations of the family of James H. Johnston of Hamilton, victims of the multiple killing at the C.N.R. crossing a mile and a half east of here on the Kingston highway early Monday morning, were formally viewed by the coroner's jury which yesterday afternoon opened the investigation of the accident and then adjourned until Wednesday, June 4, at 8 p.m.

The bodies lay on the floor of the cellar of Fred J. McArthur's undertaking establishment as close together in death perhaps as they had been in that last fearful moment of life in their light sedan when it stalled in front of the C.N.R. engine that caught the car on its pilot and carried it 695 feet.

A white sheet shrouded five of the still figures. The upper edge of it was temporarily drawn down exposing four darkening faces that seemed even darker in the dim light of the cellar. They were just as they had been picked up from the green grass beside the railway at daybreak. The feet of one of the men, protruding beyond the opposite edge of the sheet, were shoeless, and somewhere beneath the family shroud was the little body of the baby, Bobby, who died at the Cobourg hospital at 6.40 a.m.

Three James Johnstons

Nearby on a box lay the sixth victim, the last to succumb to the violence of that awful impact at the crossing. This was the three-year-old boy James H. Johnston, the third of that name in this crowded mortuary; for in the larger group were his father, James H. Johnston, 26, and the grandfather, James H. Johnston, whose age was said to be 51 years. Three generations of this Johnston family wiped out in one

CALF RUNS WILD ON CITY STREET

Animal Frees Itself From Farmer's Truck and Causes Much Excitement.

CAUGHT AT POST OFFICE.

Old citizens love to recall the days when cows and goats contentedly cropped the turf on George Street, but yesterday afternoon one small calf caused a great stir of excitement on Simcoe Street. Pedestrians, storekeepers, and motorists joined forces in an attempt to catch the beast.

The calf was the sole passenger in a farmer's truck which was driven west on Simcoe Street across George Street. At the intersection the truck hit a bump and the little calf, much to its dismay, was jostled right out of the truck and deposited on to the pavement. Alone and forlorn the calf gazed through the traffic for a moment and then started full gallop up Simcoe Street toward Water Street.

All business stopped for a moment as everyone joined in the chase. Making a flying tackle right in the shadow of the Post Office a prominent merchant secured a strong hold on the agile calf.

Meanwhile the farmer, not aware of his loss until informed of it by spectators, had returned. With profuse thanks to the captor he bundled the prize back into the truck.

BATTLE ANNIVERSARY OBSERVED IN JAPAN

TOKYO, May 27 (C.P.) — A truce was called to-day in naval controversy while the Japanese Empire observed the twenty-fifth anniversary of the battle of Tsushima in which Admiral Heihachiro Togo on May 27, 1905, annihilated the Russian fleet, achieved the greatest triumph of Japanese arms and scored the most decisive naval victory since the battle of Trafalgar.

Thousands flocked to the "sea and sky" exposition at Uyeno Park. Other throngs witnessed a parade of models of Admiral Togo's warships through the city. A constant stream of worshippers prayed the day long at Yadukuni Shrine, dedicated to the souls of those who died in action.

COLBORNE MAN IS BLACKMAILED BY TWO HIKERS

Two Toronto Men Plead Guilty and Will Be Sentenced on Saturday.

DEMANDED MONEY.

Acted Good Samaritan By Giving Hikers Bed and Breakfast.

COBOURG, May 27—Here is a good samaritan story with an ironic sequel.

More than two months ago a prominent citizen of Colborne, who was motoring along the highway picked up two hikers, Charles O'Malley and James Farmer of Toronto in response to their signal for a ride.

Because they had no money and had no definite place to go, except on, which was merely a direction, the Colborne man took them to his home, gave them supper, a warm and comfortable room for the night, and then breakfast; and doubtless, too, his good wishes when they left in the morning.

The sequel is an unspeakable thing. However, some time after this incident the Colborne samaritan received a blackmailing letter alleging an offense which only a degenerate mind could conceive, and this was followed by a personal demand for money. Fearing the publicity and even the shadow of suspicion because of his position in Colborne this man paid the money demanded by the two Toronto tramps. He thought that was to be the end of it, but the blackmail was repeated, until the payments reached a total well up in the hundreds of dollars but less the thousand mark.

Finally, the Colborne resident decided to appeal to the police, and on the next appearance of the Toronto pair he notified the village constable who arrested them in the street. Subsequent questioning by Provincial Constable Wm. J. Carey wrung from O'Malley and Farmer a statement upon which they pleaded guilty to blackmail last Saturday, and Judge O'Connor or Judge Huycke of Peterborough will have the duty of disposing of them within a week.

RUSSIANS TO BUY ENGLISH BOOTS

Thomas Announces Order For 3,000,000 Pair Being Negotiated.

ARRANGING CREDIT.

NORTHAMPTON, England, May 27.—England will soon obtain an order for 3,000,000 pairs of boots and shoes from Russia, if an extended credit arrangement now in process of negotiation, is finally accorded to the Soviet, said the Right Hon. J. H. Thomas, Lord Privy Seal and Minister of Employment, at the opening of a trade exhibition here yesterday.

The question was raised by the President of the Northampton Boot Manufacturers' Association, who said that what the boot industry requires now is a substantial order, and remarked that apparently the only country able to place substantial orders was Russia.

Mr. Thomas said the credit arrangement which would ensure this large order, "if not signed already, is on the eve of being signed." The agreement, he revealed, would involve £1,500,000 (approximately $7,350,000) and would include orders for the mechanical industries.

Doings In Commons.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 27 (C.P.) — To-day in Parliament—

The Senate will sit.

The House of Commons will continue the debate on the report of the Imperial Conference on Dominion legislation and merchant shipping, take up Government legislation and estimates.

Yesterday in Parliament

The Senate sat.

The Sockeye Salmon Treaty between Canada and the United States was tabled.

A resolution to approve the recommendations of the conference on the operation of Dominion legislation and merchant shipping, held in London in 1929, was presented by Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice.

A number of divorce bills were given first and second reading.

Supplementary estimates totalling $11,632,361.43 were tabled.

JINXED PILOT WILLING TO TRY PACIFIC AGAIN

LOS ANGELES, Calif., May 26. — (C.P.)—Harold Bromley, jinx dogged flyer who thrice has planned nonstop flights from Tacoma, Wash., to Tokyo, Japan, only to have his planes wrecked before he could start, awaited word to-day from his backers before deciding whether to abandon the attempt to span the Pacific or order a new plane.

H. W. Catlin, test pilot for the factory that constructed the "City of Tacoma" ships was burned fatally in the wreckage of the third plane at Murdoc, Cal., Saturday.

4 Moose Enter City But Only 3 Leave

DULUTH, Minn., May 27 (C.P.) — Four bull moose came to town Sunday, and town is no place for bull moose. One of them got killed in traffic, and the others made tracks from whence they came.

The moose jumped in front of William Patterson's automobile last night and was run down before Patterson could stop the machine. The animal was about two years old and weighed 200 pounds.

STOVE EXPLODES CHILDREN HURT

Three Arthur Youngsters Badly Injured When Mother Puts Wood on Fire.

BLAME DYNAMITE CAP.

ARTHUR, May 27—A roaring explosion following the putting of wood in the stove, a shattered kitchen, three children injured, were the toll of terror and destruction which wrecked the tranquility of the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Tremaine, farmers, R.R. No. 4, Arthur.

Mrs. Tremaine brought in an armful of wood and placed some in the fire. A stove-lid was removed and Lawence, her 10-year-old son, held his hand over the fire for warmth. The explosion followed.

Lawrence had three fingers of the left hand splintered and the top of the thumb blown off. Arthur, aged 8, had his face badly cut, while Glen, aged 3, had his leg on both sides opened. A piece of bronze metal lodged in the leg of little Glen.

Dr. McFarland of Arthur was summoned, and gave the children every attention. They are well on the way to recovery it was learned last night. The children remain at home.

Dr. McFarland was of the opinion that the explosion might have been caused by some caps that the children possibly had been playing with although the children declare they had nothing of that nature in their possession. A piece of bronze metal discovered in the leg of Glen, Dr. McFarland said, resembled the copper top of a cap.

It is possible the cap was among the wood, having been thrown there inadvertently.

BLAZE SWEEPS TOWN OF EMO

Six Business Houses Wiped Out—Blame Overheated Motor in Garage.

DAMAGE NEARLY $250,000.

FORT FRANCES, May 27. — One of the most disastrous fires in this district in the past 25 years swept through a section of the village of Emo and destroyed six business houses. Damage is estimated as high as a quarter million dollars.

About 9 p.m. fire was first discovered in the workshop of McVey's garage, saturated with grease and oil. The flames spread rapidly throughout the building, where several cars and tractors were stored. Gasoline tanks in the cars began to explode and spread inflammable vapor through that and adjoining buildings.

A strong east wind soon fired the entire garage, showroom, and office becoming an inferno which kept the fire-fighters at a distance Emo being an incorporated village, not equipped with fire protection other than a bucket brigade, word was sent to Fort Frances for assistance, and on receiving the SOS call the local department despatched a squad of men with chemicals and such apparatus as could be used. Forest rangers with their equipment gave great assistance to save further spreading of the fire, but not until it had destroyed the garage and contents, J. A. Hunter's butcher and grocery shop, Harry Cauldwell's grocery, Lawrence Elliott's drug store, Edward Tompkins' hardware, Adam Cook's harness store, and the Bank of Commerce.

The heaviest losers are Tompkins, McVey, Elliott and Hunter. All four were out of town at the time of the fire on a fishing expedition and the total loss and insurance is yet unestablished.

The fire is supposed to have started from an overheated engine which had been steadily running with lubrication.

King, Suffering Rheumatism, is Unable To Attend Third Court of the Season

LONDON, May 27 (Canadian Press). — Illness of the King will prevent his attending the third Court of the season to be held tonight at Buckingham Palace, it was officially announced to-day.

Apart from the Courts, it was stated that the King is following his normal routine. This morning he received Sir William Peyton, who relinquished his appointment as Chief of the Scottish Command. Last Sunday, however, contrary to usual custom the King was not present at the morning service in the Palace Chapel.

The rheumatism from which he is suffering is attributed to the recent bad and damp weather. It was hoped that the King would be able to keep his engagements later in the week. These include reception of delegates to Congress of the Federation of Chambers of Commerce of the British Empire at Buckingham Palace on Friday and the concert of the New York Philharmonic Orchestra at Albert Hall on Sunday.

It was said unofficially that the strain of sitting in the same position and bowing while the streams of debutantes passed the throne would not be beneficial

ALWAYS FAVORED EMPIRE TRADE MACDONALD STATES AT SEAHAM

Claims Canada's Budget is Example of How Dominions Can Help.

WILL SHAPE OWN POLICY.

HORDEN, England, May 27 (C.P. Cable). — "I have always been in favor of Empire trade," said Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald here last night during a visit to his constituency of Seaham.

"Canada's last budget," declared the Prime Minister, "is an example of how the Dominions can and will help."

"If any man means to tell me that any self-governing Dominion will study our industrial convenience when that Dominion devises its industrial policy then I have nothing whatever to say to him.

"The Australian Prime Minister has said he did not want our goods or our people. He wanted capital, he explained, to develop his own country. Everyone knows that is their policy (Mr. MacDonald used the words 'Their policy' not indicating whether he meant Australia or the Dominions in general) and no one can or need quarrel with them for it. Those who sought to do so would be told promptly to mind their own business.

"So far as the Labor Government is concerned we shall do everything we can, we shall use our personal influence and our ideals of national friendship to persuade the Dominions—without diminishing one shadow of their independence—to come into relations of mutual co-operation, not that we may rob them or they us, but that we may co-operate in the promotion of the increased happiness of the whole Commonwealth of British Nations."

LAD WINS FIGHT AGAINST RAPIDS

Soo Youth Falls Into River — Struggles Half Hour For Life.

NUMBED BY COLD.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., May 27. —When David Tweedie, 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Tweedie, went to the rapids to fish, he sought a vantage point from which to cast his lures, venturing by means of a rope to an old scow moored below the abutments of the international bridge. The water roared through the open gates of the compensating dam, creating white water, in which lurked big trout. But they refused to bite and, becoming numb with cold and tired of the sport, young Tweedie crammed his fishing tackle into the pockets of his mackinaw jacket and essayed to make his way again to the bridge, via the rope by which he had descended. Rotten through exposure to the weather, the rope snapped as he struggled to reach the top and the boy fell into the water as it boiled through the gates. Tweedie had learned to swim when 7 years old, so divesting himself of his heavy coat, struggled against the current, which was drawing him nearer to the fangs of rock in the rapids proper. The grim fight lasted half an hour. Inch by inch the boy gained his way across the rushing water between him and the rocks on shore. Eventually he won, and though numbed by cold, he made his way to the ship canal and was cared for by the staff. Then his father was summoned and he was taken home. He seems little the worse for his experience.

VEHICLES SMASHED IN CAR ACCIDENT

J. H. Hall Collides With Sedan Driven By Leo Courneya of Chapman's Corners.

(Examiner Correspondence)

TWEED, May 27.—A serious accident occurred recently at Chapman's Corners when an egg truck owned by J. H. Hall, of Belleville, going south, collided with a sedan driven by Leo Courneyea, who was accompanied by his father, on his way to Stoco.

Mr. Courneyea was making the turn which is rather a dangerous one when the truck struck him broadside. The sedan was badly smashed, the fenders, running board and front wheel on one side being almost torn off. One of the doors was damaged beyond repair. The frame of the truck was bent but the damages were not serious. County Constable Moon and others examined the cars.

Debutants Will Be Presented at Court

LONDON, May 27 (C.P.).—Six hundred debutantes and matrons have been commanded to appear at Buckingham Palace this evening for presentation to Britain's Royal figures in the third court of the season. King George, who is ill, will not be present.

Most of the debutantes and their mothers, and escorts, will leave their homes about 5.30 p.m. to take their place with their cars in the Mall before the Palace.

POSSES SEEKING MISSING FARMER

Search Radial Tracks Believing He May Have Fallen From Car Going to Toronto.

COOKSVILLE, May 27. — No word or trace of the whereabouts of William Fewster, the Cooksville farmer, who mysteriously disappeared on Friday, has yet been secured and yesterday a posse was organized to search along the radial tracks east of here.

Although it is stated that Fewster was seen to leave the radial car at Keele street and St. Clair Avenue at Toronto, it is thought that possibly another person may have been mistaken for him as the officials of the Firstbrook Box Co., at Mount Dennis, where he was bound when he left home, state that he never called there.

The theory is advanced that he may have fallen out of the car while it was in motion although this is not considered likely.

However, no stone is being left unturned and a careful search will be made along the road between here and Toronto.

Fewtser had no relatives in Toronto, and according to his wife seldom visited the city except when he he had business to transact. He is known to have visited a Brampton bank on Friday and withdrew a sum of money, which it is presumed was intended for the purchase of egg crates from the Firstbrook Box Company, whither he was bound.

Mrs. Fewster states that her husband left in a noticeable hurry, and contrary to his custom in such a case did not wait to shave himself. His last words were that he would be home by three o'clock in the afternoon.

Provincial Constables J. Allen of Cooksville, and W. Owen of Brampton, are still working on the case, but so far are without a single clue.

Poland Agitated Over Clash With German Guards at Border.

Demand Prisoner's Return.

WARSAW, Poland, May 27. — The Polish people were greatly agitated yesterday by the reports that German border guards had fired on Polish border guards on Saturday night at the Village of Opalenie, near the Vistula River.

One Polish officer was reported to have been wounded and carried off with a Polish guardsman into Germany.

Polish accounts of the clash state that blood was found on the Polish side of the border, which was taken to be proof that Germans had been the attackers.

Polish authorities have protested to the German Government through the Berlin Legation, and have demanded the return of the two prisoners

FROST STRIKES HARD IN WESTERN ONTARIO

TORONTO, Ont., May 27 (C.P.).—While South-West Ontario escaped any noticeable damage from frost during the exceptionally cold weather of the last 48 hours, reports from Western Ontario indicate considerable damage was done in the vicinity of St. Thomas, Woodstock, and Ingersol. From two to four degrees of frost in the Port Burwell, Aylmer and Woodstock locality is believed to have severely affected strawberries and early tobacco plants, in addition to the large acreage of early vegetables planted in that district.

ARGUMENT ON STATUS DEVELOPS BENNETT FEARS BONDS LESSENED

Tory Leader Differs With Minister of Justice on Question.

DEBATE CONTINUES TO-DAY.

OTTAWA Ont., May 27. (C.P.)—Constitutional issues, arising out of Canada's new status of equality within the British Empire again will come before Parliament to-day. Hon. Ernest Lapoint, Minister of Justice, after listening to a discussion of the subject that lasted most of yesterday afternoon and evening, will conclude the debate. Upon its conclusion the Commons will consider the remaining budget resolutions and departmental estimates.

The debate yesterday arose over the report of the conference on the operation of Dominion legislation and merchants shipping legislation held in London last October. Canada's ministerial representative, Hon. Ernest Lapointe, moved, a resolution of approval in the recommendations, and seven members took part in the debate that followed.

The imperial conference of 1926 established the quality of status of all British Empire self-governing nations. The conference last year endeavored to reconcile existing legislation and administrative and judicial forms to this new position, explained Mr. Lapointe.

No New Principle

No new principles were created but the conference dealt with finding methods where by the principles already formulated at the earlier conference should be made effective.

For instance, there was the theory of disallowance by which, it was claimed for the Imperial Parliament that it possessed the power to veto the enactments of any Dominion Parliament. Recommendations were contained in the report to clear up all misunderstanding on this point. Other recommendations dealt with the changed status of the Governor-General and of the extra-territorial affect of Dominion Legislation.

C. H. Cahan (Cons., St. Lawrence-St. George) said the report of the conference was lacking in intelligent and constructive suggestions. He believed the provinces should be consulted before several of the proposed changes were made, as they were affected vitally.

J. L. Ilsley (Lib., Hants-King) pointed out that over 150 imperial statues apply expressly or by intent to Canada. It was now suggested that Canada have the power to repeal them if she chose and substitute legislation more suitable to her own conditions.

J. S. Woodsworth, (Lab., Winnipeg north-centre) said the time was coming when a Canadian would occupy the position of Governor-General and he believed this eventuality should be taken care of through legislation. He believed it would be an excellent thing if the Chief Justice

WOULD HAVE CANADIAN AS GOVERNOR-GENERAL

OTTAWA, May 27. — (C.P.) — J. S. Woodsworth, Winnipeg, Laborite, went further in the House last night, than urging the appointment of a Canadian as Governor-General. He agreed to name the Canadian for the post.

Mr. Woodsworth accepted the suggestion of J. F. Pouliot, (Liberal - Temiscouata) that the Chief Justice of Canada automatically become the Governor-General of the Dominion.

Carrying the suggestion further he advocated making the Chief Justices of the various provinces the Lieutenant-Governors of those provinces.

FIFTY YEARS OF CONSTANT ENTERPRISE

HE JUST KNEW IT WAS READY

A good oil refiner used to be like an old-fashioned cook—he just "knew" when the batch of oil in his still was ready. He used to estimate it by chewing some of the pitchy residue from the bottom of the still.

Fifty years ago, when Imperial Oil was a new company making kerosene for oil lamps, that was all right. But the automobile—the Diesel engine—the airplane—a dozen developments of industry and transportation—have demanded and depend today upon exact perfection of gasoline and lubrication.

It has been the work of Imperial Oil to achieve such perfection by constant enterprise. Today, every still in Imperial's six great refineries is under thermostatic control. The crude oil is refined to the exact second and at the exact degree of heat which endless experiments in Imperial's laboratories have set as correct.

Imperial Oil has become a large company—its stations in every corner of Canada—its ships on the Atlantic and Pacific—its miles of tank cars—its pipe-lines in South America—its caches in the Arctic. It has grown because it has met each new demand with new effort and achievement.

People have learned that, wherever they go, they can buy Imperial Oil products with confidence.

Marvelube is Imperial's finest motor oil.

Imperial Premier and Imperial Ethyl are its best gasolines.

DR. JONATHAN GOFORTH IS HEARD AT BIG CAMPBELLFORD RALLY

Work in Manchuria Outlined By Speaker, Who Gives Description of General Feng.

MRS. GOFORTH ALSO HEARD.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 27. (By Examiner Staff Correspondent.) — Featuring the two veteran missionaries from China, Rev. Dr. Jonathan Goforth, and his wife, Mrs. Goforth, St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Campbellford, was the centre of spiritual activity on Sunday.

In the afternoon, a mid-rally Sabbath School rally was held in the church, when scholars and ministers from Havelock, Keene, Warkworth, Burnbrae and Campbellford, joined in a mass service, in charge of W. A. Newcourt, superintendent of the Campbellford Sabbath School. The scripture lesson at this service was read by the Rev. Mr. Duncan, of Warkworth, and the devotional exercises taken by the Rev. D. A. McKenzie, of Burnbrae.

In a few brief words, the Rev. Dr. W. J. Mark, pastor of the church, introduced Dr. and Mrs. Goforth, and welcomed them to Campbellford.

Mrs. Goforth was the first to speak, outlining the early struggles of her husband and herself forty two years ago, when they first went to the mission fields. It was not until they had been in China some time, that they sought the vast stretch of land in the north, Manchuria, a country void of missionaries, and it was not until the overthrow of the Manchu dynisty in 1911, that the province really opened up for Christian work. Over its vast network of railways came peoples from other parts of China, who were breaking away from old associations, leaving their old gods behind them, and who were acceptable to the Christian teaching.

New Centres Opened.

The speaker went on to say that in the past three years, twelve new centers had been opened up in that section of the country that was served by the Canadian Presbyterian Church.

In conclusion, Mrs. Goforth urged upon all to seek to attempt great things for God in every sphere of life, and to live by God in a super-human way.

Dr. Goforth.

Dr. Goforth in his opening remarks, said that Manchuria was the finest agricultural country in the world, and the grainery of China, "There was no reason, he said, for millions of the chinese to be dying by starvation." He went on to say that the trouble in that country was caused by jealousy and quarelling. Of the central railroad system in Manchuria, is carried fifteen million tons of freight a year, with an increase of one million tons per annum.

Dr. Goforth went on to describe some of his experiences as a Christian worker in China, outlining many of the difficulties with which he had to contend. Among these was the feeling of hate, which was strong in the orient, especially among those who had suffered at the time of the Boxer rising.

Of the Church in Canada to-day, the speaker said that it greatly needed the spirit of God. That sin was rife in it, and that it was not facing up to the challenge of Jesus, and concluded by stating that, "If the Spirit of God came to us to-day, we would be appalled at the revealtions that would come from our high schools and other places."

A feature of this service was the presentation by Mrs. Goforth, of two books, one written by Dr. Goforth and the other by herself, to the Sabbath School library of St. Andrew's as a momento of their visit to Campbellford. These volumes dealt with their work as missionaries in the Orient.

The Evening Service.

At the evening service, a large congregation was present to hear Dr. Goforth give a personal description of the Chinese Christian General, Marshal Feng.

The speaker was introduced by Dr. Mark, who told how Dr. Goforth had received the call to Missionary work forty two years ago, while a student at Knox College, and had committed himself to the service of Christ. He had proved a persevering and true saint, and one who ranks with the worlds great missionaries who had blazed the trail for Christ.

Dr. Goforth said that General Feng was a man of 48 years of age, standing six feet one inch in height, and had become converted to Jesus at the age of 30. The awakening of conscience had come during the Boxer days, when as a soldeir he had gone to a place to massacre Christians. One woman had pleaded with the soldiers to kill her, and let her life be a redemption for the others. On another occasion, an American Presbyterian mission had been burned, and the people, which included many children, had gone to their death without a cry.

The religion that had impelled this sacrifice had so impressed Feng, that it proved the turning point in his spiritual life.

Before his convertion, he had been an ill-tempered man, who ruled his men by fear, but after he had embraced Jesus, his whole outlook on life changed, and he now rules his men by love, sharing their burdens and trials and living in sympathy with them.

Dr. Goforth described an occasion when he had been asked by General Feng to hold a mission for his troops. He told how on one day he had baptized over 500 officers and men, and how on the last day of the meetings, 960 officers and men were baptized, and 4,666 received the Holy Communion.

A Perfect Army.

Of General Feng's army, the speaker said that it had originally numbered 50,000. In his opinion, it was one of the finest armies in the world, for it took the Word of God as its guide. It was an army in which one never saw the men smoking, or drinking whiskey, and in which fighting was unknown. It was an army that marched onto the parade groung singing hymns.

Dr. Goforth spoke in defence of General Feng, against the many people who had said that he was a man who never stood by his friends. He thought a great deal of this was caused by the press, and asserted that the General was a man who always played the game. The only fault that people could bring against him was that he loved his people and his country more than his friends.

There had been a time, after his return from Russia, said the speaker, when Feng had been bitter toward the foreign powers, especially Great Britain. But this had been overcome, when he understood the motive that had inspired the Russians to instill into him Bolshevick tendencies.

"I believe that Feng is a Christian," said Dr. Goforth, "so go on praying for him."

Of the work in Manchuria, Dr. Goforth said that it was an area as large as Old Ontario, and that there were only three men and five women to carry on the work there among 30 million people." You have more ministers in Campbellford to serve you than there are out in Manchuria," the speaker said. He deplored the fact that the missionary giving was so small. Contributions for foreign missions amounted to a postage stamp a week, and it was impossible to think that the work of God could be done on that. But although the lack of finances had been a handicap, the preacher said that the needs of the workers had always been met by God. That although the increase in population of Manchuria added a further responsibility to the Christian workers, they had a great and abiding faith in God that He would not permit His work to suffer.

Dr. Goforth thought that the Christian Church in Canada was not accepting the sacred trust that had been given it, the obligation that imposed the preaching of the Gospel to all the world, and he hoped that the time would come when St. Andrew's Church would see fit to have its own missionary working in the mission fields of China.

Special music at this service was rendered by the choir, under the direction of the organist and choir master, Wm. A. Newcourt, with the rendition of the sacred solo, "Abide With Me," by Mrs. C. Milne.

ARGUMENT

of Canada were also Governor-General.

If Canadians believed in self-government for themselves, why not urge that there be self-government for India and other portions of the Empire, Mr. Woodsworth asked. The people of India should be given an opportunity to work out a system of self-government, he added.

J. T. Thorson (Lib., Winnipeg Centre) believed that under the new arrangement, Canada would have the right to abolish appeals to the Privy Council. Whether this course be wise was a matter of opinion. The doctrine of the sovereignty of the Parliament of Great Britain over the Dominion was conflicting with equality of status, he asserted.

E. J. Garland (U.F.A., Bow River) agreed with the stand taken at the conference by Hon. Ernest Lapointe and with its recommendations.

Bennett Recalls Canadian Part.

Hon. R. B. Bennett wondered why an endeavor should be made to have the people of Canada believe they had suffered untold wrongs and must now rise up and seek redress. Why should such an impression be given the British Isles? He went on to recall what the British Isles had done for Canada. It was to the Canadians who fought and died in the Great War that credit should be given for the present status of the Dominion, Mr. Bennett continued.

So far as the recommendations related purely to domestic affairs, Mr. Bennett approved of them. He objected to an insinuation that the Liberal Party was responsible for every move in the direction of equality of status. If some members felt called upon to object to some of the changes proposed, it was not that they opposed equality.

Having achieved equality, the next step was to consolidate the Empire, Mr. Bennett concluded by saying. This could not be brought about by cutting asunder existing bonds without the substitution of alternatives.

SIX DEAD BODIES VIEWED BY JURY

swoop. The youngest of them had died in the local hospital at 10.20 a.m. Dr. T. C. Lapp, the coroner, turned down the small white sheet from the upper part of the nude body as it had come from the hospital cot to indicate some of the mortal injuries. The only apparent wound was the flattened nose of the little fellow, and clotted blood about the mouth. But like the others whose face bore only minor marks, bruises and cuts, the little boy's body was broken within, double fractures of bones, and internal injuries that required no probing.

These Johnstons had paid a terrible price for their holiday trip to Montreal where there had been a happy family reunion over the week end. The dead are James H. Johnston, I, and his wife Kate. They were the grandparents; both in their fifties. Also James H. Johston, II, and his wife Helen; both in the middle twenties. Then their children, James H. Johnston, III, three years old, and finally Bobby, the baby of eighteen months.

The seventh occupant of the car was Robert Johnston, 20, a son of James H. Johnston, I, and brother of James H. Johnston, II.

Thirteen In the Party

Thirteen persons comprised the entire family group who left Hamilton for the Montreal trip. In another automobile were Robert C. Culley and his wife and their son, Robert Culley, 3; and George Slinn and his wife and their son, Reta Slinn, 7. The two women in this car are daughters of James H. Johnston, Sr. The family reunion in Montreal was at the home of another daughter, Mrs. A. L. Ellam. And they travelled seven in one car, and six in the other.

At the home of the senior Johnstons Monday morning was another son, Frederick. When the shocking news was broken to him at an early hour he sobbed: "They shouldn't have gone. It seemed that they were not supposed to make that trip. Mother wanted for weeks to visit my sister in Montreal, but they did not have enough money for the gasoline. They all put their money together this week end, and left. I did not have enough to buy gasoline for my car, or I would have gone too."

He was the only adult of the Johnston family left at home. He had risen early, expecting the others home in time for work.

Strong Family Spirit

They may have had to scrape together and pool their resources for the long trip from Hamilton to Montreal, just ordinary working people like so many who barely make both ends meet in their desire to snatch some small share of the universal pleasure of motoring, but apparently the Johnston tie must have been a strong and vital sentiment. If there were no other evidence of this bond it is found at least in the common name of those three, the grandfather, the father, and the little lad, each and all of them James H. Johnston.

This element of the tragedy, apart from all its distressing features, accentuated its poignancy, and quickened the sympathy and deepened the gloom which pervaded this town all day Monday.

Robert Only Survivor.

The only survivor of the Johnston car is Robert, 20, a younger son of the senior family, who is painfully but not seriously injured.

"I expect he will be able to leave the hospital in a week or ten days," Dr. Lapp told the silent jurors after they had returned upstairs from the awesome sight in the cellar.

To The Examiner Dr. Lapp said that the bodies had been strewn along the north side of the railway at uniform, even-paced distances as if they had been automatically tossed out of their car at regular intervals as it was borne up the track on the pilot of the light engine, which was on its way from Belleville to Oshawa without so much as a van behind it.

"Robert was able to tell me," Dr. Lapp continued, "that his only impression of the accident was a sudden awareness of the glare of the headlight of the engine, and then a blank in his memory until he found himself lifting his father's head onto a cushion."

Car A Complete Wreck

Provincial Constable W. J. Carey of Cobourg told The Examiner that the accident occurred at 3.50 a.m., about that twilight, crepuscular hour of approaching day when the birds begin their matins.

"When I got there the bodies were lying where they had been thrown", Constable Carey said, "and there seemed to be the same distance from one to the next one. The engine was still where it had stopped, and the car was in front of it all twisted up like a ball of junk metal. That was 695 feet from the highway crossing. We thought at first that the baby Bobbie was dead, but when we turned him over we found there was still life, and believe me that ride to the hospital was the fastest I ever tried."

Railways Close Together

Where the accident occurred both the C.N.R. and C.P.R. cross the highway at an oblique angle, and not at right angles. Both the engine and the automobile were going west, and for some distance east of the crossing the railways and the highway are almost parallel. About two or three car lengths separate the railways, which are guarded by gates. However, the gates were broken several weeks ago by a truck crashing through one side of them, and the gatemen flagged traffic while repairs were being made.

Culley's car had crossed the railway and came on into Cobourg unaware of the shocking accident, and also without having seen any sign of the engine, which had been far down the tracks and out of sight behind them. David Swan, the night watchman at the gates, is said to have signalled with a lantern as the Johnston car approached. Looking toward the east Swan could see the lights of both the engine and the automobile. James Johnston, Sr., was at the wheel of the car which is said to have stalled on the track as it drew near Swan with his lantern, and with the C.N.R. engine about twenty-five feet away.

None of the bodies was mangled or torn, but death to the adults was virtually instantaneous.

Smith Township Board Of Health Meeting

A meeting of the local Board of Health for Smith township was held in Dr. J. A. Morgan's office on Friday.

Those present were: M. H. O. Dr. J. A. Morgan; reeve, Henry D. Coons; deputy reeve, Gordon Fitzgerald; secretary, Percy T. Udy.

Dr. Morgan reported that all the schools in the township except Nos. 7 and 12 had had the children inoculated with toxoid. It was moved by Dr. Morgan and seconded by G. Fitzgerald that the local Board of Health recommend to Smith council that a charge of $27.40 be made on each school section treated with toxoid to cover the cost of inoculating the children.

The Board of Health requested that an investigation of the closets in Chemong Park be made noting whether they are pit, box or chemical closets and that a report of their classification and condition be sent to the local Board of Health.

The meeting then adjourned to meet on the call of the chair.

STIRLING

STIRLING, May 27 (Examiner Correspondence). — Farmers report the completion of the seeding for 1930 except in low lying land. The soil worked first-class this spring and a rapid growth is now a pleasure to behold. Potato planting is in order, with seed at $2.75 to $3.00 per bag, and not very plentiful at that, of the home-grown article. Corn growing is practically barred on account of the increased condition of the corn-borer pest. Meadows are looking fine and a good crop of hay is assured if the frost does no damage within a few days.

Mr. A. C. Connor, who has owned and operated the Red Chain Store here since its inception has disposed of the grocery business to Mr. J. H. CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, May 27.—Biggest export clearances of breadstuffs from North America that have been witnessed in a long while led to a sharp advance of wheat values yesterday. There were also advices that the 1930 wheat crop of Italy is 60,000,000 bushels short of last years' total, and that in Saskatchewan widespread crop damage has resulted from high winds and soil drifting. Uneasiness regarding the outlook for the new winter wheat crop in Illinois was also a bullish factor.

Closing quotations on wheat were strong, 1⅞c to 2⅞c a bushel higher than Saturday's finish. Corn closed ⅛c to ⅝c up; oats, ⅜c to 1⅝c advanced, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 20c.

MONTREAL, May 27. — Butter prices to the retail trade were reduced one cent per pound in Montreal yesterday. Solids were quoted at 31c per pound, and prints at 32c per pound in wholesale channels for large lots. Eastern Townships No. 1 pasteurized was sold at 29c per pound. New Zealand butter was quiet, with asking prices around 30c per pound. Receipts were 1,474 boxes.

Cheese ruled about steady, with little business done. Receipts were 1,564 boxes.

Fresh seconds eggs were reduced one cent per dozen to retailers. Other lines were unchanged. Receipts were 3,912 cases.

Prices for both old and new potatoes were reduced. New Carolina No. 1 potatoes sold to jobbers, off track here at $8.75 per 150-pound barrel. No. 2 grade went at $6.50. Old potatoes were quoted, per 90 pounds in bulk, at $1.70 to $1.80 for New Brunswicks, and $1.60 for Quebecs.

TORONTO PRODUCE.

Toronto, May 27. — The local butter market was called "better" by some dealers and "steady" by others yesterday, but there was a firmer tone apparent and prices to shippers were slightly better at 28½c to 29c for No. 1 Ontario and 27½c to 28c for No. 2. Buyers were not any more anxious than previously to bid on fodder butter but the "all-grass" product which is becoming steadily more plentiful found a fair sale at the prices mentioned. There was no New Zealand offered and holders were evidently waiting for a more favorable market for their higher-priced supplies. Quotations to the retail trade were down another cent yesterday and they were offered No. 1 at 33c and No. 2 creamery at 31c.

Cream.

Churning cream prices also dropped and country shippers were offered 31c to 32c for special; 30c to 31c for No. 1 and 27c to 28c for No. 2, f.o.b. country points. This meant one cent less to shippers than previously offered by the large creameries.

Cheese.

There was a slightly better trade in cheese and some "sellers" reported good sales at 17c for new large; 17¼c for new twins, and 17½c for new triplets. Prices to the retail trade were unchanged at 18½c for new large; 18 3-4c for new twins, and 19c for new triplets. Old cheese was being sold at steady prices.

Eggs.

The egg market was weaker and prices to country shippers for ungraded eggs delivered, cases returned, were 28c for extras; 26c for firsts, and 23c for seconds. This was a drop of one cent. Dealers' prices for graded eggs, free cases, were also easier and they offered extras for 30½c to 31c; firsts, 28½c to 29c, and seconds 25½c to 26c. Receipts have been falling off a little but storage needs have been nearly satisfied and so egg prices have reached the usual level for this time of the year. Dealers have not received any of the supplies at the new low prices and the quotations to the retail trade remained unchanged at 35c for extras, in cartons; 33c for extras, loose; 31c for firsts, loose, and 28c for seconds, loose.

Potatoes.

The wholesale potato market showed an easier undertone but with the prices steady. New Brunswicks were quoted at $2.15 in bags and $2.05 in bulk, and Prince Edward Island Cobblers were $2.15 and Mountains $2.25. Lower prices were expected on to-day's market.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, May 27. — Gains of about 2 cents were recorded by wheat on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange yesterday, the market closing very close to its peak. Opening fractionally higher, values were pushed upward on the strength of improved exports from North America and a more promising outlook in the foreign business.

Continental interests were prominent in the wheat pit from time to time and buying was on a liberal scale.

Interest in cash wheat was indifferent except for durums. Spreads were unchanged. Cash interest in coarse grains was light. All commodities advanced slightly in sympathy with wheat.

COMPENSATION SHOULD BE GIVEN.

The Examiner in expressing the hope that the Federal Government will see its way clear to providing financial compensation for Lionel Fontaine and Ernest Lacasse the two Ottawa youths who were wrongfully imprisoned on a charge of robbery under arms, is voicing, it believes, the opinion of the majority of the people of this country.

These two young men, who were steadily employed before their arrest, have spent seven months in the Portsmouth Penitentiary.

It has transpired since their trial and conviction that they were innocent of the offense charged and two other men have pleaded guilty to the hold-up and are now serving sentences for the crime for which Fontaine and Lacasse were originally sentenced.

These victims of a mistake on the part of the legal machinery of this country may not have any legal claim for redress, but most certainly there is a moral claim that should be recognized and acted upon by the authorities.

Pecuniary damages may not adequately compensate them for the seven months spent in penitentiary, but at least would give them a chance to re-establish themselves as useful members of society.

It seems a crying shame that men who have had to suffer over half a year's imprisonment for a crime they did not commit should be released under the same conditions as convicts who have served their term.

PENSIONS FOR THE BLIND

The Canadian Federation of the Blind, which now includes branches in Edmonton, Winnipeg, London, Hamilton, Toronto, Ottawa, Montreal, St. John and Halifax has issued a special number of its official journal which contains a large amount of most interesting material dealing principally with the efforts that have been made by the Federation to secure Government pensions for blinded Canadians.

Most impressive perhaps of all the information contained in this well prepared special issue are the extracts from hundreds of letters from blind people recently received by the Federation which unmistakably reveal the fact that throughout Canada the majority of those who have lost their vision are dependent upon others for support and that many of them are in dire distress.

These human interest documents cannot fail to arouse the compassion of all who read them and to quicken the demands that the state do something to make the lot of blinded Canadians more comfortable.

Many countries including Great Britain, Australia, New Zealand, Germany and Sweden already provide pensions for the blind; it would seem that Canada, young, virile, progressive, rich country as she is, should not fall behind the procession in this respect.

BOOSTING CANADIAN PRODUCTS

Proof of how extensively the Empire Marketing Board is advertising Canadian products in Great Britain was received by The Examiner yesterday in a photograph of the Board's latest Canadian poster frame set now appearing on special frames in London and nearly five hundred other cities and towns in the "Old Country."

The set consists of five posters. A Canadian apple orchard in flower and a ship for Canada under construction in a United Kingdom shipyard are the subjects of the first and fifth.

In the centre all maps of the United Kingdom and Canada drawn to scale.

To the right and left are smaller posters showing barrels of Canadian apples being unloaded at the docks and a customer inspecting a display of Canadian food products at a grocer's shop.

"Wise shopkeepers stock Canadian produce; good housewives buy it" is the slogan of this particular advertising scheme which also points out the fact that bigger purchases of Canadian products will result in bigger orders for British factories.

The legend over the whole series of posters reads: "Empire Buying Makes Busy Factories" and on the centre panel the idea is again driven home with this message: "Every time you buy Empire produce you help the Empire to buy the goods you make at home."

GOOD ADVICE.

"While the winning of public opinion to the side of prohibition is an ideal to be aimed at, the immediate issue is the sobriety of the people, a task to which the prohibitionists must devote themselves with a good deal more diligence and discretion than they have recently shown if their cause is to prosper. May we humbly suggest that a serious attempt be made to co-ordinate the temperance forces of the Province in an honest effort to bring about by the creation of a genuine temperance sentiment, especially among the rising generation, a gradual reduction each year in the amount of liquor consumed, irrespective of what the law may be, to the end that when the time comes that prohibition is again adopted as a measure of public policy it will be with a moral backing that will ensure its permanency."—Farmers' Sun.

The above, from the official organ of the United Farmers of Ontario, a paper that has consistently advocated the cause of temperance in Ontario, is sensible advice that should receive the earnest consideration of temperance organizations.

While prohibitionists are confining their activities largely to attacks on the present system of Government control, they are wasting time that could be used to much greater advantage, as the Sun points out, in building up a genuine temperance sentiment in the Province.

Government control is the law of the land, and the temperance organizations would be showing commendable wisdom in recognizing that fact and fitting their campaign into the existing scheme of things instead of attempting to restore a system that the majority of the people of Ontario have condemned.

The Sun shows the right way.

If a temperance sentiment that will be reflected in a reduction in the consumption of liquor is developed there is a chance that eventually public opinion will work round to the point where a prohibitory law will have sufficient backing to make it a reality instead of a sham.

MUNICIPAL FOREST RESERVE.

(From the Kingston Whig-Standard)

The honor of establishing the first municipal forest reserve is stated by the Montreal Star to belong to a municipality in the Soulanges County of Quebec. This is incorrect; it belongs to Norfolk County, Ontario, and was started about six years ago. We have noticed that several other municipalities have followed this example in other parts of Ontario, but not so many as ought to have done so. This does not remove any credit which is due to the Soulanges County for its progressive work, which may induce other municipalities to start these forest reserves.

We notice that Dr. J. B. Reynolds, who was a former principal of the Ontario Agricultural College, has been urging the farmers of Ontario to plant wood lots on the waste lands of their farms which are suitable for nothing else. He has not been content with giving this advice, but has applied it to his own farm near Port Hope where he has planted 6,000 seedlings. He has chosen those which he calculated will have a certain market value in twenty years, and in forty will have a very considerable value.

It stands to reason that as he has done this that not only could farmers follow his example but municipalities as well. By doing so the latter could provide in time a permanent revenue, as, of course, seedlings would replace the trees which are cut down, and not only that, they would be providing steady employment for a certain number of men.

There is the further inducement that the seedlings practically cost nothing when supplied from the Ontario nurseries, while advice in the planting and care of them is given free of charge.

DEVELOPING TOURIST TRADE.

D. M. Marvin, of Montreal, one of Canada's most prominent economists, in an address to the annual meeting in Ottawa this week of the Canadian Political Science Association, made some very definite and practical suggestions to Canadian retail storekeepers regarding the enormous and rapidly growing tourist traffic from United States to Canada. Mr. Marvin suggested that luxury products of small bulk which are not manufactured in Canada should be imported and sold by retailers to foreign tourists who eagerly seek souvenirs and presents for friends to be distributed on their return home.

Mr. Marvin gave specific instances of how this trade could be developed to the advantage of Canada in view of the great difference in the tariff rates of United States against such importations from abroad, and the rates which obtain in Canada. This difference, he claimed, provided a big margin within which retailers could sell at a profit to visitors.

Canadians were already beginning to profit by proximity to the wealthiest nation in the world, said Mr. Marvin. It was inevitable the tourist traffic would grow, and that the business he suggested would also grow. He claimed, however, that intelligent leadership could expedite its growth.

As an instance of what he had in mind Mr. Marvin mentioned jewelry, including card, cigarette and vanity cases. The United States tariff against these is 80 per cent., as against the Canadian tariff of from 20 and 22½ per cent. for Great Britain, to 30 and 35 per cent. for countries under the general tariff.

Roughly speaking, the same differential holds he said with regard to manicure sets, toilet articles and non-alcoholic perfumery.

Outlery from Great Britain pays a duty of 20 per cent. on importation into Canada. The United States duty is 45 per cent. Chinaware from Great Britain enters Canada duty free, but pays a 70 per cent. duty to United States.

"These tariff differentials are sufficient to warrant the belief that a substantial volume of trade can be built up in such articles," said Mr. Marvin, "especially if it were made more generally known among tourists that they can take back with them to United States goods to the total value of $100 without paying customs duty on them."

It was pointed out by Mr. Marvin also that Canadian duties on laces range from 25 to 35 per cent., as against a 90 per cent. rate into United States.

The articles mentioned are used only as typical of the possible trade to be developed with tourists.

As emphasizing the enormous possibilities in the development of such trade the Dominion Bureau of Statistics bulletin of March 10, 1930, showed that four and a half million autos from United States entered Canada in 1929, representing probably 16 million tourists, not including those who came here by ship, rail and ferry.

The Dominion bulletin estimated that the expenditures of foreign visitors totalled more than 300 million dollars, or more than treble the total of seven years ago, when the estimate for 1922 was 91 million dollars.

Mr Marvin quoted from an address recently delivered by C. E. Neill, vice-president and managing director of the Royal Bank of Canada, in which the latter said:

"This annual migration presents an unparalleled opportunity for increasing our trade. As yet there has been no concerted effort to build the tradition that there are purchases which can be made in Canada more advantageously than in the United States. It is estimated that in France the amount of sales to each visitor averages $750. If we could make purchasing in Canada sufficiently attractive so that the average value of the merchandise taken out of the country amounted to only one-tenth of this sum, it would make a difference of more than one billion dollars a year in our trade."

Importers in Canada were urged to search the markets of the world for special attractions to display in their store windows and thus help to make shopping an additional inducement to draw tourists to Canadian cities.

It was pointed out, of course, that luxury articles of small bulk such as have been referred to would be such as were not made in Canada and could therefore arouse no protest from Canadian producers.—Ottawa Journal.

A Thought

DIFFERENCES

The love of the human race is increased by their individual difference, and the unity of the creature, made perfect by each having something to bestow and to receive, bound to the rest by a thousand various necessities and various gratitudes; humility in each, rejoicing to admire in his fellow that which he finds not in himself, and each being in some respect the complement of his race.—Ruskin.

If May 27th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 7 a.m. to 8.30 a.m., from 10 a.m. to 11:40 a.m., and from 11 p.m. to midnight. The danger periods are from noon to 1 p.m., and from 6 p.m. to 7 p.m.

On account of the astrological influences, this date is liable to be a purposeless time. It will be difficult to make decisions. When you cannot make headway, hold on. Guard against profitless quarrels.

The child born on this May 27th is apt to rely too much upon others, and will be unable to move forward spontaneously. It will be mentally sensitive, warmhearted, somewhat of a dreamer, and will merit popularity.

You are "Yesterday's" exact opposite in temperament and type of mind. You are not an original thinker, but you have a well ordered mind that within its well established limits knows every detail to its umpteenth decimal point. You know the value of slow motion, you do not hit with a battle-ax. Your imaginative powers are almost nil, but you do know your facts. You usually know just where you want to go, and for this reason you often have your quick-minded, quick actioned competitors beaten. Neatness and precision characterize your work, and there are no loose end floating gaily in the air, when your job is finished.

It is rather difficult for you to show any signs of demonstrativeness, although you inwardly have very deep feelings of affection. You are almost slavishly loyal, and you worship those whom you do love. It is not easy for you to take punishment and forgive. You must fight against becoming bitter towards your adversaries. Your daily work and your simple pleasures give you enough emotional stimulation, so that you are not looking for more artificial thrills. A routine life is one which you prefer. You detest changes, and you dislike having habits interfered with. You are very much of a home body.

OBJECTS TO JAPANESE RATIO.

WASHINGTON, D.C., May 26 (C.P.)—Admiral F. Hughes, chief of naval operations, said to-day before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that he thought the ratio given Japan under the London Naval Treaty would be "detrimental" to United States interests.

He preferred more eight-inch gun cruisers than the treaty allowed, he said, and thought them superior to six-inchers.

APRIL ESCAPADES

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

CHAPTER XIX.

"Stay just where you are," Christopher said, quickly. "It's nothing—I'll see what it is!"

He went across the room, opened the outer door. The apologetic round face of Don Archibald, one of the guests at the recent dinner party, appeared in the opening.

"This is a hell of a time to come in!" young Archibald said, entering. His evening clothes were rumpled and dusty, his hands and face dirty. "I'm awfully sorry, Chris—" he said.

"But what a relief!" Mary Kate exclaimed, on a long breath.

"What's happened?" Christopher asked.

The caller flung himself into a deep chair, stretched a hand gratefully for the cigarette his host extended. Mary Kate subsided, panting into her own chair.

"I don't see how you dared open that door!" she said to Christopher.

"I knew it was some ass like this," Chris said. He and Don Archibald had been in Princeton together. They grinned amiably at each other.

"I'll tell you," Don said then, "I drove my own car down from San Francisco to Gordon's, do you see? And I started back about half an hour ago. Well, turning into the highway here, suddenly something gave a sort of click, and—I don't know what happened. But anyway, the steering gear's on the blink; the front wheels are at right angle, sticking out like that. I got out,—I've got a flash—and at first I thought 'd go to the, club. But it's dark as pitch over there nobody up, and I haven't any clothes, of course. They might have identified me, they might not! I was counting on hiking up to Gordy's, when I saw your light. I knew someone was up!"

"You had a fat nerve!" Chris said, amiably.

"I came up here into your patio. I thought you'd hear me falling around on the chairs."

"I'd have taken a shot at you," Christopher assured him. "I have a nice little gun upstairs here."

"Hear 'em talking about burglaries tonight?" Don asked.

"There's been a kind of an epidemic," the host said, with a nod.

Mary Kate sat in a high-backed Spanish chair, feeling suddenly weary and cold. The evening had gone flat. Neither of the men was taking any particular pains to include her in the conversation; they were talking to each other. Since Don Archibald had taken the chair opposite her own, and Chris had handed him his long glass, she might just as well not have been in the room.

Something in this casual disregard hurt her deeply. It was not that she cared about their talk, or wanted to be included in it. But it was puzzling that—after all the gayety and gallantry of their attitude tonight in Gordon Rountree's house, when she had queened it in ivory satin and pearls,—both seemed to have forgotten her. She was simply—not there.

It occurred to her, with sharp pain and resentment, that she had served her turn; Chris not only did not need her any longer, but he also no longer needed any pretense of curtesy toward her. His last words before Don had entered burned in her mind.

"My dear, if you knew the whole ridiculous story, you'd know that my people would simply rise in a mob, and slay us both!"

Uncomfortable, yet unwilling to seem dismissed by their mere manner, she sat on, pretending to listen to their casual talk, most of which was about golf, yachts, polo or poker, and so entirely incomprehensible to her. Mostly, she looked unseeing at the fire; now and then she glanced at one or the other as if amused.

"Why do you have to get to town to-night, Don?"

"Well, I don't, as a matter of fact. I've got an outfit at Gordy's and if you could run me up there—"

Chris looked an interrogation at Mary Kate. His eyes asked, "Shall I tell him?"

The color rose in her pale, tired face, and she returned a granite negative, in a brief shake of the head.

"I'm having the spare room replastered—" Chris began, "or I'd offer you a bed here."

"Oh, I'd have to have a change," young Archibald said.

"We've only got one extra room here, it's a little box of a place, really, except for the gallery," Chris pursued.

"Well done!" Archibald applauded, with a significant laugh. Mary Kate, with a sick plunge at her heart, saw that he knew.

"How d'you mean well done?" Chris demanded.

"Gordy told me. I congratulate you, Chris. It went over big!" the other man said. They stared at each other.

"Damn that old tattle-tale," Chris commented then, without resentment, indeed with a deep grin of amusement.

"It looked to me, and to Gordy, too, as if it had worked like a charm!" Archibald told him, admiringly.

Chris congratulated. Chris complacent. Herself having nothing to do with it—just the hired masquerader whose business was to do their will. Mary Kate's face burned. Her throat was dry and thick, she could not seem to get into the conversation.

"Well you see why I can't offer you the spare room," Chris said, shrugging, smiling.

"One never knows!" Archibald said, with a deferential little bow. They both laughed loudly.

"Well, of course there's nothing like being an optimist!" Chris observed.

"I think it was a grand thing to do," the other man said, with relish.

"The thing Don, is, did it work?"

"Did it work? Why, you heard the old girl saying that her daughter would marry a cousin, or someone, in Russia."

"It sounded good to me."

"Say, Chris—" drawled the younger Archibald, with a curious glance. "How far did you go with Marka, anyway? You seem to be a terror, with the gals."

And all the time she must sit there, drooping, pale, furious, listening helplessly, or slip away, dismissed like a servant, without farewells. To Mary Kate the night began to seem like a horrible dream.

"How long have you two known each other, anyway?" the caller presently asked.

His eyes were still only for Chris. But Mary Kate resolutely broke into the talk.

"We hardly know each other at all," she asserted, with a touch of hautighness.

"What?" Archibald said.

His lazy, insulting amusement again. It made her cheeks burn.

"Since Mr. Rountree told you anything at all," she said, with what dignity she could muster, "he might have gone a little further, and explained that this whole thing is a sort of joke—just a perfectly businesslike arrangement—" she stopped.

"Why certainly, what else could it be?" Don Archibald asked innocently, widening his eyes, assuming the air of a man who is trying to keep from laughing.

She hated him. She loathed him. She was too young, too inexperienced to extricate herself from this detestable position; she could only flounder helplessly, trying to be dignified, trying to keep the whole thing funny, bitterly hurt and ashamed in her soul.

"I hope I know a business arrangement when I see one," Archibald pursued modestly. "Only—" he added, with his characteristic guffaw, 'only I didn't know Steynes was such a good business man."

"Cut it out," Chris said briefly, with a little frown. But he was not really angry, not really concerned.

"I think now," Mary Kate said, trying for a dispasionate conversational tone, "I think now that it was a silly thing to do. And I know that my mother will be—or would be—"

It was no use. They were not interested in what she, or her mother thought. Indeed, in the wretchedly sensitive stage in which she suddenly found herself, she appreciated that both of them disliked the introduction on explanations, apologies. They belonged to a class that never explained or apologized.

"I was going to say that I have been Mr. Rountree's secretary for two years," Mary Kate said, coldly.

Archibald laughed again.

"And is that a long time for any girl to stay with Gordy?" he asked.

"Shut up, you ass," Chris said, smoking, grinning, staring into the fire. 'Going to play 'round to-morrow?" he asked. "How early would you play? I'm having a lunch here at about half past one. We'd have to begin about nine, wouldn't we?"

"It listens good to me. What's ter lock your hall door. There've women?"

"'Its a farewell to summer," Chris agreed, with a nod.

"They depart on Sunday."

Suddenly to her horror, Mary Kate knew that she was on the verge of tears. The fire upon which she fixed her look, danced and spit into arrows before her eyes.

Voice of the People

Letters to be printed in the Voice of the People column must be received at The Examiner Office on the day before it is desired to have them published.

OPEN LETTER TO E. A. PECK, M.P.

E. A. Peck, Esq., M. P.
Barrister, City.
Dear Sir:

You are reported in Friday's Examiner as stating that there are many features of the Dunning budget which you approve of and many of which you disapprove of. Would you mind letting the public know some of the items you approve of because they will then be able to judge the objections you have to the other items?

In view of the fact that you have received something like 30,000.00 for your public services, you will probably have no objection to giving the list of items which you either approve of or disapprove of in the Dunning budget.

Yours truly,
G. N. GORDON

ARTIFICIAL RESPIRATION

To the Editor of The Examiner:

We have had once again brought home to us the fallacy of any importance that the pulmotor has in resuscitation so far as electric shock or drowning are concerned. Every year lives are lost through the use of this apparatus on such cases. Why doesn't the medical profession come out and condemn its use? Take the case of the little 6-year-old boy drowned in Wallaceburg during the week-end. If this small body was immersed for 20 minutes, as the papers tell us, it is easy to see that any method would be hopeless, after considering how cold the water it at this time of the year.

I notice in a recent newspaper that a workman was electrocuted in Toronto and a pulmotor was used without success. The Hydro-Electric Commission does not allow the use of a pulmotor on any of its workmen who may have been shocked. Some one might ask: "When should a pulmotor be used?" It should only be used when a person is overcome with gas, smoke, etc., so it is in its proper place when in charge of the fire department or gas company. Even here its best results are obtained when used as an inhalator in conjunction with Shaffer's prone-pressure method of resuscitation.

Prof. J. R. Macleod of the University of Toronto (physiology) says no advantage is gained by using oxygen or carbon dioxide during artificial respiration or by administering heart stimulants. The only method to employ is the prone-pressure method. This should be kept up until the patient revives or until rigor mortis sets in, which may be from three to six hours. He is referring here to electrocution. Paralysis due to the shock may pass off during this time and if respiration has been carried out artificially during this period the patient will automatically take it up.

As regards drowning accidents, the victim, besides having his respiration stopped, has been robbed of nearly all his latent heat and steps should be taken to put this back. His blood is not charged with impurities and so does not require a pulmotor, but just persistent artificial respiration during a long period, as in electrocution. It should be noted here that there are no pulmotors equipped to last anything like this time. Hence, a number of lives are lost due to the fact that respiration (artificial) is not kept up long enough.

Dr. Yandell Henderson, Professor of Physiology, Yale University, sums the situation thus: "Even more important is the fact, demonstrated now by universal experience, that when apparatus is known to be obtainable it is sent for and the manual method neglected. Thus today the apparatus in public use is on the whole contributing very materially to decrease the saving of life."

Every able-boded person should become familiar with Shaffer's method of resuscitation. It should be taught in all our schools. In case of emergency the doctor should be sent for immediately while some one is performing artificial respiration. Remember, a doctor is only one person and it is impossible for any one to keep going long enough, so relays are required.

J. BARNES.

SEWER PETITIONS HEARD BY COUNCIL

By-law Passed at Regular Meeting of Tweed Village Council.

(Examiner Correspondence)

TWEED, May 27.—All members of the village council were present at a meeting held recently when petitions were presented, asking for sewers and water mains on Colborne street from Jamieson street to Spring street and on S. Victoria street from lot No. 14 to No. 53.

The clerk certified both petitions sufficient and the council went into a committee on by-laws. A by-law was introduced authorising the construction of sewers and watermains on the two mentioned streets under the local improvement act. These were passed, signed, sealed and numbered 340 and 341.

Several matters pertaining to waterworks were discussed after which the council adjourned.

W. A. Meets

The monthly meeting of the W. A. was held in the Guild Rooms when Mrs. Hayes presented an interesting report of the annual meeting held at Napanee.

The next meeting will be held in June.

CHINESE GOV'T FIGHTING HARD.

SHANGHAI May 26.—(C.P.)—The Natoinalist Government of China today was fighting with its back to the wall. Struggling with civil war in North China and harassed by bandit and Red armies in numerous provinces the government imperatively needed money for military operations while confronted with an economic crisis.

TRAIN KILLS BRAKEMAN.

KINGSTON, May 27. — (C. P.) — Herbert Sturgis, a brakeman on the Canadian National Railways, was crushed to death between two trains which were shunting to hook up to better make the steep grade between Kingston Junction and Kingston Mills early to-day. An inquest into the death has been ordered.

Comment on Morning Stock Markets over Biggar and Crawford wire:

Early strength in principal trading stocks in N.Y. was fairly well sustained throughout the first hour despite outbursts of selling in groups affected by uncertain business conditions. Steel, Westinghouse, Radio, Gas and American Can made new highs on the recovery while Int. Harvester and Case showed evidence of weakness. The volume showed a slight increase over Monday. Money renewed at 3 per cent.

Quietness reigned on the Toronto market this morning and trading in the leading issues was slow and price change narrow. The Oils advanced slightly led by Super-Test and B.A. Oil. The former was up 2 at $43 and the latter advanced to $20 under fair volume. — Biggar and Crawford.

AFFLUENT TRAMPS

GLASGOW, Scotland, (U.P.). — The first annual report of the Department of Health for Scotland mentions that "in one parish where the council have an arrangement with a householder to supply supper, bed and breakfast for vagrants, it is not uncommon for tramps to ask for, say another egg for breakfast, and to offer to pay for it themselves."

UTILITY SHARES IN BIG DEMAND

Speculation For Rise Again Pressed Forward on Wall Street

INDUSTRIALS ADVANCE.

NEW YORK, N.Y., May 27. (C.P.)— Speculation for the rise was again pressed forward in to-day's stock market, undaunted by the moderate set-back late yesterday, but the market was unable to ignore unfavorable news from the railways and the farm implement makers, and became unsettled as the session wore on.

Operators for the advance again concentrated their activity in the utility shares, capitalizing the favorable effects upon market sentiment of the announcement of another major natural gas project by Missouri-Kansas pipe line, unconfirmable rumors that a new folding company will be formed to acquire substantial blocks of Niagara, Hudson and Consolidated Gas, with a view to an eventual merger.

Trading was accelerated somewhat during the early hours of the session, and a wide assortment of food shares, Industrials and specialties joined advance. Gains of 2 or 3 points were common.

High flyers in the early advance were People's Gas, American Power and Foster Wheeler, up 4 points or more. In the food shares, National Biscuit, Hershey Preferred, and Borden reached new high ground for the year. Such issues as U. S. Steel and American showed moderate strength during the morning. In the farm implements, case was depressed more than 12 points and International Harvester substantially losses of a point or more were common in the rails, and General Motors, a recent firm spot, cased.

TRADE SPREADS ON STANDARD

Trend is on Irregular Side, Although Losses and Gains About Even at Noon.

LINDSLEY GROUP STRONG.

TORONTO, Ont., May 27. (C.P.)— The mining board lacked the broad activities which marked it yesterday but trading attention appeared to even more widespread. Price trend was slightly on the irregular side with losses and gains about balanced at noon.

Ajax Oil and Gas, whose shareholders are to-day in receipt of a communication from the president regarding the interest secured in a well being drilled in Oklahoma city field and the royalty interests purchased in the mid-continent field, continued the downward movement instituted late yesterday, touching a low of $2.26. A later reaction, however, carried the stock back to $2.45, 5 below last night. Nordon, Calmont and Home Oil were slightly easier.

Lindsley stocks were relatively strong. Golds were somewhat mixed in tone. Teck Hughes was the strong number, advancing 20 to $6.75 McIntyre was up 15 to $19.15 and Lake Shore and Wright Hargreaves 5 each to $22.50 and $2.07 respectively.

BOMB EXPLOSIONS AGAIN ROCK CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Ills., May 27.— Bomb explosions early to-day shook the northwest and south sides, caused serious injuries to two persons and did several thousand dollars damage.

Rude Rasmussen, 69, and his wife, Minnie, 61, were treated at a hospital for cuts and bruises after a powerful dynamite bomb wrecked the entrance to a two story brick building.

The drug sore of Chris Barone on the edge of Chicago Chinatown was the target of a black powder bomb which caused damage and threw two families living in the second floor from their beds. Barone told police he knew of no reason for the attack.

ARCHDUKE TO LIE AMONG FOREFATHERS

VIENNA, May 27 (C.P.). — The Archduke Rainer Karl will be buried with his celebrated kinsmen Emperor Francis Joseph and Emperor Karl, in the Hapsburg crypt of the Capucine Monastery.

Difficulties surrounding the disposition of the Archduke's body to-day were smoothed away. The relatives of Archduke Karl had anticipated difficulties in obtaining the permission, which was granted while Archduke Leopold Salvator, father of the late Karl, was on his way to Vienna to take the matter up with the authorities.

ENTERTAIN GRAF OFFICERS.

PERNAMBUCO, Brazil May 27. — (C.P.)— The elite of Brazil to-day joined in fetes to the officers and passengers of the Graf Zeppelin. A round of hospitality marked the day, probably the dirigible's last south of the equator. This afternoon a tea for Dr. Hugo Eckener. Prince Alfonso and their companions drew the select society coterie to the Hotel Central.

The Zeppelin will start to-morrow on the next lap of it long voyage—the 5,500 mile trip to Havana, Cuba, and Lakehurst, N.J.

BELL TELEPHONE IS UNCHANGED ON ODD-LOT SALES

Firm Undertone Continues in To-day's Trading on Toronto Exchange.

STEEL SECTION QUIET.

Nickel Advances 3-8 in Unusually Dull Trading While Noranda Drops 30.

TORONTO, Ont., May 27. (C.P.)— Strength apparent throughout yesterday's sessions was continued on the Toronto Stock Exchange to-day, although the list was not without a few losses. Volume was again on a small scale, and traders lacked some incentive to make large committments.

Brazilian moved up 1-8, while C.P.R. old was unchanged, as was Bell Telephone, on odd-lot sales. Steels were quiet, Page Hersey unchanged, Nickel advanced 3-8, in unusually dull trading, while Noranda lost 30, to $29. Curb stocks did little, Deforest unchanged, and Service Stations off a small fraction. Breweries were unchanged. Dominion Stores, on a lone sale, advanced a point to 24½, but both Loblaw issues were traded at yesterday's closing prices.

Massey Harris was up a point in fair volume, while Ford of Canada eased off ¼, to 36¼.

B. A. oil was up ⅛, and Imperial 1-8, but Pete lost ¼. McColl at 27½, and Canadian Oil at 32 did not show any change.

STOCK DIVIDEND OF CALMONT OIL

Plan Would Account For Four-for-one Split—Will Increase Capital.

TORONTO, Ont., May 27. (Special to Examiner.)—There was some satisfaction for the street in the fact that the actual details of the deals by which Ajax oil has secured an extensive interest in the midday continent field do, to some extent, resemble the inumerable rumors that have been floating around regarding the stock ever since it started on its recent meteoric rise. The letter forwarded to shareholders to-day gives a good outline of the situation and reveal potentialities that evidentl ydid not exist when the company's operations were confined to the southwestern Ontario fields.

In view of the fact the mine has been temporarily shut down pending a change for the better in copper prices, some interest will attach to the annual meeting of Amity Copper and Gold Mines, Ltd., which has been called for June 2, the directors report and election of directors will be the chief items of business.

Calmont Dividend.

While official announcement has not yet been made by Calmont officials, it is understood from reliable sources that it is planned to issue a stock dividend of three shares for one now held. In effect this plan, if carried out, would amount to a four-for-one split and would account for 8,000,000 shares, leaving 2,000,000 still in the treasury. It is reported that about 1,950,000 shares are now outstanding and directors were given authority to increase their capital from 2,000,000 to 10,000,000 shares some time ago.

Financial and economic unsettlement in the far east was cited yesterday in New York by metal bullion dealers as the principal cause of the new decline in silver metal prices to 39¼ cents an ounce, the lowest price ever quoted for spot silver. New York took its cue from London where the white metal suffered a severe setback following receipt of reports of further disorders in China. Shortage of foodstuffs will necessitate the importation of food, and exportations of silver must follow.

Buying of copper is said to be quiet on both foreign and domestic account. Consumers have evidently covered on their requirements and are inclined to wait for clearer indications of the industrial trend before making further committments. Foreign sales Saturday, came to 1,750,000 pounds, and in the forenoon yesterday were 2,000,000 pounds. Electrolytic for domestic shipment was 13 cents a pound and 13.3 cents a pound of Hamburg, Havre and London.

Officials of Olga Gas and Oil appear to be confident no 4 well, in the Dover field, will be a producer when completed. The first gas flow was encountered at a depth of only 23 feet in the Trenton while Ajax No. 4 had to drill 116 feet in the formation before gas came in. Initial flow at the Olga No. 4 was about 50,000 cubic feet a day. Drilling is being continued at around 50 feet a day, when the most favorab. horizon is believed to have been reached the well, will be shot with nitro-glycerine.

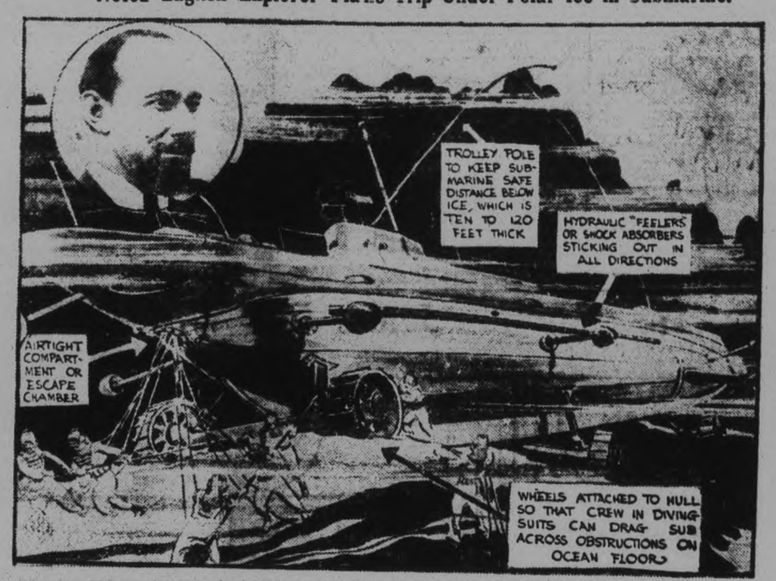
WAR "DUD" KILLS BOYS

BERLIN, (U.P.)—Two boys found a war relic near the village of Muench Hausen, Alsace, threw it into a ditch, and died in agony when the "dud" exploded and enveloped them in mustard gas.

Two Provinces Hold Election Same Day

OTTAWA, Ont., May 27 (C.P.) —The announcement that the general elections in the Province of New Brunswick will be on June 19, the same date as the Provincial elections in the Province of Alberta, has sent people delving into the records. To have two Provincial elections fall on the same date is very unusual but the records show that in 1915, the Provincies of Manitoba and Prince Edward Island both had their elections on September 16.

Noted English Explorer Plans Trip Under Polar Ice in Submarine.



Captain Sir Hubert Wilkins, famous English explorer of the Arctic regions is planning an adventure that will make the fantastic tales of Jules Verne seem common place. He intends to sail from Spitzbergen, via the North Pole, to the Behring Straits under ice in a submarine. For this purpose Wilkins has applied for a charter on the battered old United States submarine O-12. Above is an artist's conception of the submarine when rebuilt to conform to the requirements of Sir Hubert.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND BRIEFS

A SPECIAL SERVICE TO THE EXAMINER

June is going to be one of the biggest months of the year for dividend disbursements by Canadian corporations and from declarations already made or about to be made, total payments in the neighborhood of $30,000,000 are indicated. Many of the Dominion's largest corporations make distributions at this period of the year with the total swelled on this occasion by the payment of bonuses and extras. July 1 being a holiday some companies have advanced the payment to June 30 with the Canadian Pacific Railway taking this action. C.P.R. will head the list with a quarterly dividend of $2.50 a share or over $8,000,000 on the outstanding common share capital. Imperial Oil and International Petroleum, subsidiary of Imperial, will distribute close to $7,000,000 with the former paying $3,300,000 and the latter $3,600,000. Brazilian Traction will reward stockholders with over $2,750,000 and the quarterly dividend on International Nickel means a disbursement of $3,400,000. Ford of Canada has not only declared an initial payment of $1.20 on the new stock, but an extra of 50 cents as well for a total distribution in excess of $2,400,000. Rogers Majestic Radio is also paying an initial dividend of 30 cents and a bonus of 50 cents so while Dominion Stores, in addition to the regular cash quarterly dividend of 30, is distributing a two per cent stock bonus having a cash equivalent value of 46 cents a share. To this is to be added over $3,000,000 by six of the Canadian chartered banks and approximately $1,000,000 by three Ontario gold mines.

Carlings Firm.

Responding to reports of negotiations for control and improvement in current earnings the shares of Carlings Breweries were active and firm on the Toronto Curb to-day. It is said that English capital is interesting itself in a plan for a consolidation of a number of Ontario breweries to include Carlings and several others and having as a nucleus the recently formed brewing corporation of Ontario. Gossip as to increased earnings in the present year for Carlings is not lacking and the management is said to be well satisfied with results to date.

The 39,619 outstanding preferred shares of a par value of $100 of British Columbia Packers, Limited, were listed on the Toronto Stock Exchange to-day and will replace the old preferred issue of the British Columbia fishing and Packing Co., Ltd., which has been withdrawn from the list. Under the consolidation of three companies, preferred shareholders of B. C. Fishing and Packing and Gozze Packing Co., were given in exchange preferred stock of B. C. packers a holding company formed to take over the share capital of the operating concerns.

Open for Inspection.

Loblaw Groceterias are welcoming visitors at their plant on Fleet Street and each week an invitation is extended to the customers of one of the stores to visit the building for a personally conducted tour over the warehouse, one of the most modern and up-to-date on the continent. So far numerous customers have availed themselves of this opportunity. A decrease in earnings for the month of April in comparison with April of 1929, is reported by Winnipeg Electric Railway. Gross for April this year amounted to $504,334 and net to $157,998. After deducting fixed charges and taxes after other income, of $99,312 there remained $58,687 net revenue from operations. Officials of the company state decrease is due to a falling off in the revenue of the railway utility resulting from a decrease in the number of passengers carried. Operating expenses were cut down but it was impossible to make a reduction proportionate to the loss in gross revenue.

Heavy Curb Selling.

Pre-holiday trading on this occasion has taken a different turn from that of the past. During the period of advancing prices considerable selling was experienced prior to an extended holiday by the professional element not caring to carry heavy committments over the holiday period and thus save carrying charges. To-day the professionals are said to be mostly on the short side of the market and with their position reversed are buying in stocks sold some time ago. This action is apparent in the demand for stocks on Wall Street and the manner in which purchases are made in trying to avoid a sharp run up in the price of any one security.

MISSING SCHOONER FOUND.

GALVESTON, Texas, May 27 (Canadian Press). — The schooner Flechas, disabled in the Gulf of Mexico with a party of Houston men aboard, was located to-day 35 miles off the mouth of the Brazos River by the patrol boat 115 of the coastguard.

The patrol boat notified the commander of the cutter Commanche that it was standing alongside the helpless ship.

Wife Sees Husband Slain by Bandits

ANNISTON, Ala., May 27 (C.P.) —Attacked by highwaymen while en route to Jacksonville, Alabama, to attend his daughter's graduation exercises, W. C. Gunn, of Sylacauga, was shot to death last night on a highway about five miles from Anniston. Gunn's wife said she was forced to look on helplessly while three men who had held them up, killed her husband. Mrs. Gunn drove the car into Anniston with her husband's body and reported the killing to police.

COMMERCE MEN LAUD AIR ROUTES AS DESERVING AID

J. H. Woods, Calgary, Tells of Great Steps in Canadian Aviation.

INDIES ASK FOR ROUTE.

Queensland Man Believes Women Should Consider Housework Honorable Occupation.

LONDON, Eng., May 27. (By George Hambleton, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent).—The Empire business men to-day sought ways and means to promote the more effective linking of the Empire by air. In a formal resolution the delegates to the congress of the Empire Chambers of Commerce impressed on the various Governments the importance of granting subsidies for the establishment of a network of air routes. The need of the larger towns for airdrome provision was also stressed.

J. H. Woods, of Calgary, told of the enormous progress made by aviation in Canada within the last two years.

More Freight Than Germany

Last year the Canadian air routes, it was disclosed, carried more commercial freight than even the progressive German lines. There were air mail services running to the mouth of the Mackenzie River and linking the Rockies and the Maritimes.

From the British West Indies came an urgent plea for the establishment of British routes.

The motion submitted by the Toronto Board of Trade on the interchange of school text books was amended by a large majority. In the form finally adopted the resolution recommends that interchange should be arranged through the various Education Deparments instead of through the Prime Ministers and further, that reports of discrepancies or improvements should be submitted to the proper education authorities.

A resolution from the Belleville, Ont., Chamber of Commerce, advocating the wide extension of commercial education was adopted unanimously. In his comments on the resolution Ernest Hunter, Queensland, held that men should be taught commerce and that women should be taught to respect the work which has been apportioned to them generally by world usage. They should be impressed with the fact that housework was an honorable occupation.

"You marry a woman to-day" Hunter exclaimed while the delegates laughed, "and when you have your home you find the only thing she understands is the can opener and that's a pretty expensive way of running a home. Girls should be taught to look after homes and to economize."

my opinion that the great bulk of literature which has appeared on the subject has been prepared on a basis of propaganda whither for or against the south India scheme and this at the very time when dispassionate consideration and fair judgement are essential" said the speaker.

In connection with Diocesan affairs Bishop Seager referred feelingly to the death during the year of Ven. Archdeacon Woodcock, Rev. Canon French, Rev. E. Scammell, Rev. George Code and Rev. W. G. Lansburyund, J. R. Dargavel and W. J. Dawson, lay members of the synod.

Numerous transfers of clergy from one part of the diocese to another were reported by his Lordship who also welcomed two new members from other parts of Canada.

Reports of the working of the new canon on executive councils of vestries, he said were very encouraging, while he also expressed gratitude for the work being accomplished by the church army and the various branches of the Women's Auxiliary in the diocese.

ARTICLE XXXII.

Q.—In the case of a Private Mortgage, what are the necessary steps to be taken by the mortgages before and after making the loan?

A.—The first step in procuring a private mortgage is to find one that has not been refused by the banks. It should preferably be a first mortgage, and moreover, not one that is being refunded. The property should be examined and appraised in order to make sure that there is sufficient equity. This estimate should be a conservative one, and one which might apply to a period of real estate depression. It should also be determined as to whether or not real estate property values are increasing or decreasing in that district. The investor must see to it that the mortgage is properly drawn up and recorded, by a lawyer—that the title on the property is clear—that the taxes and insurance are paid, and that the property is in a good state of repair.

The mortgage should preferably be on a valuable piece of property, whose earning power is sufficient to easily cover all operating expenses, interest payments, and a good reserve for sinking fund requirements to meet the repayment of principal.

The investor should always investigate the circumstances of the mortgagor or of the tenant of the property. The mortgagor should preferably not be a friend or relation, but should be an honest, trustworthy and ambitious man. One who will not only be able to make his payments of interest and principal, but one who will be willing to pay. After the loan is made the mortgagee will hold his mortgage papers and insurance papers. He will have to see to it that the insurance and taxes are paid up, and that the property is not allowed to deteriorate in value. He may have to pay a lawyer to have his interest collected. Lawyers' fees are almost sure to enter into the contract at some time or other, either on account of delayed interest payments or for foreclosure proceedings. If the mortgagor fails to make his interest payments for a certain length of time, foreclosure becomes necessary. He must be given due notice before being dispossessed, and when the property is acquired, it is necessary to dispose of it to realize the principal invested.

URGE RETURN OF PENNY POST

Chamber of Commerce Congress Approves Fixed Date For Easter.

STUDY TEXT BOOKS.

LONDON, May 26 (C.P. Staff Correspondent).—The Congress of the British Empire Chambers of Commerce quickly got down to business yesterday. With three Australian dissentients, it held that the time had arrived for the reintroduction of the penny post throughout the Empire. It approved a fixed date for Easter. It decided that the Council for the Federation should take steps to foster the growth of the film industry calculated to promote British Empire interests. It urged consideration by all Chambers of Commerce of the adoption of model arbitration rules. It welcome Empire school text books and adopted a resolution favoring study of the Empire as a specific subject. At adjournment, the resolution of the Toronto Board of Trade recommending an interchange of text-books of the Empire was still under discussion.

REBELS WORSTED IN BUSH BATTLE

Thirty-one Followers of Rebel Leader Fall Beneath Police Guns.

AVENGES MAY ATTACK.

RIO JANEIRO, Brazil, May 27. (A.P.)—Thirty-eight rebel followers of Jose Pereira were reported killed in a sanguinary encounter with Provincial Police in the northern state of Parahyba, in an Agency Despatch from Pernambuco to-day.

One policeman was reported killed and four wounded. The battle lasting fifty-four hours, took place in and around Sitio. it was stated. Pereira issued a staement to-day denying the figures of his losses.

Rebel forces on May 1 were reported to have ambushed and wiped out a detachment of forty Provincial Police near Princeza. In the last few days of April there were fifty killings in that neighborhood. The trouble was stated to be a purely local affair not in any way affecting the Brazilian Federal Government.

ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER

LOCAL CREDITORS OPPOSE MOTION SUPREME COURT

E. F. Sheehy Appears on Behalf of Stobie-Forlong Creditors in Peterborough.

ADJOURNMENT GRANTED.

N. L. Martin Sought Approval of Court Whereby Company Will Be Re-established.

A motion made by N. L. Martin, trustee of the estate of Stobie-Forlong for approval of the settlement whereby the company will be re-established, was opposed by Emmett F. Sheehy of this city at Osgoode Hall in Toronto yesterday. He was given a hearing by Justice Orde in the Supreme Court.

Mr. Sheehy acted for 40 clients, mostly in Peterborough and Lindsay, whose claims were said to total $40,000. When allegations were made by Mr. Sheehy in opposing the motion he was warned by the court that affidavits must be filed setting out the charges.

On application of several counsel opposing the motion of approval, Justice Orde granted an adjournment until Friday so that new material might be filed.

Mr. Sheehy claimed that the meeting of creditors on May 12 which approved of the scheme of settlement had been carried on "irregularly" and also that the meeting on March 4 at which N. L. Martin was appointed trustee of the estate was carried on irregularly. When asked by Justice Orde what his main objections to the meetings were he claimed that instead of the votes being taken in the regular way by ballot a count was taken of men as they stood up at each meeting. He claimed that no check was taken on the persons who were allowed to vote in this way and that no count of ballots was taken.

He further alleged that Martin withheld information from the creditors to which they are entitled by the bankruptcy laws; that it had been rumored that voting lists had not been sent to some creditors until after the meeting had been held.

Mr. Sheehy contended also in his opposition that creditors have been grossly misled to believe that only 2 per cent. of the creditors opposed the scheme of re-organization presented. There was a total assenting vote of 7,187 he claimed, and a total dissenting vote of 2,109 amounting to 30 per cent. instead of two per cent. A 25 per cent. vote of dissent would be enough to overthrow the scheme, according to bankruptcy law. He contended that the creditors were advised that if they did not submit their voting letters it would be considered that they voted against the proposal of re-establishment but that the two per cent. calculation does not include these votes against the proposition because they were not submitted.

Certain sections of the Bankruptcy Act were not complied with by Martin, he alleged also, and he asked why the regular bankruptcy laws should not apply in the case.

R. S. Robertson, K.C., for the trustee, raised strenuous objection to the statements of counsel, and declared there was no evidence supporting them, and that they were "without foundation."

Mr. Robertson explained that the new company had been formed to acquire all the assets, and that the debtors would hold only 20 per cent. at most of the stock.

Debentures were to be issued to cover all claims in full, and the company would set aside $500,000 each year of assets or earnings. The first $250,000 would be divided, he said, among pro-rata creditors, and the second $250,000 would be used to buy debentures at less than par.

Justice Orde—"Wouldn't most of the creditors rather get 50 cents, say, on the dollar now than 500 cents on the dollar years from now?"

Mr. Robertson explained that five of the seven directors voted for the new arrangement.

Referring to the composition His Lordship said: "They are gambling on the chance of getting something valuable."

Mr. Robertson: "There are $4,000,000 in debts owing this firm. If the firm keeps going, many of them will probably pay."

Justice Orde: "That is in customers' accounts not closed, etc?" —

FATHER SAVES CHILDREN.

SUTTON, Ont., May 27 (Canadian Press). — Notified by his wife that their home was ablaze early to-day Lyman Watson, farmer, crashed through a window of a room where his three small children were asleep, and was able to get them out. Dr. Delaine of Sutton was immediately called and reported the youngest child, Marie, a baby of eleven months, in a critical condition. The father was also severely burned about the arms and face.

Bennett is Given Huge Loving Cup

OTTAWA, Ont., May 27 (C.P.) —With Members and Senators thronged in the party caucus room of the House of Commons, Conservatives this afternoon presented their leader—Hon. R. B. Bennett—with a huge loving cup.

Taken entirely by surprise and visibly moved as the two oldest of his supporters in point of years, R. S. White and W. A. Black, made the presentation, the Opposition chieftain spoke feelingly in expressing his thanks.

PASTOR IS BEING SUED FOR BIGAMY

Rev. Osborne of Boscobel Has Case Postponed to Hold Revival Meeting.

ON $2,000 BAIL.

BOSCOBEL, Wis., May 27 (C.P.)—The Rev. Fred E. Osborne, rector of the Christian Church yesterday was at liberty under $2,000 pending a preliminary hearing on charges of bigamy by the State Board of his church.

Mr. Osborne is accused of marrying Mrs. Minthe Taylor at Mt. Hope, Wis., on May 19, 1929, without having been legally separated from Mrs. Nina Roots Osborne, 40 West Market Street, Wilkesbarre, Penn.

Arraigned yesterday, the Pastor won a postponement of his hearing so that he might complete a series of revival meetings. He continued his duties as pastor yesterday.

HAITI EX-LEADER VISITS NEW YORK

Louis Borno Seeking Period of Rest After Long Session of Office.

WILL TOUR FRANCE.

NEW YORK, May 27. — After eight stormy years as president of Haiti, Louis Borno was in New York yesterday to begin a period of rest and travel that will keep him from his own country for many months.

Since 1908 he has been successively Minister to Santo Domingo, Minister of State, Minister of Foreign Relations, and president of his little republic through years fraught with political friction.

For about two weeks he and his son will engage in sightseeing here, and the nwith Mrs. Borno they will go to France for two months.

The formers President's visit to New York was far different from an earlier one in 1926. On that occasion he was met at the Battery by a hostile demonstration of Haitians, who joined with his political adversaries in considering him an enemy of his nation in the service of Washington.

Either because of his knowledge of English being imperfect, or because he preferred to ignore the demonstration, he rode through an angry crowd in an automobile, smiling and bowing as though the antagonstic cries were an ovation.

A widow of Nottingham, England, who gave her life savings of $1,435 through a trick perpetrated by a gypsy has received the full amount, the identical bills being returned anonymously by mail.

'CORAL GABLES' OPENS.

Large Crowd of Holiday Visitors Attend Initial Dance of Season.

TRENT RIVER, May 27. (Examiner Correspondence).—The evening of Victoria Day was a gala scene on the occasion of opening dance at Coral Gables Casino under the new manager, Mr. Charles Sequire of Warkworth, Ont. The five piece Excelsior Orchestra excelled themselves with up to date popular music played in perfect rythm for the various dance numbers.

The Casino was prettily decorated with various colors of streamers of cut tissue paper shading the electric lighting which has been recently installed. The setting for the background of the orchestra is a unique representation of the rising sun arranged in all the any contrasting shades. The canteen, prettily decorated for the occasion was busy throughout the entire night, serving ice cold beverages. The floor was in perfect condition to please the great number of lovers of the light fantastic.

There was a large representation of cottagers in attendance, who came for over the holiday, while many were present from all the surrounding towns.

If the season for this popular place of amusement is to be evidenced by the attendance of Saturday night we bespeak for the management a successive and prosperous venture throughout the entire summer.

MY FATHER IS GOING TO HELP, IS YOURS, JIM?

"I Just Know They Won't Turn Us Down—We Need a Bigger 'Y'."

Don't Want to Run the Streets.

"It's Going to be Lots of Fun Watching the Figures Go Over the Top."

"Are you going to ask your Dad and Mother to help in the big 'Y' campaign to raise enough money to give us a better Y. M. C. A., Jim? I asked mine and they said 'sure.' They want to see me get all the fun and health that the 'Y' has to offer boys like my older brother and me in the city.

"There is going to be a great big swimming pool in the new addition, and don't I like swimming! I can't swim very well because I have never had a place to learn properly but now I will be able to learn at the 'Y' and mother won't be afraid when we go camping in the summer.

"It's great the way the people have already helped isn't it Jimmy, and I know that other generous hearted citizens aren't going to see us stuck for a real place to play and grow strong. We don't want to hang around the streets. We want to get into the gym classes and swim in the pool and get stronger and stronger and have lots of fun too. You meet a great bunch of fellows at the 'Y' and we wouldn't want to miss that.

"I just know they won't turn us down. Don't forget to ask your Dad and Mother to help, Jimmy. They won't have to pay all in one sum. They just sign a card which one of the 200 canvassers will have for them and pay in installments during the next two years. That won't take much Jim, but it will count.

"It's for us that they are doing it. I heard Dad tell Mother last night that he was going to give just as much as he possibly could. He used to belong to the Y. M. C. A. when he was a boy and that is one reason why he is so strong and healthy today. He says that the building of an addition to the 'Y' is a really worth-while investment.

"It's going to be lots of fun watching the figures mounting up in the next day or two until they go over $128,500 and make sure that we will have a bigger and better 'Y'."

BODY FOUND IN CANAL.

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., May 27. (C.P.) — The body of an unidentified man taken from the Welland Canal late Sunday at Thorold, which has since been lying in an undertaking parlor in that town, will be buried this afternoon. It was that of a man about 45 years of age and has apparently been in the water for about two months. The only clothing on the body was that of an undershirt.

STUDENT CARS BANNED.

ADA, O., (U.P.)—Robert Williams, president of Ohio Northern University, at a special chapel session, announced that students who could give no legitimate reasons why they should drive an automobile, would no longer be permitted to drive their own or other cars while enrolled at Ohio Northern. The new ruling did not affect the 62 students who commute daily to and from classes.

YOUNG WIFE STRENGTHENED

After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Bancroft, Ontario—"When I first took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I had been married about a year and my strength was leaving me on account of my condition. I was only 19 and it was my first child. My mother told me I needed something to steady my nerves and a girl chum told me to take the Vegetable Compound. I am so thankful I did because it strengthened my whole system and now I feel perfectly well and have a sweet little baby boy."—Mrs. J. B. STALKER, Bancroft, Ontario.

To make it more digestible ... this delicious food is Shot from Guns

How 125 million explosions in every grain makes Puffed Wheat and Puffed Rice as nourishing as hot cooked cereals

TASTE these deliciously flavory Puffed Grains! ... They are the invention of Professor Anderson. He seals grains of wheat and rice in huge bronze guns. Revolves the guns in a fiery furnace. When the guns are fired, 125 million explosions occur in each grain.

This opens every tiny food cell. It makes Puffed Grains as completely digestible as though they had been cooked for hours. Hence they become virtually as nourishing as hot cooked cereals.

And how crisp ... crunchy ... delectably good to eat Puffed Wheat and Puffed Rice are. They melt in your mouth. They give just the splendid grain nourishment everyone needs. Serve them for breakfast, luncheon and supper. Toast them with butter to make a new delicious kind of popcorn. Your grocer has Puffed Wheat and Puffed Rice. The Quaker Oats Company.

TORIES TO NEED 33-SEAT GAIN FOR MAJORITY

That Number Would Give Party Bare Majority in Next House.

STATISTICS OUTLINED.

Liberals Now Hold Power Through Progressives Giving Support.

OTTAWA, May 27.—Conservatives of the Dominion, in order to achieve the victory they seek at the polls in the forthcoming general election, must make a gain of 33 seats in the House of Commons. Such an increase would give them a bare majority of the 245 seats which exist.

Progs Aid Liberals

At the present time the Liberals in power, do not hold, within their strict party lines, a majority of the House, but the Liberal-Progressive representation gives them the balance of power. There are 119 straight line Liberals, and the Progressives pledged to the Liberal cause number eight, making a total of 127 seats.

The Conservatives hold 90 seats. The remaining 28 seats are divided as follows: United Farmers of Alberta, 11; Progressives, 12; Labor, 3, and Independent, 2.

Ontario, following tradition, is the Conservative stronghold of the Dominion. It has 53 Conservative seats, 24 Liberal, 3 Progressive. Quebec, on the other hand, is the province where the Liberals find most of their strength. The standing of parties in that province is: Liberal, 60; Conservative, 4; Independent, 1.

Strength Scattered

The remainder of the Liberal strength is made up as follows: Nova Scotia, 3; New Brunswick, 4; Manitoba, 5; British Columbia, 1; Prince Edward Island, 3; Saskatchewan, 16; Alberta, 3.

The Conservatives, in provinces other than Ontario and Quebec, have the following representation: Nova Scotia 11; New Brunswick, 7; Manitoba, 0; British Columbia, 12; Prince Edward Island 1; Saskatchewan, 0; Alberta, 1; Yukon, 1.

The United Farmers of Alberta, of course, hold all their 11 seats in that province. Outside of Ontario, the Liberal-Progressives hold seats only in Manitoba, whence they sent six members. Two of Labor's seats are in Manitoba and one in Alberta. Independents sent one member from Quebec and one from British Columbia.

To Make Double Bid

It is an open secret that the Conservatives, in their bid for victory, will concentrate mainly on two sections of the Dominion, the Prairie provinces and Quebec. In the three provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, they hold only one seat that represented by Hon. R. B. Bennett, the leader, in Calgary West. In Quebec, they have but four seats.

It is also no secret that the party is not entertaining any hope of gaining a majority of the Quebec seats. The tactics will rather be to concentrate on some 20 constituencies where it is believed there is a possibility of swinging the vote away from the Liberals. There are many Quebec seats where any strenuous campaign against the Liberals would be largely wasted effort, and the opposition appreciates this.

In the Prairie provinces, the situation is somewhat different. This section of the Dominion has always shown a voting strength that swings backward and forward, and the Conservatives will probably fight for every seat. The battle is likely to be centered largely in Saskatchewan, where the recent Conservative victory in the provincial elections has roused the hope of better things for the party in the federal field.

Predict Alberta Gain

In Alberta, too, it is felt that the presence of Mr. Bennett will have a salutary effect on Conservative chances, and predictions have been openly made that there will be a Conservative gain.

The Liberals, meanwhile, are disputing every Conservative claim to advantage. They prophesy that they will make gains in Ontario and probably in Nova Scotia and the other Maritime provinces, while holding their present strength on the prairies. They are confidently predicting a clear majority of the House after the next election.

Comparing the 1926 and 1925 elections, some interesting figures are disclosed as to party gains and losses. The Liberals, in 1926 gained 11 seats in Ontario, held their ground in Quebec, lost a seat in Nova Scotia, gained three in New Brunswick, gained three in Manitoba, lost two in British Columbia, gained one in Prince Edward Island, gained one in Saskatchewan and lost one in Alberta.

Lost In Ontario

At the same time, the Conservatives lost 15 seats in Ontario, held their ground in Quebec, gained one in Nova Scotia, lost three in New Brunswick, lost seven in Manitoba, gained two in British Columbia, lost one in Prince Edward Island, remained unrepresented in Saskatchewan, lost two in Alberta, and held their one seat in the Yukon.

Progressives gained two in Ontario, lost three in Manitoba, lost one in Saskatchewan and nine in Alberta. Labor gained one seat in Alberta. The Independent representation remained the same.

OBITUARY

MARY McGEE

(Examiner Correspondence)

STIRLING, May 27.—After six years of helplessness the end came to Miss Mary McGee on Thursday, May 22, 1930. Deceased was a tailoress and was stricken while at work in Mr. F. T. Ward's shop. During those years Miss McGee had the unselfish care and attention of her sister, Mrs. Frank Demorest, although she was helpless her mind was clear and she delighted in rehearsing past memories to those who visited her. Deceased was in her seventieth year and leaves three sisters, Mrs. Demorest, Stirling; Mrs. H. Wheeler, Clifield, Sask.; and Mrs. E. D. Hagar, Blyth, Ont., beside a number of relatives in stirling. The funeral was held on Saturday afternoon at her late residence, Baker street, conducted by Rev. A. N. Reid of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church. Burial in Stirling cemetery.

LYMAN MOON

(Examiner Correspondence)

STIRLING, May 27.—The funeral of Lyman Moon, a former resident here, was held in Belleville on Saturday afternoon under Masonic auspices of Stirling lodge, several of the brethren going from here to attend.

The burial was in Stirling cemetery. He was twice married.

MRS. TIMOTHY HERLIHEY.

KING'S WHARF, May 27 (Examiner Correspondence). — The funeral of the late Mrs. Timothy Herlihey was held on Friday morning at ten o'clock from the residence of her son-in-law, Mr. Thomas J. O'Neil, to St. Luke's Church, Downeyville, where Requiem High Mass was chanted by Rev. Father McAuley of Ennismore, who afterwards conducted the service at the cemetery. The late Mrs. Herlihey has been ailing all winter and her death was not unexpected. She was born at King's Wharf 77 years ago and spent nearly all her life here and was highly respected and esteemed. She leaves to mourn her loss one son Leo Herlihey in Calgary, Alta., two daughters, Mrs. Maurice Twomey, in Ennismore, and Mrs. Thomas J. O'Neil of King's Wharf, three brothers, Richard O'Connell, John O'Connell of King's Wharf, and Simon O'Connell of Downeyville. Two sisters, Mrs. Ellen Donohue of Ennismore and Mrs. Neil Herlihey of King's Wharf, also 14 grandchildren. The pall-bearers were three brothers, Simon, John and Richard O'Connell, and three sons-in-law, Thomas J. O'Neil of King's Wharf, Maurice Twomey of Ennismore, and Michael Fox of Lindsay. A large number attended the funeral, showing the high esteem in which the deceased was held.

J. EDWARDS

The death occurred on Sunday night of J. Edwards at his late residence, 68 James street.

He leaves to mourn his loss his wife, Mrs. James Edwards, six daughters, Mrs. Stenson of Ottawa, Mrs. Jones of Toronto and Mrs. Parnell, Mrs. Harding, Mrs. Pulley, Miss Cynthia, all of this city, and two sons, Jack Edwards of Nebraska and James of this city. Another daughter, Mrs. C. Hopcroft, died some short time ago. He also leaves one brother and a sister in England.

The funeral will be held on Wednesday at 2 p.m. from the family residence to Little Lake Cemetery. The service will be conducted by Rev. A. E. Thornley, and Adjutant Jones of the Salvation Army.

ALICE E. RYLOTT.

HAVELOCK, May 27 (Examiner Coorespondence). — The funeral of the late Alice Elizabeth Rylott, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marcenna Rylott, whose death occurred at Mrs. Cumming's Nursing Home at Havelock on Thursday noon, May 22, was held on Saturday May 24, at 2 o'clock. The deceased who was in her seventeenth year had been ill for about three weeks. She was a first year student at the Continuation School, and a popular favorite with her fellow-students and teachers.

The funeral, which was largely attended, was held from the house, services being conducted by Rev. W. R. Archer, pastor of the United Church, assisted by Rev. J. Lennox, pastor of the Presbyterian Church. The text of Mr. Archer's sermon was the 14th chapter of St. John' Gospel: "In my Father's house there are many mansions, and if it were not so I would have told you." The speaker spoke words of consolation and hope to the sorrowing parents, sister, brothers, relatives, and other sorrowing friends. By special request the words of three beautiful hymns were repeated and not sung. Mr. Lennox also spoke words of sympathy.

The funeral proceeded from the house to Victoria Cemetery, where the remains were interred in the family plot. The pall-bearers were Gerald Anderson, Victor Wright, Alton Thompson, Jack Aunger, Fred Rutherford, Garnet Rutherford. The floral offerings were many and beautiful, silent testimonials to the love and esteem in which the dead girl was held. A particularly lovely piece was a large wreath of roses from the fellow-students and teachers of the Continuation School. Others were from pupils of the Public School, large basket of roses; teachers and pupils of Belmont School, wreath; Havelock Women's Institute, spray; Junior Institute and Agricultural Society, spray; friends at Trent Bridge, wreath; Goodyear Tire Co., Bowmanville, wreath; Mr. and Mrs. J. Ward, wreath; Mary Wallace Bowmanville, spray; Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Aunger, Ottawa, spray; A. Lecson and son, spray; Lillian Plunkett and Beatrice Crawford, spray; Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Fraser, spray; Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Garneau, spray; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Boute, spray; Goodyear Recreation Club, spray; Aileen and Craig Butters, spray; Luella and Pearl Varty, Cordova, spray; Mr. and Mrs. Harnden, Bowmanville, spray; family, large double spray; relatives, large wreath.

The sympathy of the entire community goes out to the bereaved family.

EMPIRE DAY IN WARSAW SCHOOL

Good Program Provided By Pupils—News of the District.

WARSAW, May 27 (Examiner Correspondence).— Warsaw school had an Empire Day program on Friday afternoon. 1, Chorus by school, "Oh Canada"; 2, Reading, Iva Payne, "What Empire Means to Me"; 3, Mr. Gardiner told a story of the Empire; 4, School chorus, "Maple Leaf Forever"; 5, "The British Empire in India", a story by Jean Munro; 6, "The British Empire in South Africa" by Laura Payne; 7, School chorus, "Lord of the Lands"; 8, Reading, Mabel McCauley; 9, Reading; 10, "The British Empire", Ken Jakins; 11, The three verses of the National Anthem.

Mr. Franklin Jory met with a very painful accident on Wednesday evening. He was in the barn and slipped, sustaining a dislocated shoulder, and fractured collar bone.

Tucker Reception

Mrs. John Tucker gave an afternoon tea for her daughter, Elsie on Friday afternoon. There were about fifty guests. The house and verandah were decorated with pink and white festoons, lilacs and other flowers. Mrs. Tucker wore a biege crepe dress and Miss Tucker a pale blue one.

Mrs. Digweed, Mrs. Percy Lloyd and Mrs. Emma Selkirk assisted.

Miss Tucker is the recipient of many beautiful and useful gifts, many pieces of household linen in the new colored designs, silver, glass and china. Her mother's gift is a dinner set of ivory china, edged with gold. She has several pieces of beautiful work done by her self.

Refreshments were served at tables set on the verandah. There was abundance of good things Mrs. Tucker so well knows how to prepare.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Moore, Mrs. W. Cooper and children, and George Moore have moved in to the house recently occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Newall. Mr. Moore has bought the place.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Patterson and Mrs. Nathan Bell from Norwood were in the village on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Choate went to their Summer home at McCracken's Landing on Thursday.

Mrs. James Sommers, Rawdon, spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sommers.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Moore and Roy Moore are on the farm where Mr. and Mrs. Robert Moore lived.

A set of "World Books" has been placed in Warsaw School.

Following an explosion in a small store in Ipswich, England, recently, the entire city telephone service was cut off from London for an hour.

Our Mail

Conducted by ANNE WILCOX

Dear Anne and Everybody:

All busy housecleaning, I suppose? So am I, but I've just taken a few minutes to write to the page. Really we must discourage Anne. We have a page and we don't use it. It really isn't fair, and to the neighbors who think they don't write a good letter, let us be the judge of that. There is never one that we don't learn something from. For instance look at the sniffy way that Quid Est wrote to Ad Nauseam. She didn't ask for sympathy, Quid Est but for advice. As for her pen name well, that is her own affair. There have been lots of things you wrote in which I didn't agree with you at all, but I said nothing as I did not want to hurt your feelings. You give the impression of being very hard and unsympathetic and remind me forcibly of a woman I knew who when she had trouble of any kind, it was a dreadful thing, but if her neighbors had trouble, well, they should get up and shake it off. But you can't evade things like that, by shutting your eyes to them. There are too many 'friends' like Ad Nauseam, nice when you're giving but nasty when you're needing. As for being different those who are suffer a lot and again enjoy a lot.

Then again we don't all want to write of farms or budgets, not what we tell our husbands. Some husbands want to know where the money goes and how it goes and some don't want the bother of it. Your way may be the best for you, but because the other lady told how every penny went, is not necessarily wrong. It may be the best for her. Do make allowances for us all, not being made in the one mould.

To my way of thinking the idea of the page is to write of something different. To write of our personalities and to get away from the drab things of life. We could make the page more interesting by telling of how we do things to vary the monotony.

Water-Lily, you wrote a nice letter recently and I always like to see your letters. Highflyer you said you would write once a month, but you must have forgotten to look at the calendar. Meta let us have some more from you. And now Anne duty calls from the kitchen so I must away. So until the next time folks, Au Revoir. Kindest regards to you Anne.

Quo Vadis.

My! My! I thought Quo Vadis had forgotten us! It does seem such a long time since we have heard from her, doesn't it? Anyway we are glad to hear she hasn't forgotten us altogether and welcome her letter.

Dear Anne:

Perhaps the neighbors, of whom I am one, thought they were appearing too often. Your page always has subjects that must be interesting to some one and generally it must be interesting to most. Every subject cannot be interesting to everybody.

Years ago several girls were discussing other people with whom they had business relations, one of these girls had been dismissed for no other reason than that she was not liked. She was a splendid girl but did have some peculiarities which most others admired. She said and honestly we all know, "I really do not feel badly over it, I do not like everybody and cannot expect everybody to like me." Her words have been a great help to me! It seemed to apply not only to people but to various things we do. There are a few dishes of which I am very fond, but which I never prepare for just my husband and myself because while he would eat them I happened to know he does not really relish them. There are also some dishes I always prepared to be used when I am away because he likes them especially well and I do not care for them.

However it was your notes on economy that appealed to me the other day. It seems to me that the H. C. L. would not be so high nor so unsatisfactory were there real economy practiced. First and foremost economy does not mean hoarding every cent. It necessitates, I use that word advisedly, giving, and not stingy giving. What we spend on ourselves is gone what we spend on others comes back seven-fold. A stingy life is a miserable shrivelled one, even if the liver or exister be a multi-millionaire.

Money is what is most frequently considered in speaking of economy. It would seem to be the duty of every one to make the best possible use of whatever talent he may have for honestly securing it and secure a competency for the rainy day, old age, and plenty to help those who are less fortunate as well as the direct giving to the Lord, which, if we read the third chapter of Malichi, we simply must do or suffer.

The giving away of money should be judicious just simply handing out money to any one which happens to do something for us is often very unwise and leads to pauperizing. People easily learn to expect to be given instead of getting down to honest labor.

In our own personal use of money we are often reckless. By the number of confectionary stores, tobacco and cigarette stores, flimsy dry goods, cheap (in quality) novels, expensive cars kept for amusement, for which people have mortgaged their homes, movies and so on and for all of which cash is paid it is easily seen that much money is actually wasted. Not that a certain amount of most of these things are all right in their places.

A very common method of teaching children to waste their money is allowing them to have money to spend as they like with no responsibility and no accounting.

Buying things because we want rather than because we need is a good way to lose any chance to save. I knew of two people or rather two families in exactly the same circumstances except that in one they bought what they needed and the other what they wanted, and the latter were always in want, while the former had enough and to spare.

But oh! the waste of time. Minutes do mount up so rapidly. We have all noticed that the busiest people are always those who can do a little more because they economize their time. Much food is wasted though I do think very many are somewhat more careful of it since the war. Buying more clothes than we need or more anything than we need is useless extravagance because full use may not be made of it and it takes time and space to take care of them. We can waste our talents and our mental powers as well as our spiritual and these seem the greatest wastes of all.

If we cannot do some real good to ourselves our homes, our community our country and the world at large what good are we? And to do so we must conserve all our assets time, money, strength talents mental and spiritual powers and in conserving use.

Yours sincerely,

Quid Est

That's a dandy discussion for a start on our economy letters, Quid Est and thank you. Come on neighbors, let's hear from the rest of you!

OUR CHILDREN

By Angelo Patri

SLEEPING CHILDREN.

Sleeping is as important to the growth of children as the food they eat. We have become very particular in these days of diet as to what and how and when to feed children. But some of us are not as careful about the sleeping conditions as we might be.

I see children asleep in their prams with the bright sunshine full on their faces. That is not good. The children are well off in the open air, and the warm sunshine is good for them. But it ought not to fall directly on a sleeping child's face.

Light registers in the nerve centers. While the child is not conscious of the light on his eyes his nerves are and they keep account of it and so waste energy. That means a child who sleeps with a light shining on his face, directly on his closed eyelids, is not getting full value out of his sleep. Shade his eyes from direct light. While the sun shines on the bed or the pram so direct the light that it cannot fall directly in the face of the sleeping child. A shadowed room is best. A spot under a lightly foliaged tree. A netting screen over the front of the pram. Some contrivance to soften the light and prevent its cheating the child of the full benefit of his sleep.

Noise is another sleep waster. The child may not waken but the noise disturbs his rest. Again the nerve centers register such disturbances though the child is seemingly unconscious of them. That means waste of energy and a loss of sleep value. Have the house quiet. I do not mean that everybody tip-toes about the house because the baby is asleep. But the radio need not rasp, the phonograph need not howl, the carpet need not be cleaned, the drums of industry need not be beaten while the little one sleeps.

Some children cannot sleep without a light in the room. They have formed that habit and it must be gradually overcome. But the light need not shine in their eyes. Some children want to be rocked to sleep because they have been trained to that. It is a habit to be wiped out as soon as possible. The sleeping child needs quiet. No rocking, no music, just peace.

The bed should be firm and smooth, the bedclothes porous and light in weight while warm enough for comfort. Bedtime should be regular and the routine established. No noisy games before bedtime. There should be a gradual slowing down of all processes before sleep times arrives.

Unbroken restful sleep does more for a child than his daily spinach does. It not only rests, it restores and it creates power. It is essential to mental and physical growth. We should consider it as gravely as we now do the child's diet, and let nothing get in the way.

A child's sleep varies with the age of the child, his temperament and constitution. Just as his diet does. It must be worked out for each child. But this much is clear: shaded light, quiet, routine.

C. O. Association Is Sponsoring Contest

MARMORA, May 27 (Examiner Correspondence). — The Central Ontario Cheesemakers' Association are sponsoring a competition this year with the view of increasing the butter fat production per acre among the cheese factory patrons in their jurisdiction and also with the idea of encouraging them to produce more and better milk by providing them with a double incentive to do so.

There will be three sweepstake prizes, consisting of: First prize, $50; second prize, $40; third prize, $30; and for each properly organized instructor's group, a sum of $50 to be allocated as follows: First prize, $25; second prize, $15; and third prize, $10. Other prizes may be added as the season advances.

Entry forms with conditions and regulations have been supplied to the various cheesemakers, and it is hoped that many patrons in the Madoc District will avail themselves of this Cheese Factory Patrons' Farm and Herd Competition.

MAPS

Always I have loved them,
Maps of every hue;
Green for Spain and England,
Purple for Peru.

Little have I wandered
On the seas I love;
But the maps bring visions
And my fancies rove.

There is one I cherish
More than all the rest,
With a golden island
On the far seas's breast.

With a golden island,
Nameless, kissed by spray,
Seas all blue around it,
Continents in gray.

Were I free to wander
To that nameless isle
Would it still be golden,
Still my dreams beguile?

Better and better year by year, so does this old Earth spin, more of vision and more of cheer, closer men grow akin. Ages on ages they strove and fought, each for himself alone; ages on ages they dimly sought light they had never known. Slowly and sternly their war was waged, slowly they grasped and gained; fiercely the envious elements raged, never men's courage waned. Brighter and bright? er year by year, rarer the heights they won, bringing their roseate hopes more near, striving and never done. Many the miracles toil has wrought, wonders beyond all dream, bridging the gulfs of space with thought, crossing time's lasting stream. Better and better year by year, so does this old Earth spin, and of its miracles, this most dear; closer men grow akin!

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D

SORE EYES.

Perhaps you, or one of your family, are being bothered with some form of 'sore eyes'.

It may be that the eyelids are red or swollen, perhaps some 'yellow crusts' form at times, formation of 'styes', frequently the covering of the eyeball red and painful, the little tube carrying the tears from eye down into the nose gets blocked and tears overflow down the cheek. Now these conditions are seen very often and in former days the patient was told that they were due to a 'run down condition'.

This of course is true but every run down condition has some cause. In fact no illness just happens, it develops from some cause.

Now Dr. A. F. MacCallan reminds us that these conditions are due to an infection whose products reach the eye and its surroundings by three paths. First directly from bad tonsils, very bad teeth, catarrahal or pus conditions in the nose or sinuses adjoinging the nose. Second, by absorption from the adjoining lymphatic vessels, which have just absorbed the poisons from mouth, nose or throat.

Third, from the poison from bad teeth and tonsils, which gets swallowed with the food, goes to stomach and small intestine, from whence it is absorbed into the blood. This blood being carried to all parts, including the eyes, sets up trouble there.

Now it may be that your vision is not good but your oculist or optometrist will not likely give you a permanent 'fitting' for glasses while the eyes are troubled with conditions mentioned above.

And it may be also that your doctor will treat the above conditions with silver nitrate solutions, boracic acid solutions, or ointments containing mercury, in order to prevent extensions of the conditions.

However, the thought is that you should not be content to have the eyes fitted or to have the eyes treated, but you should endeavor to find out what is the underlying cause.

The search should begin at the teeth. Don't have tonsils removed unless they are very bad, until the teeth are cleared of all blame. Then the tonsils should be examined, followed by close examination with the special lights or X-ray of the sinuses adjoining the nose.

If these fail to reveal cause then the intestine and gall bladder should be examined by the test meal and the dye solution.

A slow acting intestine, or gall bladder that is unable to empty properly, may be the underlying cause of all the eye conditions mentioned above.

Get local treatment, but what is more important, try and get cause located.

Uncommon Sense

By John Blake

THE THIRST FOR IMPORTANCE.

Our eagerness for importance begins at an early age.

The child who has learned to walk shows in his face that he knows he has earned the admiration of his parents.

Nobody who has ever attended a public school can have failed to notice how avidly youngsters are to attract the attention of their fellow pupils.

I never could see any harm in this urge to do something which might make one stand out above the crowd.

I doubt if there is any difference between this desire and ambition. And the majority of the teachers and preachers are forever seeking to instill ambition into the breasts of those whom it is their duty to instruct.

When a boy or a man becomes convinced that he will go through life unnoticed and unmarked, he is in a pretty bad way.

As long as in him is the hope that somehow and sometime he may rise a little above the common level, and attract notice, he has a chance of doing something useful.

There are, of course, people who will seek any sort of notoriety just so it will focus the public eye upon them.

But better even that than a dull listless outlook on life, which takes it for granted that one will always be one of the herd, doing nothing and saying nothing that is worth looking at or listening to.

In reading history I find that most of the people who have accomplished anything worth doing have been quite willing to bask in the public admiration after they have done it.

We give our highest reward, which is fame—as lasting fame as is in our power to bestow,—on people who have labored to do something out of the usual.

In a lengthy career as a newspaper man I have met a great many of these and interviewed a number of them.

And I never have found one who was at all unconscious of the value of his services to mankind, or at all adverse to the applause that he had gained thereby.

Do not imagine merely because a youngster is a little "smarty" that he never will amount to anything.

The fact that he wants to show off may inspire him some day to do something which will enable him to "show off" with some degree of success.

There are, of course, people who will seek any sort of notoriety just so it will focus the public eye upon them.

But better even that than a dull listless outlook on life, which takes it for granted that one will always be one of the herd, doing nothing and saying nothing that is worth looking at or listening to.

In reading history I find that most of the people who have accomplished anything worth doing have been quite willing to bask in the public admiration after they have done it.

I do not say that the thirst for importance is a noble emotion, but it is certainly better, and more likely to produce mental growth than serene and cowardly resignation to remaining in a corner and never attracting any attention at all.

I admit that I do not like "show-offs." But I have learned that it is not wise to regard all of them with contempt.

Often the "show-off" complex leads them to real accomplishment.

ALICE WHITE explains
why some girls are so Enchanting

ALICE WHITE, petite First National star, in the bathroom created especially for her in Hollywood. She says: "Lux Toilet Soap gives my skin that peach-bloom smoothness that is so important to a girl's charm."

Alice White

"WHEN a girl is fascinating," says dainty Alice White, whose vibrant charm carried her so swiftly to stardom on the screen, "you may be sure of one thing. Her skin is lovely!

"Beautiful skin always attracts. It is certainly the most important charm any girl can have.

"In Hollywood, you know, the directors all found out long ago that if a girl is to win millions of admirers on the screen, her skin must have that peach-bloom smoothness that is so ravishing.

LORETTA YOUNG
"It's very satisfactory!"

"The glaring close-up lights would reveal even the slightest imperfection in the skin. And so, of course, every star in Hollywood guards her complexion most carefully.

"So when I say we use Lux Toilet Soap—almost all of us—you may be sure we think it is a splendid soap. Such soothing lather, and it leaves the skin so exquisitely smooth and soft.

"It is such a simple way to keep the skin lovely! Any girl can follow it, with the same good results."

9 out of 10 Lovely Stars use it—in Hollywood—on Broadway—in Europe

Of the 521 important actresses in Hollywood, including all stars, 511 are devoted to Lux Toilet Soap. All the great film studios have made it the official soap for their dressing rooms!

The lovely Broadway stage stars, too, have discovered that Lux Toilet Soap gives their skin just the gentle care that is required.

And now the European stars are using this fragrant white soap! You, too, will want to try it. Order several cakes—today.

SMART DINNER DRESS IN BLACK LAME'S SATIN.

Black lame satin is chosen for this dinner dress, which is interesting for the treatment of its armholes, and for the diagonal interweaving of materials at the hipline. Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

WITH WARMER weather approaching very rapidly in Peterborough many housewives are looking for recipes for unusual beverages and edibles to serve at afternoon teas and evening parties.

• • • • • • •

With this in mind, I am going to give some today and I hope they will help readers to make ready for company with the minimum of work and a maximum of enjoyment.

• • • • • • •

Chocolate crackers spread with cream cheese and served with iced mocha-coffee are novel refreshments anyone can get ready at a very short notice.

• • • • • • •

Of course you know that you can buy plain chocolate cookie-crackers which come as thin as ginger wafers. Spread these with cream or cottage cheese dusted with finely minced lettuce and dotted in the center with half a nut, or, if you have no nuts, use a seedless raisin, half a red cherry or a dot of preserved citron. Ginger wafers, or any thin, sweet cracker can be prepared in like manner.

• • • • • • •

Use cold coffee for the foundation. To each pint of clear coffee add one tablespoon of cocoa made into a paste with two tablespoons of boiling water. Mix in a saucepan and gradually add one cup of cold milk or water.

• • • • • • •

Stir constantly and bring to a boil over a low fire. Pour the cold coffee slowly to the cocoa mixture, after the latter has boiled three minutes. Add one teaspoon sugar to each cup of the mocha beverage and one half teaspoon of vanilla extract to the whole quantity as given.

• • • • • • •

When it is cold, pour into glasses one-quarter full of chopped ice. Top with a spoonful of whipped cream.

• • • • • • •

Have you ever heard of Salamagundi-tea? Rather a long name to get one's tongue around, isn't it. Let me tell you how this is made.

• • • • • • •

Iced tea is the foundation. To each cup of tea made strong or weak to suit individual tastes, add one-quarter of a teaspoon lemon juice, one teaspoon orange juice, one teaspoon sugar, one clove, one maraschino cherry or one ripe cherry and a tiny bit of preserved ginger.

• • • • • • •

If you put the tea in a glass pitcher, the lemon and orange juices in small glass pitchers and other ingredients in an hors-d'oeuvres dish, or in a small separate glass, the tray or table will have a very attractive appearance, and that is what you want, isn't it.

• • • • • • •

The glasses can be partly filled with the cracked ice, or a bowl of it can be placed on the tray also. Such an arrangement is advised for then persons can express preferences about the concocting of their glasses of the beverage and all tastes can be suited.

• • • • • • •

And then have you ever eaten asparagus rolls? Cut buttered fresh bread into thin slices, cut off the crusts. Wrap one asparagus stalk, the length of a slice in each piece of bread.

• • • • • • •

The stalks must be seasoned with salt and pepper, or they may be dipped quickly into French dressing just before being wrapped. Serve with Salamagundi tea or with hot tea or the mocha-coffee.

• • • • • • •

Asparagus rolls are a caterer's delicacy. Refreshments or a tea consisting of one of these beverages, asparagus rolls and one or two other kinds of tasty sandwiches, and followed by little fancy cakes are dainty and decorative enough for an elaborate tea or an informal party.

• • • • • • •

Sherbet, water ices, or ice cream served with the cakes make such refreshments ample for a formal tea or an evening function and they have the distinction of novelty.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

FASHION FANCIES

ALL-OVER EMBROIDERY REVIVED

All-over embroidery is taking a hand in summer fashions. It is an old-fashioned material that has undergone a style rejuvenation to the apparent delight of the present populace. These embroidered fabrics are offered in the myriad pastel tints as well as white and ecru. In some cases the dainty frocks they fashion are trimmed with lace, while others adopt tailored details.

A frock of consummate daintiness and late fashion inspiration is that sketched above of pink batiste embroidered in tiny white flowers that form an all-over pattern. Fine tucks releasing fluffy ruffles at the collar, cuffs and two tiered skirt are also important in defining the natural waistline.

On the afternoon of May 24, the House Management Class of the Sacred Heart School entertained a number of guests at a dainty tea, prepared and served by the girl members. The school room was appropriately decorated in red, white and blue, and the uniforms of the girls corresponded attractively with the same patriotic color scheme. During the afternoon, a program that included many familiar patriotic songs, was rendered by the children. The pastor of the church, Rev. J. J. O'Brien, with his curate, Rev. C. Maloney, also Rev. Father Finn and Rev. Father Lynch, were present and spoke very encouragingly of the program and of the manner in which the girls had prepared and served the dainty repast.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Smith, of St. Catharines were holiday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Pilling, 222 Wolfe Street.

At the home of Mrs. W. H. Hohner, Rogers Street, members of the choir of Trinity United Church gathered last week to do honor to two of their members, Miss Frances McFadden and Mr. George Nicholls, whose marriage takes place during the first week in June. The members of the tenor and bass sections of the choir present Mr. Nicholls with a set of military and shaving brushes, while the girls united in presenting the bride-elect with a shower of pretty miscellaneous gifts. The evening was pleasantly spent in the enjoyment of a program of music and contests and concluded with the service of dainty refreshments.

The Misses Frances Puffer and Muriel Travis, of Toronto, spent the holiday with Mr. and Mrs. Edward O'Toole, of Wescott Street.

FIRST OUTING OF CALEDONIAN CLUB

Members and Friends Hold Jolly Social Affair in Nicholls Oval.

MANY NOVELTIES.

Members of the Caledonian Club and their friends met at Nicholls Oval last Friday night and spent an enjoyable time there. They were accompanied by the Caledonian Pipe Band, which greatly enlivened the proceedings, with the stirring music which it played. The earlier part of the evening was spent in entertaining the children, in races and games, and the service of ice cream and candy. A game of football between the married and single men was played; also a baseball game. An "Eightsome Reel" and a set of "Quadrilles," to the accompaniment of the bagpipes, seemed to be thoroughly enjoyed by those taking part.

A novel feature on the program was a 'competition' in community singing between the ladies and the men. The ladies had as a leader Miss Jessie Pattison, while Mr. Alex. Anderson made an inimitable conductor for the men. This little competition revived many long-forgotten favorites. Miss Pattison gave a splendid rendition of Harry Lauder's "I'm the Saftest o' the Falmly."

Rev. Mr. Edgar of Gilmour Memorial Church, who was present, gave a short talk on "Humor." This happy subject was well chosen for such a gathering. The different phases of humor which the speaker described, interspersed by the many anecdotes which he told called forth much merriment and applause by the gathering. Mr. Alex. Clark moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Edgar, who, by his splendid talk and genial presence, lent so much to the evening's enjoyment.

The committee in charge—Messrs. W. Petrie, W. Crisp, A. Clark, A. Jackson, A. Anderson and R. Gilmour—is to be congratulated on the splendid success of the evening's outing.

The weather being so favorable made this outing especially enjoyable, and before dispersing the members expressed the wish that another such gathering would be arranged in the near future.

Next Friday evening a pie-social and concert will end the social activities of the club for the season, and it is hoped the members will turn out in full force and make this entertainment a fitting climax to the many happy evenings which the club has enjoyed in the past season.

C.G.E. Wins Opening Game from Crescents 3-1

GENERALS HIT AT RIGHT TIME TO COP VICTORY

Jack Crary Carries Equal Mound Honors With Veteran Opponent "Jeff" Hardil.

LARGE ATTENDANCE.

Errors Contribute Largely to C.G.E.'s Score—Both Teams Give Great Display.

Cashing in on all their scoring opportunities while their opponents failed to come through in the pinches, the C.G.E. team, baby member of the East Peterborough League, defeated the Crescents 3 runs to 1 last evening at Exhibition Park in the league's opening game.

Over a thousand fans shivered in the stands as they watched one of the best games yet seen during the long and honorable history of the E.P.L. It is difficult to get enthusiastic over a ball game when the cold is stealing into your marrow but every last fan stayed until the last ball was thrown and the contest was worth the ordeal.

"Jeff" Hardill, former ace of the Central League team, hooked up in a pitching battle with Jack Crary, who was twirling his first intermediate game. Young Crary has just moved up from junior company where he carried the pitching burden for the Kiwanis team, O.B.A.A. finalists last year, and he carried off equal honors with his more-seasoned opponent in his first start.

Both hurlers had plenty of stuff. They were cutting the corners with fast-breaking hooks and for the most part had the batters eating out of their hands. Hardill had twelve strikeouts in six and a third innings while Crary whiffed eleven in six frames. "Jeff" issued four walks while the youngster walked five and hit one.

Hit at Right Times

The C.G.E collected six clouts but they came just when they were needed, while the Crescents got but five and they were all so scattered that none was worth anything except the doubles of Walt. Crary and Fred Jones in the sixth, which scored their lone tally.

Crary won the plaudits of the fans when he struck out two batters in the first innings to retire the side with the bases loaded. He had whiffed Joe Jones previously.

Errors contributed largely to the C.G.E.'s score. "Red" Hollingsworth crossed the platter in the third with the first run when Collins let Hickey's throw from first get away from him. Hollingsworth was on second when Rose tapped a roller down the third base line. Rose beat the throw to first and Hollingsworth tore home.

Beavis, who had got on with a walk, and L. Hollingsworth, safe on Batten's error, scored on Hatton's timely double for the C.G.E.'s other two counters.

Both teams gave a great display and they give every promise of providing fans with great ball.

How and When.

In the first innings Hardill opened up with a burst of speed. H. Hollingsworth and Johnson were retired on strikes, but Rose drew a walk and stole second. Dugan rolled out to Sweetman.

An error, a hit and a walk loaded the bases for the Crescents in their half but Crary pitched himself out of the hole. W. Crary, first up, was safe when Dugan booted his roller down the first base line. Sweetman reached first on a neat bunt. J. Jones struck out. Collins walked, filling the bases. Crary struck out Masterson and Hickey.

After Beavis had struck out to open the second, Harmer poled out a nice Texas Leaguer. L. Hollingsworth whiffed and Hatton rolled to the pitcher.

For the Crescents Jones drew a walk and went to second when Hatton let Batten's third strike get away from him making a throw to the initial sack necessary. Hardill popped a foul to Johnson and Walt Crary took three strikes.

Hollingsworth Scores

Starting the third, J. Crary struck out. H. Hollingsworth singled through second and then stole that bag. Johnson whiffed. Rose sent a slow roller down the third base line and beat Sweetman's throw to first. Hollingsworth rounded third on the play, heading hot for home. He crossed with a tally when Collins let Hickey's throw from first get away from him. Rose stole second, but Dugan rolled to the pitcher.

Sweetman drew a walk and stole second, but was caught off the bag, Crary to Hollingsworth. J. Jones whiffed. Collins singled into centre, but Masterson struck out.

Beavis cracked a hot single through first to start proceedings in the fourth and he immediately stole second and third. Harmer and L. Hollingsworth both whiffed and Hatton rolled to Hardill.

Fielding his position nicely, Crary tossed out Hickey. F. Jones rolled to Johnson. Batten singled over third and Hardill walked. W. Crary crashed a hit at Hollingsworth who took it, tossing Batten out at third.

Starting the fifth, J. Crary cracked a stinger at Sweetman who took it on the fly. H. Hollingsworth walked and stole second. Johnson whiffed. Rose's high fly was taken well behind second by Crary, who fell but came up with the ball.

Sweetman struck out. J. Jones walked and went to second on a pass ball. Collins' foul was caught by Johnson. Masterson was safe when Hollingsworth threw wide to first on his grounder. Hickey was retired on strikes.

Scores Two Runners

The C.G.E. got two runs in the sixth. Dugan, first up, rolled to short. Beavis walked and pilfered second. Gillen struck out. L. Hollingsworth reached first and Beavis went to third when Batten booted his grounder. Beavis stole second. Hatton poled out a two bagger into deep centre, scoring both runners. Crary was safe on Batten's error. H. Hollingsworth struck out to end the session.

F. Jones doubled into left to start the Crescents off. Batten struck out and Hardill filed to Beavis. W. Crary doubled into right field, scoring Jones. Sweetman was hit by a pitched ball. J. Jones struck out, retiring the side.

Darkness had shrouded the play somewhat in the sixth, and only part of the seventh was played when the game was called.

Stan Jones singled. Rose struck out. Dugan walked and all were safe when Batten selected to get Jones at third on Beavis' roller and failed.

England Certain Of Fielding Strong Team

LONDON, May 27. — (Canadian Press Cable).—England appears certain of fielding a strong team in the test matches against the Australians. The teams for the test trial match, to be played at Lord's commencing May 31 were announced yesterday and include most of the premier batsmen and bowlers in the country.

The teams follow: England, Chapman, captain, Robins, Hobbs, Sutcliffe, Hammond, Woolley, Hendren, Tate, Larwood, Duckworth and Geary.

Rest of England—White (captain), Stevens, Duleepsinhji, Wyatt, Jardine, Allom, Leyland, Ames, Hopwood, Worthington and Clark.

Chelsea Building Up Next Season's Team

LONDON, Eng., May 27. (Canadian Press Cable). — Chelsea, which earned promotion from the second to the first division of the English Football Association this year, has begun to build up its team for next season.

Announcement was made today that Hugh Gallacherg, Newcastle United's crack centre-forward, who is also a Scottish international centre, has been transformed to Chelsea. No details of the money involved were available.

METRE WALKING CHAMPION

In Central Park, New York, recently in the presence of 80,000 people, Henry Cleman, of Toronto, won the 50,000 metre walking championship of the United States, breaking the old record by over nine minutes and beating his nearest opponent in a large field over a mile and a half. His time was 4.47.48. Cleman, who is a beautician with his own business, trains on infra red and ultra violet rays and vegetables. He came to the front with a bang last season when he won the ten mile road walk at Guelph and the 10½ mile walk at Coney Island, N.Y., where he set up the second fastest time in nineteen years. Cleman's profession and his unique methods of dieting and conditioning as well as his undoubted class as a walker make him an outstanding figure in local sporting circles. He is Canada's hope in the walk at the British Empire Games.

PORT HOPE NINE WINS SOFTBALL DECISION FROM MILLBROOK

One of Feature Events of Sports' Day Program Held By Lacrosse Club.

SMART ROAD RACES.

MILLBROOK, May 27. (Examiner Correspondence).—A softball game between the Tuxis team of Port Hope (Presbyterian church) and the local nine, featured the Sports' Day under the auspices of the Millbrook Lacrosse Club at the Agricultural Park on Saturday, May 24 the former being the winners by a wide margin of runs.

The visitors were evidently well in practice, and the local team just as evidently in lack of it, judging by the way they were outclassed both in batting and fielding by the boys from the lakeside town. The line-up was:

Port Hope—Williams, p.; McElroy, c.; Sherry, 1b.; Mark, 2b.; Gist, 3b.; Smith, ss.; Chislett, lb.; Coleman, rf.; Snayd, cf.; subs, G. Brown, R. Brown, Richardson.

Millbrook—B. B. Dawson, p.; F. Gray, c.; Henry Gray, 1b.; G. Gray, 2b.; L. Ingram, 3b.; P. Bingham, ss.; A. Todd, lf.; H. Jordan, rf.; W. Sayles, c.f.

Umpires—J. A. Vance, plate; R. Sutton, bases.

There was some 'pepping up' of the play, and some fun for the grand stand, when G. W. Sayles took the pitcher's box and sent over a few of his own brand of 'specials'. Several players got a walk on Bill's balls, and the catcher did some acrobatic stunts in reaching for the 'wide ones', but the spectators were entertained in a very one-sided game, and the spirit of good humor kept up for the last two or three innings. The official score remains a dark secret, the one given tto the public being 7-6 in favor of Port Hope; in reality the visitors had at least twenty runs to their credit.

Road Races

Races on King street at 6.30 p.m. with a large number of interested spectors, completed the sports' program, most of the competitors being from the Y.M.C.A., Peterborough.

The list was:

100 yard dash — 1, Jas. Larmer, Millbrook; 2, H. Stewart, Peterborough; 3, R. Williamson, Peterborough.

1 mile race—1, H. Stewart; 2, R. Bates (Peterborough); 3, J. Larmer.

Relay race—Competing from Peterborough—R. Williamson, Stewart, Bates, and Mackie; from Millbrook, C. Willoughby, L. Ingram, E. Nattress J. Larmer. The course was one-third of a mile, and the Peterborough four won.

A dance in the Town Hall, with the Blue Bell orchestra furnishing music and L. H. Morton floor manager, was the final event in the holiday program, the attendance being large and enjoyment featuring the entire evening.

The funds received through the afternoon and evening added considerably to the amount the Lacrosse Club has in its treasury, and will be used in purchasing necessary equipment for the season's play.

Football Head Dies From Blood Poisoning

ELECTRIC PLANT SOFTBALLERS SCORE 13 RUNS IN 7TH FRAME TO WIN OPENING LEAGUE GAME

Walter Oke, Jack Sullivan and R. M. Glover Officiate in Opening Ceremonies.

MUCH LOOSE PLAY.

McLeish, McDonough and Routley Are Heavy Hitters of the Affair.

With the Sugar Bowl team leading by four runs to the end of the sixth innings, their opponents, the C.G.E. team, turned the tables making a score of 13 runs in the seventh and bringing the opening game of the City Softball League schedule to a 14-8 conclusion in their favor.

Played on the Central School grounds, the game got away to a prompt start. The opening ceremonies being performed by Walter Oke who curved the first ball over the plate, Jack Sullivan at bat hit the ball for a double, while R. M. Glover was on the receiving end.

Dormer's men were the first in at bat with Martin of the C.G.E. pitching. The latter pitched good ball and had the wholehearted support of his team. He walked eight men and struck out two.

Forsythe, pitching for the Sugar Bowl, showed fine form up to the seventh, having eleven strike-outs and no hits, but at this juncture he developed a streak of wildness. He walked eight men and allowed two hits and coupled with the team's misplays, he was banished from the mound in favor of Harold Dormer, who had previously been playing at first base. Despite his frantic endeavors he was unable to retire the side until four more runs had crossed the plate.

The outstanding features of the somewhat loose play displayed by both teams was a fine catch at left field by McLeish on Westbrooke's drive. In the first of the fifth Dallin wielded the willow for a two-base hit. Later on Westbrooke flew out to McDonough who doubled Weese off second.

Provide Thrills at Plate

The seventh innings for the 'Generals' provided the hottest part of the whole game, two 2-base hits being scored by Routley and McDonough in succession and shortly after a two-base hit was knocked by McLeish.

With the Sugar Bowl men down nine runs, Baker got a homer with one on base and immediately after Bradshaw made another circuit clout, in the first part of the eighth inning.

Sugar Bowl—Dallin, rf; Baird, rf; H. Dormer, 1b, p; Weese, 2b; Gillespie, cf; Westbrooke, ss; G. Dormer, ss; Baker, lf, 1b; Bradshaw, 3b; Connors, c; Forsythe, p, cf.

C.G.E.—Webb, lf; Wilson, ss, Routley, c; McDonough, rf; Calladine, 2b; O'Toole, 3b; McLeish, 1b; Millard, cf; Martin, p.

Summary — Bases on balls — off Martin 8; off Forsythe 10; o. Dormer 2. Struck out—by Forsythe 11; by Dormer 3; by Martin 2.

Score by innings:

Sugar Bowl	020000 0 20— 8

Speed Skaters May Come To Dominion

NEW YORK, N.Y., May 27. — (C.P.).—A possibility that Clas Thunberg, of Finland, and Evensen, of Norway, two of the fastest speed skaters in the world may compete next winter in meets at Ottawa, Ont., and Saint John, N.B., appeared today with an announcement from Berlin that Dr. Dewett, president of the winter olympic sports committee had invited the two knights of the blade to take part in the international winter sports at Lake Placid, N.Y.

Should the two men accept the invitation it is thought they will skate at Ottawa and St. John before the Olympic meet at Lake Placid.

SENATORS LEAD AMERICAN LOOP BY FOUR GAMES

'Dark Horses' of Major Leagues Continue Blithely on Victorious Ways.

INDIANS IN THIRD.

Cardinals Turn Back Corsairs 10-4 For 17th Win in Eighteen Games.

While their highly-touted brethren falter and stumble, the Washington Senators proceed blithely on their victorious way in the American League much as the St. Louis Cardinals and Brooklyn Robins, "dark horses" both, are doing in the National. Picked in advance predictions to finish no higher than seventh, the Senators, under great leadership by Walter Johnson, were leading the pack by four full games to-day and giving no signs of cracking under the amazing pace they have set.

Yesterday they scored their sixth successive victory and in stealing a leaf from the Yanks' own book, the Senators won on home runs.

Joe Burridge and Goose Goslin hit successive home runs and repeated the feat in the fifth, thus accounting for six runs. The second blast from the Washington batsmen was the high spot of a seven-run rally that swept Vernon Gomes off the mound and won the ball game. The Yankees had held a two run lead going into the fifth, Gehrig driving in four runs with a double and a triple.

Indians in Third

Cleveland bounched back into third place with a double victory over the Chicago White Sox, 7 to 3 and 5 to 2. Wes Ferrell outpitched Red Faber by a wide margin in the opener and Clint Brown had an edge on Cecil Caraway in the night cap.

Lefty Grove chalked up his sixth win without a defeat as the Athletics beat Boston 8 to 5. Grove had only one bad inning, the eighth, when the Red Sox bunched hits for four runs.

The Detroit Tigers made good use of eight hits to beat St. Louis 7 to 3 and moved into sixth place while the Browns fell back to seventh.

Cards Top League

In the National League, Brooklyn and St. Louis each recorded victories to keep the Cardinals on top of the league standing by half a game.

The Dodgers gave their metropolitan rivals, the New York Giants, their fifth straight defeat, 7 to 0, as Dazzy Vance turned in his best effort of the year. Vance gave the Giants only two hits, one a scratch, and permitted only two men to get as far as second base.

The Cardinals turned back Pittsburgh, 10—4, for their eighth straight win and their 17th in 18 games. The Cards shelled Jess Petty off the mound with a four-run rally in the fourth, while Lindsey, relieving Sherdel in the sixth, was a puzzle to the Corsairs.

WEATHER KEEPS LEAF CLUB IDLE

Cantrell and Pomorski Will Likely Be Opposing Moundsmen To-day.

NO DOUBLE-HEADERS.

MONTREAL, May 27. — Johnny Pomorski will likely oppose Guy Cantrell this afternoon as the Royals make a third attempt to stage a game—the second scheduled game of the series was rained out yesterday afternoon when the rainstorm that started early on Sunday continued almost without abatement throughout the day. There was a short interlude this afternoon, but the skies were overcast and the grounds were much too wet to permit a ball game being played. No doubleheaders will be played this trip. Yesterday's game will be played on Tuesday, July 22, which will be an open date in the schedule for both clubs. Sunday's cancelled contest will be played as part of a double header on August 3.

HERD AND WINGS ON EVEN TERMS

Buffalo Wins Close Game at Buffalo — Orioles and Keys Victorious.

STAVE OFF BEARS.

ROCHESTER, N.Y., May 27.—Buffalo defeated Rochester here in the second game of the series, 6 to 5, and again went into a tie for second place with the Red Wings. The Bisons, through fine relief hurling by Mills and Leverett, kept five Red Wings on the sacks three in the eighth and two in the ninth.

Derringer was hammered from the box in the Bison's third inning and Rochester treated Mangum the same way in its half of the same session, each club getting four runs in the rallies.

THREE STRAIGHT FOR BIRDS

BALTIMORE, Md., May 27.—The Orioles made it three straight over the Jersey City Black Cats here yesterday by winning an 8 to 6 contest. The visitors outhit the Birds 10 to 7, but the locals turned several walks into counters. Both Hopkins and Rhodes pitched well for the Cats. The latter allowed only one run and one hit after relieving Hopkins in the fourth.

KEYS STAVE OFF BEARS

NEWARK, N.J., May 27.—Reading staved off a ninth-inning rally by the Bears yesterday to win the third game of the series by 8 to 7.

Grampp was rushed to the mound when Woolfolk faltered in the ninth, and retired the side with the tying and winning runs on third and second. The Keys came from behind to take the lead with a four-run rally in the seventh, driving Harvin from the box for the second successive day. Bell started for the Keys and lasted three innings.

To stop gate crashing at football games, barbed wire entanglements have just been put around the Wembley Stadium near London.

SALMON TREATY SIGNED

WASHINGTON, D.C., May 27 — A treaty for the protection of the salmon fishery, in the Fraser River and waters adjoining British Columbia and the State of Washington, was signed here to-day by the Canadian Minister, Hon. Vincent Massey, and the Secretary of State, Henry L. Stimson.

There is hope that it may be ratified at this session of Congress, as it is understood there is no opposition in the Senate.

BETHANY MEETS COGS WEDNESDAY

Manvers Outfit Will Clash With Cognawagas at Exhibition Park.

COBOURG HERE SATURDAY.

Another sparkling East Peterborough League game is promised the fans at Exhibition Park tomorrow evening when Doc Hamilton swings into action with his Bethany stalwarts against the Cogs. Bethany will have a greatly strengthened squad for this game, and it can be expected that Harold Ralph will be in better form than he was in his first start.

A win for the Cogs will put them in first place in the league standing while a loss for Bethany will regulate them to the cellar berth.

Another game that stands out in the week's ball menu is the Lakeshore League battle here on Saturday afternoon. Cobourg will engage the Rays and the lakeshore team, fresh from a triumph over Port Hope, is reported to be in fine fettle. Opposing the Roys' heavy artillery will be Ibey, last year a star hurler with Deloro in the Central League.

RUGBY PLAYERS RECEIVE AWARDS FROM ONTARIO FOOTBALL UNION

Senior Basketball Team, Central Ontario Group Winners, Also Honored.

SMART COLOR SCHEMES.

Presentation of crests were made to the senior and intermediate rugby teams, Central Ontario champions and to the senior basketball team, Central Ontario group winners, last week and yesterday morning during the morning exercises.

The Senior rugby crests donated by the Ontario Rugby Football Union to the team winning the Central Ontario championship were presented by coach C. S. Browne and the recipients were W. Preston, G. Cuthbertson, C. Magee, G. Young, C. Routley, L. Glover, V. Armstrong, J. Dunkerley, A. Westbrook, H. MacDonald, A. Lord, H. Waddell, J. Clayton, M. Hamilton, F. Wagar, W. Dinesen, R. Chandler, J. Richardson, W. Gordon and G. Breckenridge.

Intermediates Honored

The Intermediate rugby team, coached by E. Legon, and captained by D. Mackey, received crests made in the school colours and given by the Literary Society of the School.

These were given in recognition of the team's wonderful showing during their series and in bringing the Intermediate championship to the school for the first time since the league was organized two years ago.

R. C. Cummings, coach of the senior basketball team congratulated the boys on their successful efforts during the winter and on behalf of the Boys' Athletic Association, presented each member of the team with a handsome crest with the lettering "Central Ontario Basketball Group Winners" printed in grey on a garnet background.

The personnel of the team was: C. Routley, H. MacDonald, W. Ward, W. Prestern, L. Glover, N. Stanger, V. Armstrong.

Heads Commission.

Dr. Gaston Demers, new president of the athletic commission of the city of Montreal, which governs boxing and wrestling in the metropolis. The Montreal commission is in alliance with the Canadian Boxing Federation. Dr. Demers is a keen and constructive student of boxing, and has already made many modern innovations in the Montreal board's methods of administration.

Cricket

LONDON, May 27 (C.P. Cable). — No play was possible yesterday at the Kennington Oval where the Australians and Surrey were to have continued their game commenced Saturday. Rain over the week-end soaked the wicket and the outfield.

Glamorganshire versus Hampshire at Pontypridd and Middlesex versus Lancashire at Lord's were unable to play on account of the countrywide rain.

Tea time scores in other matches follows:—

Gloucestershire versus Worcestershire at Bristol.—Worcestershire 156 and 50 for 2 wickets; Gloucestershire 280. No further play.

Derbyshire versus Northamptonshire at Derby—Northants 182; Derby 89 for 6 wickets. Play will not be continued.

Leicestershire versus Nottinghamshire at Leicester—Notts 153 and 160 for 6 wickets; Leicester 86.

Yorkshire versus Kent at Leeds.—Kent 205 and 144 for 3 wickets; Yorkshire 198.

Sussex versus Somerset at Brighton —Somerset 105; Sussex 223.

Warwickshire versus Essex at Birmingham—Warwick 501 for 6 wickets, declared; Essex 32 for 1 wicket.

LONDON, May 27. — (C.P. Cable) —Results of English first class cricket matches which ended yesterday, were:

Yorkshire defeated Essex by 132 runs.

Somerset won from Surrey on the first innings.

Leicester won from Sussex on the first innings.

Gloucester beat Oxford University by an innings and ten runs.

Cambridge University beat Middlesex by seven wickets.

Lancashire defeated Northampton shire by two wickets.

Warwickshire won from Worcestershire on the first innings.

Australia v. M.C.C. drawn.

The feature of the day was the success of the amateur Middlesex bowler G. O. Allen against the Australians. He dismissed four of their batsmen in the visitors' second innings for 28 runs.

In the batsmen's sphere the prodigious hitting in the Gloucestershire Oxford match stood out. The enormous total of 627 runs for two wickets was piled up by Gloucestershire in their first innings at Oxford. The total included two separate scores of over 200 and a century. Wally Hammond, the County's noted international, batted out 211, not out. Moore, a newcomer, got 206, and C. C. Dacre, the former New Zealander, who has qualified to play for Gloucester, made 100. Gloucestershire's innings was declared closed when Dacre reached three figures—his initial century in English first-class cricket. Complete scores in matches were:

The Final Scores.

M. C. C. v. Australia at Lord's — Australia 285 and 213 (Jackson 64); M.C.C. 258.

Essex v. Yorkshire at Leyton—Yorkshire, 290 and 208 for three wickets, declared (Sutcliffe 108, not out); Essex 231 and 130 (MacAulay, four wickets for 18 runs.)

Surrey v. Somerset at Bath—Somerset, 195 and 314 for nine wickets, declared (White 79, J. Lee 50, not out, Peach four wickets for 78 runs); Surrey, 177 and 197 for six wickets (Peach 60, not out.)

Leicestershire v. Sussex at Leicester—Leicester, 371; Sussex 214 (Smith four wickets for 42): followed on, 207 for six wickets (Langridge 86, not out.)

Gloucestershire v. Oxford University at Oxford — Gloucestershire, 627 for two wickets, declared (Moore 206, Hammond 211, not out, Dacre 100 not out); Oxford 374 and 243.

Northamptonshire v. Lancashire at Northampton—Northants, 190 and 208 (Sibbles four wickets for 46 runs), Lancashire, 268 and 141 for eight wickets.

Warwickshire v. Worcestershire at Birmingham — Warwick, 543 for seven wickets, declared; Worcester, 290 (Mayer five wickets for 75 runs); followed on, 326 (Gibbons 1104, Walters 79, Mayer, five wickets for 70 runs).

Cambridge University v. Middlesex at Cambridge — Middlesex, 213 and 278 (Robins 140, Brown, four wickets for 62 runs), Cambridge, 324 and 168 for three wickets.

SHORT MEETING OF SOCCER BODY

Saturday's Game to be Played on Grounds of Brinton, Not King Edward Park.

GRASS TO BE CUT.

Very little business of soccer importance was transacted at the meeting of the P. and D. F. A. last night, with President Vincent Stewart in the chair, and the routine was carried through in half an hour.

Rules Confirmed.

The rules and regulations changed at the special meeting last week were read and confirmed according to the rules. They become effective immediately and club representatives take notice accordingly.

Game on Saturday.

The clubs will revert back to league business for the next two weeks and the game for Saturday is the Caledonians versus the Brinton Athletics for possession of two points. The match will take place on the grounds of the Brinton team, who have arranged a special opening program for the day. Jack Hodson will referee. Neutral linesmen will be chosen at the field.

Will not Run Second Eleven.

Alex. Anderson, representative of the Caledonians, intimated to the association that they would not run a second eleven associated with the first quota. He explained the many reasons for such abandonment—that it was against the rules, nor yet could it be accomplished from an economical or financial point. The executive regretted to hear the unfavorable news and thanked the organizers for their interest in the game.

Grass to be Cut.

Arrangements were completed by the executive whereby the grass will be cut on King Edward Park this week, so that it will permit the players full control of the ball. At present the grass is so long that it hinders the play during the game.

Will Sign Bond.

The Canadian General team have made preparations to sign the bond for the possession of the Holloway Cup that they won last week from the Packers. All winners of trophies are compelled to sign a bond for same at a stated price.

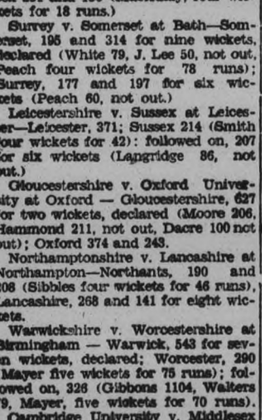
Do you know soccer? What size should the ball be? Not less than 27 inches, not more than 28 inches in circumference, and from 13 to 15 ounces in weight. Suppose the ball increases beyond the 15 ounces, should you allow a protest against this? No. What should you require as to its condition?. Made of leather and reasonably blown up. Should the lines between the post be marked out?. A.—Yes. How many players should each side have?. A.—Eleven. Is there any limit as when a player can come on the field to complete the eleven? A.—No. May a hurt player be replaced by a substitute with the consent of the Captains? A.—Certainly not in competition matches. This covers Law 2. Law 3 next.

LOCAL YACHTSMEN WIN AT TORONTO

Reg Dixon and Otto Gliddon Winners in Class "A" and "B" Races.

The sailing season at the Royal Canadian Yacht Club commenced on the 24th with two dinghy races—one in the forenoon and one in the afternoon. In the morning the wind was fresh and most of the boats found it much to their liking. In the afternoon race the wind was heavy and racing was more thrilling than ever. Two local sailors cleaned up in the two races. Reg. Dixon won both Class "A," and Otto Gliddon won both Class "B" races. In Class "A" Art Kelly was second in the morning race and Atwell Flemming was second in the other. Both these sailors have an international reputation.

PICTORIAL GOLF



NEGOTIATING A STYMIE.

Jumping a stymie is the fundamental stroke in golf. We must practice this to learn the real art of stroking a ball. If we take the mashie and swing so that it will continue along the ground for several inches the loft of the club will throw the ball up over the one in front. No attempt should be made to stab or cut it, thus force the ball to rise. The loft of the club takes care of this.

This is the follow through stroke that we should use with the wooden clubs and all of our irons. It can be learned best by using a mashie in the way pictured above. When one gets this principal into his head he has learned the main thing about hitting a ball.

OLYMPIC CONGRESS MEETS AT BERLIN

"Broken Time" Proposal Opposed; Arrangements Made For Los Angeles.

BERLIN, May 27.— Delegates to the Olympic Congress rounded out a busy day of arrangements for the 1932 games in Los Angeles, as the guests of President von Hindenburg at an impressive party in the executive palace gardens. Dressed in a Prince Albert coat, erect despite his great age ,the head of the German Government kissed the hand of each lady, shook hands and chatted with each delegate.

Fo rover an hour the Richs President stood receiving guests and then sat with them at a table, where Mr. Julius Curtius, wife of the German Foreign Minister, acted as hostess. The Reichswehr band furnished music as the guests, seated in the ancient gardens, patrook of the President's hospitality. President von Hindenburg went from table to table, making the guests feel at home. When the delegates departed, he remained standing until the last had left.

By the introduction of an amendment the Amateurism Committee practically killed proposals looking to the payment to athletes of "broken time" for work lost while competing in the Olympics.

Motions by the British Olympic Committee and International Amateur Swimming Federation declared that acceptance of compensation for lost wages was contrary to the spirit of amateurism while a motion by the Belgian Olympic Committee and the International Cyclists' Union considered as amateurs 'all who are qualified by regulations and rules of their international federation."

The Program Committee decided to recommend four competitors per nation for each event, and in the case of winter sports also four reserves. As to wrestling the committee approved leaving to the United States Organizing Committee the problem of admitting either Greco-Roman or free style, or both. Weight lifting was left in the Olympic program.

LONDON LOSES TO KILMARNOCK 3-1

Large Crowd Sees Scottish Eleven Win Good Game.

LONDON, Ont., May 27. — Team play and condition told their inevitable story at Queen's Park last evening, when the famous Kilmarnock touring soccer 11 defeated a selected team from the London and District Association by 3-1 but not before the local lads had veritably covered themselves with glory by the stubborn battle they put up against the better knit combination work of the powerful visitors.

Chicago Stadium Makes Offer To Jack Thompson

CHICAGO, Ills., May 27 (Canadian Press). — The Chicago Stadium has offered young Jack Thompson, Oakland, Cal., negro, who won the world's middleweight title from Jackie Fields at Detroit early this month, $75,000 to defend the championship against Jimmy McLarnin of Vancouver next September.

McLarnin also has been made an offer, but neither Pop Foster, his manager, nor Ray Alvis, Thompson's pilot, has replied.

Brinton and Westclox Will Tangle To-night.

The Westclox and Brinton Carpet will be opponents in to-night's softball fixture at Central School Grounds. Both teams boast strong line-ups. The Brintons, who are the new entry in the league this year, have a strong array of players, and should make a good bid for the silverware. Westclox look stronger this year than last. Ira Dundas will toss them up for Brintons, while Westclox have three heavers to choose from. The game starts at 8.15 sharp.

On Wednesday night the Belmont Club will meet Harrison's, last year's champions. The fans know what to expect when these two teams meet—a battle royal.

Directs Celebration.

Justice A T. LeBlanc of the Supreme Court of New Brunswick, who will direct the mammoth historical celebration to be held at Moncton, N. B., on August 20. Special trains will convey delegations from Montreal, United States and all Maritime points to take part in the celebration.

Rollie Glover and Bob Cotton Connect With Mayor Denne's Offerings in E.P.I. Opening

Mayor Denne showed last evening that his pitching form has suffered a lamentable relapse since the days when as a boy, he used to be something of a twirler on local sandlots. He was throwing the first ball at the official opening of the East Peterborough League at Exhibition Park before the C.G.E.-Crescent game.

The mayor wound up with all his former vigour and the promise was that a fast-breaking hook would sizzle across the plate, making Alderman Cotton, batsman, wince. Nothing like that happened. A floater drifted down the groove and Alderman Bob whammed it for single over third base.

Then R. M. Glover advanced to the platter, swinging his war club with most obvious purpose. The mayor whirled in a low one which Rollie cut at but missed. The next one was more to the batter's liking and he cracked a hot grounder through short.

It was an auspicious opening to a swell ball game and the promise is that the E.P.I. teams will provide many more memorable battles this season.

UNITED STATES PAIR WIN FINAL MATCHES

Defeat Mexican Davis Cup Players in Remaining Singles Events.

WASHINGTON, May 27. — John Van Ryn of New Jersey and John Doeg of California yesterday completed the conquest of Mexico's tennis invaders, their straight-set victories giving the United States Davis Cup team an unblemished record in American zone competition.

Storming the net at every opportunity, Van Ryn defeated Ricardo Tapia, 20-year-old ace of the Mexican contingent, 6-2, 6-3, 6-1.

Doeg, the youngest United States Davis cup netman, overwhelmed Frederick Sendel, 19-year-old Mexican, 6-1, 6-0, 6-2, requiring but 35 minutes for his conquest.

A BEDTIME STORY

by Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY'S SUN FLOWER.

Once upon a time, as Uncle Wiggily was hopping over the field to meet some of his little rabbit children coming home from school, the bunny gentleman saw, growing at the bottom of a little hill, a large yellow blossom.

"Ha! There is a sun flower!" said Uncle Wiggily, speaking to himself as he saw no one to whom he could talk just them.

"Yes, I am a sun flower!" a voice said and the big, yellow blossoms, as large as a dinner plate, nodded to the rabbit. "You are Uncle Wiggily, aren't you?"

"Such is my name," answered the rabbit rentleman with a low and polite bow of his tall silk hat.

"And I suppose," went on the sun flower, "that you are now hopping away to look for an adventure. How I envy you!" sighed the big bloom.

"Why do you envy me?" asked the rabbit.

"Because," answered the blossom, "you go so far and you see so much while all I can do is to stay here, rooted in the ground at the bottom of the hill, never going anywhere, never seeing anything but just what is around me. I never have any adventures! Oh, how I envy you?"

"Yes, I suppose I am rathef lucky," Uncle Wiggily said with a smile and a twinkle of his pink nose. "But you are wrong about me going now to look for an adventure."

"Where are you going?" asked the flower.

"I am going to meet my little rabbit child coming home from school," replied the old rabbit.

"Oh, how nice!" whispered the sun flower nodding in the wind." And when you meet them will you please walk back this way with them so I may have the pleasure of seeing them?"

"Right gladly I shall do that for you," promised the rabbit, with another low and polité bow of his tall, silk hat as he hopped away, leaving the sun flower to nod in the wind at the bottom of the little hill against which it grew.

Pretty soon out of the Hollow Stump

"What a lovely flower!" said Bunny

School, where they had been saying their lessons to the Lady Mouse Teacher, came hopping the forty sixteen rabbit children.

"Hellow, Daddicums!" they called as they saw Uncle Wiggily.

"Hello, my dears!" he answered. "Come with me I want to show you something!" He led them to the hill. "There!" he said, pointing.

"Pooh! Only an old sun flower!" said Baby Bunty, who, I am sorry to say, was rather a mischievous little tyke. "That's nothing!"

"Hush! my dear!" warned Uncle Wiggily. "The poor sun flower is lonesome for company. That's why I brought you children here."

"Oh, I'm sorry! What a lovely flower!" said Bunty. Luckily she had spoken in a whisper, before, so the blossom had not heard her.

"And what lovely little rabbits!" murmured the sun flower. "You are indeed lucky, Uncle Wiggily. You have adventures and you have rabbits."

"Is there anything I could do to make you happier?" asked the bunny gentleman, for he saw that the flower was sad.

"The only thing I would like is a drink of water," came the answer. "It hasn't rained in a long time and I am so thirsty."

"Oh, let us give the flower water!" cried the little rabbits, and running to the brook, they made cups from green leaves, filling them with water and sprinkling it on the roots of the sun flower.

"How kind of you!" murmured the big blossom, and when Uncle Wiggily filled his tall silk hat from the brook and dashed the water on the flower, it almost laughed for joy.

Then Uncle Wiggily led his little rabbits home, telling them always to be kind to flowers. The next day Uncle Wiggily was out again, looking for an adventure this time, instead of waiting for his little boys and girls to come home from school, and the rabbit gentleman found one. I mean he found an adventure and it wasn't a happy one.

For, all of a sudden, the Woozie Wolf leaped out from behind a rock and began to chase the rabbit gentleman. Hardly knowing what he was doing, Mr. Longears ran toward the top of a little hill. But the Wolf was close behind him.

"Oh, what shall I do?" cried Uncle Wiggily as he leaped up the hill.

"Hide behind me!" Hide behind me!" whispered the sun flower whose blossom now reached the hill top. "I am large enough to hide you from the Bad Chap." So Uncle Wiggily crouched down in the grass on top of the hill, behind the big, round blossom of the sun flower. Up me the Wolf, but he could not see the bbit. For the sun flower looked at im straight, and the blossom was so yellow that it dazzled the eyes of the Wolf, almost making him blind.

"Ker choo!" he sneezed, blinking his eyes. "I wonder where that rabbit went?" But the sunflower never told that the bunny was hiding behind it and soon the Wolf went away and Mr. Longears was safe.

BELIEVE TORONTO SALARY GRAB FURORE MAY DIE

TORONTO, Ont., May 27 (C.P.) — As a result of Judge Denton's recent letter to Mayor Bert Wemp, informing the City Council that the resolution passed by that body asking for a judicial investigation into what was termed the "Salary Grab," is not in the proper form nor in accordance with the section of the Act authorizing such enquiries, the Council will be required to amend it or drop the matter. It is widely rumored that nothing further will be done and the furore raised by the Council in attempting to raise their own salaries without submitting the issue to the electors, will be allowed to die away.

LOWNEY PLANE WEATHERS GALE

"Boss Number 2" Receives Hearty Welcome in Montreal.

AUGMENTS SERVICE.

A few days ago while the Walter M. Lowney Company Limited of Montreal waited patiently for the arrival of their new plane from Wichita, Kansas, their gallant pilot was flying through a 200-mile per hour gale at an altitude of seven thousand feet. Despite storms and detours, the pilot made the trip from Wichita to Montreal, a distance of about 1800 miles, in 16 hours and 20 minutes.

The new J-6 Lowney plane is an open 3-passenger type, equipped with a 165 H.P. whirlwind motor. It has an open speed of 135 miles per hour, and climbs at the rate of seven hundred feet per minute. The plane was manufactured by the Travel Air Corporation.

The Walter M. Lowney Company Limited, makers of Lowney's Chocolates, is the first firm in the business to use aeroplanes for commercial purposes. Last year over seven hundred customers of the firm were taken into the air in the Company's other plane.

This new plane "The Boss Number 2" will be used to augment this service to Lowney customers, and will be in service in all parts of Canada during the summer.

Cheerio Entertainers Provide Good Program

Pleasing Concert is Presented In Confederation School.

A musical program presented by Peterboroug Cheerio Entertainers at Confederation School last evening was largely attended and greatly enjoyed by all.

The Silvertone quartette gave some very pleasing selections, while W. Thompson, the Scotch entertainer, was received with a great deal of hilarity.

During the course of the evening an autograph quilt made by the ladies of Confederation Home and School Association, was drawn for and won by Mrs. Delany with ticket No. 51a.

The remainder of the program consisted of vocal solos by Messrs. Neck and Wilson and two pleasing banjo solos by Mrssrs. Clarke and James, and a cornet solo by Mr. Branscombe.

Rev. J. E. Paterson occupied the chair. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered to the performers and organizers by the President of the association, Mrs. H. Clare, after which the meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

An Example of Clever Jackknife Work.

A wonderful example of what can be done with a jack-knife plus a great deal of patience and care, is shown in the photograph here. Garnet Brock, a 15-year-old farm boy from Utterson, Ont., has constructed this scale model of an Elizabethan galleon of the period 1580-1600. All who have seen the galleon consider it a fine piece of workmanship. Garnet is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Brock and was born on a farm near Emsdale, Ont.

SHOOTING AFFAIR RAISES PROTEST

Polish Foreign Office Demands Indemnification For Guard Killed.

GERMANY REFUSES.

BERLIN, May 27 (Canadian Press) —The Polish Minister to-day lodged a protest with the German government, claiming that German frontier officials exceeded their authority by shooting at Polish frontier guards near Marienwerder. One of the Polish guards died of wounds.

The Polish Minister demanded indemnification and appointment of a mixed commission of German and Polish officials to investigate. The German Foreign Office rejected the protest and indemnity claim on the ground that a German official examination had shown that Polish guards invaded German territory and were first to shoot.

The Foreign Office instructed the German Minister at Warsaw, nevertheless, to agree to the appointment of a mixed commission of inquiry.

War On Noise.

ST. CATHARINES, May 27 — St. Catharines City Council has decided to make this a quieter city, and will begin by placing restrictions on auto horns and street-car sirens. Milkmen have already been asked to conduct their activities with less noise in the early morning. The resolution passed by the City Council calls upon all citizens to co-operate in the movement. It is hoped in time to persuade factory owners to shorten their whistle calls in the morning.

ARRANGE BURIAL OF BRIDAL PAIR

Nurse and Great War Veteran Found Shot in Car in Illinois.

INSTRUCTIONS AWAITED.

CHICAGO, Ills., May 27. (C.P.)— Preparations are being made to-day by a local undertaking establishment for the burial probably to-morrow of William C. Murray, Great War veteran of South Africa and his bride of a few days, whose bodies were found in a motor-car parked at Glencoe, Ills., last Friday night.

Murray, who resided in Toronto, Ontario, during the past year, is believed to have been despondent over his illness and shot his wife and then himself. Both had been shot through the head and a revolver was found clutched in Murray's hand.

His bride was formerly Miss Mary Hogg, pretty Toronto nurse, and honor graduate of Queen's College London, England.

Cablegrams addressed to the parents of the dead couple have as yet not been answered. If the bodies are not claimed soon interment will be made in Potter's Field.

YOUNG PEOPLE HOLD BANQUET

Presentations Made to Rev. G. R. Duncan and Mr. and Mrs. Maycock by Warkworth Society.

SPLENDID PROGRAM.

WARKWORTH, Ont., May 27. (Examiner Correspondence.)—The young people of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, held a very successful banquet in the basement of the church on Friday evening with a large number present.

The tea tables looked very attractive with their vases of tulips and lilacs, and the abundance of good things to eat. At the close of the supper, the following program was given.

Toast to the King by Gordon McCubbin, toast to the Country, proposed by Reg. McCann and responded to by Margaret Richards, song by Doris Richards, and Betty Meiklejohn, toast to the Church, by Gladys Weir and Rev. G. R. Duncan, community singing, led by Dr. C. C. Armstrong, song by Dorothy White, toast to the Young People's Society, by Eric Merrill and Mrs. J. R. Neill, reading, Edith Richards, toast to the guests by Marion Wilson and Miss Helen Breckenridge, song C. T. Maycock, instrumental duet, Everett Maycock and Alice Turney.

A pleasing feature toward the end of the program was the following presentations: A beautiful bouquet of roses to their pastor, Rev. G. R. Duncan, it being the nineteenth anniversary of his induction into the ministry. Also a silver bread tray and a silver platter, by the society and choir to Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Maycock on their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary, and for their valued services. The recipients were completely surprised, but responded in a fitting manner. The singing, "For they are jolly good fellows" and "Auld Lang Syne" brought to a close a very pleasant evening.

CARD OF THANKS

Mrs. Kirk and Miss Mary Wall wish to thank all kind friends and neighbors for great kindness and sympathy extended to them in their sad bereavement in the death of their sister, the late Mrs. Peter Simons, Jr.

BOURNEMOUTH, England (U.P.)—Ernest Boyland, 56, who had never worked on Good Friday, broke his lifelong rule to accommodate a local builder and was killed by a fall of sand.

WEDDING BELLS

JACKSON—ROSEBOROUGH

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized by the Rev. J. E. J. Millyard at George Street Parsonage on Saturday, May 24, when Ella Maurietta, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Roseborough, Gilmour street, became the bride of Stanley Percy Jackson, son of the late William Jackson, and Mrs. Jackson, George street.

The bride looked charming in rose beige georgette with hat, hose and gloves to match with black satin shoes. She was attended by her sister, Miss Loretta Roseborough, who wore a mid blue crepe dress with egg shell hat, hose and gloves and black shoes.

The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Mr. Lorne Jackson. The bridegroom's gift to the bride was an amber necklace; to the bridesmaid, a brilliant necklace, and to the best man, gold cuff links.

After the ceremony the happy couple returned to the home of the bride's parents where a luncheon was served, later leaving amid showers of confetti and good wishes for Detroit, where they will spend their honeymoon. The bride travelled in a green crepe dress and sand coat with hat, hose and shoes to match. On their return they will reside in Peterborough.

McKEE—FERGUSON.

A pretty wedding was solemnized at All Saints' Church by Rev. J. D. Paterson, on Saturday, May 24, at 10 a.m., when Flossie Pearl Ferguson, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Ferguson, McGill Street, became the bride of Mr. Joseph Earl McKee, of Clarenceville, Quebec.

The bride was charmingly gowned in an ensemble suit of new blue crepe romain, with hat of pastel shade and kid shoes and hose to match. She carried a bouquet of Columbia roses and maidenhair fern.

After the wedding ceremony a dainty luncheon was served at the home of the bride's parents.

The many beautiful gifts received bore testimony to the high esteem in which the young couple are held in the city. Mr. and Mrs. McKee left by motor for Apsley. They will reside in Toronto.

FREEBURN—WRIGHT.

The wedding was solemnized quietly at half-past seven o'clock last night at All Saints' Church, by the rector, Rev. J. D. Paterson, of Harold Edward Freeburn, son of Mr. W. G. Freeburn and the late Mrs. Freeburn, and Iva Charlsine Wright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wright, of Rubidge Street.

Attendants were Mr. and Mrs. H. Freeman.

Mr. and Mrs. Freeburn will live in Peterborough.

OBITUARY

JOSEPH WILLIAM FITZGERALD.

The death occurred suddenly on May 17 of Joseph William Fitzgerald, in his 26th year, son of Mrs. Anne Fitzgerald, of Indian River. He leaves to mourn his loss his sorrowing mother, one brother Harry, and five sisters, Mrs. James Shaughnessy and Mrs. William Leahy of Peterborough, Irene and Angela of Detroit, Michigan, and Elizabeth at home. Requiem High Mass was sung by Rev. Father Black of Lindsay, cousin of the deceased, on Tuesday morning at St. Joseph's Church, Douro.

MRS. MARGARET PADGET.

Mrs. Margaret Padget, widow of David Padget, died at her home in Dummer Township. Left to mourn her loss are two daughters, Mrs. Wm. Forsyth and Mrs. E. N. McDonald.

The funeral will be held from her late residence at Cottesloe to Norwood Cemetery at 2 o'clock on Thursday next.

MRS. PETER SIMONS, JR.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Peter Simons, Jr., took place on Tuesday morning at nine o'clock from her late residence, 377 Queen Street, to St. Peter's Cathedral, where Requiem Mass was said by Rev. Father Lynch, thence to St. Peter's Cemetery, where Rev. Father Finn officiated at the grave.

The pall-bearers were Messrs. F. Fairen, J. T. O'Connell, James Simons, J. Clancy, J. McDonald, and J. McAuliffe.

The Requiem Funeral Mass was sung by the St. Cecilia's Girls' Choir of St. Peter's High School.

TWO LARGE CHRISTMAS BOXES ARE PACKED FOR BEN AND SAM AT THE LAKEFIELD BOYS' SCHOOL

Two Eskimo Boys Who Spent Year at School Are Remembered.

REAL CHRISTMAS BOX.

(Special to The Examiner.)

LAKEFIELD, May 27. — Parents of boys attending the Lakefield Preparatory School, Lakefield, and other visitors on Empire Day, had their curiosity aroused by the sight of two crated parcels in the front hall of the Head Master's house. It was not so much the parcels as the addresses, stencilled along the side of each, that touched the interest.

'Sam Pudlutt, Lake Harbor, Baffin Land,' said one, and 'Ben Audlanak, Pond's Inlet, Baffin Land,' declared the other.

"Christmas boxes for Ben and Sam" explained Mrs. Mackenzie, the Headmaster's wife, who had packed them. "You remember they were the two little Eskimo boys who were at the School last year."

The two neatly packed Christmas boxes were for two old boys of the school, who as children of a northern tribe were born in the Arctic, and for one memorable year spent a thrilling time in the land of the white man.

Great Experiment.

Ben and Sam so far are the only Eskimo boys to be brought down from the land of the midnight sun to attend an Ontario boarding school. They were the subjects of what was at once a great experiment and a grand failure. At the end of a year at Lakefield, where they received the best the land could provide, they had to be sent back to the Arctic, virtually to save their lives.

In the one short year they were here they ran the whole gamut of the diseases of civilization, from pneumonia to measles. They returned to the land of their birth with the rudiments of English, a knowledge of cricket and football, and a pronounced taste for hot baths and apples; and they left behind many close friends.

Packed Carefully

The Examiner correspondent asked concerning the contents of the box and found that as well as good things to eat they contained scribblers, pencils and paints. They were packed carefully for they would not reach their destination until late summer and, after all, they were "Not to be opened till Christmas." Ben and Sam, now ten and eleven years old respectively, are born artists, they might get tangled up in the white man's lingo but never with their pencils.

They could draw anything from an Eskimo spearing a walrus to the latest thing in straight eights. And apart from that, it was a real Christmas box with nuts and candies in jars, and even marbles. Unfortunately there were no apples, for they would not possibly keep on the long trip.

"I sent them a Christmas box each last year, too," Mr. Mackenzie said, "but I haven't heard yet whether they got them. They must have, of course, as the boxes actually went up on the same ship that took them up. But I won't here from them until the ship returns from this trip, about October. There is one boat a year, a Hudson Bay Company ship that sails from Montreal about the middle of July. Imagine fifteen months to acknowledge a Christmas box!"

Other interesting things in the boxes were card packs and checkers. Both Ben and Sam proved to be veritable card sharks during their visit here. Cards were sent up to them last year,too, but they were accompanied by Bibles and prayer books to offset any possible bad influence.

Ben and Sam were brought down to Lakefield by Rev. Mr. Fleming, Archdeacon of the Arctic, who sponsored their visit. Ben was the son of one of the greatest and richest of Eskimo chieftains in the Baffin Land district, and Sam was his companion.

Sam is now acting as interpreter at the Mission School at Lake Harbor and Ben is with missionaries at Pond's Inlet, farther north.

Tasted Pains And Pleasures.

The departure last year of these two Eskimo boys, who loved hot baths and apples, was not without its touch of pathos. For one short, hectic year they had tasted of the pains and pleasures of civilization. In spite of their sickness, they had plunged into the new sensations and thrills with a zest, for they had not even seen so much as a horse before they came south. Then out of a blue sky they were told they were going home. Ben and Sam did not want to go. "Too code, too code," they declared solemnly.

And now the people at Lakefield wonder whether Sam and Ben got their last Christmas boxes and whether the good ship that takes these two to them will bring back word of their progress, for every person who has met Sam and Ben has a soft spot in his heart for the chieftain's son and his companion, now in the land of their birth, and no doubt, hoping that some day they will have another hot bath and an apple.

AUSTRALIANS BOOST RECIPROCAL TARIFF

Country Party Adopts Arrangement to Encourage Empire Trade.

SYDNEY, Australia, May 27 (C.P. Cable, via Reuter's).—Encouragement of Empire trade through reciprocal tariff arrangements was adopted today as one of the planks of the Country Party, which is led by Dr. Earl C. Page, treasurer in the late Coalition Government of the Rt. Hon. Stanley M. Bruce. It was through the union of his Nationalists with the Country Party that former Premier Bruce was enabled to form a Cabinet.

The conference urged more efficient publicity for Empire goods. Dr. Page submitted again that Great Britain should be accorded Free Trade in the matter of Australia's importation of the engineering products necessary to Australia's factory plants and equipment.

The Country Party leader predicted Australia would wipe out her war debts within from 20 to 25 years.

LIBERALS HEAR HON. G. N. GORDON

Budget Has Met With the Approval of Great British Statesmen.

TO DEVELOP TRADE.

TORONTO, Ont., May 27 (Special to The Examiner).—"After the next Federal election, the Conservative Party will look much as it did in 1921, when Arthur Meighen led only 49 members into the House," Hon. G. N. Gordon of Peterborough, former Minister of Immigration in the King Government, told the Toronto Men's Liberal Association, at luncheon in the King Edward Hotel to-day.

Mr. Gordon said that the Budget has met with the approval of every great man and every newspaper in Great Britain.

"The United States have consistently raised a barrier as soon as any Canadian commodity has reached high proportions, and the time has come when he should have reprisals," the Speaker declared.

"The Dunning tariff increases the duties on $200,000,000 worth of United States goods, and we expect to develop trade in these commodities ourselves."

Mr. Gordon said Hon. R. B. Bennett's leadership of the Conservative party had been "a series of bad breaks."

"He isn't playing cricket with the Old Land when he wants to bargain dollar for dollar with England, after the sacrifices that country has already made."

MANY 'Y' WORKERS ARE GIVEN STARS

Gold Stars Presented to Men Who Have Raised $300 or More in "Y" Campaign.

Many more workers in the Y.M.C.A. campaign drive were decorated yesterday for meritorious service in battle. Gold stars were presented to men who have raised $300 or more in the campaign and red stars were given to those having raised $100 or more. The stars are emblematic of the order of the Spizzerinktum. Presentations were made by Carl A. Salmonsen, second in command in the drive.

Holders of the coveted gold star, not previously listed are as follows: Dr. J. J. Craig, G. D. Carlisle, Dr. M. Fraser, T. H. Gillespie, Jim Juby, S. J. Black, C. Cumming, G. Wilson Craw, G. Gibbons, A. Kelsey, H. Tudhope, J. Wearing, C. M. Rishor.

The following have been awarded red stars: J .S. Boyd, H. J. Boyle, H. T. Cranford, J. E. Dewart, G. W. Craw, J. E. Dewart, J. V. Elliott, W. F. Butcher, E. J. Ruiter, H. Beal, C. J. Ray, H. FROST CAUSES LITTLE DAMAGE

Market Gardeners Report No Damage From Cold Spell.

GROWTH RETARDED.

Despite the fact that the thermometer took a drop to 34 degrees last night, extensive enquiries by The Examiner fail to hear of any extensive damage caused by the light frost, to flowers or vegetables.

The warm weather experienced during the last week or two, which succeeded the refreshing Spring rains was all that the market gardener, horticulturist or farmer could desire —it was ideal growing weather, and now with the change to cooler weather conditions, while the frosts have not been severe enough to cause serious damage, they have nevertheless a decided effect in retarding the growth of the crops of all kinds.

Bruce Johnston of North Monaghan and Charles Kitney of River Road, who both have quantities of tomatoes in fine condition, said in effect that the tomato plants while they are considered very tender have so far been unscathed by any slight frost of the last night or two. Warmer weather is needed, nevertheless, if the tomato crop is to reach a high standard of maurity.

No damage is reported by K. M. Denoon of R.R. 5, neither did he hear of anyone in his district who had suffered any loss from frost.

J. H. Callander, well-known local horticulturist said that if there is any frost, he is generally the first to suffer as his garden is situated in a very low location on Weller street. He had taken a look over his plants and flowers this morning and found everything in good condition.

Robert Carr, another gardening enthusiast, was out in his garden at six a.m., and noticed a little dampness but saw no signs of frost. He has a fine section of scarlet runner beans, which he declares, are doing wonderfully well.

LORD ASHTON IS DEAD IN LONDON

Was Prominent Liberal Till 1928 Election—Wealthy Manufacturer.

IN 89TH YEAR.

LONDON, May 27.— (By Thomas T. Champion, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent.)—The death occurred to-day of Lord Ashton, First Baron, a manufacturer of great wealth and for long a prominent Liberal. He was 88 years of age.

Lord Ashton was one of the foremost workers in the Liberal interest until the 1926 by-election in the Lancaster division in which he startled his former associates, and especially the Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George, by suddenly supporting the Conservative candidate, charging Mr. Lloyd George, at the same time, with disloyalty to the country and with being more dangerous even than the moderate Laborites. Lord Ashton accused his leader of trying to make political capital out of national energies.

Mr. Lloyd George, who had spoken in the constituency only the night previous, returned on the following night, made a vigorous speech attacking Lord Ashton and won the election for the Liberals.

Lord Ashton was formerly James Williamson. He owned an immense linoleum works, was reputed to be most wealthy and was correspondingly generous in donations to charity.

DUNNING BUDGET IS ENDORSED BY ENGLISH PAPER

Manchester Guardian Claims Conservatives Have Little to Criticize.

U. S. TARIFF WORST EFFECT.

Claims King Chose Right Time For Introduction of Imperial Increases.

LONDON, May 28 (By Thomas T. Champion, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent)—The Liberal Government of Canada strengthened itself considerably by the recent Dunning Budget and robbed its Conservative opposition of a great deal of election material, according to the view expressed by to-day's Manchester Guardian (Liberal), which prints a lengthy editorial on tariff matters.

"Everything goes to show that the Liberals in Canada stand in a much more favorable position than they did a few months ago," says The Guardian. "Before Mr. Dunning's announcement political opinion was moving steadily against the Government, but the last three weeks have shown fairly clearly how little the Conservatives have to criticize.

Larger Than Expected

"The increase of the Imperial preference rates which outwardly, was far larger and more generous than most here had been led to expect, has effectively silenced any Imperial cry that might be raised by the Conservatives. Moreover, Mr. King could not have chosen a more favorable time for increasing the Imperial connection.

"The raising of the American tariff has, no doubt, had the worst possible effect, so far as the United States is concerned, upon the minds of the Canadian public. Washington has realized too late that protection is a double-edged weapon, quite capable of clipping its owner's wings. But it is certainly true that tariff revision will not lead to our capturing the forty million sterling (about $200,000,000) trade so far held by America and now covered by preference increases.

Lady Saves 2 Dollars By Preferring Yells to Gas

The Scotsman who tried to fry bacon in Lux has nothing on a certain refined, yet extremely "careful" woman of this district who recently visited a dentist to have adjustments made on her molars.

This woman was greatly concerned about whether or not the operation would be painful, and questioned the professional man concerning the various treatments given patients while the infected members were being extracted. Deciding that "gas" was the only method, she asked how much the treatment would cost.

"It will cost $2.00," said the dentist.

After some deliberation the patient again questioned the doctor, "Do you mind if I yell a little?"

"No," replied the dentist, "yell all you want to."

"Well, then, I won't bother about the gas," stated the lady.

YOUTHS LOCATED ADRIFT ON LAKE

Coast Guards Spy Boat Helpless Off Rochester With Rudder Broken.

SEARCH LASTED 2 DAYS.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., May 28. — Adrift for more than six hours on the storm-swept waters of Lake Ontario, two youths were rescued by Coast Guardsmen of the Summerville station yesterday, making a search of two days for their makeshift cabin cruiser.

George Kemp, aged 23, and William Carter, aged 26, left Summerville on Saturday afternoon and were thought to have perished in the storm which arose shortly after their departure.

They were sighted at the Coast Guard lookout station yesterday drifting before the wind and a cutter was sent to bring them in. Both boats were blown ten miles down the lake to Manitou Beach when the cutter's engine broke down. Another boat was despatched and brought them to Summerville.

LIQUOR PARTY IS BLAMED FOR FIRE CAUSING TRAGEDY

Hours of Work Lie Ahead of Oklahoma City Rescue Workers.

MAY FIND MORE BODIES.

Annex Proves Death Trap to Men Trying to Remove Cars—$300,000 Loss.

Oklahoma City, May 28. — (C.P.) — State fire investigators to-day delved into reports that a liquor party was responsible for a fire which yesterday destroyed the Coliseum, a large auditorium, with loss of $300,000 and took a toll of at least five lives.

Hours of Probing.

Hours of probing for the bodies of additional persons believed caught under falling walls in the annex of the structure, where new motor cars were housed, lay ahead of rescue parties. Tons of brick and twisted metal must be cleared before the workmen can reach partially standing walls where additional persons may have been crushed to death.

The tottering partitions themselves constitute a hazard which brought about a suspension of toil late last night.

State Fire Marshal C. R. O'Neal was directing an investigation of a rumored drinking party in the north end of the building shortly before the flames were discovered Tuesday morning. O'Neal also sought to learn the identity of persons reported to have shouted: "Get a car out and you can have it" —a cry believed to have lured onlookers into the annex death trap where falling walls were seen to topple on groups of men engaged in removing the automobiles.

HOUSE PASSES ELECTION ACT

Companies Allowed to Contribute Funds For Campaign Purposes.

MANY REVISIONS.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 28 (C.P.) — The new Dominion Election Act, as finally passed to-day by the House of Commons, after an amendment by J. S. Woodsworth (Labor, Winnipeg North Centre) had been accepted.

The amendment repeals a section prohibiting contributions from companies for campaign purposes. Mr. Woodsworth claimed that this provision worked a hardship on Labor Unions desirous of making contributions while large corporations had been able to contribute despite the section. The effect of the passing of the amendment is interpreted to mean that contributions to campaign funds from unincorporated companies and organizations will be subject to no restrictions.

Exhaustive Revision

The bill makes exhaustive revision in the elections machinery. One of the principle of which is the appointment in urban areas of two enumerators to each polling division instead of only one. At least ten days before the returning officer selects the enumerators, he is required to give notice to the candidate who received the largest vote at the previous election and also to the candidate, representing an opposed political interest, who ran second in the previous balloting, of his right to recommend such an enumerator. Those two candidates will name the men, and the returning officer will duly appoint them.

Provision is made for the deputy returning officer assisting voters who are incapacitated by another cause than blindness. A blind voted may be accompanied to the polling booth by a friend who may mark the ballot on his behalf. The marker of the ballot will, however, be required to take an oath of secrecy with respect to the vote thus given.

FOUR BUSH FIRES BREAK ON MANITOBA BOUNDARY

TORONTO, May 28. (C.P.) — Four bush fires reported in the last 24 hours from the northwest corner of the province, on the Manitoba boundary, are causing the Ontario Forestry Branch considerable concern.

There is no definite information as yet as to the extent of the outbreaks but the fires are located in isolated districts and difficult to bring under control. The country is very dry throughout the north, and while the weather is cool the humidity is low.

According to advices one blaze near Hobbs Lake, has been burning for nine months, smouldering steadily in the muskeg all winter, and cropping out again in timbered territory with the disappearance of the snow in the spring.

Brown, Honorary Dominion Secretary; Dr. Francis Gisborne, Honorary Counsel and D. M. Finnie, Honorary Treasurer.

CARDINAL LUCON DIES IN RHEIMS FROM PNEUMONIA

Became Famous For His Stay in Cathedral During German Bombardment.

DECORATED BY POINCARE.

Was One of Most Beloved Figures in Catholic Church —in 88th Year.

RHEIMS, France, May 28. (C.P.)—Cardinal Lucon, Archbishop of Rheims throughout its World War bombardment after most of the population had abandoned it, died here to-day at 7.45 a.m.

He had been ill with bronchial pneumonia. It was known yesterday that his case was hopeless and the last sacrament was administered by his vicar general.

Cardinal Lucon was born at Mauzevrier, diocese of Angers, in October, 1842. He was sixty-five years in the priesthood and was one of the most loved figures of the Catholic Church in France.

Became Known During War

The cardinal became known to the world in general from 1914 to 1918 when he remained in Rheims after almost everyone else had abandoned it because of the German bombardment. Cardinal Lucon remained and counted the shells that struck the famous cathedral, keeping close note of the progress of the damage.

The cardinal was created and proclaimed in December 1907. In 1914, during the war, he sent a message to the Pope denying that the French were using Rheims Cathedral for military purposes. Two years later he sent a protest to the Pontiff against alleged inhuman treatment of the people in Northern France by the Germans. Shortly afterwards, the Vatican made representations to Germany concerning the deportation of the inhabitants of Northern France.

Despite the German cannonading, the cardinal remained in Rheims and and he was later decorated at Rheims by President Poincare.

Cardinal Lucon visited Rome in 1922 and administered absolution at a final requiem mass for the repose of Pope Benedict, the service being in the Sistine Chapel.

Death Reduces College

VATICAN CITY, May 28. —Death at Rheims of Cardinal Lucon reduced the sacred college of 58 members, twelve under its full complement of 70, bringing the Italian members nearer equality with non-Italian members. There are now 30 non-Italians in the college and 28 Italians.

It was expected here to-day that Pope Pius would announce a consistory for the creation of new cardinals within a few months.

MOTORISTS PAY FINES IN COURT

"Drive in Haste and Repent at Leisure" Proves Good Adage For Lindsay Car Driver.

SWELLS CITY COFFERS $25.

Ten motorists were relieved of sums ranging from $2 to $25, plus costs, when they appeared in the police court this morning charged with various infringements of the traffic laws. A resident of Lindsay was fined $25 for reckless driving on the Chemong Road. According to Traffic Officer Hornick, he was hitting a speed of 65 miles an hour coming toward this city at 9.30 in the evening. He pleaded guilty but stoutly maintained that his car couldn't do more than 60. "They never can when they are caught," contributed the officer.

Other cases were for using a cut-out, faulty lights and speeding. Lights and cut-outs drew two dollar fines, but speeding ranged from $10 to $15.

Premier King Defines Gov't Policy on Fair Wages and Hours.

House Sits Till Midnight.

Public Throngs Galleries as Prorogation Looms For Tomorrow.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 28 (C.P.) — With the tariff resolutions announced in the Budget completed in committee stage, the House of Commons today will be engaged with odds and ends of legislation and the remaining estimates.

The House last night sat until midnight and will do so again to-night. As Parliament nears its end with prorogation possibly to-morrow, it is suprising how the public throngs to the galleries. Last night there were very few vacant seats and many remained until the House rose.

Lengthy Debate

After a long debate, one that had extended intermittently for almost a week, the Commons yesterday approved the Budget resolutions increasing the tariff in respect to the iron and steel industry. This was not done, however, without many members taking part in the debate and without Premier Mackenzie making a definite assertion on the part of the Government. A. A. Heaps (Labor, Winnipeg North), E. J. Garland (U.F.A., Bow River), and other speakers suggested that the increases come into effect if and when the industry gave assurances that fair wages were being paid and the eight-hour day enacted.

Premier King said there was a right and a wrong way to deal with tariff and Labor. There also was the constitutional way. He then read from the judgment of the Supreme Court of Canada laying down the principle that the fair wages and eight-hour day question was of Provincial concern, not Federal. To adopt the method suggested was "subterfuge" and would result in one industry being treated differently from another. It was seeking to do indirectly what was impossible directly.

FOUR NOW ARRESTED IN TARRING EPISODE

EDMONTON, Alta., May 28. (C.P.) Provincial police went into Lacombe's business district in connection with the tarring and feathering episode of which Fred Doberstein, town blacksmith, was the victim. Ole Boode and C. Rowe were taken into custody charged with being members of the alleged party of five which lured Doberstein from his home last Wednesday to a lonely spot near Blacfalds and there administered the tar and feathers.

Both men were granted their liberty upon placing bonds of $5,000 each, and will appear with two other men previously arrested for preliminary hearing of the charges against them in Lacombe on May 31.

Four Men Perish Down Fixing Well

THREE RIVERS, Que., May 28 (C.P.)—An official probe into the deaths of four men on the farm of Ernest Marcotte at St. Zephyrin yesterday was begun to-day. The owner of the farm, his two sons together with two employees had been engaged all week in excavating a well. Yesterday the five men descended into the well to brace up the sides and were overcome by gases which had gathered.

One of the men, Conrad Blanchette, managed to reach the surface before losing consciousness.

TRUCK DRIVER PLEADS GUILTY

M. E. Neff Faced Charge of Reckless Driving in Police Court.

COLLISION OCCURS.

M. E. Neff, truck driver for Chas. F. Storms, cartage contractor, faced a charge of reckless driving in Police Court this morning arising out of a collision with a sedan car at Water and McDonnel street at about 4.50 yesterday afternoon. Neff pleaded guilty and was remanded for sentence, bail being fixed at $250.

A small boy, Ernest Thompson, who was a passenger in the truck, sustained a small cut on his forehead and slight abrasions of the scalp, when he was thrown forward by the impact. He was attended in a nearby store by Dr. Murray Fraser and afterwards conveyed in the doctor's car to the Clinic.

Harry W. Mann, 26 New Romaine street, driver of the sedan, was accompanied by Daniel Moher of Lake street. The latter was slightly cut about his nose by flying glass, but did not require medical attention.

The sedan was proceeding south on Water street while the truck was approaching in the opposite direction, attempted to make a turn west at McDonnel, in doing so the driver cut in on the sedan. It is stated that the impact was very severe. The right front wheel of the sedan was broken as also was the fender and windshield. The truck which was struck on the right front side, had both front wheels badly twisted, while the engine was practically lifted off its frame.

LONDON HEARING HELD OVER

LONDON, Ont., May 28 (C.P.) — After strenuously fighting since 10.30 o'clock Monday morning for an adjournment in the Amalgamated Builders' Council hearing in this city until after the hearing in Windsor has been concluded, Louis M. Singer, K.C., appearing for the defense, was successful to-day in persuading the court to allow the local hearing to stand adjourned until Monday morning, June 23, at 11 o'clock.

ROBERTSON IN NORTH HURON.

WINGHAM, May 28.—W. H. Robertson editor and publisher of the Goderich Signal, and a brother of R. S. Robertson, K.C., of Toronto, was chosen on the first ballot at the North Huron Liberal convention here yesterday as party candidate in the Federal election.

COUNTERFEITERS TAKEN BY POLICE $1,000,000 HAUL

Cleverly Made $10, $20 and $50 Gold Certificates Uncovered in Apartment.

LITHOGRAPH PRESS FOUND.

Three Ring Leaders Captured as Secret Service Men Crash Doors.

NEW YORK, N.Y., May 28 (C.P.).—Expertly counterfeited $10, $20 and $50 gold certificates with a spurious value of more than a million dollars were seized to-day with a large lithograph press by secret service operatives on an upper floor of a Brooklyn apartment house at 1726 Eighty-Fifth Street.

Seven agents rushed the apartment with drawn revolvers. They arrested Pericle Mannerini, alleged head of the ring; Joseph De Negros, also known as Joseph Ross, alleged financier of the band and chief distributor of its wares, and Mattion Mattera, alias "The Doctor," whom they identified as an expert engraver and lithographer.

FEW HOURS LEFT TO END CANVASS IN "Y" CAMPAIGN

Grand Total to Date For Building Fund Has Reached Sum of $121,365.

BIG DRIVE BEING MADE.

Special Gifts Committee Endeavoring to Secure More Subscriptions.

With thirty hours more to go before the closing of the Y.M.C.A. campaign to raise $128,500 to-morrow night, the workers must secure subscriptions totalling $7,135 if their objective is to be reached. At noon to-day the reports jumped the total already secured up $3,671 to $121,365.

The men left the luncheon in the "Y" to-day determined that they are going to push the campaign "over the top." Several members of the Big Gifts Committee are in Toronto in an effort to secure some more large subscriptions. With every worker making a last big drive among local citizens it was confidently expressed that the needed $7,135 would be secured before the final meeting at 6.15 to-morrow evening.

Peterborough Rangers Help.

Enclosed with a letter from Lieut.-Col. M. H. Park, officer commanding the Peterborough Rangers, expressing full approval of the work the "Y" was doing in the city was a substantial subscription on behalf of the regiment. This subscription was entirely unsolicited, and is evidence of the manner in which the organizations throughout the city are getting behind the campaign.

Division honors for the day were captured by Division A, the Indians, led by Colonel W. R. Breyfogle, which had a total of $1,043 subscriptions to-day and a total to date of $14,777. Thus Colonel J. R. Marshall's brigade yielded the flag to the Indians. Captain G. D. Carlisle and his team reported the largest team total of the luncheon and was given possession of the money bag. The team total was $816.

The squad captained by Arthur McLeish again reported the largest number of subscriptions and retained the emblematic sole.

Urging that the men pick up all the loose ends of the subscriptions during the remaining hours, T. R. Jordan made another plea for the workers to give one last long push to bring the campaign to its expected success. He reminded the captains that they should have all their team present at the Victory dinner to-morrow evening. The support of

SMALL LINDSAY GIRL, AGED SIX, INFANTILE PARALYSIS SUSPECT

Minister of Health Rushes Supply of Serum to Victoria County Town.

DOCTOR HOPEFUL.

LINDSAY, Ont., May 28 (C.P.) — Little Betty Brooks, aged six, was taken ill yesterday at nine o'clock. A doctor was called, Dr. W. T. Rich. He suspected infantile paralysis and immediately telephoned to the Hon. Dr. Forbes Godfrey, Minister of Health, in Toronto. Within two hours a supply of serum was here, sent by motor by the Minister and was administered to the child. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Brooks, 42 Caroline street and it will be a day or two before it is known whether the disease has been checked or not; but in view of the fact that serum was available so quickly, the doctor and the child's parents are very hopeful.

$10,000 in Goods Stolen in Windsor

WINDSOR, Ont., May 28.—(C.P.)—Costly pieces of jade and silver and almost 1,000 pieces of porcelain, specimens of Chinese craftsmanship, have been stolen from the residence of Samuel Stover, at Pace it was discovered to-day. The loot is valued at approximately $10,000 and is covered by insurance. The Stover home has been closed since November when Mr. and Mrs. Stover went south and their son Raymond went to Europe. The son returned to-day and the robbery was discovered.

OPIUM ACT ENFORCEMENT COST $34,657.94 MORE

OTTAWA, Ont., May 28.—(C.P.)—Expenditures for the administration of the Opium and Narcotic Drug Act have increased since 1926 from $27,452.89 to $62,110.83 in 1930, according to a return tabled in the House of Commons here to-day. At the same time revenue derived from license fees, fines and forfeitures, etc., have increased and at the close of the fiscal year totalled $14,240.77. Of that figure the fines and forfeitures constituted the largest portion, being $10,104.83.

There has been a great decrease in convictions since 1922 when the total was 1,858. The figure has steadily declined until at the end of the last judical year it stood at 563.

VICTIM OF SHOOTING DIES: ASSAILANT NEVER NAMED

VANCOUVER, B.C., May 28 (C.P.). —Keeping her lips closed until the end, Mrs. Allan Groat, also known as "Bobby Kelly," victim of a shooting in a Pender Street house on Sunday morning, died in hospital yesterday. To the last she denied all knowledge of the man who fired the fatal shot. She insisted, however, that the bullet was accidentally fired.

Charged with attempted murder in connection with the shooting, Gordon Riddell, landlord of the house in which the gun was fired, appeared in police court and was remanded until June 2.

WHO TIPPED OFF W. E. N. SINCLAIR HON R. B. BENNETT ASKS IN HOUSE

Leak of Information on Brokerage Situation Part of Plot, He Says.

TO EMBARRASS PRICE.

OTTAWA, May 28.—Where did W. E. N. Sinclair, K.C., Ontario Liberal leader, get the information on which to base his "disclosures' on the Ontario brokerage situation in a speech at Waterloo last winter?

Several days' controversy at the time between Hon. W. H. Price, Ontario Attorney-General, and Dominion authorities failed to settle the question. It still remained a mystery yesterday after Hon. R. B. Bennett, Opposition leader, and Hon. W. D. Euler, Minister of National Revenue, had threshed it out again in the House of Commons. Suggestion of a "leak" from Mr. Euler's department were heard.

Fortuitous "Leak."

Mr. Bennett charged that a fortuitous "leak" of information gathered from brokers by the National Revenue Department had resulted in Mr. Sinclair disclosing certain Toronto brokerage conditions in exactly the same terms as the same thing was stated in a letter received from Ottawa on the following day by the Ontario Attorney-General's Department.

The information had been received by the National Revenue Department, said Mr. Euler, and transmitted to the Justice Department which passed it on to the Ontario authorities.

"The Minister of National Revenue" he declared, "had at no time any communication of any kind whatsoever with the Ontario Liberal leader."

"That is not what I am asking," Mr. Bennett returned.

"Whether the information emanated from my office I do not know," said Mr. Euler, "but it certainly did not emanate from myself."

Further pressed by Mr. Bennett, the Minister admitted that he had not investigated the "leak."

Mr. Bennett pointed out that the Kitchener newspaper owned by Mr. Euler, had sent out a flash on the night of the Sinclair speech—"watch Sinclair speech to-night."

"Watch Sinclair's Speech."

Out of the office of the Kitchener News-Record, charged Mr. Bennett, prior to the delivery of the speech delivered by W. E. N. Sinclair at Waterloo, Ont., during the winter, dealing with the stock-broking situation in that province, there had gone a flash to "the Associated Press":

Five Brothers Held; Abduction Charge

HAMMOND, La., May 28 (C.P.) —Arresting five sons of a wealthy furniture dealer, authorities were prepared to act swiftly to-day against the alleged participants in the abduction and tarring and feathering of Dr. S. L. Newsom, prominent dentist.

The Tangipapoa Parish grand jury already was in session and it was indicated that charges naming Newton, Gordon, Charles, Ike and Henry Starnes would be presented for action immediately.

Dr. Newsom accused the five brothers of kidnapping him at the point of revolvers and covering his body with creosote and feathers because they said he had been attentive to the wife of one of them.

BRITISH HOUSE SITS ALL NIGHT

Chancellor of Exchequer Charges Conservative Party With Obstructing Bill.

MOTION DEFEATED.

(By George Hambleton, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent.)

LONDON, May 28. — The House of Commons sat until eight o'clock this morning with frayed nerves and biting tongues given free rein during the all night session. The motion of the Right Hon. Philip Snowden, Chancellor of the Exchequer, to repeal anti-dumping legislation, was the main subject of the debate.

The Chancellor told the Right Hon. Winston Churchill, the opposition's most persistent financial critic, that he was determined to get his financial bill through if the House had to sit until this evening. He charged the Conservatives with obstruction and his periodic acid comments on their behaviour only enraged the opposition the more.

Finally, the House defeated a Conservative motion to postpone repeal of anti-dumping legislation until 1936.

The vote in a House, which by this time was decimated by the calls of sleep, was 172 to 70. A Labor-Conservative agreement was then reached and the House rose at eight.

FOUR KILLED, FIFTY-THREE HURT AS ANGRY MOSLEM MOB MAKES FIERCE ATTACK ON POLICE FORCE

Fighting at Bhendi Bazaar Lasts Two Days Before Lull Comes.

BUSINESS AT STANDSTILL.

Rioters Parade Luchnow Streets After Four Shot Down in Skirmish.

LONDON, May 28 (C.P.)—Although casualty totals were less, events of the past two days at Bombay and Lucknow alarmed Indian observers to-day more than rioting at Dacca, and at Rangoon, where more than 60 persons have been killed and 740 injured.

The Rangoon disorder is only remotely connected with the Indian civil disobedience acampaign, while the disturbance at Dacca has been communal and non-Nationalist in nature. But at Bombay and Lucknow the rioting has been directed against British authority, and has not lacked effectiveness.

Moslems Attack.

At Bombay particularly did the situation inspire apprehension. Hitherto one of the Government's strong points has been that the Moslems have either abstained from civil disobedience or denounced it, but the rioting Monday and Tuesday was in Bhendi Bazaar, Moslem quarter, with crowds of Moslems making direct attack on the police. Four persons were killed and 53 badly injured.

Four persons were killed and thirty injured at Lucknow, and latest advices indicated an ugly situation still existed there. Only sparse details of the disorder were available, but it was said that bands of rioters paraded through all quarters of the city after having been dispersed in a hot skirmish with police and soldiers at Aminabad Park, in the busiest center of the city.

The police fired 57 shots at close range into a mob attacking one of their outposts. Fourteen policemen were taken to hospitals.

Communal riots which began last Thursday at Dacca have thus far brought fourteen deaths and injuries to 40. Looting and stabbing, sequels to the rioting, continued yesterday. Business was at a standstill, and both Moslems and Hindus generally remained indoors.

DEATH TOLL MOUNTS.

RANGOON, Burma, May 28 (Canadian Press). — Emergency measures were in force in Rangoon to-day to prevent recurrence of the rioting which during the first days of the week took 63 lives and injured 716 persons. It was said that there were many more dead and injured not officially reported.

Buddhist high priests and Indian leaders strove to-day to allay excitement growing out of the rioting, in which Burmese and Hindu dock workers fought with knives. The military stood by the police in the disturbed area to combat possible disturbances.

There was an increasing amount of traffic in the city and the bazaars were partly open. The shops and Indian business houses were still closed, however, and shipping was at a standstill.

During the night police patroling the city occasionally had to fire shots into the air to disperse any crowds which gathered.

COW HAS 22ND CALF.

RACELAND, Ky. (U.P.).—"Rose," a 21-year-old cow, owned by Mrs. Emma Meads, was recently the proud mother of a calf. There is nothing exciting about that fact alone, but it happens the newly-born is "Rose's" twenty-second offspring. The old cow received considerable notoriety several months ago when she strayed away from her home pasture and drank some mash she found at a still in a nearby woods.

GRIN FOR MAY.

It is told of Mark Twain that when, in his early days, he was the editor of a Missouri paper, a superstitious subscriber wrote to him saying that he had found a spider in his paper and asked whether that was a sign of good luck or bad. The editor-humorist wrote the subscriber and also printed the reply in his paper. The letter read: "Old Subscriber: Finding a spider in your paper was neither good nor bad luck for you. The spider merely was looking over our paper to see which merchant is not advertising so he can go to that store, spin his web over the door, and lead a life of undisturbed peace ever afterwards."—The Washington Newspaper.

SPANISH POLICE FIRE ON CROWDS INJURING THIRTY

Parade at Resort Seeking Re-opening of Casino Turns Into Riot.

WOMAN AND CHILD SHOT.

Crowds Claim Rivera's Order Means Loss of Great Tourist Trade.

SAN SEBASTIAN Spain, May 28.—A parade by 20,000 citizens of this Royal resort city, seeking the re-opening of gambling facilities at the casino, yesterday afternoon turned into a political demonstration against the Berenguer Government, and rioting broke out.

Police fired into the crowds in attempting to quell the demonstrators, injuring 30 persons. Four civilians, including a woman and a child were reported to be badly wounded by the bullets.

The rioting lasted through most of the afternoon, and the streets were heavily patrolled by police and soldiers last night. Twenty arrests were made.

Lost Tourist Trade.

The parade had been organized in protest against the continuance of Primo de Rivera's order suppressing gambling in the casinos. The citizens said they had lost much tourist trade through the suppression, and they became disorderly when mounted police attempted to break up their demonstrations.

This rioting was stopped by a charge of mounted policemen with drawn sabres, who cut or bruised 17 civilians. Finally the crowd surged forward toward the building threatening to drag out Governor Sanalo.

Crowd Fired On.

The police then opened fire directly into the advancing mass of people, badly wounding four and less gravely hurting an unknown number of others. Many of the demonstartors fled to the houses, but skirmishes between groups of citizens and police continued until dark.

TORY LEADERS' OPINIONS DIFFER AS TO THE BUDGET SAYS GORDON

Hon. G. N. Gordon Addresses Big Liberal Rally in Toronto.

PARTY IS OUT OF STEP.

TORONTO, May 28.—"If Mr. Bennett's 'breaks' don't sink the Conservative party's election hopes, nothing else will," said Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., in the course of a speech before a meeting of Ward 4 Liberals at Oddfellows' Hall last night.

"Who is this man Bennett who so jauntily refers to the Empire idea as 'maudlin' sentiment? I question Mr. Bennett's right to criticize the people of Canada, and to term their desires to trade with Great Britain as merely 'maudlin' sentiment."

In the course of an extended reference to the Dunning Budget, the speaker continued: "I tell you, those Tories are out of step. Mr. Bennett says 'the Budget will do immense harm,' while Mr. Stevens says 'the Budget is merely a gesture,' and Dr. MacGibbon says 'the Budget has stolen the whole of the clothes of the Tory party'; at the same time Dr. Manion says 'the Budget would not have any effect on the rank and file of the people of Canada. It is absolutely useless'."

This diverse set of points of view led the speaker to inquire as to what the policy of the Conservatives would be, and what the inevitable slogan? He left the answer with the audience. Later it was suggested that an apt slogan might be found in the popular ditty: 'We don't know where we're going, but we're on our way."

Brief, But Trenchant

Mr. Gordon's statistics were brief, but trenchant. He said 'We require to raise $440,000,000 for the Federal year. Out of this sum 39 cents out of every dollar is for war expenditures, which would be a burden if we did not know that the expenditure was created in a great cause. The Liberal Government has decreased taxation in the past year to the extent of $16,000,000. The interest on the public debt of the Dominion calls for $121,000,000 yearly.

Turning to the Ferguson regime momentarily, the speaker said: "I never knew of a man who could trade further on less captial than Mr. Ferguson." Mr. Gordon went back over old Conservative history, culminating in the Winnipeg battle for the leadership. He depicted the relationship between the Tory trinity—Ferguson, Meighen, Bennett—and expressed the conclusion that "the Ferguson action at that time was the meanest exhibition in public life in recent years—yet the people of this Province forgot that and made him Premier of Ontario."

"Then, too, we have Dr. Forbes Godfrey intimidating a poor woman with the public's money and denying her the benefits she was entitled to. Did Mr. Ferguson dismiss him?"

A voice—He's' still there.

Concluding on the Budget note, Mr. Gordon eulogized the Finance Minister, saying: "It is the greatest and most significant Budget ever given to the Canadian people, for the prosperity of the rank and file of the people of the Dominion." (Applause.)

Joseph Singer asked if the Conservative Party had either a policy, or a slogan, or Cabinet timber. "Have they got a Mackenzie King, a Lapointe, a Dunning, a Euler, or other Cabinet material to whom we can safely entrust the national 'controls' of this Dominion?"

Liberal Achievements.

The speaker detailed the Liberal achievements of the past seven years, "during which we have had an era of prosperity never been exceeded in Canadian history." Mr. Singer eulogised the Tariff Board, as a creation of the King Administration, and closed with a reference to the Toronto political situation saying: "I cannot understand for life of me why the voters in the City of Toronto are so blind to their own interests. For years now the Conservative nominee—be he a clever man or a fool—is still voted as their candidate to represent us at Ottawa.

"It does not seem to matter whether he does not open his mouth day in and day out, just so long as he sits in the House at Ottawa. However I think the time has arrived when our people are going to consider the policy and individuals—rather than the promises and old prejudices of past years. I think perhaps you are going to see that the voters in at least two or three ridings are going to wake up and elect at least two Liberal members from the great City of Toronto." (Applause.)

CLUE UNCOVERED TO BROWN BONDS

Stratford Ex-Mayor's Associate Arrested By Police—Held For Questioning.

MAY TELL SECRET.

MEXICO CITY, May 28—The possibility that the late Tom Brown, former Mayor of Stratford, Ont., who died here three weeks ago, had in his possession at the time of his death a considerable quantity of securities, and that his intimate Mexican associate, Roberto Gomez, knows where they are, was indicated by clues which the police obtained last night.

Gomez was picked up here for questioning soon after Brown's death, and later released. He was rearrested on Tuesday at Matamores, allegedly while trying to escape to the United States, according to a telegram just received by the Mexico City Police Department. Gomez is being returned to this city.

WHEAT BLOCKADE BROKEN AT LAST

Long Awaited Grain Movement From Lake Head Starts Shortly.

Freighters Head For Loads.

MONTREAL, Que., May 28 (C.P.)—"The dam which has blocked the flow of Canadian wheat into the markets of the world since early last year has broken, and the long-awaited grain movement will become a reality in the next couple of weeks, or a month at the outside," The Montreal Star says in a front-page article.

"A start on the movement of grain now in storage in terminal elevators at the head of the Great Lakes will be made within the next 10 days, and this, it is expected, will develop into a movement of considerable consistency. Practically the entire grain-carrying tonnage of the Canada Steamships is now steaming its way to the two principal ports at the Lake head, and the balance is being rapidly conditioned for service.

POLICE LOCATE JEWELRY CACHE

Five Thousand Pieces Valued at $1,000,000 Confiscated in Raid.

Brooklyn Broker Arrested.

NEW YORK, N.Y., May 28. (C.P.) The appraisal of a huge quantity of gems seized from four safety deposit vaults added approximately $1,000,000 to-day to the value of stolen jewelry recovered by police in their drive against an international gang of jewel thieves.

Striking swiftly after their seizure of $300,000 worth of jewelry and the capture of a woman and four men in a mid-town hotel Monday, police raided three safety deposit boxes in Brooklyn banks and one in Manhattan and confiscated their contents which consisted of 5,000 pieces of jewelry, including pearl necklaces, brooches, rings, watches and other valuables.

Robert C. Nelson, 53 years old, of Brooklyn, who described himself as a broker, and who held the safety deposit boxes in his own and his wife's name, was arrested on a charge of receiving stolen property.

He said that he acquired the jewelry at race tracks by purchase and as pledges for loans. He denied the charge of receiving stolen property but said that some of the jewelry might have been stolen as he did not inquire of those from whom he obtained it how it came into their possession.

ARCHIVES OF KING SECRET

Historic Documents Considered Private Property of Monarch.

JEALOUSLY GUARDED

LONDON, May 28 (U.P.).—Of all the great collections of historical documents to be found in the scores of museums and libraries of England, the most secretly kept and the most jealously guarded are the King's Archives in Windsor Castle.

All that the outside world actually knows about this valuable collection is that it is kept in a strong-room in the Great Round Tower of the ancient castle and that only the members of the royal family and the recorder of the King's Archives are permitted to examine the papers.

The archives are the private property of the sovereign and the state can claim no ownership or supervision. They consist of documents dealing with the royal family during the last several centuries.

The archives are singularly rich in papers dealing with the Stuart family and largely concern the Pretender to the Stuart throne after the fall of the last Stuart monarch.

Other documents deal with King George III. and his movements, with George IV. and with various ministers of state. Most of the latter are of a highly secret nature and are in script.

There is also a large collection of Victorian papers from the time of Lord Melbourne, who was Queen Victoria's first Prime Minister. There are documents in the collection from all parts of the world, from sovereigns, presidents, ministers of state and ambassadors. The archives may not become public property until the royal family is extinct.

GRAPE GROWERS GET PROTECTION

Restriction of Concentrated Juice Imports Announced By Dunning.

FELDSPAR TOUCHED.

OTTAWA, May 28. — Following conferences with the grape producers, Hon. C. A. Dunning, Minister of Finance, introduced an amendment to the Budget resolutions in the House of Commons yesterday to provide protection against the importation of concentrated grape juice. The amendment which was passed, introduces an alternative item in the tariff which may be brought into force by Order-in--Council.

Under one item, No. 152B, grape juice in containers larger than one gallon capacity is dutiable at 17½ per cent. under the British preference and 22½ per cent. under the general and intermediate tariffs. The alternative item, No 152C, makes grape juice in containers larger than one gallon, conforming to a certain chemical test, dutiable at 3 cents per gallon under all tariffs.

Mr. Dunning explained the officers of the Department and growers themselves were not sure the method of testing proposed would be successful. Investigations would be made at once to determine whether the test would meet requirements and if so the alternative duty would be brought into force at once.

Hon. J. D. Chaplin ((Cons., Lincoln) warned against delay in bringing the amendment into effect. If the imports of concentrated grape juice which were threatened should be admitted the whole market for this year's crop of grapes would be ruined.

The investigations would be pushed forward as rapidly as possible, Mr. Dunning assured the House. They should be completed in less than a month.

Another amendment adopted relates to feldspar. A distinction is drawn between crude feldspar and ground feldspar. The item admitting feldspar and other rock products free is restricted to crude feldspar, and another item, No. 296D is added, covering feldspar not further manufactured than ground. It is dutiable at 15 per cent. under the general tariff, to 10 per cent. on the intermediate tariff, and is free under the British preference.

BETHANY

The ladies of the United Church provided supper at the close of the sports on Saturday evening, and in the evening a play entitled, "Apple Blossom Time," was presented by the young people of St. Andrew's Church, Lindsay. The parts were ably taken by the various characters, showing a good preparation. Various intrigues being exposed as the play advanced, which was interspersed with jokes, songs, and music.

Afterwards dancing was enjoyed, which brought a very pleasant evening to a close.

KING IS UNABLE TO BE PRESENT AT THIRD COURT

Attack of Rheumatism Not Considered Serious By Doctors.

FIRST ILLNESS IN YEAR.

Specialists Believe Monarch Be Able to Attend Function Later This Week.

LONDON, May 28.—For the first time in a twelvemonth the British people last night were scanning the press for reports of the illness of their Sovereign.

Confined to his quarters in Buckingham Palace with a painful attack of inflammatory rheumatism, centring in his right hip, King George was obliged to forego the third court of the season last evening, his place being occupied by the Prince of Wales.

Is 64 Years Old

Otherwise, according to official announcement, the King was maintaining his usual schedules. George V. is 64 years old. He has had two severe illnesses in the past two years. The present illness, however, was only indirectly related to these, through his somewhat depleted vigor.

Lord Dawson of Penn, the Monarch's personal physician, after visiting the palace, said his Majesty was in no condition to undertake the tedious ceremonies of the court, giving the first intimation of his attack.

MILLBROOK Y.P.S. HOLDS BANQUET IN CLOSING FOR SUMMER MONTHS

Guest of Honor, Rev. Mr. Millyard Gives Splendid Talk on "The Power of a Great Idea."

FINE YEAR'S REPORT.

(Examiner Correspondence)

MILLBROOK, May 28. — A banquet, successfully planned and carried out in every detail, featured the closing of the Young People's Society of Saint Andrew's United Church, for the summer months, the special speaker being Rev. Mr. Millyard, pastor of the George street United church, Peterborough.

The Sunday school auditorium was used for the gathering, the Y.P.S. colors of pink and green being prominent in the decorative scheme, while the four long tables were attractively laid, and centred with holders filled with tulips and roses, while large jars of white and purple lilacs were placed on small tables and pedestals about the rooms.

The guests included representatives from the young peoples' organizations of Carmel and Bailieboro, the Session and Official Board of Saint Andrew's Church, the Tuxis Square, the C.G.I.T., an dthe members of the local Y.P.S.

The toastmaster was B. B. Dawson, president of the Young Peoples' Society, Millbrook, and on his right was the guest of honor, Rev. Mr. Millyard; next to him the pastor of the home church, Rev. W. W. Jones, B.D.; others at the head table included Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Johnston, who assisted with the program, Miss Dorothy McDowell, secretary of the Y.P.S.; Oliver Brock, treasurer; the four vice - presidents, Misses Marjory Skitch, Phyllis Kidd, Beatrice Jones, and Jack Stinson, and Miss Marian O'Brian, president of the C.G.I.T.; and Miss Francis Jones, vice-president, and the pianist of the evening.

A number of the mothers of the young people, including Mrs. Jones, Mrs. M. McDowell, Mrs. G. E. Burnham, Mrs. G. Faills, Mrs. F. A. Kidd, and Mrs. G. W. Sayles, looked after the preparations for the banquet and the service of the delicious meal, the guests being seated about the tables at approximately 7 p.m.

Community singing preceded the toast list immediately the meal was completed ,and after the toast to the King had been duly honored the girls of the Wide Awakes C.G.I.T. group sang a number of their songs, and the toast to Canada and the Empire was proposed by Miss Phylis Kidd, who spoke of the honor of being a Canadian, the high ideals and the promising future of the Dominion; the justifiable pride of Canadians in being part of the British Empire, and doing our share in reaching its ideals. Hope in the future of the country and the empire, faith in our common destiny, and charity by which we shall attain to its fulfillment, with the spirit of co-operation always evident, were the closing suggestions in Miss Kidd's appropriate remarks.

The response to the toast as given in song by Mr. Halliday, whose solo was "The Toy Drum Major," with "A Smile will go a Long Way," as an encore. Mr. Halliday played his own accompaniment.

The report of the Y.P.S. for the year was given by the secretary, Miss Dorothy McDowell, and was most encouraging, including such items as regular weekly meetings each Monday night; a membership of forty, with $60 paid to the church M. and M. Fund; generous contributions to the Forward Movement for Missions, and a fine list of topics, occasionally illustrated by lantern slides, and membership in the League of Nations acquired, featuring the work since September, 1929. The Y.P.S. will open again next September with the annual election of officers at the initial meeting.

Rev. Mr. Jones proposed the toast to the Young Peoples" Society, his able address presenting much interesting information regarding the marvellous growth during the past two or three years over the whole Dominion; "Good-Will" excursions across Lake Ontario from both the States and Canada, with addresses of welcome and sports' programs leading to a better understanding among the young folks of both countries; the fine winter and summer schools held annually developing Christian character, and candidates for the mission fields; the splendid contribution to the cause of temperance the young men and women are making; and the very fine men who are leaders in this important field of service.

As a response to this toast all joined in singing a hymn specially written by a member of one Y.P.S., and adopted as a consecration hymn since, "Church of our Choice," the words are significant, and the four verses were sung reverently, and with appreciation of their spiritual meaning.

MUST OBSERVE LAW TO RECEIVE BOUNTY ON COAL

Government Adopts 8-Hour Day.

The Government this year, he continued, had extended the eight-hour day principle to all its own employees, and to labor employed on Government contracts. This entailed an expenditure in excess of $1,000,000, but was as far as the Federal Government could go, constitutionally toward instituting a universal law throughout Canada. It had set the example for industry generally.

Turning to the new provision attached to the payment of the bounty of 49½ cents on Canadian coal used for smelting in Canada, the Prime Minister said this was a "four-square policy in the interests of improved conditions for the workers." These conditions make the bounty, together with any drawback, contingent upon the industry paying the men fair wages and imposing the eight-hour day set forth under the Treaty of Versailles. It applies, however, only in cases where the provinces have passed labor legislation along such lines.

This was not adopting an indirect method, the Premier Commented. It told the provinces that if any affected industry did not live up to any labor laws it might pass the Government would withhold the bounty.

Mr. King had been assured by a director of the British Empire Steel Corporation that the eight-hour day and the payment of fair wages would be instituted as soon as possible. No dividends, resulting from the coal bounty, would be passed until efforts were made to better labor conditions.

The Federal Government Hon. R. B. Bennett submitted, possessed the constitutional power to deal with tariff matters as it saw fit. The other night, he continued, he had heard some very strong statements with regard to the length of time the steel workers were compelled to put in. He pointed out that the United States Steel Company employed the three-shift system.

Concerning the Besco Company, Mr. Bennett was inclined to give it an opportunity to show whether it would introduce the same system. It had been in the hands of a receiver so long, and was now in a much improved situation, that such an opportunity should not be far away.

Wordsworth Has Amendment

J. S. Woodsworth (Labor, Winnipeg North-Centre) served notice on the House that he will move an amendment to the bill authorizing the higher tariffs when it is introduced. It would be on the lines suggested earlier in the debate by A. A. Heaps. This led J. T. Thorson (Liberal, Winnipeg South-Centre) to declare he would support the amendment.

Thomas Cantley (Cons., Pictou) and I. D. McDougall (Cons., Inverness) both believed the increased tariff should be given only if labor conditions, under which men work as much as 102 hours a week, were changed. The proper place for them to make such representations was before the Nova Scotia Legislature commented J. F. Poulliot (Liberal, Temiscouata).

Miss Agnes Macphail (Prog., South-East Grey), and William Irvine (U.F.A., Wetaskiwin) also spoke against the proposed tariff changes.

Miss Macphail observed that the Prime Minister, who had time and again declared himself to be the friend of the worker, but had legislated in the interests of a special privileged group without guarantees that such privileges would be passed on to the workers, had every reason to have a flair for righteous indignation. She had visited Sydney and seen the conditions under which the steel workers lived. They existed in a fashion such as no people had a right to exist in. It was the business of the Dominion Parliament to look after the people and not after privileged groups. The people were now beginning to realize that those groups were working under the mantle of the two great parties.

The House of Commons yesterday gave approval to the report of the conference on the operation of Dominion legislation and Merchants' shipping legislation held in London last year. Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Canada's representative at the conference, concluded the debate. In explanation, the Minister of Justice said the conference arose from the Imperial Conference of 1926, which pronounced each unit in the Empire to be equal in status one with another. The purpose of the conference was to find ways and means of bringing laws and legal forms into line with the new status of the Dominions.

Criticising the stand taken the preceding day by Hon. R. B. Bennett, Mr. Lapointe asked if Sir Robert Borden at the Imperial War Conference of 1927; Hughes of Australia; Smuts of South Africa, were "cutting the moorings" from "the little island in the North Sea," as the present government had been charged with doing by Mr. Bennett. Were Balfour, Baldwin, Chamberlain and Amery advocating separation among the Empire units at the 1926 conference?

The claim that Canada did not possess equality of status because she could not amend her constitution was indication to Mr. Lapointe that Mr. Bennett was "fighting a rearguard action in defence of his theories." Qualified people were satisfied with the present situation and he could not understand those who talked of inequality. Canada was a nation," he concluded, "by reason of the part she had played in the affairs of the world and the esteem in which she was held."

Parliamentary approval also was given a petition to be presented to the Imperial Parliament to amend the British North America Act providing for the return of the natural resources to the Provincial Governments of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Alberta and the railway belt and Peace River block to British Columbia. Mr. Bennett claimed the necessity of this step was proof of his contention that Canada was not a nation. Since Canada had to invoke the power of a Parliament 3,000 miles away in order to amend her constitution, it could not be said there was equality within the British Empire.

Two Maritime members, Dr. Murray MacLaren (Cons., St. John-Albert) and Finlay MacDonald (Cons., Cape Breton South) both claimed the Maritime Provinces had a claim of equity to be adjusted before this legislation should be passed. The British North America Act should not be amended, they submitted in respect of one or more provinces unless all the provinces were consulted.

Henri Bourassa (Indep., Labelle) suggested the Maritimes send representatives to appear before the Imperial Parliament when the petition was under consideration.

Formal ratification was given the new Halibut Treaty between United States and Canada to protect the fisheries of the North Pacific and Behring Sea.

Hon. C. A. Dunning, Minister of Finance, introduced an amendment to the Budget resolutions providing for protection against the importation of concentrated grape juice. It was passed by the House.

Reduction by 30 per cent. of the outstanding indebtedness of all soldier settlers still in active occupancy of their farms was provided for in a Bill, introduced by Hon. Charles Stewart. It received first reading.

Income War Tax Act.

The amendments to the Income War Tax Act came before the House with some sections being passed. The clause granting increased exemptions of $500 for dependents, was passed. Another clause permitting a taxpayer to make contributions up to 10 per cent. of his income to charity without taxation, was allowed to stand.

Further consideration was given the special War Revenue Act changes announced in the Budget. They provide for taxation on stock sales and the reduction of the sales tax. They received three readings, but were not passed pending the presentation of information by Hon. W. D. Euler, Minister of National Revenue.

First and second reading was given a Bill incorporating certain amendments to the Election Act.

The Senate yesterday approved the London Treaty for the reduction in naval armament and passed the Grain Act amendments. To-day, it will consider a resolution petitioning the Imperial Government to ratify agreements with the four Western Provinces for the return of their natural resources.

They take your breath away*

Life Savers, Limited,
Prescott, Ont.

Dear Sirs:

I am a heavy smoker and, being a salesman, I must be very careful that my breath does not offend.

So, while I keep on smoking to my heart's content, I take care to eat a Life Saver or two before entering into close conversation with anyone.

I find that Life Savers remove all traces of smoke odor and leave the mouth clean and fresh. And they always make the next smoke taste better, too.

Pass this idea along--I believe it is well worth while.

Yours truly,

CATTLE, GRAIN, PRODUCE

TORONTO PRODUCE

TORONTO, May 28—The undertone of the local butter market was a little stronger yesterday, and a number of sales were made at the top price for No. 1 Ontario, viz., 29c. Buyers were taking Ontario No. 1 at 28½c to 29c in preference to the small lots of New Zealand offered at 30c. The Ontario product has been hard to market until recently, when the pastures "picked up" sufficiently to make an "all-grass" butter, and from now on it should not be difficult to market Ontario No. 1 and No. 2. Second-grade Ontario sold at 27½c to 28c yesterday, and there was a fairly good demand for 38 scoring No. 2 at 28c. Prices to retailers remained steady with the week's decline, and supplies were offered at 33c for No. 1 and 31c for No. 2.

Cream

Churning cream quotations to the country shippers, f.o.b. country points, were unchanged at 31c to 32c for special; 30c to 31c for No. 1, and 27c to 28c for No. 2.

Cheese

Cheese prices were about the same, with new large selling at 17c to 17¼c, with the bulk at 17c; new twins at 17¼c, and new triplets at 17½c. Prices to retailers were unchanged.

Eggs

The egg market was steady, with the prospect of an easier market within a day or two. There was very little buying for storage purposes, and receipts were slightly overlapping the demand. But if prices go much lower the "storers" will be found in the market again for supplies. Country shippers were quoted 28c for seconds, ungraded eggs, delivered, cases returned. Dealers were offering graded eggs at 30½c to 31c for extras, 28½c to 29c for firsts, 25½c to 26c for seconds.

Potatoes

The wholesale potato market took the unexpected drop in prices yesterday, and both New Brunswicks and Prince Edward Islands were quoted 15c lower. New Brunswicks, in bulk, were $1.90, and in bags, $2. Prince Edward Island Cobblers dropped to $2, and Mountains to $2.10.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, May 28.—Despite announcement of a big reduction of world stocks of wheat, prices underwent decided downturns yesterday. The action of the wheat market was attributed largely to trade unsettlement resulting from reported plans of the Federal Farm Board to make 1930 crop loans on a varying basis to be fixed from time to time. Reports were also current that the National Grain Stabilization Corporation would withdraw from participating in the wheat market as soon as the existing wheat surplus is eliminated.

Closing quotations were nervous at a moderate rally from the day's bottom level, but ¾-1¼c a bushel lower than Monday's finish.

Corn closed ⅝c-¾c down, oats unchanged to ⅛c up, and provisions varying from 10c decline to 5c advance.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, May 28.—Prices of bran and shorts were reduced $1 per ton yesterday on the Montreal market.

Butter prices were reduced on the produce market, Eastern Townships No. 1 being offered at 28½c per lb., down half a cent from Monday. Increasing production of Canadian butter and continued disinclination of buyers to purchase beyond immediate needs was stated to be responsible for the weaker feeling. Receipts were 920 boxes. Prices to the retail trade were unchanged, following Monday's reduction.

Lower prices also prevailed on the cheese market, with Westerns quoted as low as 16¾c per lb., waxed, and Easterns at 18¼c per lb., waxed. Receipts were 5,234 boxes.

On the egg market, too, a weaker sentiment prevailed, with dealers reluctant to buy. Receipts were 7,257 cases.

Potatoes were lowered in price, old New Brunswicks selling at $1.65 to $1.75, and Quebecs at $1.50, in bulk, per 90-lbs. New No. 1 grade were slightly firmer at $9 per 150-lb. barrel but No. 2 grade, new, dropped to $5.75 per 150 lbs.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, May 28. — Late rally from 1¼c dips by wheat prices marked the only color in an uninteresting session on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange yesterday. Volume was light in trading, as values finished up ⅜c to ⅞c down for the day on a series of adverse news reports.

Telegraphic and cable reports told of India planning to export wheat next month, of weakness at Liverpool, and of limited demand for export wheat—all bearish factors. Only the scurry of shorts to cover halted the break.

Cash wheat trade was slow and oats for domestic use brought the only cash interest in coarse grains.

Tidbits, Interesting and Humorous

CAMPBELLFORD

A mass church parade of the Orange Lodges Nos. 36 and 526 is scheduled for Sunday, June 1. The parade will leave the hall at 2.45 and proceed to St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, where divine service will be held. It will be headed by the Temple Salvation Army band from Peterborough, and Army officers will be the special speakers.

The tennis court at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church is now ready for play and it is hoped that the members and all those that wish to join the club will take advantage of this fact. The court is in good shape, and has been re-taped.

Mrs. Jean Locke was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. Redden over the holiday.

Mr. George Hawthorne of Toronto spent the week-end at Campbellford.

Miss Redden and Mr. G. Hawthorne were the guests on Saturday of Mr. Harry Redden, at Picton.

OBITUARY

MRS. STEVEN S. MILLER

CARMAN, Man., May 26.—Mrs. Steven Spencer Miller, a pioneer of Carman, was laid to rest in the Carman cemetery on Monday afternoon, following the paying of last respects to her memory at a service held in Saint Andrew's United church, the funeral address being given by Rev. D. M. MacKay.

Mrs. Miller was formerly Matilda Anderson, and was born at Lindsay, Ontario, in 1862. She married Steven S. Miller at Carman in 1880. Her five sisters, Mrs. J. B. Miller, Mrs. Archie Campbell, Mrs. Angus R. Campbell, Mrs. James Malcolm and Miss Belle Anderson, and two brothers, George and William, are all dead. Of twelve children, nine survive, Joseph Arthur, Walter, William, Ernest, Mrs. J. Carr, Mrs. J. Batty, Mrs. F. Bridge and Ruth.

The floral tributes were many and beautiful.

SAMUEL FEE

(Examiner Correspondence)

EAST EMILY, May 28.—The death occurred at noon on Saturday, May 24th, of Samuel Fee at his residence on the middle road of Emily township after being confined to his bed for the past five months and bore his illness to the last with great cheerfulness and never was heard to complain.

The deceased was sixty-three years of age and was born on the same farm where he has lived all his life and where his son Vincent now carries on.

There are left to mourn the loss of a kind husband and loving father, his sorrowing wife, three boys and four girls, Vincent on the homestead, Roy and Victor of Detroit, Irene of Toronto, May of Peterborough and Gertrude and Helen at home.

The funeral was held on Monday, May 26 at 2 p.m. and was attended by a very large number of friends and neighbors from the surrounding district.

The late Mr. Fee was well liked and made a host of friends wherever he went.

The Rev. Mr. Wier of Omemee Anglican church conducted the service both at the house and graveside.

Interment was made in Emily cemetery. The bearers were: William Fee, Arthur Fee, Walter Moncrief, Wilbert Fee, Kelly Mitchell and John Fee.

The floral tributes were many and beautiful showing the high esteem in which the deceased was held by his many friends.

The sympathy of the entire community goes out to the family in their time of bereavement.

LEONARD C. WINGETT

LAKEFIELD, May 28 (Examiner Correspondence). — The funeral of the late Leonard Clarence Wingett took place on Monday afternoon from the family residence on Concession Street, and was largely attended. Rev. W. J. Creighton, M.A., officiated and spoke of the certainty of death for all; it is inevitable, and it is not an ending of life, but the beginning of a new and fuller life with God. "God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth on Him should have everlasting life." God the kindly Father loves all His children, and some day we will understand the working of God's great plan for His children, some day when we see Him face to face we will know all even as we are known. God's kingdom will come when all mankind knows Him and obeys Him. The speaker's words were full of hope and comfort to the bereaved family. One hymn, "Jesus, Lover of My Soul," was sung, one which is a general favorite and well known.

The pall-vesters were comrades of the deceased young man Messrs: E. Robertshaw, M. Allen, E. Wannamaker, H. Edwards, T. Hampton, and W. Hamblin. The cortege proceeded to the Lakefield Cemetery for interment. A large number attended, and the long procession of motors passing through the village bore testimony of the regard in which the young man was held. Practically all the employees of the Canada Cement Company attended the funeral, including Mr. Bailey, the plant superintendent. The sudden death and the particularly sad circumstances surrounding it cast a shadow over the whole community, where "Len" was so well known and so well liked. The late Leonard Wingett, who on June 3 would have attained his majority, was a lifelong resident of the village and had hosts of friends not only among the boys and girls of his own age, but among older people, who learned to know and appreciate his pleasing personality. He was possessed of a sunny nature and the memory of his smile will not be forgotten by the devotees of sport. He had a keen sense of humor and a deep appreciation of good sportsmanship; he was a great worker and a kind and devoted son and brother, and his passing leaves a great gap in the home circle.

Leonard was the second son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Wingett, and was nine years of age when his father was killed at Arras while serving with the Canadian Expeditionary Force, and early in life his responsibility to his widowed mother came to him and the testimony of the neighbors, "he was a good lad to his mother," shows plainly how he accepted his trust. His mother and two brothers, Cecil and William, survive, and have the deepest sympathy of the whole community in their sorrow.

GEORGE COCKBURN.

The death occurred last night of George Cockburn, at his late residence, Lot 19, Concession 5, Smith Township, in his 72nd year.

The late Mr. Cockburn was born in Port Hope, and had farmed in Smith Township for a number of years.

He leaves two sons, George and Edward, and two sisters, Mrs. McCallum of Montreal and Mrs. James Mather of Pasadena, California.

The funeral will be held on Thursday at 2 p.m. from his late residence to Little Lake Cemetery. Rev. Wm. Totton of Bridgenorth, assisted by Rev. W. S. Edgar, will officiate.

R. S. ROBERTSON.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LAKEFIELD, May 28. — News was received in the village last week of the death of Mr. R. S. Robertson of Little Britain, father of Mrs. H. E. Moore, and deep regret was expressed by his circle of friends in the village. Mr. and Mrs. Robertson spent a month in the village each winter and had made many friends who regret the breaking up of a pleasant circle. Mr. Robertson was keenly interested in sport and enjoyed the hockey matches very much and took as great an interest in the local teams as the keenest Lakefield resident.

FESS

IS YOUR HOME HARD TO HEAT?

THIS is the hardest time of the year to keep the house comfortable. That is, if you have an old fashioned coal furnace. One day the weather is mild and lovely, but the old furnace works like a trojan and heats up the house like a turkish bath. You check it down and next day it's cold, damp and rainy. The furnace sulks and everyone goes around sneezing, the house is so cold.

END ALL THIS! Install a Fess and know the wonders of a 70 degree, June-like atmosphere twenty-four hours a day. A moderate payment will put a Fess to work in your house within a day or two. Communicate now with

FARMER KILLED BLASTING STUMP

Albert Dames, of Brussels, Struck By Delayed Charge While Investigating.

HIT 20 YEARS AGO.

BRUSSELS, May 28. — Albert C. Dames, who owns a 100-acre farm adjoining this village, was killed instantly last night while blasting stumps at the rear of his farm. He was being assisted by Duncan Johnston, an expert at the business of blasting. An explosive had been placed at the root of a stump which Dames, after waiting some time, decided would not explode. On going to investigate he put his hand in the hole, and at that moment it exploded.

The force of the explosion blew the flesh from his hand and crushed his head, killing him instantly.

About 20 years ago Dames had two fingers blown off his left hand by a similar blast.

Rev. Dr. Goforth Speaks In Warkworth Sunday

WARKWORTH, Ont., May 28. — (Examiner Correspondence). — Rev. Dr. Goforth, who for forty-two years has been a missionary in China, preached to a large and appreciative congregation in St. Andrew's Presbyterian church Sunday morning. His address was most interesting and impressive.

The speaker took his text from the ninth chapter of St. Matthew, verses thirty-five to thirty-eight inclusive. He stated that with such a vast population the task of Christianizing China is almost impossible as there are so few to preach to these people. He appealed to the people to do more and give more to foreign missions. Christ is just the same now as He ever was. He has as much love and sympathy for the colored people as He has for us and He has no other way of bringing the Gospel to the heathen except through redeemed people. The incidents which Dr. Goforth related of his experiences in bringing Chinese to Christ was very touching which portrayed the great need of missionaries.

FINISH THE JOB.

The Y.M.C.A. campaign has almost drawn to a close, and as this article is written the required objective is clearly within sight.

A last effort on the part of the willing corps of canvassers and a generous response from those citizens whose contributions have not yet been recorded are all that are needed to enable the campaign committee to announce to-morrow night that Peterborough has measured splendidly up to the standard set for her.

The new and greater Y.M.C.A. that will be the result of this magnificent response to a worth-while effort will be another proof of the growth and expansion of this community.

More than that, it will be the rallying point for still greater efforts to build fine Canadian manhood out of the splendid boys of Peterborough.

The more adequate facilities that the generosity of the public have made possible will be utilized to the utmost in that most meritorious task, and those whose contributions have rendered such a result a certainty will have every reason to feel thankful that they were not found lacking when the call came.

The campaign is almost over; let Peterborough finish the job by rolling up the few thousand dollars still needed to make the campaign a 100 per cent. success.

GETTING BACK ON THE HIGHWAY.

Once again the Canada Life Assurance Company scores with another striking advertisement that supplies the injection of courage and confidence that more than anything else this country requires at the present time.

"The national task," says the advertisement in question, "is to get Canada back on the highway of prosperity and good times as soon as possible."

In that size-up of the situation the Canada Life is absolutely sound, and it is on equally firm ground in its statement that fundamentally Canada is wealthy, healthy and virile and has every reason to regard the present with confidence and the future with high hopes.

Talk like that is good medicine for the people of the Dominion.

The danger of a momentary period of depression is always accentuated by a mob tendency to be swayed by the situation into unnecessary retrenchment, into a policy of timidity.

All that is really needed sometimes to drive the spectre of hard times away is to do as the Canada Life advises.

Let us buy and sell—build—go ahead—plan and work—keep the wheels turning to the utmost of our ability as individuals.

THE USED CAR MARKET.

The appeal that is being made for the imposition of an additional duty of 15 per cent. on used automobiles and trucks brought into Canada for re-sale within a year is a matter that should interest every person who now owns or may in future own an automobile in this country.

It is argued with a good deal of force that the used car market in Canada should be saved for Canadians, and that every used automobile dumped into this country to be re-sold here effects the value of every automobile now in commission in the Dominion.

The additional duty would not interfere in any way with the person who does not now own an automobile, for such a person is at liberty to purchase and import a motor car for his own personal use without having to pay the proposed 15 per cent. duty, which would only apply to cars brought into Canada for the purpose of re-sale.

The effort to protect the Canadian market against imported used cars should appeal to Canadians generally as a sensible and businesslike attempt to correct a condition that, like many other problems of the present day, has developed along with the growth of the automobile industry.

The principle of the appeal is sound, and there seems no reason why the suggested action should not be taken as one in the general interest.

THE LEVEL CROSSING MENACE.

Level crossing accidents continue to supply work for doctors, hospitals and coroners' juries.

The only fool-proof way of eliminating such catastrophies is to eliminate the grade crossings—but there are 16,000 of them throughout the country, and their removal will be an expensive and necessarily slow process.

In the meantime, what can we as a people do to cut down the number of accidents?

The most dangerous crossings should be protected, of course, but the fact that the protective gates at the crossing near Cobourg where six lives were snuffed out on Tuesday morning have been damaged ten times this year by motorists crashing into them indicates that something more effective than gates and flagmen will have to be adopted.

The remedy is in the hands of the motorist.

There is only one place that automobiles can be hit by railway trains, and that is on the crossings; the locomotive follows a narrow trail and hurts nothing that does not get directly in its path.

It remains, therefore, for every driver to treat every crossing as a death-trap; in other words, to stop, look and listen before attempting to travel over a grade crossing.

If that simple rule were generally followed there would be an immediate and sharp decline in the number of crossing fatalities; and until it is generally followed there is no reason to expect anything else than a series of such accidents as the shocking calamity near Cobourg.

The motorist who, reading of tragedies of this kind, dismisses them from his mind in a spirit of "it couldn't possibly happen to me" is paving the way for another level crossing horror.

A woman can spend hours on scenic effects and never look half as guileless as a man just emerging from a barber shop.—Brandon Sun.

WHAT ABOUT THE PARENTS?

Two girls from Toronto, aged 15 and 16, disappeared from school a few days ago. A search was organized and it was felt that they had met with trouble or possibly foul play.

A day or so afterward they were found at Peterborough. The parents went there and found the girls were glad enough to return home. They had taken to the highway and received lifts along the way.

One night's lodging were found in a barn, while on another occasion they had been given a meal at the home where some one had sense to see the girls were running away.

What a pleasant time the parents of these girls would have in the meantime. They would have good reason to believe that something serious had happened. There would be no sleep, no appetite, no chance for rest; nothing but the eternal search to find out what had happened.

The desire of girls of 15 and 16 for excitement ranks as a very low second to the duty they have toward the parents who have looked after them, fed and clothed them for 15 and 16 years.

Perhaps parents in this case had neglected to drive home that idea that there was some responsibility attached to being a daughter. Parents sometimes neglect that very important point.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

ANOTHER "CRISIS."

British politics are again in an uproar, this time not from any action of either the Conservatives or Liberals, but because of disaffection within the ranks of Labor. So serious does the situation seem to be that there is talk of dissolution and an appeal to the people.

The resignation of the Rt. Hon. Sir Oswald Mosley, Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, has created a sensation, and there is a suggestion also that the Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas may quit the Cabinet. Sir Oswald is the aristocratic son-in-law of the late Lord Curzon. He commenced life as a Conservative, became an Independent and finally went over to Labor. In the ranks of the latter party, a London despatch notes, his ability has been recognized, but he has not been a popular figure because of a weakness to condescension in dealing with his associates.

Sir Oswald's disagreement with his leader has come about on the question of dealing with unemployment and depression—a general subject that has constituted one of Mr. MacDonald's greatest problems and serious disappointments. Mr. Thomas' suggested withdrawal is apparently based on the same matter. He is Lord Privy Seal and Minister of Employment in the MacDonald administration.

An election at this time might be a decidedly bad thing for the Labor party, probably would be. Mr. Baldwin seems to be making progress with his pre-election campaign, and the recent tariff changes announced by Mr. Dunning at Ottawa are likely to be of assistance to the British Conservatives in promoting their Empire trade platform. It will be recalled, in this connection, that the Conservatives recently won a seat from Labor in a by-election and that the Canadian budget was effectively used by the Baldwin candidate as an argument to the people why they should vote against the present Government and for a Conservative nominee. Canada, it was pointed out to the electors, had made a magnificent gesture to the public of the Old Land and it was only fitting that they should respond by electing a candidate whose party was committed to the very principle contained in the Canadian budget, namely the extension of Empire trade. That the appeal was a potent one is shown by the result. A large Labor majority at the last election was turned into a small but still satisfactory margin for the Conservatives.

One can feel sympathetic to Mr. MacDonald in the position in which he now finds himself. Not only he is a minority Premier—in the sense that his party lacks a clear majority in the Commons, being outnumbered by Conservatives and Liberals combined—but there are elements within his own ranks that have given him no little cause for worry. The Premier himself can best be described as a conservative socialist. Unfortunately for him, however, all his followers are not of the same category. There are those who want radical measures in the hope of improving conditions. They demand that tht extreme doctrines of socialism be carried out now, and with a vengeance. Naturally, Mr. MacDonald cannot listen to this sort of thing. On the other hand, ultra conservatives are shocked when even the slightest attempt at reform is introduced.

Administering the duties of the British premiership has never been an easy assignment. Perhaps it is more difficult now than ever before.—Border Cities Star.

What To-day Means To You

"GEMINI."

If May 28th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10 a.m. to 11.30 a.m., and from 3 p.m. to 6 p.m. The danger periods are from 8 a.m. to 9 a.m., and from 7 p.m. to 8.30 p.m.

If you have squared yourself for use, you will walk into the openings for advancement, which will be presented to you on this date. "A stone that may fit in the wall is not left by the way." Meetings with influential people, probably new acquaintances.

The children born on this May 28th will have a perseverance and determination, which will carry them through most of the things they attempt with success. They will be straightforward and sincere, naturally quiet, and a little too retiring, inclined to sit in a corner when they belong out in the light.

Procrastination is probably your one weak characteristic, and you are very much a victim of its evil influence. Your "to-morrows" are always crammed full of "yesterday's" left-overs, and you seldom start out the day with a clean slate. You always have a blind hope that things will be easier later on than now. The slogan "Do it now" is as wise as it is effectual. You also have a habit of evading unpleasant things, and although going around Robin Hood's barn, only means that you will meet your enemy or problem later on, you prefer to postpone the day. You are a coward in anticipation only, for in your actual battles, you are splendid.

You can stand a great deal of praise, but very little criticism. You thrive on the former, and wilt under the latter. This does not mean that you ask for flattery, but you do like and need encouragement, for your lack self-confidence. Ingratitude is not one of your faults, you are truly thankful and appreciative of the little courtesies, kindnesses and favors, which smooth life's pathway. You cannot help being a clinging vine, but you are loyal and grateful to your props and supporters. As a man, you will prosper best, when in association with someone who will supply the initiative and enterprise. You crave constant companionship, and are bored without it. You are not a great reader. (Copyright 1930, by the Bell Syn., Inc.)

ABSENCE OF LIGHT CAUSES BOY'S DEATH

WELLAND, May 28.— (C.P.).—A charge of manslaughter against Lee McQuiggan, 18, of Welland, following an accident at the city limits on the night of May 17 when McQuiggan's car struck and killed Joseph Myron Youngs, 17, of Sombra, was withdrawn by the Crown when McQuiggan appeared on remand before Magistrate John Goodwin in city police court today. At the inquest a few days ago it was shown McQuiggan was driving at a moderate speed. Young was standing by his wheel which did not bear a light.

CHAPTER XX

"You're tired, why don't you turn in?" Chris asked.

"I think—" she gulped, and looked at him bravely, the unmistakable tears on her cheeks. "I think I will."

"Sleep as late as you like in the morning, and ring when you want your breakfast. Mrs. Peters will bring it in. She lives out in the garage, but she's always 'round in the morning."

"Thanks." But she did not move. She spoke impulsively, suddenly. "I ought to say—" she began. Her voice thickened, she fought down the maddening tendency to tears, and made herself smile. "I ought to say that I see now that this was a silly thing to do—" she went on unsteadily. A moment of awkward silence.

"Why, that's all right," Chris said generously, kindly.

"I think it was a swell thing to do" Don added, with a laugh and a yawn.

"You mustn't lose your nerve." Chris added.

"No. I'm not losing my nerve!" She was determined to talk. "But I want to say that if I had realized—and perhaps if I had had sense enough to consult my mother I would have realized—"

This was floundering, weak, incoherent stuff girls always talked, when they got themselves into tight places. Her tears were dried from sheer shame and anger now, and her cheeks burning.

"I mean—I thought or it only as a joke!" she said.

"And so it is, my dear," Chris said, amused and distressed and anxious to help. "Don't make too much of it. Be a sport— There's no harm done."

"No, I know—" she said, in a whisper. She looked up brightly, laughing, holding her head high.

But her face was pale now, and her eyes showed traces of tears, with her disordered hair pushing straight off her forehead, and her figure weary and drooping, half the spirited beauty of a few hours ago had gone. Chris looked at her oddly, as if he saw her—as a girl, a woman, with a heart and soul and mind of her own, for the first time.

"Turning in?" he asked, getting to his feet. Don Archibald did not rise.

"I think so, I'm tired."

"I'll run Archibald up to Gordon's. Don't be frightened if you hear me coming in."

He was trying to be nice, she knew. But somehow it did not help her spirits, she could not rise to it, laugh the whole thing off, carry it with a dash. Don Archibald laughed suddenly aloud. Mary Kate did not look at him, as too heavily—too solemnly, she put out her hand.

"Your porch windows are all bolted," Chris said, "and you'd better lock your hall door. There've been several robberies."

"Oh, come now, Chris, don't scare the girl to death!" Archibald said laily.

"You shut up!" Chris said, in genuine annoyance. It was not much, but it was some little comfort to Mary Kate, as she left them.

"Too bad Gordon had to spill the beans. But after all, what does it matter—after to-morrow, who knows or who doesn't know?" Christopher said, in the hall.

"The whole thing—and I blame only myself—makes me sick!" Mary Kate said, passionately.

"Why, we haven't done anything wrong!" he said surprisedly.

"Oh, please— please." She was suffocating.

"Why, what are you afraid of?" he said. "You had all the nerve in the world a little while ago."

Mary Kate made no answer. Her face was flushed and strained. She nodded to him a wordless goodnight, and went off through the dim Spanish archways and passages to her own room.

Here she turned the key in the door, and crossed the room to draw the shades at the windows. A low light was burning in a bedside lamp, one of the beds was neatly turned down, her old-fashioned peach-colored nightgown and wrapper and slippers were laid in readiness.

The room was very quiet, the single light made only a pool of rosy brightness in the soft dimness. Delicious night scents drifted in from the garden, scents of grass and drowsy flowers. Except for the distant honking of an occasional motor horn, there was no sound.

Standing in the center of the room, stricken motionless by the power of her own, thoughts Mary Kate stood still, for a long time. The furred wrap was on her arm, the petals of the ivory satin skirt settled about her, the pearls smouldered in opal colors on her ivory throat.

"You fool—" she said presently aloud. "You poor fool—"

Fool. To take a chance like this! To deliberatly place herself in this situation. Her face burned. Her breast rose and fell. She bit her lip—thinking.

"Why, nobody that hated me could do a meaner thing than this to me!" Mary Kate said.

She had done it in young audacity and high spirits and confidence. It had been just masquerading, just play-acting, a few hours ago. Now it was different.

Some things were wrong, and some right. The definition came to her as freshly as if it had never been made before. Wrong. She was doing something very wrong.

"It would be different even if I loved Christopher Steynes," she thought. "It would have some excuse then."

Love him? She loathed him. She loathed the smoothness, the laughter—she had once called it hideously laughter, with which this undertaking had been managed.

Her side of it—her reputation and feelings, were nothing to these men, Chris, Gordon Rountree, young Archibald. They thought this a joyous sort of joke—and Christopher was going to give her a check for it.

"Turning in?" Chris asked, getting to his feet.

Anger suffocated her. She would not touch his check!

Mary Kate flung up her head, and began to move rapidly about the room. She carefully hung the furred wrap in the closet, balanced the exquisite ivory gown on a padded hanger, put the pearls away in their old-fashioned case.

The plain ring—her wedding ring from the five-and-ten-cent store—she flung from the open window far into the dark garden.

Let it fall into the new grass somewhere, and rot away.

Her breath was coming fast, but she would not cry again, now and then she stopped, and covered her shamed face with her hands.

She had imagined that Christopher might make love to her to-night, fool that she was! She had imagined herself dignified, reserved, keeping him at bay.

But she had never imagined the humiliation of his casual laughter, his desire to let his friend in on the joke, his easy trust that money would make everything right.

She would tear up his check, before his eyes. But no, she couldn't do that. That would rob the affair of its last shred of dignity. If it was not for the money, what earthly reason had she for being here at all? She had never seen Christopher Steynes, until the day when he had made his preposterous proposition. An older woman would have seen the whole plan in its arrogance and insult. And an older woman would have quietly declined to have anything to do with it, or him. An older woman—Mother.

The thought of her mother overwhelmed her, and she felt a desperate homesickness for the shabby house in O'Farrell Street, the kitchen, the familiar voices, the purity and safety and simplicity of home.

Oh, to be back there, on the couch in the upstairs back bedroom, to-night with Tess' and Regina's slumbering forms outlined in sprawling attitudes on the flat bed, and the big cigarette sign on Geary Street flashing light and shadow across the faded walls.

"Well, there's one thing. I never can tell them this," Mary Kate decided, brushing her hair severely, washing her face and hands as if she tried to wash her very thoughts away. "I never can make a joke of this. If Cass ever heard of it—if Mother ever heard of it—"

In bed at last, with the room darkened, and the unfamiliar country darkness alarmingly still and black outside, she had to reconcile herself to thought. She could not sleep.

She saw herself, the next morning, graciously trying to decline the check, and her cheeks flamed with self-contempt To get oneself into a predicament like this, and then attempt to play the gentlewoman, attempt to be dignified and haughty.

"Oh, no, thank you, Mr. Steynes," she could imagine herself saying, "it's been most amusing, and I was only too glad to do it for a friend of Mr. Rountree. But I positively won't take money—"

That would be ridiculous. No, her only hope was to go through it with perfect self-possession, gathering about her what remnants of pride remained to her.

Gordon Rountree. Fat and soft and spoiled, and laughing himself out of everything. She hated him, too. But most of all, burying her head in the pillow, twisting suddenly over on her back, sitting up dazed and weary on the edge of the bed, to pour herself icy cold water from the thermos bottle beside her—most of all she despised herself.

BICYCLE SALES SHOW INCREASE

More "Bikes" Made And Sold In 1929 Than for 25 Years Back.

IN THE DOMINION.

To the man on the street, who remembers the time when "bikes" were "all the rage", it will probably come as surprising news that more bicycles were made and sold in Canada last year than in any preceding twelve months in the last quarter of a century.

The advent of the automobile and its rapid rise in popularity, the "coming in" of the motorcycle, and the "going out" of the horse, and the competition of new pastimes notwithstanding, the bicycle industry has gone steadily forward in Canada.

In confirming the statement that more bicycles were manufactured and marketed in Canada in 1929 than in any previous year, Canada Cycle & Motor Company executives also point out that 1930 bicycle prices are the lowest for 30 years, despite consistently improving quality season after season.

In other words, price reduction has not been the cause of the growing popularity of the bicycle, but has been the result of this increase in the number of "bikes" purchased in Canada. As output has grown from year to year to meet an ever increasing demand, production costs have been lowered, and this saving has steadily cut down the price to the bicycle buyer.

In the opinion of the management of the Canada Cycle & Motor Company, Limited, that firm's consistent adherence to a policy of newspaper advertising has been one of the main factors in maintaining the healthy growth of the industry. By means of advertising messages, the safety, convenience, economy and healthfulness of cycling have been kept before the public, and these considerations have influenced more and more people to choose the bicycle as a means of easy speedy, low-cost transportation. And all the indications are that the peak in the bicycle market is still a long distance off.

TORONTO TRADING DULLEST IN YEARS

Floormen State Turnover This Morning Slowest in Their Recollection Since 1921.

TORONTO, Ont., May 28. (C.P.)—The first two hours of trading on Toronto Stock Exchange presaged another dull and spiritless day.

The turnover this morning was the slowest of the year, floormen of long experience state this morning was the slowest in their recollection since 1921.

Price changes were mostly on the right side, but in any case they were for small amount and were unimportant. Nickel, Brazilian, Noranda, Bell Telephone were selling at or above where they left off last night. Ford was fractionally lower at 36. Walkers was unchanged. DeForest Crosley held its recent gain but did not add further.

The oils were firm but the turnover was light, the speculative interest of yesterday having died down. Supertest, the first half hour broke through 43 to register a new high for the year, then fell back to last night's final. Only a few transactions were recorded. B. A. Oil was firm and unchanged at 20¼. Imperial and International Petroleum about the same.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

NEW YORK, N.Y., May 28. (C.P.)—Prime mercantile paper 3½, 3¾ per cent.

Foreign exchange very steady, demand rates (Great Britain in dollars, others in cents): Great Britain 4.85 7-8, France 3.92 1-16, Italy, 5.23 3-8, Germany, 23.85 1-2. Canadian dollars at 3-64 of one per cent discount.

SALES VOLUME CROSSES HALF MILLION MARK

Tuesday's Trading on Standard Exchange Most Active in Several Weeks.

INCREASED ENQUIRIES.

Mercury Oil Ltd. and Grover Daly Mines, Ltd., Taken From the Board.

TORONTO, May 28. (Special to Examiner.)—From the activity of the last few days can be little doubt that a distinct renewal of public interest in the mining market is under way. Brokers report increased inquiries from clients regarding stocks and volume of sales went over the half million mark yesterday for the first time in several weeks. The fraternity is attributing the improved sentiment to the action of Nordon and Ajax Oil and the strength displayed by the gold stocks, for it does not take many attractive movements like these to arouse enthusiasm.

Two of the lower priced stocks dealt in on the mining market, Mercury Oil Ltd., and Grover Daly Mines, Ltd., have been taken off the board of the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange and trading in these issues suspended. The move was necessary owing to the fact the companies failed to maintain transfer agents in Toronto.

A northern engineering service reports that Peterson Cobalt has acquired an interest in the old Regina property in the Lake of the Woods district and is proceeding with development this property is an old gold producer and was idle for many years until a few years ago when it resumed operations. It only carried on for a short time however, and was again closed presumably through lack of funds.

Holders of odd amounts of Hudson Bay shares will receive fractional warrants, it is understood for less than 50 share lots. They will then be in a position to purchase additional fractions to make a full warrant if they desire to take up any of the $5,000,000 in deducts to be offered. It is thought likely a market will develope locally for trading the warrants.

No Results Given.

As the report of developments at the Stirling mine, located 13 miles south of Sydney, Cape Breton, Nova Scotia, included in the annual report of Eastern Mining and Milling, was for the year ended Dec. 31, 1929, no information as to the early results of operations at the new concentrator was given. Full particulars will be available for the annual meeting of eastern mining on June 5, however. Central Patricia will also hold its annual meeting the same day.

The strength in Chemical Research, particularly noticeable to-day, is reported to the cleaning up operations in the market by a Montreal and Toronto group. No official information has been forthcoming since the annual meeting in Detroit. At that time shareholders were told that the 1930 outlook for earnings would justify higher prices for the stock, but the quotation has declined from $9 to current levels.

GRAF ON ITS WAY TOWARD HAVANA

Flight of 4,500 Lies Mainly Along North, South American Shore.

AT LAKEHURST SUNDAY.

PERNAMBUCO, Brazil, May 28.—(C.P.)—The Graf Zeppelin left for Havana at 11.13 a.m. to-day.

The Graf's start had been delayed several hours by rain, which made her too heavy to lift.

The present flight is a leg of approximately 4,500 miles, mostly along the north coast of South America.

This will be the most populous stretch of country over which the Graf has passed since bidding Spain good-bye.

The Graf is expected to include the West Indies in the present stage of the voyage.

Dr. Eckener expressed the hope of reaching Lakehurst, N.J., by Sunday night, and Friedrichshafen by June 9.

PLAN WORLD CRUISE

SHANGHAI, (U.P.)—A young British mercantile marine officer plans to start a world cruise soon in a Swatow built Chinese junk 41 feet long and of highly bizarre appearance, from an Occidental viewpoint. He is L. J. Stevenson, second mate of the Jardine Matheson coastal steamer Hang Sang. He expects to take two brother officers with him. Starting from some point in China, the craft will go to New Guinea, Australia, New Zealand, Hawaii, Panama and on to England.

SCOTS BAR BAGPIPE.

DUNOON Scotland. — Although the Argyllshire Education Authority considered lessons in playing the bagpipe a part of regular schooling the Scottish Education Department thought otherwise and refused to sanction bagpipe classes.

PROGRESS SLOW ON WALL STREET

Gains of Two Points and More Were Numerous for the Day.

NEW LOWS ARE SET.

NEW YORK, N.Y., May 28. (C.P.)—Speculation was mainly for the rise in to-day's stock market, but bears continued to search out air holes, and forward progress was slow and uneven. Large scale buying appeared in some of the utilities, but on the whole, the market remained a dull affair. Gains of 2 points or so were numerous, and a few shares displayed considerable buoyancy, but a handful nevertheless, recorded new lows for the year.

International Business Machines, Worthington, Norfolk and Western and Bullard gained 4 points or more, and issues selling up 2 to 3 included North American, American and Foreign power, American Power and Light, American Water Works, Corn Products, Eastman Kodak, Fox, International Harvester, Mouston Oil and Skelly. Standard of N.J. gained moderately in heavy buying. National and United Biscuits, Hershey Chocolate and Coca Cola A, reached new 1930 tops.

American Rolling Mill and Lambert, each dropped more than 5 points to new lows for the year. The management of the latter said business was improving and the dividend not endangered. St. Paul preferred and Pullman also reached new lows.

A tax on long skirts, graduated according to the length below the knee, has been proposed in England.

"Canadian-Born Children Should Ride in Canadian-Made Carriages," Says Boivin

OTTAWA, Ont., May 28 (Canadian Press). — The somewhat intense debate in the House of Commons last night had its anti-climax and one which sent a rather serious-minded membership into an uproar of laughter. For several hours the debate had raged around the iron and steel schedules of the customs tariff with certain elements of bitterness injected from time to time.

When the tumult had settled down finally, however, it was resurrected in another mood by a request of Pierre Boivin (L'b., Shefford) that the tariff reduction on baby carriages be not proceeded with.

"We want Canadian-born children to ride in Canadian-made baby carriages," declared Mr. Boivin amid great hilarity.

He insisted that the protection should not be decreased, since he had two baby-carriage factories in his constituency.

"Come over here," jeered the Conservatives. "You're on the wrong side."

Why open the door to the Americans, asked Mr. Boivin. Protection did not benefit the farmers. They did not buy baby-carriages, for there were no sidewalks in the country on which to wheel them.

In spite of Mr. Boivin's protest, the item carried.

Philippine Police Bested by Outlaws

MANILA, May 28 (Canadian Press). — The Philippine Constabulary to-day fired 300 shells from a mortar gun upon a Moro fort in Lanao Province, Island of Mindanao, without dislodging the outlaws who had defied the troops since May 7. At nightfall the constabulary retreated to Dansalan, fearing a night attack in the dense woods if they remained.

While bombarding the fort, the constabulary was subjected to a steady stream of fire from the Moros, who used rifles, shotguns, and pistols.

Four constables were killed and ten wounded.

YOUR INVESTMENTS

by R. M. DIXON, B.A. District Representative of BICKLE, CLARKE & CO., LTD. 330 Bay Street, Toronto INVESTMENT SECURITIES

ARTICLE XXXIII.

Q.—What are the best points in favor of corporation bonds as against real estate first mortgage bonds?

A.—Although most of the disadvantages of private mortgages are eliminated from real estate first mortgage bonds, yet they have a few disadvantages which corporation bonds do not possess.

The interest rate on corporation bonds may not be greater than on the real estate mortgage bonds, but there is a much greater chance of appreciation. If a company prospers the price of its bonds will advance (other things being equal). It is true that higher interest rates have a depressing effect upon such issues, but under ordinary conditions a corporation bond of a good company has a real chance to appreciate in value. Many investors have greatly enhanced their principal by investing in bonds of growing corporations. The real estate mortgage bond holder has nothing to look forward to in the nature of enhancement of principal. The security of the issue may increase, but regardless of how the property increases in value, the value of the bond will not increase. On the other hand, a corporation bond, if purchased during a period of improvement in the business cycle, should have a real chance to appreciate in value, but a real estate bond will likely remain at the same price.

Real estate mortgage bonds do not possess the same market ability as do corporation bonds. Many corporation bonds are listed, and if so it is easier to have a loan advanced against them, because a real estate mortgage bond may be quite unknown in the vicinity of the investor.

The real estate mortgage bonds are usually of a short duration, and there is a certain amount of trouble involved for the investor in re-investing his principal from time to time. But what is still more important is the fact that he may probably be forced to re-invest at unfavorable times, and to accept a lower interest rate.

When the public invest in corporation bonds they are helping the company in particular and the country in general. It is only by issues such as these that a country is able to make the most of her natural resources, to grow, to expand, and to develop for the benefit of all.

GOLDS PROVIDE CURB INTEREST

Base Metal Stocks Turn Irregularly Higher While Oils Maintain Pace.

SMALL LOSSES AT NOON.

TORONTO, Ont., May 28. (C.P.)—Golds were particularly strong as a group on the mining market to-day, and continued activity gave the board an interesting appearance throughout the whole early period. Base Metal stocks were irregularly higher, but only a few of the oils maintained the pace set recently, the class displaying a slight predominance of small loses at noon.

Vipond was an early feature, showing a new gain over last nights close of 13 at 1.33 at mid-day. Howey gained 6 to 1.03, Lake Shore 20 to $22.60, Teck Hughes 10 to $6.85 and Sylvanite a couple to 52. Granada was the softest spot in the group, easing 10 to $1.65.

Lindsleys, which have been strong of late, faltered some to-day, Sudbury Basin dropping a couple to $2.90, Ventures 5 to $1.80 while Falconbridge remained unchanged and Sherritt Gordon made the only gain at $2.

COLLEGE BURNS FIVE BOYS HURT

Two Hundred Companions Flee in Pyjamas From Lacombe School.

SAVE GIRLS' DORMITORY.

LACOMBE, Alta., May 28 (C.P.).—Two hundred boys in night gowns and pyjamas escaped from the Canadian Junior College here early to-day as the building flamed up suddenly in a blaze that broke out two hours before dawn. Five youths, suffering from burns, were taken to Lacombe Hospital. Damage in the conflagration was estimated at $100,000.

The main building and the boys' dormitory of the college, only adventist institution of the kind in Western Canada, were destroyed. Efforts of fire-fighters prevented the flames from reaching the girls' dormitory, last remaining building on the site. The structures were erected some 20 years ago.

Those who were injured were Victor Studley, Robert Steinke, Halgar Hoggfist, Folke Hoggfist and Walter Striefling. None was so seriously hurt or burned that recovery was deemed improbable. The cause for the outbreak has not been established.

Chicago Grain Registers Early Session Advances

CHICAGO, Ills., May 28. (C.P.)—Wheat scored material price gains early to-day, helped by upturns in quotations at Liverpool and by less favorable crop advices from Europe. Both France and Italy reported crop deterioration, with probably yields only average or under. Opening ⅜-¾ higher, Chicago wheat afterward fluctuated somewhat and then rose higher than before. Corn was unsettled, starting ¼-⅝ up, and then tumbling, but subsequently rallying quickly. Oats were firm. Provisions tended to advance.

Rt. Hon. Geo. Lansbury and Twin Grandsons.

Rt. Hon. George Lansbury, first commissioner of works in the MacDonald ministry, has been a grandfather many times over but never has been so happy as over the arrival of these twin grandsons Lansbury, who has been described as the best-loved M.P. at Westminster, has been prominent in the Socialist movement for two score years. While he is one of the most kindly of radicals, he is adamant when a principle is at stake, as he proved when he went to jail for three months as a sequel to his support of the women's suffrage movement. As one-time mayor of Poplar and as editor and later manager of the Daily Herald, he has been much in the public eye. Recently he advocated a policy of "colonizing Britain" and cultivating her undeveloped arable land instead of training Britons as overseas emigrants.

A SPECIAL SERVICE TO THE EXAMINER

Goodyear Plant Opening.

Goodyear is planning a big day for the formal opening of the extension to the plant of the Goodyear Cotton Company at St. Hyacinthe, Que., on June 5. A special train will be provided to carry the guests, including representatives of the cotton and rubber trades of Canada from Montreal to St. Hyacinthe and the opening is to be marked by appropriate ceremonies. The new extension will double the plant capacity and even though operated to capacity will fall short of meeting the requirements of the parent company, the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company of Canada, Limited.

As a result of the phenomenal growth in sales of the rubber concern and the desire of the management for a uniformly high grade of cotton, Goodyear Tire and Rubber acquired the plant and assets of the Canadian, Manhasset Cotton Co., in 1926. The mill, as taken over, was of solid construction and modern weaving equipment, comprising 15,500 spindles. Capacity has since been increased to 46,000 spindles or practically three times the original capacity.

Canadian Oil Merger.

Some interesting gossip is to be heard on the street of negotiations for the consolidation of a number of Canadian oil companies. The names of at least five concerns are mentioned in this connection with negotiations said to be well underway for a merger of Supertest Petroleum and McColl Frontenac.

It is said the location of the various service station and distributing agencies of the two would make for an ideal company with very little over lapping. Other negotiations have to do with a number of the smaller oil companies that are considering banding themselves into one large chain the would place them in a much more favorable position to compete with other distributors in the Dominion.

Alterations in By-laws.

A special general meeting of the Toronto Stock Exchange was held Tuesday at which minor alterations were made in some of the by-laws for the further protection of the trading public. The self imposed audit enforced by the directors of the Toronto Exchange proved its value in the recent crisis, firms were required to maintain a good position and a situation that might have developed into a sequence of failures, with great loss to investors, was carried off without failures. The management committee will meet to-day to take action on the petition signed by the members for Saturday closing this week and as most appear to be in favor of the holiday, this is likely the market will close Saturday as well as Tuesday, the Kings birthday. Wall street will be closed Friday and Saturday, but the Canadian markets will remain open Friday.

Speaking Of SPORT

A Horse! A Horse!

Gallant Fox, winner of the Preakness and the Kentucky Derby, not to mention the Wood Memorial and more than $112,000 already this year, soon will meet the real test of three-year-old thoroughbred greatness in the classic Belmont Stakes at a mile and a half.

Here's a tip for you that Earl Sande gets the big bay picture horse home in front at Belmont Park next week. Down in Louisville, "The Fox" was full of run after the Derby test over a trying track. This son of Sir Gallahad III-Marguerite is always full of run, when there's anything in sight to beat.

If Gallant Fox has a weakness, it is temperament. He doesn't see why he should strain himself when there's nothing around against which to try his wonderful speed. His ears go up and he stars to gallop. But Earl Sande had the remedy for that at Churchill Downs, and he'll have it at Belmont. A few gentle taps with the whip and the Woodward colt levels out again.

And a Handsome One, Too.

There never has been a handsomer sight than "The Fox" when they were parading to the post for the Kentucky Derby. He just wanted to get going, and that was all there was to it. But he wasn't nervous or fidgetty or jump. He didn't cause any trouble to the others in line. He would put down his head and stretch out that beautiful long bay neck of his and take a few trotting steps forward, as though to say, "Come on Earl, boy, let's get going."

At the post, the bay is a statue. He is all eagerness for the race, but he controls himself. He is not a fast breaker, and may have to look ahead for Whichone and some of his rivals at Belmont Park. But once he gets into that ground-eating stride of his, with Sande crooning in his ear, he goes by them all.

The Woodward colt has not been tried against Whichone this year, nor against Flying Heels and Boojum, but he has spread-eagled the others who have met him at Jamaica, Pimlico and Louisville.

Respect Whichone.

Whichone is respected by Sande and by "Sunny" Jim Fitzsimmons, trainer of Gallant Fox, but they have no reason to be afraid that their horse will not deliver. "The Fox" has tremendous lung capacity and this will stand him in good stead for the longer test in the Belmont Stakes, a race which is regarded by turf experts as the most important of the year for three-year-olds.

Contrary to popular opinion, Gallant Fox was ridden out to beat Crack Brigade in the Preakness on May 9. Earl Sande siad so himself when I expressed the opinion that the cold hadn't been thoroughly tried yet.

"I had to ride him out at Pimlico." Sande admitted. "But he was the better horse," he added, confidently.

And "The Fox" is likely to prove the best horse of all within the next fortnight.

ECCLESIASTICAL ARCHITECTURE IS ABLY DESCRIBED

Rev. G. W. Tebbs Gives Interesting Talk in St. John's Parish Hall.

ENGLISH GARDENS.

Colored Slides of Peterborough, England, Hold Special Interest For Audience.

Sparkling wit and humour, interspersed the novel and interesting lecture on "England and English Gardens," delivered in St. John's Parish Hall, last evening by Rev. G. W. Tebbs, rector of Burlington.

Rev. Dr. R. C. Blagrave occupied the chair and introduced the lecturer, who described himself as an Irishman born in England. Rev. Mr. Tebbs was in England last year for a period of two or three months, and while there he took a number of photographs of English gardens, and some of the fine specimens of ecclesiastical architecture and interior church designs, also Saxon and pre-Norman architecture; from these pictures he prepared a fine collection of beautifully colored slides, which he showed to his audience here.

In addition to being quite an artist the lecturer is also a keen horticulturist, and has lectured before many horticultural societies throughout Ontario.

Slides of Peterborough, England, held special interest for the audience of this, the sister city. The lecturer claimed Peterborough as his native place, and said that he was a chorister in the Cathedral there, for a number of years. He also showed slides of Norwich and London and of his own garden at Burlington.

During an intermission, Herb Rush sang "Land of Hope and Glory," accompanied by Frederick G. Mann, L. Mus.

Harold Lang operated the lantern. At the conclusion of the lecture the speaker was tendered a hearty vote of thanks by the chairman.

ENGLISH HALL IS CHARGED BY REDS

Hundred Policemen Met 3,000 in Mob Trying to Free Prisoners.

NINE INJURED.

BRADFORD, England, May 28 (C. P. Cable).—A serious riot whose description sounds like a page from the Indian disturbances broke out here last night when a crowd of 3,000 rushed the town hall, attempting to rescue seven persons arrested in earlier rioting.

With cheers and boos and cries of "Murder the police," the mob met a hundred constables. The police used their batons freely and made many arrests. Eight rioters and one constable were injured.

The charge on the town hall started from a Communist meeting where a man, speaking in broken accents, said his wife was among seven persons arrested earlier for demonstraitons outside a mill where wool combers were working in defiance of the woollen and textile strike.

"My children are crying for their mother," exclaimed the speaker. This set the crowd off with a rush.

The city was quiet to-day.

Cricket

LONDON, May 28 (C.P. Cable).—Big scoring marked the opening stage of the cricket match between the Australians and Oxford University at Oxford to-day. Batting first at the tea interval Australia had compiled 257 runs for two wickets. W. H. Ponsford made another century, while S. McCabe scored 91. Playing for Kent against Derbyshire, A. M. Freeman had fine success with the ball, taking nine wickets for 50 runs. Tea time scores in matches were:

Middlesex versus Hampshire, at Lord's: Middlesex, 236 (Hendren 122, Kennedy five wickets for 61 runs).

Gloucestershire versus Surrey, at the Kennington Oval: Gloucester, 150 (Dipper 61; Gover, four wickets for 46 runs).

Derbyshire versus Kent, at Kilkeston: Derby, 136 (Storer, 57); Kent, 60 runs for six wickets.

Nottinghamshire versus Glamorganshire, at Nottingham: Glamorgan, 231 (Hills, 74).

Yorkshire versus Essex, at Dewsbury: Yorkshire, 276 for two wickets (Sutcliffe 76, Holmes 62, Leyland 71 not out).

Lancashire versus Leicestershire, at Nelson: Lancashire, 176 for seven wickets.

Worcestershire versus Northamptonshire, at Worcester: Northants, 213 for eight wickets (Hawtin 67).

Cambridge University versus Sussex at Cambridge: Sussex, 234 for seven wickets (Collins, 84 not out).

BEGINNING OF RECORD

BUTTE, Mont., (U.P.).—A grandfather 13 times over although still in his "early forties," ex-Mayor Tom Stodden anticipate eventual fame before he goes to his just reward, as the patriarch of a populous tribe of little Stoddens. The former city official is the father of nine children, all of whom are married.

DISTRICT NOTES

From Villages and Towns in District

BY CORRESPONDENTS OF THE EXAMINER)

TRENT RIVER

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gain and daughter of Toronto were at the Christie cottage for over the holiday.

Mrs. E. Wilkinson and daughter, Miss Margaret of Toronto spent over the holiday at their cottage.

Miss Irene Fish of Toronto was a visitor over the holiday with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pollock.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Howse of Toronto were holiday visitors with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Carnrite.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Plunkett of Toronto visited the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Ellis.

Miss Myrtle McLaughlin of Toronto spent over the week-end with her mother.

DO YOU SUFFER FROM CONSTIPATION?

Countless remedies are advertised for constipation. Many relieve for the moment but they are habit forming and must be continued. Others contain calomel and dangerous mineral drugs, which remain in the system, settle in the joints and cause aches and pains. Some are harsh purgatives which cramp and gripe and leave a depressed after effect.

Avoid lubricating oils which only grease the intestines and encourage nature's machinery to become lazy.

A purely vegetable laxative such as Carter's Little Liver Pills, gently touches the liver, bile starts to flow, the bowels move gently, the intestines are thoroughly cleansed and constipation poisons pass away. The stomach, liver and bowels are now active and the system enjoys a real tonic effect. All druggists 25c and 75c red pkgs.

Mrs. William Mitchell, Miss Jessie, R.N., and granddaughter, Miss Marion Williamson, and son, John Mitchell and wife of Toronto spent over the week-end at their summer home "Raeden."

Messrs Stanley Wilson, Arthur and William Chiles and Sidney Ewing of Toronto were at "Raeden" for Victoria Day.

Mr. W. J. Fitzgerald of Toronto was a guest with Mrs. William Mitchell and family at "Raeden" over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Riendeau of Campbellford spent Friday at "Dunwanderin."

Mrs. John Armstrong and Miss Madeline of Havelock were at "Lazy Lodge" Friday. Dr. and Mrs. Robert Gawley (formerly Deborah Armstrong) of Chapleau accompanied them.

Dr. Howard Lloyd, brother Donald and Mr. Tom Lanphier of Toronto were at "Isle of View" for the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd arrived Sunday from Toronto and are spending the week at "Isle of View."

Miss Dorothy Carnite of Toronto was at her home for over the holiday.

Mr. Everett Fairman of Queen Mary's School, Belleville, visited friends over the week-end.

Mr. Albert Brooks of Hastings has been visiting his daughter, Miss Edna Brooks, who has been confined to bed through illness at the home of her brother, Mr. George Brooks.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Taylor, Miss Ilene and brother Reginald, Mr. Earl Graham, Mr. and Mrs. J. Scully, Miss Alice and brother George of Toronto were at "Idlewood" for over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. George Smith of Toronto spent the week-end at "Kare Free"

Holiday guests at "Cedar Isle" were Mr. and Mrs. Hawley (formerly Elsie Martin) and three children; Mr. and Mrs. Waters and two friends; Mr. and Mrs. Wilkinson and friend; Messrs. L. Clodge, P. Callaghan, George Bush and friend of Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Christie, sons Jack and Clarence of Toronto were at their cottage over the holiday.

Holiday visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Carnite were Mr. and Mrs. Hardy, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hardy, Mr. and Mrs. Green of Toronto.

There was a large crowd of pleasure seekers at this popular resort over the week-end.

Many of the cottages were opened for tourists while a little colony preferred the outdoor life on Mr. John Sedgwick's property, building camp fires where they cooked their meals. In the evening a wonderful display of fireworks were in view along the south shores of the Trent near the Government Park. Later in the evening Coral Gables Casino was the chief attraction and drew a large crowd for the first popular amusement of the season, although the official opening was on Monday, May 26, which was Campbellford's holiday.

APSLEY

(Examiner Correspondence)

St. Luke's, Peterborough, A. Y. P. A. added fresh laurels to their fame on Friday evening when they presented the four act rural comedy "Windy Willows" to a capacity audience in Apsley Parish Hall. The presentation was almost line perfect, and admirably acted winning instinted applause, which was well deserved. The visit of the A. Y. P. A. was in aid of St. George's church. The proceeds of the evening including the sale of ice cream and home made candy amounted to $42. At the close of the play the Rev. C. A. G. Spence in moving a vote of thanks to the company referred to the principals of the A. Y. P. A. one of which "fellowship" was exemplified by their visit on behalf of the A. Y. P. A. Refreshments were served by the W. A., after which a couple of hours' dancing was indulged in before the visitors left for Peterborough.

Rev. C. A. G. Spence and Messrs. Charles and T. Tanner attended the Synod of Toronto Diocese last week.

Rev. J. G. and Mrs. Bousfield and party accompanied the A. Y. P. A. to Apsley on Friday evening.

The picnic season opened on Saturday, May 24, when St. Stephen's A. Y. P. A. held a picnic at Phil Tanner's cottage, Loon Lake. It was a cool day, and not many attended, but a good time was enjoyed, baseball and other sports being indulged in.

The many friends of Mr. Simon Windsor will be glad to learn that he is convalescing after four weeks serious illness.

The gang of men employed in the reforestation work on the Burleigh Road have no sinecure, and they will be glad when the work is completed which will be by the end of the week. In addition to the plague of black flies and mosquitoes a large percentage of the men are suffering from the effects of poison ivy.

It is expected that road work will shortly commence and it is good news to the settlers to learn that a special grant of $8,000 has been made by the department for the road between Apsley and Burleigh. This is in addition to the by-law money to be spent.

CARBON MONOXIDE GAS NOW USED TO MANUFACTURE ARTIFICIAL SILK

Too Early to Predict Commercial Value of Discovery, Dr. Hibbert States.

WIDE POSSIBILITIES.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 27 (C.P.) — Artificial silk can be made from carbon dioxide gas obtained from burning coal, and water delegates to the 13th annual Canadian Chemical Convention here were to-day told by Dr. Harold Hibbert. Dr. Hibbert is Professor of Industrial and Cellulose Chemistry, in charge of scientific work on pulp and paper chemistry in the institute founded two years ago by the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association and affiliated with McGill University. The discovery was described as most important in the field of chemical research work.

Cellulose From Sugar

Dr. Hibbert's work in connection with the discovery was the finding of a method for making cellulose from sugar. To Dr. E. C. Bailey, of Liverpool University, England, goes credit for making a sugar by mixing carbon dioxide and water.

The discovery would appear to be the first step toward realization of the belief of Dr. L. Levinson, former President of the British Society of Chemical Industry and world renowned chemist, who recently predicted that before many years it would be possible to make cotton, paper and artificial silk without the use of cotton plant or the spruce tree.

Dr. Hibbert explained to the gathering a method by which the sugar from plant life could be converted into cellulose, principal constituent of wood and paper from which artificial silk is made. Dr. Hibbert outlined the manner in which plant life is able to produce cotton and wood from carbon dioxide and water of the atmosphere. The plant forms a sugar from these units and the more difficult step was discovery of a method of converting these sugars and other natural plant products. After years of experimenting, this step was brought about by adding a common bacteria to the sugar.

The discovery also means that it is possible to take ordinary cane or other sugars and convert it into cellulose from which artificial silk and other materials are made, Dr. Hibbert said. It was still too early to predict as to the industrial and commercial possibilities of the discovery, he added.

Doings In Commons.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 28. (C.P.) — To-day in Parliament — The Senate will sit. The House of Commons will consider the remaining estimates.

Yesterday in Parliament — The Senate approved the Naval Disarmament Treaty and passed amendments to the Grain Act.

The House of Commons approved the iron and steel tariff schedules. The report of the London Conference on Dominion Legislation, and Merchants' Shipping Legislation, was adopted. Approval was given a petition to be presented to the Imperial Parliament to amend the British North America Act in respect of the return of natural resources to the Western provinces. The Halibut Treaty between Canada and the United States was ratified. An amendment to the Budget resolutions by Hon. C. A. Dunning, Minister of Finance, to provide duties against concentrated grape juice was passed. A bill was introduced by Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of the Interior, to reduce by 30 per cent. the outstanding indebtedness of soldier settlers. It was given first reading. Several amendments to the Income War Tax Act were passed. Changes in the Special War Revenue Act were given a third reading, but were not passed, pending presentation of information by Hon. W. D. Euler, Minister of National Revenue. A bill to amend the Elections Act was given the first and second reading.

R-100'S TRIP POSTPONED TILL LAST OF JUNE

LONDON, May 28 (C.P.) — The projected flight of the new British dirigible R-100 to Canada has been postponed until the end of June or the beginning of July.

Frederick Montague, Under-Secretary of State for Air, informed the House of Commons of the postponement this afternoon stating that repairs were required by the huge ship.

While in a recent 24-hour test flight over England the R-100 had a section of covering torn from one of her fins and later it was found that she had suffered other minor damage.

It had been expected that the R-100 would make the flight to Canada about the beginning of June.

DEADWOOD DICK PASSES IN WEST

Famous Hero of Indian Days, Richard Clark, Dies With His Boots Off.

SCORNED CHIGAGO GUNMEN.

DEADWOOD, S. D., May 28 (A.P.) —Deadwood Dick Clarke, hero of Indian lore, died here from penumonia, at the age of 83. His death followed by less than three months that of Poker Alice Tubbs, a contemporary character of the old West. The Black Hills has lost the last of the famous characters who fought, gambled and dug for gold in the frontier days when the "wild West" lived up to its name.

Deadwood Dick died with his boots off. Survivor of the rigors of pioneer life, he lived to become a tradition in the decades that followed the passing of the stage coach, the gold rush and the threat of Indian uprising. Weakened by old age, he for several years had been pointed out to tourists as the last landmark of the old West.

Joining a party of prospectors in Illinois, when a young man, Dick made the long overland journey to the Black Hills when the excitement of gold discovery was at its height.

As Richard Clarke, he became connected with the stage coach line that terminated at Deadwood, where his headquarters were for many years.

Wore Frontier Garb to the Last.

Deadwood Dick, hero of the dime novel and last of the quartet of famous Indian fighters and scouts, the others being Buffalo Bill, Wild Bill Hickok and Diamond Dick, continued to wear the frontier garb that was as obsolete as the fiction which he had inspired.

Born in Illinois on Nov. 3, 1846, he had lived on the frontier until the outposts of civilization around him had vanished. As a boy he joined his lot with that of the Western pioneers and his career carried him over the advancing frontier as stage-coach guard, Indian fighter, prospector, army scout and railway baggageman. He gave up stage driving in 1885, when the Chicago & Northwestern terminus was located at Buffalo Gap, S. D., and he entered the employ of the railroad, with which he remained until his death.

A Sneer for Chicago Gunmen.

In 1928, when he went to Washington by airplane to visit President Coolidge, he paid his first visit to Illinois since he left there as a lad. The tall tales of Chicago gunmen were for him to laugh at when he entered the Loop for the first time, bedecked in leather jacket and breeches, with a 45-calibre revolver strapped to his waist.

"These here Chicago gunmen don't know nothin' at all," he said, as he patted his trusted six-shooter, a relic, as he was himself, of other days, other ways.

CHLOROFORM IS FATAL TO YOUTH

Toronto Boy Found Dead in Room With Bathing Cap Over Face.

PROBABLY EXPERIMENTING

TORONTO, May 25. — With a chloroform bottle near him as the only object which might throw light on his death, the lifeless body of Charles Adams, a 16-year-old boy was found on the floor of his home at 67 Constance Street at a late hour last night.

Whether the contents of the bottle had played any part in the death will not be known until a post-mortem has been performed on the body, but Coroner Dr. J. M. Casserly, who opened an investigation, found that the lad had been dead for some time.

Conducting Experiment?

That the youth may have been experimenting on himself with the chloroform is suggested, according to Coroner Dr. Casserly, by the fact that his face was covered with a rubber bathing cap when he was found by his parents in his attic room. He might have placed chloroform in the cap, put the bottle on a table, lay face downwards and covered his face with the cap. The boy was of an experimentive turn, his parents told the Coroner.

Dr. J. W. Aikenhead of 119 Howard Park Avenue was called by the parents when they returned after a few hours' absence and found their son's body after a search of the [illegible]. The physician pronounced the lad dead and the Coroner [illegible].

The investigation will proceed today and a post-mortem may be held.

HYDRO CONTRACT LET.

Work Starts On Lines in Wooler and District in Ten Days Take Three Months.

WOOLER, May 28 (Examiner Correspondence). — The Murray-Brighton Telephone Company are awarded the Hydro contract. Work commences in ten days. Mr. Telt, the Hydro engineer, gave the contract to Mr. D. S. Austin, who will start with ten men, then twenty, and probably forty. There are some fifty homes in Wooler, and these residents are eargerly anticipating the time when the light question will be concluded. The line will extend from Frankford to Wooler, then down to Bethel School, thence west to the Third Concession to the Campbellford and Brighton Highway, then back down through the Fourth Concession, known as the Terrill Line, to Wooler, and on down half-way to Frankford, going north taking in eight miles. Mr. Austin says the total mileage would be between 32 and 33 miles, which will take three months to complete. The Wooler-Frankford section will be completed first. The equipment to be used in the work will be of the finest material, since the aluminum wire will be bought, and not less than 8,000 volts will be used. Poles will be 30, 35, 40, and 45 feet in height, and when completed there will be no finer division in Eastern Ontario, according to the statement issued by the Ontario Hydro Commission.

The latest transformers and the latest methods of guying will also be used. Every home is entitled to complete lighting, and the same applies to the barns. A three horse-power motor can be used or a range, whichever the case may be. A great deal of credit for Wooler receiving the Hydro should be given to Mr D. S. Austin, who has worked assiduously for the last six years trying to get the villagers sufficiently interested in the idea. Every week during the winter months meetings have been held to discuss the much mooted problem, but it was not until recently that the general trend of public opinion turned in favor of the general use of Hydro lighting in their homes because for the most part the people of the district did not have sufficient confidence in the Hydro scheme. However, the biggest drawback was the rates, and now they have been cut considerably, the villagers find that it will profit them to have the Hydro.

GRAF HELD AT MOORINGS UNABLE TO LIFT IN RAIN

PERNAMBUCO, Brazil, May 28 (C.P.)—The Graf Zeppelin was held at its mooring mast to-day by a fine rain which, falling through the night, increased the dirigible's weight so it could not get off the ground to begin a 5,500 mile flight to Havana and the United States.

At 8.00 a.m., two hours after it had been hoped to start for the North American continent, it was still raining, although visibility was fair. Dr. Hugo Eckener, the craft's master, believed it would be necessary to await several hours of sunlight, which would dry out the envelope fabric covering before starting.

WEALTHY BANKER IS SENT THREAT BY CAPONE GANG

Extortionists Claim Life is Forfeit Unless $45,000 Handed Over.

ASKS GOV'T PROTECTION.

Law-breaking Association Initials Note—Heavy Guard on Duty.

CHICAGO, May 28—W. J. Reichert, Belleville, Ill., banker, and father of the Reichert brothers, owners of a string of race horses now at Washington Park, has been made the target of a ring of Capone extortionists. They have threatened to take his life unless he hands over $45,000, it was learned yesterday.

The extortionists are said to be the same outfit which levied tribute from stage stars last winter. The newest demand—embodied in a telegram received anonymously from East St. Louis—obviously came from the St. Louis branch of the Capone racketeering house. The senior Reichert now is in Belleville, living under heavy guard. His two sons, Elmer and William C., are in Chicago.

Appeals to Senator.

The facts concerning the $45,000 demands became public when the elder Reichert sent a telegram to United States Senator Charles S. Deneen, and Otis F. Glenn, in which he asked Federal protection.

"My life and property have been threatened by gangsters," he wired. "Local police protection is inadequate. Won't you please see that I get protection through Government Secret Service operatives?"

TACTICS CAUSE OF POLITICAL FIGHT

Ontario Municipalities Vote For Officers With Eye on Canines.

WINDSOR, Ont., May 28 (U.P.).—One question, profound and epochal, may face all candidates for public office in campaigns here and in neighboring municipalities: "Who are you for, the dogs or the dog-catcher?"

The somewhat unusual note in political battles is the result of a stormy controversy centering around Eugene LaMarr, demon Schnauzer-snarer for the four allied townships here.

This airedale arrester, in enforcing a local law which prohibits dogs from frolicking on the streets unleashed, has snatched up many a violet-scented pet from under the very nose of its owner and hustled it off to the pound in the company of dogs obviously unrefined and unscented. According to some critics, he even uses a bewitching bit of canine femininity, who vamps stray male dogs into his heavily-mittened hands. These practices have earned him the dislike of many dog lovers.

So strong is the feeling on the dog versus dog-catcher question that it has become a political issue and an association is reported being organized for the express purpose of removing either the law or the dog-catcher. The association may demand of every political candidate that his beliefs on dog-catching form one of the openly expressed planks of his political campaign.

Meanwhile, LaMarr's enemies increase daily, while his defenders entreat their fellow-citizens to "Keep the Dog-Catcher Out of Politics."

Scarface Al Capone Plans Get-together

MIAMI, Fla., May 28 (C.P.)—'Scarface Al' Capone's counter-court attack on Miami authorities who seek to force him from the city, originally directed at three officials and a prominent citizen, was reduced to-day to a single charge against S. D. McCreary, direcor of public safety.

Despite his defeat in the first round of the legal skirmish Capone planned to continue his efforts to establish himself in the community with a "good will" dinner to-night at his palatial Palm Island estate. Engraved invitations were distributed to a selected list of 50 residents.

RETURNING OFFICERS WARNED TO PREPARE

Western Constituencies Told Active Work Probable Saturday

WINNIPEG, Man., May 28. (C.P.) The Manitoba Free Press this morning publishes the following:—

"With the possibility of Parliament being dissolved on Friday of this week, returning officers of the western constituencies have been notified to be prepared to start active work of the campaign on Saturday.

"Col. O. M. Biggar, Chief electrical officer for the Dominion, in telegrams to returning officers, stated that it is likely writs for the election will be issued Friday.

"If writs are sent out this week, it would be possible to hold the election on July 28."

London Conference Asks Immediate Gov't Effort to Form Policy.

CANADIANS TAKE PART.

LONDON, May 28 (By George Hambleton, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent).—The Congress of Empire Business Men to-day breathed the spirit of Empire trade. The twelfth meeting of the Empire Chambers of Commerce had before it the first of four resolutions calling for "A concerted and determined immediate effort on the part of His Majesty's Government to formulate an economic policy for the Empire," and calling at the same time for the appointment by the next Imperial Conference of a commission to formulate a scheme which would lead ultimately to economic union.

Closer Relations

And through nearly three hours of discussion which was continued this afternoon, the dominant note sounded by the delegates present was that closer relations between the members of the Empire family had become an urgent need. As the main body of delegates is holding its discussion, certain of the English and Canadian members are holding separate conferences in which the whole situation between the two countries is being considered industry by industry, with a view of threshing out difficulties and making the way more smooth.

Canada's delegates participated largely in the general meetings today. The resolution calling for the formation of an economic policy for the Empire found general support. It was moved by Sir Arthur Shirley Benn, President of the Association of British Chambers of Commerce, a former Member of Parliament and a man who has lived in Canada. It was seconded by W. F. Cockshutt, Brantford, Ontario.

The choice of Tens of Thousands

Below—A "close-up" of RIB-ROLL, showing LED-HED nail and wide side lap. When nailed this joint is invisible from even a short distance away.

Appearance alone has sold Rib-Roll roofing to thousands of farmers . . . but it is economy, fire protection and permanence that keeps it sold. Wherever you go in Ontario these handsome roofs are familiar land-marks . . . protecting millions of dollars worth of crops, stock and property. RIB-ROLL's success has caused it to be widely imitated—but Rib-Roll alone has the rigidity, ease of erection, durability, low cost and absolute fire protection which make it the foremost roofing value in Canada today.

An Unbeatable Combination

RIB-ROLL Roofing and Preston LED-HED nails make a roofing combination impossible to beat. The cost of laying RIB-ROLL is lower than nearly all other types of roofing. When you use LED-HED nails you get a rigid, handsome, tight-jointed roof that defies fire and weather. The nails are specially designed with lead heads which completely seal the nail hole. There are no awkward washers . . . no threading or punching. Write for samples of RIB-ROLL and Preston LED-HED nails.

Conducted by ANNE WILCOX

Dear Anne:

I have enjoyed the Women's Page for a long time. I wrote occasionally when Marion was leader but have neglected doing so lately. Although I have been silent I have been interested in the different discussions and often thought I would write and give my opinion and then I would read some one's letters that expressed my thoughts in a nicer way than I could have done so all my good intentions would fly to the winds. Anne, I think you are quite ably filling Marion's place and I sincerely admire the way you handle those letters which are anything but complimentary to you.

I enjoy the neighbors' letters very much and especially those from Highflyer. I think she is far too sensible to be the highflyer that her name implies. One of her letters on the training of children I read and re-read till I almost knew it. She must have had a wonderful mother. In fact Highflyer was my inspiration for writing this morning. I am sending two coat patterns for a four year old hoping that one of them will be of use to her. I would like them back when she is through with them but I am not in a hurry at all. Sewing is my hobby. I am not a professional dress maker, just handy with a needle but I do quite a lot of sewing for other people. It helps to get lots of little things for my own three children. I wish you could see my little curly haired girl or do you like children? I may send you a snapshot of her sometime.

Oh dear, I didn't mean to be so lengthy but you will forgive me, won't you? Avis

I have forwarded the patterns to Highflyer, Avis, and I hope they may prove useful to her. I just adore kiddies when they are between the ages of one year and four or so. I think they are so cute then, when they are just learning things and do ask such amusing questions. I would love to see a snap of her.

Dear Anne:

I was glad for your sake to see Our Mail in this evening as I noticed last week in one of your articles you said there were few letters coming and you did not know if your articles were what we wanted and you were falling down on the job in consequence. I started a letter to you right away but other things intervened and it never got finished. Well I'm glad to see some of the neighbors coming back, it is a very busy time in the spring and this spring has been very trying with such extremes of temperature.

Highflyer has such a breezy way with her, good natured, and some one has said that good nature is God nature and there's quite a bit of truth in it. I was glad too, to see a letter from Ad Nauseam, who has not changed her pen name. I quite understood how she felt, and guessed that she was one who had given lavishly but in time of need received little, so many folk like us and seek us when we can do something for them but if we cannot give they don't come near us.

I did not like the way Quid Est wrote to Ad Nauseam at all, she spoke of her as having another grievance. It seemed so harsh, and so unkind—better not to have said anything, than to add to another's grief, and that, when they were recovering from illness. If we must err at all let us err on the side of kindness as the little poem has it:

"Speak gently it is better far
To rule by love than fear.
Speak gently let not harsh words mar
The good we might do here"— etc.

Charity is the essence of Christianity without that it is a lifeless thing. True faith springs from love and a mere persuasive faith is not real faith it is a dead faith—Faith without words, or a life according to it is dead, it is like light without heat nothing grows. How beautiful is this old world when the spring arrives, when heat and light combine to renew and vivify all things even so on a moral and spiritual plane may all things be renewed by the shining of the spiritual sun and the corresponding response of our souls. I trust Anne that the tide will soon be rolling in again for you and may the force of its power revive your spirit to hold together a band of women in a common interest and fellowship of good will.

Yours very truly,
Water-Lily

P. S. — Kind regards to all the neighbors and Sonny Boy. Innocent little children appeal to me more than many grown ups. May be all seek to become as little children and which we must do to enter the Heavenly Kingdom.

I think the tide has turned Water Lily for a time at least, for I have received quite a number of letters during this week so far. Thank you so much for your encouragement.

Dear Anne:

Will you be so kind as to send me the household helps which I have marked? Am much interested in crochet work but never heard of that kind though may be familiar with it under another name. Have often wondered how the lady succeeded with the quilt patterns I sent in last fall. You remarked I had not given size of block—well any quilter could suit themselves. Some like large and some small pieces for blocks, however I hope she could use some of them. I have a few new ones if any more requests them. I was sorry not to see hardly any more letters from the neighbors but it's such a busy time, one can't get time to write and I send my sympathy to you Anne trying to construct an interesting subject every day. How would it be for the neighbors to give their ideas on what Mary Kate has done in the serial story, An April Escapade?

My idea is that she is making a mistake, she is more apt to come to grief than doing her brother a good turn. I have not seen the paper today so am not aware of what it will disclose. Of course, it is only a story but taking it seriously, that's my opinion and of course if you don't like my suggestion for others' opinions it won't do any harm to not repeat them. Mary Kate did very wrong in not making her mother and brother and fiance her confidents too. Any girl should have no secrets from her mother, what she knows her mother could or should know.

Now I must quit or this will find the W. P. B. and will leave it to your discretion to print what you like or not any and it will suit me. Wishing you every success,

Yours,
Another Friend

I think it would be fine to have the neighbors discuss the serials and other features. But don't you think that the story, An April Escapade would be rather dull if an adventure such as this didn't appear? We all know what should have been done, but there wouldn't have been any story if everything had been done according to Mrs. Grundy!

C.G.I.T. GATHER.

Miss Jean Holden Speaks to Fraserville Girls on "Do You Go With the Crowd?"

FRASERVILLE, May 28.—(Examiner Correspondence).—The regular meeting of the Fraserville C.G.I.T. group was held on Thursday evening, May 22, at the home of the leader, (Rev.) Mrs. Swayne.

The meeting was called to order by the vice-president and was opened by all joining in singing the hymn, "Onward Christian Soldiers."

Thirteen members answered present to the roll call which was answered by the name of some sport. Miss Roberta Holden then suggested that it be answered to at the next meeting by your favorite subject either in public or high school. Miss Ethel Davis became a member of the group at this meeting, making nineteen members on the roll.

The minutes of the last meeting were then read and adopted. Business was discussed.

Miss Ruby Cunningham then gave the current event.

The scripture lesson was read by Mrs. (Rev.) Swayne.

Miss Jean Holden gave a very interesting topic the subject being "Do you go with the crowd." Miss Mabel Henry gave a reading entitled "The game is the thing," which was much enjoyed.

The vice-president, Miss Mildred Moncrief then read "The ten commandments of good sportsmanship."

The hymn "Fight the Good Fight" was then sung by the group.

The recreation period followed during which a contest was tried by the group, which had been arranged by Miss Mabel Henry. Slips for the next week's program were then drawn.

The topic was drawn by Miss Mabel Henry, the game by Miss Pearl Carl, the current event by Miss Mildred Moncrief and the roll call by Miss Edith Holden.

The group then joined in a circle and repeated the C.G.I.T. Psalm. The meeting was closed by the usual benediction.

MISSION CLASS MEETS.

Mrs. A. Pringle Gives Interesting Paper on Chinese Tea Ceremony to Flinton Ladies.

FLINTON, May 27.—(Examiner Correspondence)—The mission study class for the ladies of the United church was held on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. F. Davison, with an attendance of eleven. The meeting opeend with singing hymn 85, after which the pastor read a scripture lesson from the latter part of Acts, seventh chapter, and offered prayer. Mrs. J. F. Davison read a devotional leaflet on the early spread of the gospel from Jerusalem, entitled "His Witnesses." Mrs. Mabel York read a paper entitled, "A Call from the Homeland." A paper, "The difference the gospel makes in Africa" was read by Mrs. Everson. Mrs. Andrew Pringle gave a very interesting paper describing a tea ceremony in China. A talk explaining the work being done at Vita in Southern Manitoba and one describing some peculiar customs of the Chinese were given by Mr. Everson. Miss Margaret Reavie gave a reading entitld e"Father's Day." The meeting was closed with hymn 94.

At the close of the meeting Helen Margaret and George Ray Brydon, infant children of Mr. and Mrs. William Bryden were baptised.

A delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Davison, assisted by Mrs. Everson. The June meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. Enos Wood.

Germs of decay are glued to teeth

Remove FILM daily. Ordinary brushing methods fail. Employ this special way

TOOTH DECAY is caused by germs. Pyorrhea usually results from germs and tartar.

Germs are imprisoned in a dingy, glue-like coating on the teeth called film. There they breed by millions in contact with the teeth and tissues in every crevice.

Film clings so stubbornly ordinary ways are not successful in removing it. Use the special formula called Pepsodent. You instantly notice the difference in the way it feels. Film vanishes. Teeth become gleaming white. Yet Pepsodent acts gently. No pumice, harmful grit or crude abrasive—but a soft, creamy paste that is prescribed for the softest teeth and tenderest gums.

SYMBOLS.
By Alice Mitchells.

In the garden I find symbols
Of the powers men possess;
There the oak-tree stands for vigor,
And the vine for tenderness.
Roses glow with pride of beauty,
Violets are love alone,
And in radiance of lilies
Perfect purity is shown.

There is yet another garden,
And the lives that flourish there
Are the flowers gladly blooming
In the Gardener's gentle care;
Are bright flowers, faintly showing
Something of the Gardener's grace,
Something of His strength and goodness
In this world's vast garden-place.

CORRECTING YOUR STOMACH TROUBLE.

Perhaps your stomach bothers you considerably and you wonder if there is anything really wrong.

If you are of middle age or over, your doctor will tell you that the safest thing to do is to have a thorough examination, including the X-ray, as cancer often comes on without giving many symptoms.

If your distress comes on two or three hours after a meal and continues until you eat some food, which eases the pain for another two or three hours, you may have an ulcer.

Perhaps you have been thoroughly examined, no cancer, no ulcer and yet you have considerable distress and gas formation. The liver is working right and also the gall bladder, as shown by the dye or other tests.

What may be the trouble?

The very fact that you are worrying about the condition may be partly the cause as an emotion like worry can interfere with the movements of the stomach and the food thus remain in the stomach too long.

It may be that you have a slow emptying stomach and attempt to eat a meal before the previous one has completely left the stomach.

It may be that you have a slow acting large intestine, and instead of the muscular movements being downwards they reverse and come upwards, giving you a sick feeling in the stomach.

Now as there is no organic trouble, you may have to take your case into your own hands and use a little common sense in the matter.

There are two or three simple things that you can try for yourself, and if there is no organic trouble you should get rid of your stomach distress.

The first is to lie on your right side for ten or fifteen minutes before the midday and the evening meal. If you can sleep this fifteen minutes all the better. If not, the relaxation is what is really needed.

After eating, do not lie down but sit in an easy chair for ten minutes if possible.

You see lying down before meals give you a clean stomach, as any food that has been left in the stomach too long syphons into intestine.

Sitting down after the meal gives the stomach its best chance to mix the stomach juice with the food.

The third thing to do is to keep the meals well apart.

There should be five hours between breakfast and the noon meal. A rest after the evening meal, sitting not lying, should be taken.

OUR CHILDREN

By Angelo Patri

ONE VOICE.

Don and Harry walked home from school together. Harry had a bright idea. "Let's throw in our books, nobody will see us, and go down to the park to see the big game. Come on. Let's go."

"I'll have to go in and ask first," said Don. "Won't you have to ask your mother?"

"I won't let her see me and then I won't have to ask."

"Well, I have to ask. And I don't believe she'll let me go. I have some chores to do you know, and then I want to play catch a little while before dinner. Guess I can't go."

"If you think she'll say no, don't ask her. Ask your grandmother. Or your aunt. Won't one of them say yes?"

"What in the world has my grandmother or my aunt go to do with it? Boy, there's only one voice in our family. If Mom says no, it's all the way round, and if she says yes, nobody says no. What's the idea?"

"Gee. I work it better than that. If I think ma will say no I look around for somebody that'll say yes, or something, and then I do it and if Ma says anything I tell her Aunt Mame said I could, or Gram said I could, or I asked father and he didn't say anything. That's the way I get by."

"Well, I can't. I'll ask mother and if she says I can go it will be all right. If she says I can't that settles it."

It isn't a bad way to have one voice in the family where the children are in question. Too many cooks spoil the child. A steady dependable diet is better. I know that the one voice is sometimes a sort of dictator but there are times when a dictator is needed in the family group. A dictator is better than a council each of which has a different idea of what is good for a child and what isn't. Or of what is convenient for the family and what isn't. The mother dictator is rarely selfish. She is thinking of what is good for the child and at whatever cost to herself, she sees that he gets it. The wavering mind and the quavering voice plays ducks and drakes with the child's character. The one voice is best.

It isn't fair, either, for the mother to say, "Wait and ask your father." A mother should settle any question that a child who needs parental guidance and authority asks, on the spot. Father is not present enough of the time to allow dependence upon him in that way. He does not know the conditions and so when the questions are held over for him he often makes a mistake and that leads to discussion, argument and the weakening of father's position in the family.

Let there be one voice and that voice mother's until such time as the children are old enough to have a voice of their own. And of course no relative, no old family friend should lift his voice in the matter at any time. There is confusion in many voices.

PARISIAN FOIBLES

For this formal afternoon dress Madame Cyber has used a new weave of georgette in a greenish yellow, shirring it on the sleeves and at the hips so as to mold the frock to the form.

Warmer Days Will Emphasize Fashion for Pastels.

The vogue for pastel tones continues in Paris, and the coming of warmer days will probably emphasize this fashion more than ever. In this formal afternoon dress for summer time a new weave of georgette is used in a greenish yellow, shirring it on the sleeves and at the hips so as to mold the frock to the form. Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

IT IS NOT only the mothers of growing girls who now have to consider the lengthening of skirts for their children but every woman has the increased problem of finding good ways of lengthening her own frocks!

• • • • • • •

It is worthy of note that when fashion presents a problem, fashion itself comes to the aid of the needlewoman. And such is the truth today as will be seen.

• • • • • • •

Circular flounces of white or some colored textile that harmonized with a frock are found on new dresses.

• • • • • • •

These can be put around the bottom of some styles of old frocks. If very narrow bands of the dress material are put near the lower edge of the circular flounce it suggests that the flounce was part of the pattern of the dress itself and not a necessary addition.

• • • • • • •

For an evening dress a wide ruffle matching the shade of the gown is fashionable about the lower part of the skirt. Here again is found a solution for lengthening of some frocks.

• • • • • • •

The ruffle, and the circular flounce can each be shaped to droop in the back if one wishes. The ruffle can have points come along the bottom for it is cut on the straight of the goods permitting such unevenesses to be easily given.

• • • • • • •

In the uneven hemline is found a way to lengthen skirts and to supply extra fullness at the same time.

• • • • • • •

The straight skirt is cut from hemline to waist band, dividing the skirt into four portions, one coming each side of a front panel and one each side of a back panel.

• • • • • • •

Into each of these openings a V-shaped piece of new goods longer than the skirt itself is set. Or straight pieces may be used instead of the V-shaped ones, in which case the width of the straight pieces is narrowed near the top by several rows of tightly gathered shirrings.

• • • • • • •

Let out the hem and seam or machine-hemstitch a width of the material forming these insets, to the bottom of each panel portion.

• • • • • • •

If these panel-lengthening widths can be cut in one with the V-shaped or straight insets, the work will be more professional as seams will be few.

• • • • • • •

The ends of the inset strips can be pointed or curved.

Uncommon Sense

By John Blake

YOU CAN'T ELIMINATE LUCK.

The person who says that there is no such thing as luck is as wrong as the person who believes that everything is regulated by luck.

More than half of the successful men, if they are honest, will admit that chance played an important part in their rise.

Mr. Henley, the poet, wrote that he is "master of his fate and captain of his soul", but he was just trying to buck up his readers.

He isn't anything of the kind.

A thousand things may happen which will swerve him from fame and lose him among the millions of unknowns.

To hold that luck does not figure in life weakens your strength for the battle.

To own that it exists, arms you against the tricks it may play, and makes you more resourceful, and better able to take the risks that all of us must run.

Any earnest hard working ambitious person can, however, reduce the force of luck in his own existence.

He can so prepare for emergencies, even if they are unseen, that he will be better able to meet them when they arise.

He can by hard work and hard study school himself to cope with the difficulties of life.

And then if the "tide in the affairs of men" of which Shakespeare speaks, sets in from the sea he will be better able to take advantage of it.

Luck or no luck, it stands to reason that a person who has done his best to develop his mind to build up his health, to cultivate resourcefulness and resolution, stands a better chance in the world than he who just drifts along.

You cannot drift into a decree which will enable you to practice a profession. You cannot drift into a rank which will put you in a position some time to command an army.

For these things you must prepare, as you must prepare to make the most of any opportunities which come your way.

Opportunities are really the "luck" in life.

You cannot always make them or force them, but as into every life some rain must fall, so into every life some opportunities will come.

They are luck of course, but they will not be of any value unless you have previously arranged to make the most of them.

Don't count on luck, good or bad. But don't think that there is no such thing because there is.

You see it working all around you. You see people rise or fall by it. Sometimes you see them gain undeserved success and reputations through it.

But it is only one little factor of life, and while you may not be able always to rise superior to it, you can make it work for you instead of against you—that is of course, if you're lucky.

And the better fitted you are, the luckier you are likely to be.

IF YOUR EARS RING WITH HEAD NOISES

If you have roaring, buzzing noises in your ears, are getting hard of hearing and fear Catarrhal Deafness, go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmint (double strength), and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has Catarrhal trouble of the ears, is hard of hearing or has head noises should give this prescription a trial.

W.C.T.U. MEETS AT MILLBROOK

Much Business is Discussed at Regular Meeting—Appoint Press Secretary.

OSHAWA CONVENTION.

(Examiner Correspondence)

MILLBROOK, May 28. — County workers who spoke at the regular meeting of the local branch of the W. C. T. U. this week were Mrs. S. Farmer and Mrs. George Davey, both of Port Perry, the former being a provincial officer, and the latter corresponding secretary for the Durham County organization.

The chair was taken by the president, Mrs. Paterson, and the vice president, Mrs. J. H. George, read the scripture lesson from Colossians 3: 1-17. Rev. W. W. Jones, B. D., led in prayer.

The county president, Mrs. Jackson, of Port Perry, was unable to be present, but was ably represented by the officials who took her place. Mrs. Farmer being first called upon to address the meeting.

A number of practical suggestions to increase attendance and interest at the regular meetings were advanced by the speaker, among these being the use of the 'clip sheet', that enables quite a number to take part, and usually is followed by a discussion that widens the outlook, and encourages fresh effort; the appointment of a press secretary, whose duty it is to watch the newspapers and clip from these any articles, or news items, that are connected with the subject of temperance; also this officer is responsible for the reports of the meetings in the local papers; the cultivation of the social side, after the business session, serving a cup of tea and light refreshments occasionally, and another point stressed as worth while.

Mrs. Farmer urged the distribution of temperance literature as important, money used for this purpose being well spent; "send the White Ribbon Tidings into as many homes as you can, whether you have members listed in every family or not; and do not fail to interest the teachers in your schools in the subject of temperance and ask them to see that this study finds a place on the curriculum each term. Education of the children is most important, and the Health Book has one or two chapters that contain splendid material to inculcate in the pupils' minds."

Touching on the political side, Mrs. Farmer said she realized the difficulties "for two things upon which people are most prejudiced are religion and politics; I think really, it is our ignorance along both these lines that makes us spring to their defence every time either subject is mentioned."

"We must recognize that every one has a right to an individual opinion on these subjects, and so we 'must agree to disagree', and go on doing just as well as we can. Reading and study will do much to give us a right idea of the privilege of the franchise, which as yet we women do not value as highly as we should, but when we form our personal principles based upon history we will better understand how powerful a weapon we have right in our hands. Our leader, Francis Willard, was the first to urge votes for women, and by the vote we can change conditions, and it is the only way we can do so."

Placing the facts of the situation in regard to temperance conditions in our province, and the Dominion, before the people frankly and truthfully telling them of the government stamp upon every bottle of liquor sold by the vendors; urging loyalty to the W. C. T. U. organization which extends round the globe, and which is not losing ground but gaining, and mentioning a number of incidents that prove there is no reason for discouragement though many circumstances do seem to make the task before interested workers one of uphill proportions, Mrs. Farmer brought to a close her constructive address.

Mrs. Davey spoke briefly telling especially of the County Convention to be held at Oshawa on Thursday, June 19, and urging a large delegation of local workers. The chief speaker will be Mrs. oGrdon Wright, Dominion President, who had the opportunity of being Canada's first woman senator, but was not able to consider the appointment.

"Prayer is our greatest weapon", said Mrs. Davey, and stressed the great service this privilege, properly and regularly used, may render. "Try and win the children, from all denominations, because through them we are best able to reach the parents." The use of pictures and charts in teaching the children, and having a properly qualified speaker to talk to them on such subjects as the pure life, were ways of reaching the young lives recommended from personal experience.

Mrs. Davey gave some interesting information about the prizes to be awarded at the convention to the boys and girls who sent in essays on the temperance lessons recently taken up in a number of Sunday Schools among these are three senior, three intermediate, and three junior prizes, the winners so far as is now known, being from Uxbridge, Port Hope, Oshawa, Hampton, and Bowmanville.

The meeting was closed with prayer, and both speakers were warmly thanked for their helpful addresses.

RECEPTION HELD

A very pretty and largely attended post-nuptial reception was held by Mrs. Edmund R. Hutchison, Fourth Line, Cavan, on Friday, May 23, afternoon and evening, when a wide circle of friends and acquaintances availed themselves of the opportunity to visit the bride in her new surroundings and extend greetings, and best wishes for many years of happiness and prosperity.

The large rooms were fragrant with spring blossoms, and Mrs. Hutchison looked charming in her wedding gown of ivory crepe, with hose and satin shoes of a matching shade, and wearing as her only ornament a rope of pearls. Receiving with the bride in the drawing-room were her mother, Mrs. William Earle, and the groom's mother, Mrs. James Hutchison. Mrs. H. A. Earle welcomed the guests at the door.

In the tea room, where the table was attractively laid, and centered with beautiful blossoms, the assistants were Mrs. James H. Might, an aunt of the groom, who poured tea; the bride's sister, Miss May Earle, and Miss Anna Fair, who were most attentive in looking after the large number of guests continually coming and going throughout the afternoon, and into the evening hours as well.

The former David Armstrong homestead on the Fourth Line was purchased by Mr. Hutchison over one year ago, and it was to this comfortable residence he recently brought his bride; both are members of well known families descendants of pioneers of the township.

BAILIEBORO DRAMATIC CLUB STAGES COMEDY

BAILIEBORO, May 28.—(Examiner Correspondence).—"A Daughter of the Desert", a comedy-drama of the Arizona plains, was presented by the Peterborough All Saints' Dramatic Club in the Anglican church basement on Saturday night, May 24. The church basement was filled to capacity and judging by the applause, the accompanying orchestra as well as the play was thoroughly enjoyed by everyone.

The Story.

Harold Morton, a railroad surveyor (James Price), is in love with Ruth Arlington, a daughter of the desert and a ranch owner (Dorothy Worboy). Pedro Silvero, a Mexican renegrade (Milton Fowler), another admirer, whom Ruth despises, comes between Morton and Ruth by charging Morton's dead father with murdering Ruth's father, and causing her mother to die of heart-break. When this does not bring the desired results, he has Morton arrested by Bill Jones, a sure-fire sheriff (Jack Hope), for robbery.

The plot then is, first to clear Morton's dead father of the murder charge, and then to save Morton himself from the hangman's rope, which is the Arizona penalty for robbery.

Clarence Ogden, Ruth's ranch manager, is in love with Lucy Hopkins (Jessie Maconomy), a friend of Ruth's, who with her father, Samuel Hopkins, a land speculator (Harry Carter) are the guests of Ruth and her widowed cook, Mrs. Mary Hodgens, Clarence's mother (Mrs. E. Lebarr). Mrs. Ogden later falls for Samuel Hopkins and he for her custard pies and flap-jacks.

However the day is saved for Morton, after he has been kidnapped by his cowboy friends, and taken to Mexico to escape trial, by White Bird, an Apache Indian girl (Gwen Lucas), who, from the death confessions of Black Panther, the Apache Indian chief, gets information which clears Morton's father, Morton himself, and settles the guilt on Pedro Silvera, who really murdered Ruth's father, to get the maps of a secret gold mine and later murdered Black Panther to keep the truth from being known.

Silvera is later shot by Sheriff Jones, when he tries to escape and confesses all, and all ends well.

Other characters who assisted in solving the plots were Jim Parker (James Morley), a gambler, who is on the square, and the cowboys, James Young, James Price, Jr., and Fred Dyer.

SWEATING ORGANISTS.

KINGSTHORPE, Eng. — "No organisation indulges in more sweating than the Church of England does in regard to its organists," declared the Rev. J. P. de Putron, urging higher wages for organists.

Herd Tumbles Wings From Second To Fifth Place

BUFFALO ASSUMES UNDISPUTED POSSESSION OF SECOND PLACE BY DEFEATING ROCHESTER 4-3

Leafs Hold One Game Advantage Over Bisons While Orioles Three Points Behind.

TORONTO AGAIN IDLE.

Jersey City Suffers Eighth Straight Defeat, Losing to Baltimore 9-6.

The Buffalo Bisons have tumbled the Rochester Redwings from second place to fifth in the hectic battle for runner-up position in the International League.

Winning their second game in the three games of the series so far played yesterday, 4 to 3, the Bisons assumed undisputed possession of second place, while Rochester fell from a second place tie to fifth, behind Baltimore and Montreal. As the clubs stood to-day, Toronto which was idle yesterday for the third successive day, hold a one-game lead over Buffalo, with Baltimore virtually tied with the Bisons in games won and lost, only three percentage points behind. Montreal holds fourth place, a game behind Baltimore, with Rochester one percentage point behind the Royals.

Yesterday's battle was a closely fought affair that ended in Buffalo's favor, when Manager Billy Southworth of the Redwings, was cut down at the plate for the last count as he tried to score from second on Toporger's single.

Jersey City suffered its eighth straight defeat, losing to Baltimore 9—6. Henry Wertz was nicked for 11 hits but managed to avoid serious danger, despit some poor fielding support.

Keys Beat Bears 3—2

Reading pulled out a close 3—2 decision over Newark with Werneke outpitching Lefty Fischer by a wide margin. Newark could collect only six hits off Werneke but two of them were home runs by Layne and Shiners, accounting for both of Newark's runs. The Keys scored twice in the third on doubles by Avis and Padgett and Scott's single and once more in the sixth on three singles.

RALLY IN NINTH TO WIN OUT 7-6

Ira Dundas and Bob Curry Engage in Pitchers' Duel But Brintons Victors.

PLAY FAST BALL.

Staging a ninth inning rally that netted them four runs, the Brintons defeated the Westclox 7-6 in a well-contested softball match at Central School grounds.

Ira Dundas twirled good ball for the Brintons and was given great support by his team. The Wetclox scored all their runs on good hard hits.

Bob Curry tossed them up for the Clockmakers, and with a little better support from his outfielders might have turned in a win.

The teams play fast ball and with just a couple of lapses, gave the fans a good game.

Line-ups:

Westclox—Dorrington, 3b; J. Cooper, cf; White, c; R. Kitchen, 1b; H. Fowler, 2b; K. Foley, rf; B. Kitchen, ss; J. Gordson, lf; R. Curry, p.

Good Softball Bill Arranged For To-night

Tonight's softball game should provide the fans with a great bill. Harrison's and Belmont Club will be the opponents and both squads will be at full strength.

The Belmont Club are back in the league after an absence of three years, but they can be depended upon to field just as fast a team as they formerly did. Harrison will have just as strong an aggregation as last year when he won the championship.

The game will be played at Central School Grounds and will get away at 6.15 sharp. "Biffer" Ranger will handle the fixture.

Thursday night Westclox and the C.G.E. will do battle.

If you buy out of town, and I buy out of town, and all our neighbors buy out of town, what in thunder will become of our town? Ever think about it?

National Loop Leaders Go Down To Defeat

SCHMELING IN ROUTINE

Max Schmeling is still down to the grim routine of preparing himself for the high spot of his boxing career. The tanned visage of the German invader glows with the healthy look of one who has taken extremely good care of himself during his recent stay in Germany. The tone of reports coming from those who have seen the German sounds favorable.

Max Schmeling's talk is not the least over-confident on his coming bout with Sharkey on June 12 and more or less takes it as another step in his progress to the hall of pugilistic fame. He doesn't for one moment overrate the ability of his opponent. Schmeling does firmly believe that he has enough dynamite in his right mitt to unseat the Bostonian for sufficient length of time

Reports show that Max is a second Jack Dempsey in the latter's palmiest days, with slim hips and broad shoulders.

COCHET AND BRUGNON DEFEAT AUSTRALIANS

Tilden and Cecillie Aussem Advance to Mixed Doubles Final.

AUTEUIL, France, May 28 — The men's doubles championship of the French hard court tennis tournament goes to France through the efforts of Henri Cochet and his partner, Jacques Brugnon, who yesterday defeated the Australian pair, Harry Hopman and Jim Willard, by scores of 6—3, 9—7, 6—3.

In his battle with the Australian stars Cochet undertook a varied and deceptive plan of campaign, and the result was uncanny tennis. He was ably assisted by Brugnon. The French Davis Cup pair rang the changes from soft drop shots and lobs to fast drives and smashes, which tactics baffled the Australians.

In the semi-finals of the mixed doubles, Big Bill Tilden and his German partner, Cecille Aussem, swamped the Franco-American pair, Jean Borotra and Miss Elizabeth Ryan, in a straight set victory at 6—1, 6—2.

BELLE OF GOVANS IS WINNER OF THORNCLIFFE FEATURE EVENT

Gerard Beaten in Thrilling Finish For Leaside Purse.

BY HALF A LENGTH.

TORONTO, May 28. — Belle of Govans, carrying only 98 pounds, won the LLeaside Purse, feature event, on opening day at beautiful Thorncliffe Park, when she outlasted Gerard in a sensational drive down the stretch, both jockeys going to the whip, and riding furously as the "game" thoroughbreds fought it out. Gerard had set the pace for three quarters of the journey and even after Belle of Govans hove in sight and passed him, the brown gelding from the Palm Wood Stable made frantic attempts to regain the lead and lost by only half a length.

The winner was a long way removed from being a favorite and when she turned in that splendid victory she caused somewhat of a sensation. Wellet landed third money, being beaten for the place by two lengths, while he had a margin of one length over Talky. Martis and French Lass, winners at the Ontario Jockey Club meeting, and Panuco ran in disappointing form, Panuco, in particular, giving a lamentable exhibition. When he walked in line to the starting post he seemed to be using his left foot gingerly as if it was in pain.

Millbrook To Play Return Game With Campbellford

(Examiner Staff Correspondent.)

CAMPBELLFORD, May 28. — The first lacrosse game to be staged in Campbellford, will be played on June 3rd, when the Millbrook team will journey here for a return game. This contest which is scheduled for 3 p.m. on the High School grounds, should draw a large crowd of local fans to see their boys in action.

BANK CLERK WINS FROM DR. WILLING

Bobby Jones and Tolley Meet if Victorious This Morning.

ST. ANDREW'S, Scotland, May 28—With the big field halved, the giants of the game will begin to clash today in the British amateur championship tournament.

The end of play yesterday found most of the stars from both sides of the Atlantic still in the running, including in the home contingent, Cyril Tolley, T. A. Torrance, John Nelson Smith, Roger Wethered, Major C. O. Hazlet, Robert Harris and the Michael Scott, and in the group from the United States, Bobby Jones, George Voight, George Von Elm, Francis Ouimet and Jimmy Johnston. T. A. Bourn, English native champion, was eliminated, as was also J. A. Stout of the British Walker Cup team.

Two U. S. Stars Beaten

The United States Walker Cup players have been reduced to six. Two prominent Americans to fall by the wayside yesterday were Dr. O. F. Willing and Don Moe, both of Oregon. The big gallery saw Willing fall before William Spark, a Scottish bank clerk, two and one, and Moe, vanquished by Rex Hartley, British Walker Cup player, four and two.

If Jones and Cyril Tolley, the defending champion, are successful in their morning efforts to-day, they will meet in the fourth round in the afternoon, bringing a contest between the open champion of the United States and the amateur champion of Great Britain.

PITTSBURG DEFEATS CARDINALS 8-5 WHILE BROOKLYN ROBINS DROP 3-1 DECISION TO GIANTS

Washington Senators Top Position of American League By Beating Yanks 7-2.

CARDS STILL LEAD PACK.

Athletics Continue on Way to Winning Streak by Subduing Boston Red Sox 7-5.

Two major league baseball teams, the St. Louis Cardinals and Washington Senators, are doing their best to break away from the pack of contenders in the close major league races. Their efforts have resulted only in a pair of fine winning streaks and rather precarious holds on first place.

Washington is quite safe for the present, holding a margin of four games over the Philadelphia Athletics. However, the Senators cannot take many chances and still remain ahead. To get to its present position, Washington has had to win seven games in a row and continue an almost unbroken streak through 20 contests. The Senators have won eleven out of their last 12 games and 16 out of 20.

The Senators held their place yesterday by beating the New York Yankees, 7 to 2.

The Cardinal string of victories was broken for the second time in 19 games yesterday and St. Louis lost a fine chance to get a safer lead over the Brooklyn Robins. But the St. Louis hitters were not much more effective against Larry French than the Robins were against Bill Walker and the two leaders of the National League went down in defeat, remaining only a half game apart. St. Louis lost to Pittsburgh 8 to 5, and Brooklyn to the New York Giants 3 to 1.

The Philadelphia Athletics, who had the makings of a nice winning streak of their own until they played two double headers at the Yankee stadium, continued to pick up steam at the expense of the Boston Red Sox. They won their third game in a row and gave Boston its tenth successive defeat by a 7 to 5 score.

The third place Cleveland Indians did even better against Chicago, sending the White Sox down to sixth place by sweeping third place by sweeping their second double header in two days, 3 to 2 and 9 to 8.

Detroit, supplanting Chicago in fifth place, went to ever greater limits of slugging for a 16 to 11 victory over the St. Louis Browns. As nine pitchers worked for the two teams, Detroit made 21 hits, three of them homers, and the Browns 13.

BORGLUM'S PROPOSAL.

RAPID CITY, S. D. (U.P.)—With the faces and figures of George Washington and Thomas Jefferson expected to be completed by that time, Gutzon Borglum, sculptor of the national memorial at Mount Rushmore in South Dakota, has advanced a proposal that the memorial be made the focal centre of a national celebration of the two hundredth anniversary of the birth of George Washington in 1932. The head of Washington will be three times as high and three times as wide as the Sphinx and will be the largest head ever carved of a man.

COGS VS. C.G.E. ON FRIDAY NIGHT

Last Year's Champs and E. P. L. Newcomers to Tangle For First Time.

COBOURG HERE SATURDAY.

Another big baseball entertainment is promised fans at Exhibition Park on Friday evening, when the Cogs and C.G.E. hook up in an East Peterborough League game. The Cogs were last season's champs and they showed against Bethany on the holiday that they have an even stronger squad this year than last. Vannest will likely do the hurling for the Cogs, while Jack Crary may be sent back into the box for the C.G.E.

Saturday afternoon the strengthened Cobourg team come here to play the Raybestos in a Lakeshore game. Cobourg earned a 3—0 decision over Port Hope on the holiday, and with Ibey pitching are being picked as the team to beat in the Lakeshore circuit this season.

VISION ARRIVES FROM ENGLAND

Canadian Yacht Contender Launched Yesterday From Steamer City of Kingston.

NEAT LOOKING CRAFT.

In speaking of the arrival of the Vision, the third and last eight-metre sailing yacht which is being constructed by the Dominion, G. Ernest Macrae in this morning's Mail and Empire says in part:—

"It is with a good deal of diffidence that I attempt to give some impressions of the last of the three eight-metre yachts, the Nicholson designed Vision, which was so successfully launched yesterday morning from the decks of the steamer City of Kingston of the Canada Steamship Lines.

As the yacht rested in her cradle on the steamer's iron deck, the first thought—apart from the efficiency of her design—was, what a wonderful piece of perfect workmanship, what consummate skill was needed to create such a combination of consistent strength of structure and refinement of finish, and perhaps it is significant that the former was noticeable on the hull forward and the latter in the sweet cleanness of the dainty curves of the boat's afterbody naturaly suggested.

Vision is full forward, full everywhere—the only sharp features she has are the point of her stem head and the after edge of her rudder. Her stem is rounded in its whole length, of course, increasing as it meets the added strain of hull timbers, and it merges into the lead keel, which continues on, where the stem left off, as though they were one piece, as indeed they are for all purposes.

Vision is built to push the water away and "suck" it in afterwards, streamline principles that are so effective. Aft the hull is just one dainty piece of loveliness, that the water will leave as though it had not been touched by even a lingering, passing caress.

Her Sides Are Higher

Her sides are high, but do not show the tumble home of Norseman. The overhang of the bows is very short, in fact looks too short for perfect symmetry of hull line. The counter and tapering transome though, are compensating features to offset the former, but mind you these are only my impressions. I am probably what the bows will be—all wet.

When the big derrick crane hoisted the boat clear of everything and lowered her gently into the water, pandemonium broke loose. Lungs and throat muscles, sirens and steamboats' whistles, made one deafening riotous volume of welcome that warmed the heart and gladened the eye. Vision's entrance into her own may have been a little later than her sisters', but it was more than made up for in its spontaneous character.

In the water the yacht looked as though she floated low, that is only an inch or so of her white boat top was visible, but when it is remembered that all her "stuff" was aboard, spars, sails, gear, etc., the explanation that she was down to her flotation marks seems reasonable. Wet again!

Below decks and in steering well layout nothing but good solid praise is needed.

Differing from the others, she has a bulkhead at the after end of the steering well, which makes for a sense of comfort and safety, the open style of Norseman and Quest is open to question. The floor of this well is on two levels, as is the case with Quest, which gives the crew a chance of keeping out of the skipper's line of vision and also gets their weight low down. Below decks, everything for economy, efficiency and convenince, two pipe bunks forward, roomy galley, closet and wash room, cabinets for dishes, etc. lockers for dunnage, plenty of room in main cabin and in each of the two dividing bulkheads swinging doors."

Pat Crawford Sold To New York Giants

NEW YORK, N.Y., May 28.—(C.P.)— The New York Giants made their fourth trade of the 1930 baseball season when they obtained Pitcher Pete Donohue and Outfielder Allen from Cincinnati in exchange for Infielder Pat Crawford.

Although the Giants announced the deal as a straight trade, those close to the situation say that at least $50,000 was given the Reds in addition to Crawford, who has been playing second for the Giants, but will be used at first base by Cincinnati.

CHICAGO HURLER HAD WINNING PERCENTAGE FOR THIS SEASON

Carlson in Poor Health For Many Months—Complained of Stomach Pains.

HIGH-PAID PLAYER.

Chicago, Illinois, May 28. (A.P) — Hal Carlson, one of only two Chicago Cubs' pitchers, with a winning percentage for this season, died suddenly in his hotel room early to-day He was 36 years old and married

Dr. John F. Davis, physician for the baseball club, was called at three o'clock this morning when Carlson complained of severe stomach pains. Death occurred 35 minutes later as plans were being made to move him to a hospital.

Carlson has not been in robust health for many months, although at the spring training camp on Catalina Island he was reported as being in better form than for years. He was a player who was conscientious in keeping himself in the best possible physical condition, and was depended to win a majority of the games he pitched this year.

The Chicago Cubs paid $30,000 and gave two players, Kaufmann and Cooney, to the Philadelphia Nationals for Carlson two years ago.

FORMAL OPENING OF C.G.E. LOOP

Engineers, Armature, Office and Punch Press Tangle in Softball Fixtures.

PLAY CLEVER BALL.

The C.G.E. Softball League got away to a good start last night when four teams met in battle on the two diamonds at the rear of the plant, and exhibited some very clever ball.

On the west diamond the Engineers and Armature Winders clashed in a seven innings bout that looked like anybody's battle until the last frame, when the Winders pushed across two runs to win 7-5. Powell on the mound and Shields catching were a formidable pair and contributed much to the Winders' success, although the Engineers bunched their hits in the fourth innings to garner five runs and until the final innings looked dangerous.

The teams:

Engineers— Gore, c.; Allison, p.; Asterland, 1b.; Newson, 1.f., p.; Justice, 3b.; Cameron, c.f.; Reynolds, r.f.; Hall, s.s.; Copping, s.s.; Janes, r.f.; Langley, 2b.

Armature Winders — Shields, c.; Powell, p.; Millard, c.f.; Henry, 1b.; Frost, b3.; Calladine, s.s.; Fraser, 1.f.; L. McGillin, r.f.; Turley, r.f.; Connors, 2b.

On the east diamond the classy Office nine tangled with the Punch Press crew and applied a liberal dab of whitewash to the Press team who finished on the small end of a 22-0 score, due wholly to the fact that Jerry Routley, the star Office twirler, turned in a no-hit, no-run game, while his team mates performed in first class fashion in the field.

Darling, a southpaw, did the hurling for the losers but the Office found him no mystery and loose fielding by the rest of the Press team completed the rout to give the Office a victory. The teams:

Office—Grey, c.; Routley, p.; Barry, 1b.; Playford, 2b.; McLaren, s.s.; Weese, 3b.; Miller, r.f.; Northrup, c.f.; Wilson, 1.f.

Home runs—Playford and Weese.

Hal Carlson, high priced moundsman with the Chicago Cubs, who passed away suddenly in his hotel room early this morning. The stellar hurler had complained of severe stomach pains, and his death occurred 35 minutes later, while plans were being laid to rush him to hospital.

THEATRES

'HIGH TREASON."

This is a drama of the next decade of years and represents the advance of what has been termed the Machine Age. In atmosphere, in its thin greyness and black and white effects, it resembles strongly the big picture, "Metropolis," which made such a sensation in the silent movies, some time ago. Electricity is carried to the nth degree in "High Treason." The radio announcer from London calls "the world," persons speaking over the telephone employ television to see the one with whom they converse and household appliances take the form of the far-famed Robot, or mechanical servant. An orchestra controlled by a single switch, even the brasses responding to mechanical fingers Women wear odd clothes in the year 1940, when the picture is supposed to be filmed. They are divided skirts over tights and they wear constantly a species of skull cap which hides the hair.

A war between the Federated States of Europe and the Atlantic States on the other side of the ocean, is the basis of this picture. War is announced and the bombing planes of the air are shown in their ghastly and terrific work of destruction from above. The demolition of huge buildings by the dropping of one bomb is a terrifying spectacle. Millions of people gathered together in a world-wide League of Peace have no power against the autocratic rule of the president of the European States.

In the Women's Mobilization Centre women are called to fight and go through the same drilling as men. The minor conflict in the picture is between the heroine, daughter of Dr. Seymour, head of the "Pax" League, and the hero, militant to the tips of his fingers. Then the father makes his supreme gesture against the warlike forces of the world. The finale is peculiar. From the screen comes a blaring burst of triumphant music which harmonizes strangely with the triumphant, yet defeated figure of the old man.

—Jeanette.

AUSTRALIA-SURREY MATCH ABANDONED

Rain Again Halts Cricket Games in the Old Country—Results of Matches Played.

LONDON, May 28 (C. P. Cable)—Northamptonshire, Gloucestershire, Sussex, Kent, Nottinghamshire, Warwickshire and Glamorgan yesterday won their county cricket matches which started on Saturday.

The Australian v. Surrey match at the Kensington Oval was abandoned, no play having been possible Monday or Tuesday, due to rain. On Saturday the visitors had scored 379 runs for the loss of five wickets.

Northamptonshire defeated Derbyshire at Derby by eight runs. The scores: Northants, 182 and 81 (Mitchell, 7 wickets for 25); Derby, 114 (Jupp, 5 for 51), and 141 (Thomas 5 for 46).

Gloucestershire won from Worcestershire at Bristol by an innings and 13 runs. Scores: Gloucester, 280; Worcester, 156 and 111 (Sinfield, 6 for 72).

Sussex defeated Somerset at Brighton by eight wickets. Scores: Sessex, 223 and 31 for 2 wickets; Somerset, 105 and 146 (Langridge, 6 for 72).

Kent defeated Yorkshire at Leeds by 54 runs. Scores: Kent, 205 and 289; Yorkshire, 198 and 242 (Leyland, 105; Peach, 6 for 111).

Nottinghamshire won from Leicestershire at Leicester by 180 runs. Scores: Notts, 153 and 216; Leicester, 86 and 103 (Sam Staples, 4 for 37; Voce, 6 for 42).

Warwickshire defeated Essex at Birmingham on the first innings. Scores: Warkwick, 501 for 6 wickets, declared. Essex, 178 (Paine, 5 for 35) and 223 for 5 wickets (Russell 100, Sheffield 62).

Glamorgan won from Hampshire on the first innings. Scores: Glamorgan, 189 and 71 for 3 wickets, declared. Hampshire, 105 (Mercer, 5 for 40; Ryan, 5 for 59), and 56 for 5 wickets (Mercer, 3 for 19).

PICTORIAL GOLF

PICTORIAL GOLF INSTRUCTION
GLENNA COLLETT'S PIVOTAL SWAY

Alex Smith was a great believer in the sway, combined with the pivot and taught this to many of his pupils. The advantage in this comes in making sure to get the weight on the right leg. After the body has been set in position by the sway there is a pivotal motion. In the down swing the club is easily carried along in a perfect groove as the body gradually settles back into the position that it was in at the address of the ball.

Many object to the sway as being unorthodox. Hagen sways a little, Glenna Collett sways as directed by Alex when he taught her the game. Miss Collett times the swing beautifully and the slight sway has given her increased distance.

WESTERN MAYORS WILL MEET ON UNEMPLOYMENT

VANCOUVER, B.C., May 28. (C.P.) To organize a Western Canadian movement toward solution of the unemployment problem, Mayor W. H. Malkin, is arranging for a conference of mayors of Western cities here about June 9.

On that date, Mayor R. H. Webb of Winnipeg, will arrive here with a party of prominent Manitoba men to welcome the French line vessel Winnipeg at this port. Mayor Malkin telegraphed him suggesting that other western mayors might be asked to come to Vancouver then for a conference on unemployment.

SUFFERS FIRST ADVANTAGE

HYDE, England, May 28. (C.P.)—Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock V. suffered her first defeat to-day in a race over 34 sea miles, the Lulworth, finishing 26 seconds ahead of the America's cup challenger. This was the first race in which the Shamrock started against bigger boats without the advantage of a time allowance.

A BEDTIME STORY

by Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY'S RAINY DAY.

"Tra, la, la! Tra, la, la!" sang Baby Bunty, the little orphan rabbit one morning as she hopped around the hollow stump bungalow.

"Doodle dee do! Doodle dee do!" sang Buster, the little boy bunny.

"Why are you children so happy this morning?" asked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy as she began to gather up the breakfast dishes, for the meal was over and Uncle Wiggily's boys and girls were getting ready to go to school. "Why do you sing?"

"Because Nurse Jane," answered Baby Bunty, "this is Friday and we always get out of school early on Friday afternoon and then we are coming home and Unkie Wig is going to make a little party for us."

"Oh, are you, Mr. Longears?" the muskrat lady housekeeper asked.

"Yes, indeed!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily, giving his twink nose a little pinkie. I beg your pardon! I should have said he gave his nink twose a pittle—well, that's worse. Anyhow Uncle Wiggily said: "Yes indeed." Never mind about his nose now.

"That will be lovely!" squeaked Nurse Jane. "I'll help with the Friday afternoon party, Uncle Wiggily. I think there is still some of my wonderful birthday cake left."

"Oh, goodie!" cried Jingle, Jangle and all the other little rabbit boys and girls.

"Now hop along to school!" said Nurse Jane.

"And when you come back I'll take you to the woods and we shall have the party!" promised Uncle Wiggily.

Away with jolly calls and laughter hopped the bunny children, and Uncle Wiggily began to get ready for the party. But alas! When it was time for the children to come from the hollow stump school, the sky was filled with rain which spilled down on the earth.

"Oh, dear!" sighed Baby Bunty as she stood in the doorway of the school and looked at the pattering raindrops. "Oh, dear."

"Isn't it too bad!" exclaimed Bumble, a boy rabbit.

"Now we can't have that party with Daddicums!" said Stumble, his brother, falling down and picking himself up again.

"Never mind," squeaked the Lady Mouse Teacher. "You ought to be happy it didn't rain when you came to school. Hop home quickly now so you will not get any more rain on you than can be helped."

So the bunny children, with the pussy dogs, the puppy cats and other animals in Woodland hurried home as fast as they could. When Uncle Wiggily's little bunnies reached his hollow stump bungalow they felt very sad for they felt sure there could be no party in the rain.

But, to their surprise, on the porch, waiting for them, was jolly Uncle Wiggily, twinkling his pink nose (I got it right that time, didn't I), and he was smiling and saying:

"Just in time for the party!"

"Party?" cried Baby Bunty.

"Party?" shouted Jingle.

"We can't have a party on a rainy day!" said Jingle.

"Oh, yes we can!" answered Mr. Longears. "Come and see what we have for you!"

Up on the porch hopped the forty 'leven sixteen rabbit children out of the shower. Then, from the bungalow, crept Nurse Jane, and the muskrat lady housekeeper had a cute little raincoat for each rabbit girl and boy and, what is more, an umbrella.

"You must thank Nurse Jane for fixing things so I could take you to the party even on a rainy day," said Uncle Wiggily. "See here! Nurse Jane made raincoats for each of you out of leaves from her rubber plant. And she picked enough umbrellas off her umbrella tree so there is one for each of you to keep off the wet drops."

"Oh, it wasn't anything, really!" squeaked the muskrat lady, bashful like.

"Hurray for Nurse Jane!" cried Jingle.

"Three cheers for Nurse Jane!" shouted Bumble.

And Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy blushed to the end of her tail, but she was pleased just the same. Then she helped the rabbit children to put on the coats made from leaves of the rubber plant and she gave them each a branch from her umbrella tree, and of course there was one for Uncle Wiggily. And so the rabbit gentleman took his children off to the woods for the party, even though the day was rainy. They didn't get wet hardly at all.

Such fun as they had playing under the trees in the woods. What matter if rain drops dropped off the branches? The umbrellas and rubber coats kept the little rabbits dry.

"Oh, look!" suddenly cried Bunty as she found a wet place on bare ground covered with slippery clay earth. "Here is a lovely slide!"

And, truly, that mud slide was almost as good as one made of ice. Down the mud slide, one after the other, slid the rabbits, and even Uncle Wiggily slid and they had a lovely time in the rain. And when they went home, there was Nurse Jane's birthday cake to eat.

CADET INSPECTION TO BE HELD FRIDAY

Collegiate and Public School Battalion Will Be Inspected in Afternoon.

All is in readiness for the Collegiate and Cadets' annual inspection which takes place on Friday afternoon, when the results of the training undertaken this year will come under the critical surveillance of the Inspecting Officer Captain J. Edwards, M.C., of H.Q., M.D. 3, Kingston.

A slight departure from the procedure adopted in other years will be made by having the Public School Cadets inspected first. These boys will assemble on King street near the car barns, and will march off at 1.50 headed by the Peterborough Rangers Regimental Band, up George street and on to Confederation Park parade ground. The battalion will be under the command of Battalion Leader Sam Mackness. The cadets will be first inspected in line after which they will march past in platoons. Following this there will be a massed display of physical training exercises. Each company commander will then be given four minutes, in which to complete as many correct movements with his company as possible. The crucial test will be in the company movements, as this comprises the test for the efficiency awarded by the Inspecting Officer and on this also rests the decision as to which company shall wrest the Denne Cup, from B Company, who have held it for the last two years.

After a few short addresses, the boys will march off the parade ground for dismissal, while the Collegiate Cadets will immediately march on to be first inspected in line. A Company will carry rifles. The Collegiate Battalion will be under the command of Battalion Leader Joe Dunkerley. The battalion will march past in column of half companies and will return again passing the saluting base in close column of half companies after which A Company will go through rifle exercises and extended order movements while B Company will perform platoon and section drill and P.T. exercises.

It is expected that large crowds will be on hand to witness, the parade and that members of the City Council, the School Board and Home and School Association, etc., will also be present.

RECORD REVIEW

In the list of 43 records which Victor has released for June, a wide range of ultra-modern tunes is tempered by the welcome revival of several older melodies. In this latter category are the selections from Rudolf Friml's compositions, reviewed below, and no group of musical-comedy numbers was ever more deserving of permanent popularity. The month's outstanding records follows.

Dance Music

Stein Song—Rudy Vallee and His Connecticut Yankees—The bright particular hit of the moment played and sung by the combination which started the Stein Song craze via the radio. Everybody's heard it but, if you want to hear it right, lend an ear to Rudy's version.

I'll See You Again—Leo Reisman and His Orchestra — The plaintive waltz-song which was the central melody in that popular music-drama "Bitter Sweet". Riesman and his men make the most of its haunting strains.

I'm In the Market for You—George Olsen and His Music—a young man talks "ticker" to the one he loves in the picture "High Society Blues." Good number, good band, good singing.

The Darktown Strutter's Ball — Coon-Sanders Orchestra—For our part, they can revive all the old ones if they're as good as this. Night-club patrons all over the continent are encoring it and asking for repeats. You'll know why when you hear Coon and Sanders say it with brass.

Popular Vocal

I'se Regusted—Amos 'n' Andy — Wise-cracking comedy by the most renowned funny men of the age. If you like laughing, here's a sure prescription. If you don't, better leave this record strictly alone.

Singing a Vagabond Song — The Revelers—A stirring and tuneful picture of the open road painted in that vocal harmony peculiar to this famous quartet. This is one of the big numbers from the picture "Puttin' on the Ritz", and it sounds better than ever the way the Revelers sing it.

All I Want Is Just One— Maurice Chevalier—Contrary to the title, the kind that has the public wanting more and more of the talented Frenchman. Chevalier is himself in this song from "Paramount on Parade," which is the same as saying that the record is a natural.

A wheelbarrow race in which the fair riders lead horses while men pushed the barrows was a feature at a gymkhana at Wisborough Green, England.

SOUTH AFRICA'S AUTUMN FASHIONS

While Rest of World Reveals in Spring, South African Women Chose Autumn Costumes.

CAPETOWN, S. Africa, May 23.—(C.P.)—Autumn "fashions" for South Africa, while most women revel in Spring. Among the new evening gowns are several frankly "jeunes filles" frocks with bouffant skirts, but the rest are slender, even when their skirts conceal many yards of material. White is a most successful "color"; there is a great deal of pink, some red, and a lot of green. A striking gown seen recently was in yellow satin, a robe de style, with a canary at the waist. Another was a most exciting crinoline gown in white satin hand-painted with colored butterflies all over it.

A black grown with a long trail of white poppies up the side and a white chiffon poppy poised on one shoulder was greatly admired. These chiffon poppies, by the way, are being much worn with chiffon evening dresses, and they are as delicately creased as the field originals.

What an ingenious use can be made of ribbons was demonstrated recently, when a mannequin who was dressed entirely in narrow corded ribbon attracted an enormous amount of attention. Two shades of green had been chosen, and her frock was covered with circles and ovals, and motifs. This costume was topped by a hat made up of ribbons composed in a similar way, and she carried a sunshade and bag made entirely of the same material. So skillfully was the ribbon used that her frock which was semi-fitting, and with a slightly flared skirt, did not look in the least exaggerated.

DUFFUS PLANS TO CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY

Willy Overland Dealer Will Celebrate 4th Anniversary on Saturday.

PLANS WELL LAID.

Many Valuable Prizes To Be Given Away at Show Rooms.

Four years ago J. J. Duffus began operating in Peterborough and district as a Willys-Overland dealer. This Saturday, to commemorate the momentous occasion, a motor show excelling all previous efforts along this line will be formally opened to the public.

For weeks now, plans have been formulating, and, according to all indications, residents of Peterborough County, as well as those residing in Durham, Victoria, Northumberland, and Haliburton will, during the week of May 31st to June 7th, be given the biggest treat that has been handed out this year. It goes without saying that there will be thousands upon thousands attend the Motor Show and Peterborough will be the mecca of all motorists living within the five counties.

Those who recall past motor shows held by J. J. Duffus know that under ordinary circumstances they are outstanding and warrant at least one visit. Under such auspices, therefore, as an anniversary celebration, the results are bound to be even more spectacular. This year it is expected that all past attendance records will be exceeded. In an interview with The Examiner, J. J. Duffus, president of the company, briefly outlined the plans now under way for the Motor Show.

New Willys Eight.

It is rather a coincidence, said Mr. Duffus, that our fourth anniversary should fall on the exact date that Willys-Overland selected to announce to the motoring public the New Willys Eight. This new model is outstandingly smart, and I feel confident it will appeal to a great many motorists in Peterborough and district. The new Eight is mounted on a chassis with a wheelbase of 120 inches. Its exterior is very pleasing and it is exceptionally powerful.

Many who visit the Motor Show will do so for the express purpose of critically examining this automobile, he said.

During the Motor Show, J. J. Duffus will have a complete display of Whippet Fours and Sixes, Willys Sixes and Eights, and Willys Knight Sixes, including the outstandingly smart Willys Knight Great Six Sport Roadster. Augmenting the passenger car display will be a complete showing of Whippet Commercial units and Willys Six and Willys Knight Trucks.

For the occasion of the Motor Show the entire premises of J. J. Duffus, Limited, have been renovated and very attractively decorated. Arrangements have also been made to provide musical entertainment throughout the entire period of the Motor Show.

Innumerable Features.

During Motor Show week, stated J. J. Duffus, we have arranged innumerable features that are bound to take well with the public. If it can be arranged with the authorities, we anticipate holding various kinds of parades and tests. We are also going to follow the same practice as in former years and we will give away many valuable prizes to lucky visitors. This year, said Mr. Duffus, we are going to give away as first prize a 1930 Whippet Sedan. Besides this, there will be at least six other very valuable prizes given away. I am not prepared to say at this moment just what these other six prizes will be, said Mr. Duffus, but I can assure you, nevertheless, that they will be valuable prizes and very much worth while trying for.

We hope every man, woman and child will visit us during our Motor Show, said Mr. Duffus, because we have certainly excelled ourselves at this time. Never before, he stated, have we gone to such length or expended so much in order to ensure success to any venture we have undertaken.

Our one desire now is that everyone will avail themselves of this splendid opportunity and examine most critically all we have on display.

Last year during our Motor Show, stated Mr. Duffus, 15,000 people registered at our showrooms. This year we fully expect double this number will accept our cordial invitation to attend.

MILITIA PARADES THROUGH STREETS

Long Column Behind Bandsmen and Buglers of Rangers Regiment Present Smart Appearance.

Presenting an exceedingly smart appearance and soldierly-like bearing a long column of khaki-clad figures, extending the length of a block paraded through the principal streets of the city last evening, behind the scarlet tuniked bandsmen and buglers of the Peterborough Rangers Regiment.

The Rangers in command of Lt.-Colonel M. H. Park, V.D., and the Machine Gun Corps, in command of Capt. J. A. Dewart, M.C., leaving the Armouries in column of fours, marched at the slope, in the following order: Regimental Band, Lieut. Peryer; Bugle Band, Sergeant Stewart; Rangers, O.C. Lieut.-Colonel M. H. Park, V.D.; A Company, Captain J. Dunkerley; B Company, Capt. G. Monkman, M.C.; C Company, Capt. E. Nicholls, M.C., D.C.M.; D Company, Major B. Mills; H.Q. Wing, Lieut. C. McWilliams. Machine Gunners, Captain J. A. Dewart, M.C.

GARDENING HINTS

LETTUCE

No garden is complete without lettuce, which is the basis of most salads, and yet too often one depends upon a tiny row at one end of the bed which a few weeks after using turns bitter. But this is not necessary. One can select two or three varieties of the leaf sort and if planted at intervals of a week from the first day that gardening opens until well on in May or June a steady month's supply is secured. Then it is advisable to include one or two good varieties of the head type. Following this, one can depend on cos lettuce, which is a heat resistant sort and will stay crisp practically all summer. The latter is a sort of head sort, but is much narrower. It is self blanching and will stay fresh and crisp for several days if sprinkled with water and stored in the refrigerator or cool cellar. All lettuce delights in rich loamy soil, plenty of cultivation, water when necessary, and nitrogen fertilizers.

A GARDEN FOR THE RENTER

"I would have a garden, too, if I owned my own place," is a very common remark at this time of the year, but like many other opinions it will not hold water when it comes to the testing point. There is no reason why the man who moves as regularly as the first of May should not have a fine display of flowers and vegetables. Of course, he does not go in for perennials, but the annual list offers him plenty of varieties. He can cover his fenches and walls with quick-growing climbers such as hyacinth bean, a marvellous grower and a beautiful bloomer; scarlet runner beans, sweet peas, morning glories or hops. Instead of shrubbery at the back of the garden or screening the house foundation, fences or garage, tall, quickly growing annuals, cosmos, marigolds, dahlias, zinnias, sunflowers, castor oil beans, four o'clocks, and similar plants will be used. In any seed catalogue will be found heights as well as time of flowering listed, so that the whole thing can be planned ahead. Those tall sorts, as well as the medium ones, such as zinnias, calliopsis, marigolds, gladiolus and scabiosis, should be grouped together in clumps for the best results. Along the front use small edging material like alyssum, lobelia, agertum, dwarf nasturtiums and dwarf marigolds. With a little extra quickly available fertilizer, such as nitrate of soda, a little attention to cultivation and watering, and a little forethought in selecting varieties, one can have bloom all summer and a garden from July on that will make a very fair rival of the more expensive permanent affair that has been in process of development for five years.

WHO TIPPED OFF W. E. N. SINCLAIR

"Watch Sinclair's speech to-night."

This meeting at Waterloo, declared Mr. Euler, was called before the report had been received in his department; it had been called before the report was in the possession of anyone.

"Was the Minister aware of that flash message?" asked Mr. Bennett.

Mr. Euler replied in the negative.

Did the Minister know that the language of Mr. Sinclair was contained in the exact terms of the communication sent to the attorney-general of Ontario? Did he know where the leak was? Again Mr. Euler replied in the negative.

Did the Minister take steps to ascertain where the information came from? pursued the leader of the Opposition.

The Department of National Revenue secured the information, replied Mr. Euler, from the investigations of its own officers and passed it on through the Department of Justice.

That answered the question, said Mr. Bennett. The Department of National Revenue investigated the brokers by secret enquiry. The Minister had confidential officers make their report. That report was transmitted by the Minister to the Department of Justice who asked the attorney-general of Ontario to take relevant action.

No Prohibiting Statute.

Mr. Euler replied that there was no statute which prohibited him from making the report public, if he saw fit. Only, in this instance he did not make it public.

The practice of the department was against making such a report public, continued Mr. Bennett. Yet, the same evening Mr. Sinclair made a speech in which he used the same information as the report contained. Why, he asked, had the leader of the provincial Liberal party been selected to make a speech at Waterloo containing that information?

"Does the honorable gentleman say I did it?" demanded Mr. Euler.

"I say it must have come from the Minister's department," contended Mr. Bennett.

"No information went from me to Mr. Sinclair," asserted Mr. Euler. "I had nothing to do with it, and Mr. Sinclair says publicly that he did not receive it from my department."

Denial is Accepted.

Mr. Bennett accepted Mr. Euler's denial. However, the Minister had said he made no investigation of the leak. He could not escape responsibility by merely saying he did not do it. This was a situation that warranted investigation. Mr. Bennett wanted to know whether the Government was conducting its business in the public interest or as a mere adjunct of a provincial party.

"If the department had wanted to play politics," said Mr. Euler, "with that information, it would not have sent it first to the Ontario Attorney-General."

"The whole game was to have Mr. Sinclair make his speech before the Attorney-General received the whole information," declared Mr. Bennett.

"The honorable gentleman is drawing deductions that are not substantiated by the facts," Mr. Euler said.

It was the Department of Justice which sent the information to the Attorney-General of Ontario, Mr. Bennett proceeded, but that information, strange as it may seem, was not in its entirety when it was received, until Mr. Sinclair launched his Waterloo statement. Someone permitted that information to leak out. Those were the facts, and it was his duty to demand an explanation.

WOOD TICK FIGHT

BUTTE, Mont., (U.P.).—Montana scientists are on the right track in their perennial fight against the spotted fever wood tick, according to Dr. David Miller, New Zealand, following inspection of the state etomological station at Hamilton.

Would Have All Owners Of Cats Secure a Tag For Their Felines

Should cats be registered and their owners be required to buy tags for them? One man, while buying a dog tag in the police office yesterday expressed the opinion most forcibly that they should and he gave reasons too.

"This thing has been going on too long" he said, "making dog owners buy tags and then forcing them to keep their animals tied up. Why isn't there something done about the cats?"

It was explained that licenses have always been necessary for dogs, while cats have never gained the distinction of being considered sufficiently important to come under a city by-law.

"Well," was the reply, "If you could hear their midnight yodelling around my place you'd think they were important. If one dog is on the street the dog catcher is immediately hot-foot after him, but whole droves of cats can hold carnival on streets and lanes and the police do nothing."

"However" he concluded, with some show of satisfaction, "my aim is good."

It could be judged that he didn't like felines.

J. H. Huston Appointed Company Representative

Canadian Industries Limited has definitely decided to enter the fertilizer field and, as the initial step in a very comprehensive program, is proceeding to construct large plants at Hamilton, Ontario, and at Beloeil, Quebec, for the manufacture of superphosphate and fertilizer mixtures adapted to the particular needs of soils and crops in the territories which these plants will serve. The Hamilton plant will commence operations in time to produce fertilizers for the Fall of 1930; the Beloeil plant a few months later.

J. H. Huston of Otonabee who formerly held the local agency with Gunns Limited of Toronto for the sale of fertilizer, has been appointed as the Canadian Industries' Eastern Ontario representative, and will commence his duties on June 1st.

PARALYSIS
is loss of motion or sensation in a living part or member. This is due to lack of proper "life currents" reaching the affected tissues. This lack of energy is frequently due to constriction of nerve fibers at the spine. In cases where this constriction exists Chiropractic Spinal Adjustments offer the greatest hope for recovery. Many cases under our care have regained full use of an affected arm, hand or leg. Even in paralysis due to apoplexy Chiropractic has proved helpful.

CITY'S REQUEST FOR PAVING TURNED DOWN

WINNIPEG WOMAN HELD FOR DEATH OF HER HUSBAND

Prominent Ukrainian Shot While Reading Paper in Kitchen.

BOX OF SHELLS FOUND.

Brother-in-law Held as Witness to Cold Blooded Murder—$100 Stolen.

WINNIPEG, Man., May 29 (C.P.)—Mrs. Wasyl Baran was taken into custody to-day, following the midnight murder of her husband while he sat reading in the kitchen of his North Winnipeg home. It was Mrs. Baran, returning from a church service, who last night discovered the body of the 50-year-old machinist with a bullet wound in the head. One hundred dollars had been taken from the house.

Police Seek Revolver.

Police are seeking a 32 calibre revolver which Mrs. Baran states was kept in the house. A partly-filled box of 32 calibre cartridges was found under a sidewalk in the backyard of the Baran home, but the revolver has not been traced. J. Cirka, brother-in-law of Mrs. Baran, is being held for questioning, while Mrs. Baran is jailed as a material witness.

Coldly premeditated murder, with robbery as the chief motive, is the police theory for the killing of the prominent Ukrainian. No sign of a struggle marked the position of Baran's body when found. Evidence indicated that the man had been shot in the temple as he looked up from a newspaper which he had evidently been perusing.

RICHARD DARLING PIONEER, PASSES

Lakefield's Oldest Citizen Dies at the Age of 92 Years.

BORN IN PRINCE EDWARD.

LAKEFIELD, May 29 (Examiner Correspondence).—The oldest resident of Lakefield, Richard Darling, passed away yesterday at the age of 92 years. Mr. Darling would have celebrated his 93rd birthday on July 12.

For the past twelve years, since he moved here from his farm in Dummer near Crow's Landing, the deceased had been a familiar figure on the streets of the village. Holding the high respect of everyone, he was one of the best-loved citizens, retaining all his faculties and his bright interest in current events right up to the last. He was down street greeting his friends less than ten days ago.

It is thought that a fall contributed to his death, since during the past winter his physical strength suffered a marked weakening.

Born in Prince Edward County, he moved into Dummer while a young man and there married Mary Grain. He was predeceased by his wife, who died thirty-five years ago, and one son and daughter. He is survived by four sons: David of Lakefield; Albert and Percy of Dummer, and Robert of Winnipeg, and two daughters, Mrs. Jebaz Reid, at whose home he had been living, and Mrs. J. R. Northey of Lakefield. There are also nine grandchildren and several great grandchildren.

Mr. Darling was a life-long member of the Methodist church.

The funeral will be held from the home of his daughter, Mrs. Reid, on Friday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, the Rev. S. A. Kemp of Regent Street United Church, conducting the service. Interment will be in the Lakefield Cemetery.

Windsor-Budapest Flight is Planned

WINDSOR, Ont., May 29 (C.P.)—A non-stop flight from Windsor to Budapest, in Hungary, is being planned by Lieutenant Alexander Magyar. His companion will be Captain George Endress. Lieut. Magyar was in the Hungarian Flying Corps during the war, and was four years with the Junkers Airplane organization in Germany before coming to Canada four years ago. The ship to be used is now under construction in Los Angeles and will be similar to the one used by Col. Lindbergh when he and Mrs. Lindbergh made their record flight from California to New York. It is planned to re-fuel in the air at St. John's, Newfoundland, and if necessary again some place in Ireland. The ship will be named "Justice for Hungary," and is expected to make the trip in about 30 hours.

Council Clashes With Commission Over Road Paving

Letter of Suburban Area Commission to City Council in Answer to Request for Paving on Lakefield Road Raises Ire of the Aldermen.

SINCERITY OF COUNCIL IN MAKING REQUEST IS DOUBTED IN REPLY RECEIVED BY COUNCIL

Council Replies By Saying the Commission Has No Reason to Doubt Sincerity of the Council and Asks the Commission to do the Work on Money Granted by the City.

The policy of the Suburban Roads Commission came in for plentiful criticism at last night's meeting of the Board of Works Committee of the City Council. It was freely expressed that Morley Smithson, chairman of the Suburban Roads Commission, was "passing the buck" as far as the city's request, that one mile of the Lakefield Road north of the Waterworks be paved, was concerned.

They've spent some $350,000 on the suburban roads in the last ten years, and what have we got for it? Nothing," said Alderman Nagle Phelan. "For that amount," he continued, "a good part of all the roads could have been paved."

At the April meeting of the Council a motion was passed asking the Commission to pave the one mile on the Lakefield Road. A letter in answer was received from Chairman Smithson, pointing out that if the Council were sincere in their request they might contribute more for that special work.

Raises Ire of Aldermen.

It was this letter that raised the ire of the city councillors. It was notly pointed out by several that during the past ten years the city has been paying annually close to $10,000 for the suburban roads.

"Why, Smithson hasn't even submitted our request to the Commission. I doubt if he even wrote that letter. Likely he just signed his name to it," stated Alderman Stocker.

Unanimously, the following motion was passed to be forwarded to the Commission: "That the Suburban Roads Commission has no reason to doubt the sincerity of this Council, and that the Commission be authorized to do the work asked on the present money given by the Council, and that it is also suggested calcium chloride be put on the road from Peterborough to Lakefield to help prevent the dust nuisance."

Streets Have Been Repaired.

It was reported that in answer to the request of the Peterborough Bus Lines the roads forming the bus route in East City had had the grader over them and were now filled up, smooth and in fair shape. It was intimated that the roads would have to be paved in the near future.

A delegation, consisting of members of the Lawn Bowling Club asked that if the city had any top soil to spare it could be used to advantage on the new greens of the club. It was explained that far from having a surplus of top soil the city is now forced to buy what it needs.

The Legal Committee unanimously endorsed the resolution of the St. Thomas Council for the taxation of chain stores.

SIX ARRESTED FOR BURGLARY

Police Recover $3,000 in Loot Stolen From Windsor Summer Homes.

CHINESE CURIOS MISSING.

WINDSOR, Ont., May 29. (C.P.)—Four men and two women have been arrested in connection with the burglary of the Samuel Stover home and $3000 in loot has already been recovered, and the police believe they have definite traces of more.

Those in custody are Charles Zenkauskas of Detroit, who was wanted in Waterbury for a $22,000 bank holdup; Mrs. Jack Folson, Miss Babe Duprey, sisters, Tilbury; Clarence Jacobs, Tecumseh, Albert Jacobs, brothers, of East Windsor, and Alfred Jobinet. The goods recovered are those stolen from the summer home of Dr. Giffen. None of the Stover Chinese curios of jade and silver recovered as yet. In the loot recovered at the Windsor address were several diamonds, some costly curios and a large amount of household furniture.

Police believe that a number of summer homes in the Puce area have been robbed but the owners have not yet opened the places for the summer and did not know of their loss.

The "Single Seller" agency, created by the Cuban Government to handle the exportation of all sugar in the islands, has been dissolved because growers complained that it was not successful.

NEW LABOR BILL WILL BE STROKE AT PROFITEERS

Measure Forces Firms to Give Information on Costs of Production.

CONSUMERS SET PRICES.

Council Composed of Seven, of Whom at Least Two Are Women.

LONDON, May 29 (C.P.) — The British Labor Government is aiming a blow at peacetime profiteers with a bill, now before Parliament for its third and final reading, which would place the fixing of prices in the hands of the consumer.

It is considered by many political observers to be the most radical, Socialistic piece of legislation yet attempted by the MacDonald Government, since the bill, if enacted, will force business firms, when so requested by a specially created Consumers' Council, to disclose all information with regard to costs of production, distribution and supply of food, fuel, clothing or any article in common use.

Consumers Set Price

The Consumers' Council would then designate a "fair selling price" which, if not adhered to, would make the merchant liable to a fine, imprisonment or both.

The Consumers' Council will consist of seven members, of whom two at least are to be women, appointed by the Board of Trade, under whose direction the present bill has been drawn up. The Board of Trade may remove any member that it considers unfit to continue in office.

BUSINESS MEN WOULD EXTEND IMPERIAL PREFERENCE SYSTEM

System in Canada Not Last Unless Reciprocity on Part of England, J. H. Woods Says.

SEEK BROADER VIEW.

LONDON, May 29 (By George Hambleton, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent).—The Empire business men came to grips to-day with Empire preferences. With seven dissenting votes, all from the United Kingdom delegation, the congress adopted a resolution reiterating the conviction that wide and well-considered extensions of the system of Imperial preferences would be found the most effective means of bringing about a greater measure of Imperial economic cohesion.

Woods Gives Views.

At the inception of the debate, J. H. Woods, of Calgary, president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, gave the debate a dramatic turn by declaring that he did not think the system of preferential tariffs introduced by Canada and accepted by other portions of the Empire "will continue for any great period of time unless there is reciprocity on the part of the Mother Country."

Subsequent discussions revealed some sharp differences of opinion among the United Kingdom delegates. The vote showed the majority of the British business men favored preferences but the textile men from the old free trade areas of Lancashire and Yorkshire stuck to free trade. They urged the necessity of securing cheap raw materials. Other United Kingdom men pressed for a "broader view."

Insurance Policies Against Kidnapping

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 29 (C.P.)—Recent kidnappings and extortions here have resulted in the sale of insurance policies to a number of Kansas City men, protecting them against victimization.

The insurance against kidnapping is believed the first sold in the United States. It is offered by a London company through a local agent. A premium of 1 per cent is charged for a maximum policy of $50,000. A clause of the policy requires the insured person to maintain complete secrecy of his ownership. Each purchaser also must sign a statement saying he has no reason to believe he will be kidnapped.

GIBBS HEADS LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., May 28 (C.P.).—Hon. M. P. Gibbs, member of the Legislative Council since 1909, has been appointed President of the Council, filling the vacancy caused by the death of Sir Patrick McGrath.

Bank Trio Plead Guilty To Theft

13TH HYDRO BILL RETURNS TO CITY SUM OF $12,726

Under New Organization Peterborough's Share of Sinking Fund is $29,922.

INSURANCE DISCUSSED.

Central Ontario System is Amalgamated With the Rideau Systems.

The sum of $12,726.04 has been credited to the Peterborough Utilities Commission by the H.E.P.C. on the cost of power for the year 1929. The letter read at this afternoon's meeting of the Commission, with Gordon Matthews in the chair, coming from H. Macdonald, assistant municipal auditor, contains the welcome information as follows: "We take pleasure in forwarding the trial balance and operating report for the year ending December 31st, 1929, as it will appear in our annual report under the Eastern System, which shows a net surplus of $8,736.04 from the year's operation after providing for an addition to the depreciation reserve of $13,236. The actual cost of power from this commission was $12,726.04 less than the interim power bills and a credit note for this amount will be forwarded in a few days. The Central Ontario System has been amalgamated with the Rideau and St. Lawrence Systems, which now form the Eastern System. Sinking fund on the capital costs was included in the cost of power for 1929 and your equity in this fund appears on the balance sheet for the first time."

Sinking Fund is $29,922

The sinking fund equity referred to in the foregoing paragraph, it was explained, amounts to $29,922.

Among the other business which came before the commission was the question of the gas office lease, which expires on August 1st next. It was decided that the lease which is at present in the name of the H.E.P.C. shall be accepted by the Utilities Commission.

The question of insurance on the Commission's eight trucks was discussed. The policy recently taken out is a $5,000 one person and $10,000 one accident policy. It was decided that this insurance should be raised to an unlimited amount or to $25,000 and $50,000.

Ross L. Dobbin was delegated to attend the American Waterworks Association convention to be held at St. Louis, June 2-6, while Harry Beale was selected to go to Halifax to attend the Canadian Gas Association Convention from June 23-24.

Unemployment is a problem now unknown and salaries in most professions have recently been increased in the Saar territory, with 750,000 population, 100,000 of which are coal workers.

Churchill Prepares for Summer Trade

Churchill, Canada's newest seaport on Hudson's Bay, will be opened this summer. For more than thirteen years a vast army of workers has been engaged in constructing the port and the 511 odd miles of railroad from The Pas to Churchill. This work has now been completed and Churchill is open for business, and — population. It is now the chief depot of the new trans-Atlantic route from Europe, via Hudson's Bay, and will become a centre of transportation, mining, fishery and grain handling interests. Above are three interesting photographs: (Top) An aerial view showing the new railway winding its way across the Nelson River and into the North. Bottom, left, is a dredger working at top speed in front of the new Churchill dock, while, right, is a construction gang working on the dock.

100,000 RED PINE ALREADY SET OUT IN S. BURLEIGH

Peterborough County Is Rapidly Coming to Fore in Reforestation.

35 MEN EMPLOYED.

85,000 Acres Are Taken Over in Northern Township By Forestry Branch.

Peterborough County is rapidly coming to the fore as the centre of a large reforestation scheme. The plan to reforest large tracts of the northern portion of the county was first launched two years ago by the Ontario Forestry Branch when the province took over 85,000 acres in the northern townships.

Two weeks ago operations were commenced to build a large experimental demonstration plantation farm in North Burleigh. Thirty-five men are employed on the job and already 100,000 red pine have been set out. Various methods of planting are being used and the results will be closely watched, since one of the chief purposes of this farm is to learn the best methods of reforestation. It is primarily an experimental farm, stated W. W. Crosby, district forester.

Throughout the province the Ontario Forest Branch is locating these experimental farms, and this is the second in this district, the other being established in Lennox and Addington.

ROMAN CHURCHES OBSERVE FEAST OF THE ASCENSION

ROME, May 29 (C.P.).—The Feast of the Ascension, commemorating Christ's rising up to heaven as told in the 16th chapter of Mark, was celebrated to-day in all the Roman churches, with services of rejoicing.

From St. Peter's to the lowliest suburban chapels, white-vest-mented clergy sung or said the mass of the day, in the presence of great congregations. Ascension Day is a public holiday in Italy, so the laity was not kept away by work.

In accordance with the wishes of Pope Pius, the sermons preached stressed the teaching mission of the church, the text generally used being that of the day's gospel: "Go ye into the whole world and preach the gospel to every creature." At twilight, vespers were sung in the principal basilicas.

THREE BURN TO DEATH

ABILENE, Texas, May 29. (C.P.)—Three men were burned to death in a fire here to-day which destroyed a rooming house in the business district. Eight other persons, including two children, escaped.

Students Relish 27-Year-Old Jam

OTTAWA, Ont., May 29 (C.P.)—Students of the Ottawa University last night were served with plum jam which had been buried in the scholastic grounds for 27 years—and liked it. Forty quarts of the jam were found buried several feet in the earth on Wednsday by workers excavating for a new wing of the university. The spot where the discovery was made was where the kitchen of the institution was situated prior to the disastrous fire in 1903 which destroyed the University Building.

JOHN DAVIDSON WISHES TO QUIT

Known as One of Most Famous Private Secretaries That Ever Lived.

TORY PARTY CHAIRMAN.

LONDON, May 29. (C. P. Cable).—The Rt. Hon. John Davidson, chairman of the Conservative Party organization, told the Reuters News Service to-day that he had intimated to the Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, Conservative Leader, before Easter that he would like to be relieved of his duties at the end of the summer session of the House of Commons. Mr. Baldwin has not yet formally acceded to the request but is consulting his colleagues. The Daily Mail mentions the name of Lord Lloyd, former High Commissioner to Egypt as probable chairman.

Famous Private Secretary

The Rt. Hon. John Colin Campbell Davidson, Member of Parliament for the Hemel Hempstead division of Herfordshire, was president of the Board of Trade, 1921-22, Parliamentary private secrtary to M. Bonar Law (then Premier) 1922-23 and Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, 1923-24.

He is known as one of the most famous private secretaries who ever lived. Mr. Davidson was private secretary to Lord Crewe, Secretary of State for the Colonies 1910; to the Rt. Hon. L. Harcourt, 1910-15; to the Rt. Hon. A. Bonar Law, 1915-16 and has been secretary to Mr. Churchill and to Mr. Baldwin.

Mr. Davidson is the eldest son of the late Sir James Mackenzie Davidson, of Aberdeen. He was born in 1889 and started his secretarial career when but 21 years of age.

When Miss M. Hale of London awoke on her wedding morn recently she found that thieves had taken her complete wedding trousseau, and she had to be married in a street dress.

AMY JOHNSON IS UNHURT AS HER PLANE CRASHES

Cross Wind Hurls Machine Into Fence at Eagle Farm 'Drome.

AVIATRIX THROWN CLEAR.

British Girl is Accompanied By Escort of Three Women Fliers.

BRISBANE, Queensland, May 29.—(C.P.).—Miss Amy Johnson, who flew from England to Australia without a mishap of consequence, cracked up her plane at Eagle Farm Aerodrome this afternoon while en route from Port Darwin, North Australia, to Sydney. She was not injured.

The plane, carried by cross winds over the edge of the aerodrome, hit a fence and turned turtle. Miss Johnson, who is 23 years old, has golden hair, and has a pretty smile, was thrown clear of the machine, and beyond a shaking up, was not hurt.

The propellor of the machine snapped off and both its wings crumpled, but the under-carriage was not damaged. It will be repaired as quickly as possible to enable her to continue her flight to the Southern States.

A large crowd which had gathered to greet her cheered vociferously as she was driven to the hangar and proceeded to the city. Previously at Toowoomba 5,000 people greeting her had presented her with a purse of 100 pounds sterling (about $500). Three planes piloted by women escorted her from Toowoomba to Brisbane.

DR. STEWART CAMERON IS ELECTED TREASURER

Ontario Medical Association Is Holding Its Annual Convention In Toronto This Week

Dr. Stewart Cameron, of this city, was elected treasurer of the Ontario Medical Association at the annual convention of the association now in progress at the Royal York Hotel, Toronto. Other officers are: president, Dr. Ward Wooiner, of Ayr; first vice-president, Dr. J. L. Austin, of Kingston; second vice-president, Dr. J. H. Holbrock, of Hamilton; and secretary, Dr. T. C. Routley, of Toronto.

Dr. John Ferguson, retiring president, addressed the great dinner of the association held in the Royal York last night, recalling the vast strides made in the last fifty years in medical science.

STOCK DABBLING RUINS BANKERS THREE CONFESS

Toronto Youths Plead Guilty to Theft Charges—Remanded to June 10.

SHORT $25,840.

Accountant and Tellers Manipulate Books For Three Years Undiscovered.

TORONTO, Ont., May 29 (Canadian Press). — Nattily dressed, but looking unspeakably miserable, the three young employees of a downtown branch of the Royal Bank of Canada lined up in the dock of the Police Court to-day and pleaded guilty to one of two charges of stealing during the years 1927-28-29-30, the sum of $25,840.

They were remanded until June 10 for sentence.

Plead Guilty to One Charge

The young men, Francis P. Lowrey, Wilfrid Tomlinson and Lester Penner, were represented by E. J. Murphy, M.P.P., and R. H. Greer, K.C., who entered pleas of guilty to one of the two charges. The amount named in each charge was the same, but the one they pleaded guilty to classified them as officers, clerks, assistants, etc., of a bank.

Crown Attorney Armour admitted that Penner had nothing to do with the theft of the first $12,000, but stated that he had afterwards covered up the thefts of the others. All the money stolen had gone into the stock market. In a statement made by Lowrey he said when he left the bank there was a shortage of $12,000. Penner's statement set forth that Lowrey and Tomlinson had asked him to help cover up the shortages.

"Lowrey left the bank a year ago and had the opportunity to leave the city, but didn't do so.

Magistrate Jones—"Why do these brokers allow men on small salaries to risk large amounts. I have no hesitation in saying they are equally responsible."

Crown Attorney Armour— "Why, one of these houses sent right down to the bank with a demand for $2 000 in cash."

Mr. Grees—"These Napoleons of the stock market were quite common."

Magistrate Jones—"It may be legal but I would like to get my hands on them."

Major Armour—"It's the old tenth commandment again, it's the worst overworked of the lot."

New York Rule

Crown Attorney McFadden pointed out to the court that there is a rule in the New York Stock Exchange that no broker shall have an account with a bank clerk without the consent of the bank president or manager.

The system used by the two was almost impossible of detection. When cash was wanted it was taken out of Penner's cash, and he in turn covered up the shortage by manipulations of the clearing account.

Lowery, the older of the prisoners, had been employed in the bank for eight years prior to one year ago. He came to the city from the United States with his parents. Tomlinson started in the bank as a boy and has been in its employ for the past nine years. Penner, the youngest of the trio has been employed by the bank for the past three years.

A week ago the trio, police say, decided to see the manager of the branch and make a clean confession. They told the detectives that they were not worried about being found out by the auditors but they saw no way by which they could hope to pay back the money and knew they would be found out sooner or later.

Bought on Margin

"All the money was taken to buy stocks," they declared to the detectives. "We never got any of it. All of it went to the brokers to meet margins. Somehow, everything we bought went down, and kept on going down." This, they asserted, had been going on for the past three years until they were in so deep they saw no way of getting out of their difficulties.

Calling on the manager, they told him how they had manipulated their books and stolen sums which aggregated $25,840.

"The men came in and made a confession to this office," said an official of the supervisor's office of the Royal Bank yesterday. He explained that it was just a case of fixing it up between the men.

The three men were in charge of monies by their contact on accounts.

NATIONALISTS ARE PLANNING FURTHER RIOTS

Criers Parade Bombay Asking Citizens to Join Salt Raids.

MOSLEMS JOIN FRAY.

Rangoon Hospital Reports Show 81 Dead and 792 Wounded During Clashes.

BOMBAY India, May 29 (C.P.)—Twenty-nine Nationalist volunteers left here to-day for Sholapur where they will defy martial law regulations in effect there prohibiting display of the Nationalist flag. Several arrests already have been made at Sholapur under the law.

Bombay Nationalist Congress criers last night paraded the city calling upon the people to join to-day in a procession with the body of a non-volunteer salt raider who died of injuries received Sunday in the salt raid at Wadala.

In the view of some observors there has been a remarkable revival of the Nationalist Congress energy since outbreaks in the Bhendi bazaar district, Moslem quarter, the first of the week, in which Moslems attacked police. Four persons were killed and more than 50 wounded.

War Council Renews Raids

The "War Council" of the Bombay Congress has decided to renew the mass raids on the Wadala salt works, defy all the laws that can be defied, and to spend more effort and money on propaganda for the Nationalist cause.

Although Moslem heads re-avowed their opposition to the civil disobedience campaign there was expectation of wide Moslem participation in the movement from now on as the outgrowth of the trouble in Bhendi bazaar. The War Council was said to expect that help given Moslem wounded during the riots by Congress and Red Cross volunteers would strengthen their hands; many Moslems were said to have offered their services to organization.

The correspondent of the London Daily Express learned that both cavalry and infantry were called to help police at Lucknow who found themselves Tuesday almost powerless to cope with a mob which gathered when volunteers were denied the privilege of organizing a procession through the city.

RANGOON, Burma, May 29 (Canadian Press). — Military pickets and police patrols were despatched to the outskirts of the city to quell a new disturbance there this morning.

Meanwhile the latest hospital reports showed 81 persons dead and 382 patients inside and 390 patients outside of hospital as a consequence of rioting between the Burmese and Hindu dock workers the first part of the week. Other estimates said 100 were killed and 900 injured.

The main Indian business quarters were still closed to-day. Shipping was at a standstill and the streets have not been cleaned in days, constituting a menace to health.

Priests and Indian leaders are continuing their efforts to settle communal differences.

RATES EXTENDED ON ALBERTA COAL

New Arrangement For Shipment to Ontario Lasts Till July 15, 1931.

STUDY SITUATION.

EDMONTON, May 29.— (C.P.)—According to word received here yesterday from Ottawa the Dominion Government has granted an extension of the period of special freight rates on coal shipments from Alberta to Ontario. Announcement was made here by Howard Stutchbury, Alberta trade commissioner, who said he was in receipt of a message from E. J. Garland, M.P., who has been working on the matter.

Under the three-year period for the special rates, the term would have ended this year as it had been in effect from December 15 to July 15 since 1926. The extension now granted means that shippers will be assured of the special rates being in effect from December 15 to July 15 of 1931.

Mr. Stuchbury pointed out that the provincial governments, the Canadian coal committee, Western Canada Fuel Association and other bodies have been pressing for the extension for some time. It was felt that this should be granted, thus giving adequate time for the cost figures of the three-year period to be thoroughly studied.

SURGERY ALWAYS MAKES ADVANCES IN TIME OF WAR

TORONTO, Ont., May 29 (C.P.).—"Surgery always develops in time of war. If it were not for the wonderful medical care and surgery, the Great War would have been over in 18 months, because nobody would have been left alive to fight. Medical proficiency and amazing public health work permitted the war to go on to a state that was almost ruinous." This statement was made yesterday by Dr. L. J. Austin, professor of surgery at Queen's University, Kingston, at the meeting of the Kiwanis Club.

Eighty-year-old E. Hunt has just been elected chairman of the Bushey, England, city council.

Farmer Shot Down Reading in Kitchen

WINNIPEG, Man., May 29. — (C.P.)—Believed to be the victim of a gunman's bullet, Wasyl Baran, 50, was found dead in the kitchen of his home here early to-day with a bullet wound in the back of his head.

Baran, sitting in a chair reading, had been shot from behind and apparently given no chance to escape. A purse containing $100 and placed in another room had been taken by the thug, leading police to believe robbery was the motive behind the shooting.

Mrs. Baran discovered the body upon her return from a meeting.

CANADIAN COAL BOUNTY PASSES THIRD READING

Two Liberal Members Bolt as Coal Bounty Bill Passes House.

CRIMINAL CODE AMENDED.

Christian Science is Denied Exemption From Medical Law.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 29 (C.P.). — Continued efforts will be made by the House of Commons to-day to hurry through the legislative program. Since the House did not rise until 1 o'clock this morning, there was no forenoon sitting. The afternoon sitting, however, started at 2 o'clock, an hour earlier than usual.

It is not the custom of Parliament to sit on Ascension Day, but as Premier Mackenzie King explained last night, neither was it a custom to sit on Victoria Day. However, in the urgency of the present situation, both holidays have been taken advantage of to press on toward dissolution.

Coal Bounty Passes.

Climaxing a debate that has continued intermittently for a week, the House yesterday passed the Government bill providing for the payment of a bonus of 49½ cents a ton on bituminous coal mined in Canada and used as coke for smelting in the iron and steel industry. Third reading was given without a recorded vote after an amendment proposed by J. S. Woodsworth (Labor, Winnipeg North Centre) had been defeated by a majority of sixteen. The amendment was designed to give steel workers an eight-hour day.

On the division, Conservatives combined with Progressives and the members of the U.F.A. and Labor group in supporting the amendment. W. J. Ward (Lib.-Progressive, Dauphin) and J. A. Bradette (Lib.-Lab., North Temiskaming) voted against the Government. The vote was registered: For, 59; against, 75.

Certain restrictions on the payment of the bounty had been placed in the measure by the Government. They provided that payment of both the bounty and the drawback on imported coal may be refused if the company involved does not satisfy the Government that all Provincial statutes dealing with fair wages and hours of labor are complied with. These, however, did not go far enough, some members thought. In order to have a recorded vote, Mr. Woodsworth moved that the bounty should not be paid until it was demonstrated that a company was paying its employees fair and reasonable wages and had an eight-hour day.

Hon. R. B. Bennett refrained from voting on the amendment. In explanation, he said he had indicated before his belief that Canada should observe the labor provisions of the Treaty of Versailles "so far as might be possible." Considering that hope held out by the British Empire Steel Corporation that would soon insti-

TRAIN WRECKED ON OPEN SWITCH FIVE ARE KILLED

Montreal-Chicago Inter-city Limited Was Going Over 60 Miles an Hour.

LEAVES RAILS NEAR FLINT.

Five Are Injured — Empty Coaches Save Passengers at Rear of Train.

FLINT, Mich., May 29.—The Montreal-Chicago Intercity Limited passenger train on the main line of the Canadian National Railways ran into an open switch at Belsay, five miles east of here, about 4 p.m. yesterday, while travelling between 60 and 65 miles an hour. The engineer and firemen were killed and five others injured. No passengers were hurt seriously.

The dead—Engineer Arthur Morden and Fireman Clyde Pierce, both of Battle Creek.

The injured—John Dillon, mail clerk, Chicago, injured leg; Lawrence Parker, mail clerk, Port Huron, cuts and scalds; Fred M. Linton, mail clerk, Port Huron, cuts; Joseph Deshais, dining-car cook, Toronto, scalds; and Howard Bellamy, dining-car cook, also from Toronto, cuts.

Taken to Hospital

The injured were taken to Flint Hospital, where their injuries were not considered serious.

The train ran into the open switch just after a freight engine had passed through. Engineer Morden is believed to have seen the switch and thrown on his emergency brakes, leaping from the cab. He was caught in the wreckage of the locomotive, and Fireman Pierce was crushed between the locomotive and the tender. Eight cars and the locomotive left the tracks. Witnesses said the huge locomotive appeared to leap into the air as it struck the switch, then toppled over, pulling eight cars with it. There were eleven cars on the train.

Saved by Empty Cars.

The passengers are believed to have been saved from injury by the presence of several empty coaches between the diner and the rest of the train. These coaches were cut into the train to take on members of the Flint High School band who were waiting at the station in Flint to start their trip to Lincoln, Neb., where they were to participate in a high school band contest.

It was not determined just how the switch came to be open, but railway officials started an immediate investigation. A section gang was working near the switch shortly before the train arrived.

BROWN'S FRIEND FACES 12 COUNTS

Police Claim Gomez Sent Mrs. Brown Letters Offering Information For Money.

IN COURT SATURDAY.

MEXICO CITY, May 29.— (C. P. Cable.)—Tom Brown(former respected citizen of Stratford, Ont., who fled last New Years Eve and died in Mexico City recently under an assumed name, faces treachery on the part of a man he made an intimate here, authorities stated yesterday in reporting on the arrest of Roberto Gomez. Brown left shortages of approximtaely $200,000 in his accounts in the Canadian city and Canadian officials have been investigating the possibility he had some assets at the time of his death.

Gomez, also known as El Chico, will face 12 bribery charges when he appears in court Saturday. He was arrested yesterday at a border town while attempting to flee int othe United States. The authorities say their investigation has shown that Gomez while posing as Brown's friend repeatedly mailed letters to Brown's wife in Canada offering to give her information about Brown if she sent him an undivulged amount of money.

A letter he had written but never mailed was found when police searched personal belongings in his quarters here. Gomez was held for questioning immediately after Brown's death but was released only to be rearrested when the investigation was widened. Authorities are still checking reports that Brown had valuable securities in his possession and hope Gomez will be able to enlighten them. Gomez, who speaks English, was assigned to the St. Regis Hotel by the Mexico City police department. He met Brown shortly after and resigned from the police force to become Brown's intimate. Authorities make it clear he is under a suspicion in connection with Brown's death.

QUICK PILE RELIEF

No Salves or Cutting

Pile sufferers can only get quick, safe and lasting relief by removing the cause—bad blood circulation in the lower bowel. Cutting and salves can't do this—an internal remedy must be used. HEM-ROID, the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, succeeds, because it removes this blood congestion and strengthens the affected parts.

HEM-ROID tablets as sold by druggists everywhere, have such a wonderful record for quick and lasting relief, that McDermid & Jury, Bond's Drug Store always sell them with guarantee of money-back if they do not end all Pile suffering.

Three Men Fined $100 and Costs At Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, May 29. (Examiner Staff Correspondent)—Before Magistrate G. A. Payne, in Campbellford Police court on Tuesday, Hudson Ketcheson, George Roblin and Frank Tucker, all of Belleville, were each fined $100.00 and costs on a charge of having liquor in other than a private dwelling. The offence was committed on Saturday evening, when the three men were attending a local dance, and were found by Chief Bromley and Constable Hardy to have wine in their possession.

TALKIES FOR CAMPBELLFORD

Regent Theatre To Be Made One of Finest in the Province.

LATEST TYPE EQUIPMENT.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 29. (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — With the installation of Talkies at the Regent Theatre here, and the complete renovation of the building Campbellford will possess one of the finest movie houses in Ontario.

Captain Hyland, the manager and owner, is at present in Toronto looking over the city houses and inspecting the latest types of machines. Work on the Regent is expected to start almost immediately, and will be rushed through to its completion, for the public service. It is expected that the theatre will be re-seated, an addition of fifteen feet built onto the front, with the latest style aisles leading in, ladies and gent's lounges will be installed, and if plans work out according to schedule, all Northern Electric equipment will be used. Another feature will be the converting of a parcel of land into a parking area for the convenience of the patrons. This venture should prove a decided asset to Campbellford and the surrounding district, as lovers of the talkies will be able to get their amusement at home, without going to the larger cities.

Following his usual custom, Capt. Hyland intends to present only the best pictures on the market.

NEW TREATY MAY CHANGE TARIFF

High Hopes Are Expressed as Newfoundland Assembly Opens.

PULP DEVELOPMENTS.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld, May 29. — Tariff adjustments as the result of the proposed new trade treaty with Canada were foreshadowed in the Speech from the Throne, when the second session of Newfoundland's 27th General Assembly was opened by Governor Sir John Middleton yesterday afternoon.

Hope that, as the result of timber and water power discussions in New York a large pulp and paper development will be opened in the Gander areas and that further discussions will result in the opening of United States markets to Newfoundland fish, was expressed in the speech which gave notice that terms of a new agreement with the British Empire Steel Corporation in regard to the operation of the Sene Island mines would be brought down and that steps would be taken for scientific research in the development of the fisheries.

Referring to the Besco agreement the speech reported that the company had already paid arrears of income and profits tax amounting to $136,000 and undertakes to pay substantial royalties on exports the agreement also providing for increased wages.

MINISTER KILLED IN MOTOR SMASH

Rev. T. Ratcliffe, Weston, Strikes Truck Trying to Avoid Another Car.

INQUEST PROBABLE.

WESTON Ont., May 29. (C.P.) — Running into the side of a truck in an attempt to avoid another motor, a few yards from his home yesterday, Rev. Thomas Ratcliffe, aged 74, temporary pastor of the Weston Baptist church, suffered serious injuries from which he died shortly after in hospital.

The driver, Harry Partington, a Woodbridge poultry dealer, was not held by the police after an investigation.

An inquest will likely be held.

Mr. Ratcliffe was actively connected with the Y.M.C.A. work for many years and was the first railroad secretary of that organization in Toronto. He was born on the homestead, near Whitby, his father being one of the first pioneers in the county.

Arrangements have been made for the funeral to take place from the residence of his eldest son, Harold G. Ratcliffe, 7 Roxborough Drive, on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock to Mount Pleasant cemetery.

Beside his widow, the survivors are: two sons, Harold G. and Walter, Kingston; two brothers, William, of Brooklyn, Ont., and George of Tulsa, Oklahoma.

LARGER BUILDING PROGRAM LIKELY FOR FRENCH NAVY

Paris Paper Sees Threat in Italy's Attitude Toward Neighbors.

FLEET TOO SMALL FOR WAR.

Il Duce's Speeches Rouse Followers' Hostility Toward French.

PARIS, May 29 (C.P. Cable, via Havas).—L'Echo De Paris, in an editorial to-day, says that France will be forced to increase the demands of her naval armament program owing to the threat of violence contained in the present attitude of Italy towards her neighbors.

Recent utterances of Benito Mussolini during a speaking tour have aroused a feeling of nervousness in French circles and experts are inclined to feel that in the event of hostilities France would find her navy inadequate to cope with that of Italy.

No Sign of Hostilities.

While there has been no sign that hostilities are intended, speeches by Il Duce have been of a nature which has stirred his followers to outbursts of feeling against the French, and it is felt that many illusions to the "hypocracy" of Italy's neighbors have been directed against France.

GOV'T MAY COMMENCE PEACE RIVER RAILWAY

OTTAWA, Ont., May 29 (C.P.) — Unless the next 12 months sees the railways make a start on finding an outlet for the vast Peace River country, the Government, if it still be in power, will undertake the job itself, Premier Mackenzie King promised in the House of Commons.

SIMPLE REMEDY FOR BAD STOMACH GIVES SWIFT RELIEF

No Need of Strong Medicines or Diet. Safe and Simple Home Recipe Keeps Stomach in Fine Condition.

If you are a victim of Stomach Troubles—Gas, Sourness, Pain or Bloating—you may have quick and certain relief by following this simple advice.

Don't take strong medicines, artificial digestants or pull down your system with starvation diets. For within reason most folks may eat what they like if they will keep their stomach free from souring acids that hinder or paralyze the work of digestion.

And the best and easiest way to do this is to follow every meal with three or four tablets of Bisurated Magnesia—a pleasant, harmless, inexpensive, and handy tablet form of Magnesia that promptly neutralizes acidity and keeps your stomach sweet and clean.

A week's trial of Bisurated Magnesia tablets, which any good druggist can supply at trifling cost, should quickly convince you that 90 per cent of ordinary stomach distress is absolutely unnecessary. Be sure to get Bisurated Magnesia Tablets!

ST. JOHN'S Y. P. FINAL MEETING

Campbellford Society Presents Special Program, Including Dramatic Pageant.

AT ST. JOHN'S CHURCH.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 29. (By Examiner Staff Correspondent.)—The weekly meeting of the Young Peoples League of St. John's United Church was held on Tuesday evening, with the president, G. E. Phillips in the chair. This being the final meeting of the season, a special program was arranged, including a pageant, "The Pearly Gates of Heaven," staged by the young people of Zion Church, English Line.

This presentation was dramatic in character, and acted with a spirit of devotion and reverence. Representing the entrance of souls into heaven, it portrayed the different types that go to make up the human race. During the performance of this feature, special music was played with great effect. The caste included Edna Diamond, Violet Dunk, Thelma Stollery, Helen Saunders and Margaret Saunders. Other members on the program were a piano solo by Dorothy Henson, vocal solo H. Donald, a violin solo by Clark McKelvie, a vocal solo by Ruth Taylor, a vocal duet by Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Smith, a reading by Mrs. Wragg, a vocal solo by Albert Hazel, and the singing of a hymn.

After the program, a delightful lunch was served by the members of the league to the visitors and friends.

J. GOACHER HONORED AT MEYERSBURG

Presentation Made By Young People on Occasion of His Birthday.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 29. (By Examiner Staff Correspondent.)—One of Meyersburg's well known and popular young men, James Goacher, received the good wishes of the young people of that district on Monday, when about fifty of the young folks gathered at his home to wish him a happy birthday, and to substantiate their wishes in a material way, by the presentation of a very pretty occasional chair, as a birthday gift.

The presentation was made by Allan Johnston, while Orland Bertrand read the address, which was as follows:—

Dear Jim

It's just like this. We your friends, neighbors and school mates have gathered here to-night to spend a jolly evening with you on your birthday, to help you to forget how terribly old you must feel, and to be young with us again.

We are enjoying this little social gathering in your home this evening, and we feel that it is about time for us to tell you that we have brought you a small remembrance in the form of a birthday gift which we hope will grow more dear to you the older you get. It's hardly big enough for two, but we'll just leave that to you. And now Jim, with our best wishes for many happy returns, we ask you to accept this occasional chair for the sake of Auld Lang Syne, and we will now sing for you that old, old rhyme, "You're a Jolly Good Fellow."

Signed on behalf of the young people of Meyersburg.

Mr. Goacher replied appropriately, expressing his deep appreciation of the gift and especially of the friendship that it betokened.

The latter part of the evening was spent in dancing, an orchestra of local talent supplying the music. A dainty lunch was also served.

KIPLING RETURNS TO ENGLAND

HAMILTON, Bermuda, May 28 (C. P. Cable).—After spending two months quietly in Bermuda, avoiding social engagements, Rudyard Kipling and Mrs. Kipling sail for Montreal this afternoon on the steamer "Lady Somers." They will leave for Liverpool, June 6, on the "Duchess of Bedford." The health of Mrs. Kipling has greatly improved.

CANADIAN COAL BOUNTY PASSES

ute an eight-hour day and 48-hour week, "I would be acting in variance with my ideas of a reasonable opportunity being afforded to people to effect their purpose, if that opportunity were not given. Realizing also that this bonus must be renewed from year to year, I expressed last evening my willingness that these people should have an opportunity to give evidence of their desires to succeed in reducing hours of labor as they have indicated." Mr. Bennete reserved to himself the right of passing upon the expediency of paying the bounty from year to year.

All Urge Bounty.

Hon. J. L. Ralston, Minister of National Defence, asserted that everybody connecting with the industry, including the employees themselves, urged the payment of the bounty. Its purpose was to place the Maritime industry on the same plane as the Ontario industry which received a drawback of ½ cent per ton on imported coal used in the manufacture of steel. Such legislation had been suggested in the Duncan report on Maritime rights.

The Cape Breton industry was faced with collapse, he went on to say. The Government's object was to prevent this and so retain for the men their jobs.

If the increase in the tariff and the payment of the bounty would save the Maritime steel industry from ruin, why were they not put into effect during the past eight years, Hon. R. B. Bennett asked. The Duncan report had been received in 1926, and it was not until 1930 that its recommendations were carried out. He charged the Liberal Government with the necessity of accepting responsibility for the conditions in the industry.

Finlay MacDonald (Cons., Cape Breton) moved the first of three amendments to the bill. It provided that the money paid to the industry should be used for the improvement of labor conditions either through increased wages or shorter hours, or both.

This amendment was declared lost without an actual division taking place. A. A. Heaps (Labor, Winnipeg), then moved another amendment calling for the imposition of the eight-hour day by all companies receiving the bonus. It also was defeated on division and the bill given the third and final reading.

Budget Finally Approved

Final approval was given the Budget when a bill incorporating all the tariff changes received third reading. During the short debate, Hon. R. B. Bennett charged the Minister of Finance with having increased the fruit and vegetable duties to demonstrate to the consumer how high protection would increase the price to him. Later, through an amendment to the Budget, the duties were lowered. Mr. Dunning denied emphatically the implication. This statement was accepted by the Conservative leader.

A contentious bill was encountered in the one amending the Criminal Code in several respects. Hon. Ernest Lapointe struck out five sections, all dealing with the sale of firearms and placing certain restrictions on the purchasers. He thought it would be better to delay consideration for a year. Opposition was manifested to one clause dealing with the publication of racing information by newspapers. Col. Reg. Geary (Cons., Toronto South), T. L. Church (Cons., Toronto North-West), Dr. Peter McGibbon (Cons., Muskoka), and others spoke in opposition. The clause was passed.

Several medical men protested against a clause designed to remove restrictions from the practice of faith healing. The Minister of Justice withdrew the section.

One clause in the Bill, which was passed, contained the suggested reforms emanating from the conference of Provincial Attorneys-General in respect of stock brokers and their practices.

Late at night the House went into committee of supply on departmental estimates.

The Senate yesterday approved several of the Bills passed earlier by the Commons. Included were the Income Tax Act amendments, the amendments to the War Revenue Act, and the amendments to the Customs Tariff Act.

Election Act Passed.

The Dominions Election Act in its amended form was passed by the Commons after a change had been made in relation to campaign fund donations. In its original form it prohibited contributions being made from companies. This had worked a hardship on labor, J. S. Woodsworth contended, and he moved an amendment which was interpreted as meaning that contributions from companies and organizations will be subject to no restriction. It was accepted.

By an amendment to the Income Tax Act, which the House adopted, contributions to all charitable organizations not exceeding 10 per cent. of a person's income, will be exempt from taxation. The term "charitable organization" in its legal sense, as a result of the amendment will include churches, hospitals, schools, universities, and institutions for the relief of poverty.

The Bill amending the special War Revenue Act which provided for reduction of the sales tax from two to one per cent. and for changes in the stock transfer tax, was passed.

Premier King told the House it was highly desirable that the C.N.R. and C.P.R. undertake a joint survey of an outlet to the Pacific Coast from the Peace River district. If returned to power, the administration would see this was done within a year.

STOCK DABBLING

One man was supposed to check on the other man's work but this, it was explained, would naturally break down if there were collusion.

"Lowrey left the bank a year ago and the other two, one a teller and the other the assistant accountant, managed to keep things looking right" he continued. "Lately things have been getting rather hot for them and they couldn't stand the strain any longer. The use of the funds has been going on for about three years. We found out about it a week ago and have been checking up since that date.

"I was much surprised when these men confessed to the inspector," declared D. M. Neeve, manager of the branch last night. "The shortages were brought about by manipulations extending over some period of time. When a teller and an accountant are working in collusion it is not very easy to discover such a thing. Lowrey left us a year ago and Penner, who succeeded him, apparently carried on the manipulation.

Mr. Neeve stated that he had not suspected the men at all. They were well-mannered, thrifty and popular with the other employes and with customers. "Tomlinson is the last man any one would have suspected of anything of this kind" he asserted. He carried on his duties as accountant well and always gave satisfaction.

Fellow employes of the three youths were shocked by the disclosure of their confessions. "If Tomlinson went wrong anyone can" declared one of them to The Mail and Empire. The same thing was said about Lowrey who is well-known in the east end of the city and at the beaches.

Lowrey was treasurer of the Balmy Beach Canoe Club and was interested in other athletic activities. He was described by former associates as being a young man of quiet tastes and popular with everyone. All three men had friends in the bank who were thunderstruck by their revelations.

Shock to Friends

"It was a great shock to us," declared Mrs. C. Watkins, in whose home on Hampton avenue the Lowry youth has been boarding for the past year. "He was quiet-mannered and polite and he looked to be the last person who would be implicated in a thing like this. His home is in Massachusetts and he had no relatives in this country.

"When he first came to stay with us he was working for the bank, but for a long time past he has been employed by some wholesale house in the city."

Lowry seemed to be economical with his money, said Mrs. Watkins. He dressed in average style and was not extravagant. He neither drank nor smoked, according to his landlady.

Leslie Penner, the alleged accomplice of the other two youths, is a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Penner, Ingham street. He has been boarding with his aunt and uncle for the past year, having come to Toronto from Owen Sound. His arrest came like a thunderbolt to his relatives.

NEWFOUNDLAND ASSEMBLY OPENS

ST. JOHN'S, Newfoundland, May 28 (C.P.)—The second session of the twenty-seventh General Assembly of Newfoundland was opened with customary ceremony this afternoon by His Excellency the Governor, Sir John Middleton. The thirty supporters of Sir Richard Squires' government included Lady Helena Squires, wife of the Prime Minister and first woman to take a seat in the House.

Miss Vera Menchik, the world's woman champion chess player, played 17 simultaneous games at the recent Kent chess tournament at Canterbury, England, and won 11 games, lost three, and drew three.

WORK OF YEAR IS OUTLINED

Officers Elected at Regular Meeting of Belmont Women's Institute.

JUNE 6 MEETING.

(Examiner Correspondence)

BELMONT, May 29.—The regular meeting of Belmont Women's Institute, was held in the Town Hall, Belmont on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The meeting opened with the opening Ode and the Lord's Prayer repeated in unison.

The Roll Call was responded to by each member paying her fees after which the president, Mrs. Arthur gave a splendid address, in which she outlined the work of the year just concluded. This was followed by the financial statement for the year, given by the secretary.

The election was then held and the following officers were duly elected: President, Mrs. William Smith; vice president, Mrs. George Smith; secretary treasurer, Miss Minnie Williams; directors, Mrs. Harry Scott, Mrs. Joseph Seabrooke, Mrs. Will Anderson; district director, Mrs. H. Tinney; pianist, Mrs. H. Scott; relief committee, Mrs. Arthur Russell; Mrs. George Smith; lunch committee, Miss Iva Smith; Miss Irene McGowan; auditors, Mrs. Robert Anderson; Miss Hattie Sexsmith; delegates to district annual, Mrs. William Smith, Miss M. Williams, Mrs. Joseph Seabrooke, Mrs. Harry Tinney.

The summer series were discussed at an earlier meeting and it was decided to invite Miss Aletha Smith of Langford, Ont. to address the branch on music, art and literature, on June 6 at the Belmont hall. The meeting closed with singing the National Anthem. A delightful lunch was served and a social half-hour was enjoyed.

The District Board of the Women's Institute of Peterborough County, met in the Public library, Norwood on Wednesday, May 21 and among other matters taken up, made all arrangements for the district annual meeting to be held in Havelock on Tuesday June 10. The morning session will open at 10 o'clock sharp. Everybody welcome.

JOINT MEETING OF MARMORA SOCIETIES

Presentation of Handsome Combination Suitcase Made to Mrs. M. S. Doupe.

MARMORA, May 27.—(Examiner Correspondence)—Taking advantage of a brief return visit of Mrs. M. S. Doupe, representatives of Marmora Women's Institute, the Ladies' Aid of Marmora United church and Marmora Council No. 279 C.O.C.F. met at the home of Mrs. T. R. Wells on Friday evening to present the former lady with a handsome combination suitcase. The presentation was made by Mrs. H. W. Sabine, newly-elected president of the local Women's Institute while the address was read by Mr. W. J. Cottrell, Chief Councillor of Marmora Council No. 279 C.O.C.F. The address was as follows:

Dear Mrs. Doupe:

We, as representatives of Marmora Women's Institute, the Ladies' Aid of Marmora United church and Marmora Council No. 279 C.O.C.F. are jointly gathered here this evening to express to you in a tangible way our very deep appreciation of the valued support which you have given our various organizations while resident in Marmora. We deeply regret that the leave taking could not be effected as originally hoped, with the attendance of your dear husband. That he may recover is our earnest wish and prayer as we present to you this combination suitcase as a token of our regard. We also entrust you with a gift of money whereby flowers or any other gift which would cheer your husband may be obtained. The days which lie before us are destined to be marked with grateful recollections of your many encouraging words and kind actions and may both of you be sustained in the cloudy hours of life through recalling that companionship we were under God's hand able to offer you, having the assurance that our united good wishes continue.

May we all in all reality feel
Apart, yet not afar;
Only a thin veil hangs between
The pathways where we are."

Mrs. Doupe, who was taken by surprise, made fitting reply and in thanking the donors referred to her long association with the three different organizations.

Maggie Fixes It.

(Examiner Correspondence)

HAVELOCK, May 29.—Havelock Junior Institute and Agricultural Society gave a very delightful comedy entitled, "Maggie Fixes It" in Havelock Town Hall on Thursday, May 22, at which a large number were present.

If it had not been for the wreck on the main-line railroad passing through Goldensburg, this delightful comedy could not have been written. Dale Golden, searching around in the wreckage, found a girl soaking wet, and clad only in pyjamas. Dale takes her to his home; the play begins. It is love at first sight. Matilda the golden household servant, suggests that as the rescued girl has no money, she be offered a job as aunt Pat's maid. The girl is Maggie. By twisted circumstances, Dale finds out that she really is Peggy Harris, New York heiress, with a penchant for doing the unusual. At the time of the wreck she is running away from a distasteful marriage. As a maid, Maggie is having a hard time of it. As a little "fixer" she is a home run. She manages everything and everyone. Laugh after laugh, is the sequence from now on.

The tradesmen vie with each other for Maggie's favor. She manipulates Dale's love affairs, saves him from business ruin, keeps the comedy humming, and with a delightful sense of humor, like all people who start out to fix things for someone else, she really fixes them for herself, and ends the play with an old time love romance, between Dale and Maggie. A few of the character types are Aunt Pat of the old school; Edna, the sob sister; Gloria, a wily working vamp, Matilda, grown mossy in service, a business man, a chore boy, a grocers boy, an athletic girl, and a village vamp. In the lead, Beatrice Crawford as Maggie, and Isaac Anderson as Dale were excellent, and had the sympathy of the audience from start to finish. Madeline as the servant, and Elma Martin as the Dale's aunt were all that could be desired, and fitted the parts perfectly. Jean Anderson as Gloria the spoiled girl, who has set her cap for Dale and is quite unashamed in her wooing, was extra good, and Bernice Parcels and Margaret Jones made the most of minor roles. Fred Bennett as Will Holt the grocery clerk, was very funny, and quite proprietorial towards Maggie, immediately after he had proposed. Harold McQuigge as the Roscoe King, the village sheik was very good, and made plenty of fun by his wooing. Harry Anderson as Edward Hawkins, business man, was also good, in a small part. Hugh Buchanan as Rickie, man of all work was exceedingly funny. The play throughout, was given with almost professional efficiency, and reflects great credit on the instructress, Mrs. Coates, who gave most generously of her time in preparing it. After the last curtain call had been taken, the cast through the medium of their president, presented Mrs. Coates with a sheaf of roses, thus taking her completely by surprise.

Mr. J. B. Nelson was the efficient chairman, and in introducing the players, gave a brief outline of the short courses, which had led to the twin societies being formed here. After the play was concluded the members of the Institute who did not take part in the play, served refreshments, to the players. The sale of candy between the acts brought the proceeds up $12 more.

About $70.00 net was realized.

CATTLE, GRAIN, PRODUCE

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, May 29—Wheat was marked up 2 cents per bushel yesterday on the Montreal grain market.

Local cheese exporters again lowered their prices owing to the poor demand. Westerns became 16½c per pound and Easterns 16c per pound. These prices were ¼c lower than at Tuesday's close. Receipts were 843 boxes.

The butter market was also weaker, the wholesale level for carlots of Eastern Townships No. 1 pasteurized being 28c per pound. Prices to the retail trade were unchanged. Receipts were 109 boxes.

There was a downward trend to prices on the lower grades of eggs wholesale, with a corresponding reduction in quotations to retailers. Fresh firsts were lowered 1c per dozen. Others were unchanged. Receipts amounted to 2,328 cases.

The potato market held about steady, but the tendency was to lower prices. New potatoes from South Carolina were quoted at $7.75 for No. 1 grade and $5.75 for No. 2 grade per 150-pound barrels. Old potatoes were quoted at $1.65 to $1.75 for New Brunswick Green Mountains per 90 pounds, in bulk, and $1.50 for Quebecs.

TORONTO PRODUCE

TORONTO, May 29.—The local egg market was able to hold its own yesterday and the drop in prices to shippers and dealers, that went into effect the first of the week, was still in order. Country shippers were quoted 28c for extras, 26c for firsts, and 23c for seconds, ungraded, delivered, cases returned. Dealers were also quoting the decreased prices of 30½c for extras, 28¼c for firsts, and 25½c for seconds, graded, free cases. This might be called slightly weaker as some sales were made on Tuesday at ½c better than these prices. Retailers were asked to pay 35c for extras in cartons, 33c for extras loose, 31c for firsts loose, and 28c for seconds loose.

Butter

The butter market appeared about steady, with prices to shippers the same as on Tuesday—28½c to 29c for No. 1 Ontario creamery, pasteurized, and 27½c to 28c for seconds, with good sales at the higher prices. The "all grass" product continued to find favor with the buyers and the future appeared much brighter, from the shippers' viewpoint.

Cream

Churning cream remained at the new low prices listed Monday, and shippers were quoted, f.o.b. country points, 31c to 32c for special, 30c to 31c for No. 1, and 27c to 28c for No. 2.

Cheese

New cheese has been called a little firmer during the past day or two, and, as stated Tuesday, some sales have been made at 17¼c for new large. But the general sales called for the following scale of prices: 17c to 17¼c for new large, 17¼c for new twins, and 17½c for new triplets. Quotations to retailers remained firm at 18¼c for new large, 18¾c for new twins, and 19c for new triplets, and old cheese 27c to 28c for large, and 28c to 29c for twins.

Poultry

One poultry dealer stated that too many people were figuring on "big things" from the Shriners' convention in June. They expected, he said, to get fine prices for great amounts of poultry, but they were due for a severe disappointment. "The market is becoming loaded with fowl," stated this buyer, "and there will be an awful slump in the next few weeks. We have lowered our prices accordingly, as we do not expect any unheard of demand. Some of the country shippers fail to remember that this convention is for four days only, and not for a month."

Potatoes

Wholesalers were again quoting Ontario potatoes yesterday, but in bags only, and the prices was $1.75, just 25 cents lower than New Brunswicks. New Brunswicks were priced at $2, in bags, and $1.90 in bulk, and Prince Edward Island Cobblers were $2 and Mountains $2.10. Some New Brunswick shippers were wiring $2.25, but local dealers claimed they were too high to be considered.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, May 29.— Notable upturns in wheat values took place yesterday, but the market reacted later because of selling to realize profits. Unfavorable crop advices from the southwest and northwest and from Ohio and Indiana, as well, with France and Italy reporting crop deterioration too, had a stimulating effect on buyers. An outstandig feature was that much wheat southwest appeared to be making less progress than improved weather would warrant.

Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled, ¼c to 1c a bushel higher than Tuesday's finish. Corn closed irregular, ranging ¾c to 7-8c decline to ¼c advance, with oats a shade off to 1-8c. up, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 12c.

Provisions averaged higher, responsive to upturns in the value of hogs.

Closing indemnities: Wheat—July, $1.08 3-8 to $1.08 1-8; $1.08 7-8 to $1.09. September, $1.08 7-8 to $1.09; $1.11 3-8; December, $1.13 1-8 to $1.15 1-2. Corn—July, 79 3-8c. to 80 5-8c.; September, 80 5-8c. to 81 7-8c.; December, 75 1-8c. to 76 1-8c.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, May 29. — Buying on the Winnipeg wheat market yesterday took care of all unloading in sight until near the close, when early gains of more than a cent and one-half were cut down. Final quotations showed that values, however, were ⅝c to ⅞c better than Tuesday's close, due to strength at Liverpool, plus foreign and local buying.

Though overnight export was placed at no better than 400,000 bushels, opinions indicated that more wheat had changed hands. Cash interest in wheat and coarse grains was very light and virtually no business was done in these lines.

GIFTS TO CHARITY TO HAVE NO TAX

Act is Broadened Out to Include All Charitable Institutions.

BENNETT APPLAUDS GOV'T.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 29.—(C.P.)—By an amendment to the Income War Tax Act adopted in the House of Commons to-day, contributions to any charitable organization not exceeding 10 per cent. of the income of the taxpayer are exempt from income tax. The term "charitable organization" in its legal sense includes churches, hospitals, schools, universities, and institutions for the relief of poverty.

In its original form the amendment only applied to churches, hospitals and educational institutions. At the request of Opposition members the government reconsidered the matter. Opposition members and Hon. W. D. Euler, Minister of National Revenue, to-day announced the provision would be broadened out to include all charitable organizations. With this change the amending act was passed. Hon. R. B. Bennett, leader of the Opposition, congratulated the government on the change. He said it would apply to practically every benevolent object to which any Canadian might wish to contribute.

OBITUARY

MRS. SOPHRONIA POUNDER.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CORDOVA MINES, May 29. — On Sunday last, May 25th, the death occurred at her home in Cordova, of Mrs. Sophronia Pounder, relict of the late George Pounder.

The deceased, whose maiden name was Barnum, was in her 78th year, had resided in Cordova for the past 30 years, and was well and favorably known by a large circle of friends.

Mrs. Pounder had been ill for some time past, but three weeks ago she fell, and had been confined to her bed since that time. Her husband predeceased her about 16 years ago. One Brother, Amos Barnum of Seymour, survives. She also leaves one daughter, Mrs. Gilbert Steenburg, of Cordova, and one son, Anson, at home and two adopted daughters ,Mrs. Gordon Young of Havelock, and Miss Jessie Spencer, at home, to mourn her loss.

The funeral, which was largely attended, was held at the Cordova Free Methodist Church, Rev. Mr. Corey officiating. Many beautiful floral offerings spoke eloquently of the love and esteem of a host of friends. Two of these were particularly lovely. A large wreath from her sons and daughters and a spray from her grandchildren.

The pallbearers were Messrs. H. Clemenger John Van Volkenburg, W. Steenburg, Terry Fitzpatrick, William Purdy and Richard Spry. Burial was made in Rockdale cemetery. Some of those from a distance who attended the funeral were Messrs. Edward and Harry Scarlett, and Mrs. J. Burns of Trenton and Miss B. Scarlett of Deloro. The sympathy of all in Cordova and surrounding district goes to the bereaved family.

Practically the entire mining industry of Bolivia, upon which the prosperity of the country depends, is now severely handicapped by the unfavorable prices prevailing for silver, copper, tin, lead, and zinc, but hopes are expressed for an early recovery.

PREPARING THE LISTS.

According to the new Dominion Election Act passed by the House of Commons yesterday, the responsibility for naming the enumerators who in the urban areas of the various constituencies will prepare the voters' lists for the forthcoming Federal election is placed on the shoulders of the candidates whose duty it will be to recommend the names of enumerators for each polling sub-division to the returning officer.

It is of the greatest importance that the work of preparing the voters' lists should be done as accurately and completely as possible and probably the policy of allowing each of the contending parties to name officials for the task is justified as providing a check upon the work.

At the same time it is to be hoped that the candidates will be impressed with the advisability of securing the best possible officials for this most vital undertaking.

The appointment of enumerators should not be viewed as an avenue of handing out a little patronage to party workers but as a serious responsibility that should be discharged by the selection of persons capable and qualified to do the work efficiently and accurately.

Otherwise the preliminary enumeration will leave plenty of work for the revision court to do later.

IT PAYS TO CLEAN UP

It pays a community, just as it pays an individual to put on a good front.

The city that shows its visitors clean streets, trim lawns, graceful trees, and well-kept gardens sells itself immediately as a city in which it is good to live and the impression carried away may have important results in the future.

A fraternal degree team from Guelph which visited Peterborough last Saturday and was given an opportunity to view the principal points of interest went away delighted with the splendid appearance of the city and especially with the manner in which many of the local manufacturers have beautified their factory grounds.

The appearance of the industrial plants made a most favorable impression upon all the visitors, who were not slow in expressing their approval of what they saw.

The incident should give impetus to the present clean-up campaign and serve as an encouragement to those good citizens who are busy in making their premises trim and beautiful.

Nothing so impresses the average visitor as a vista of clean streets, neat lawns and gardens and beautiful parks, and Peterborough, already well advanced in that respect, should complete the work of beautifying the city during the present campaign.

THE SPEED LIMIT.

Canadian delegates to an international conference on traffic laws and suggesting the adoption of a 45-mile per hour speed limit, with the proviso that a rate faster than that speed would not necessarily be illegal unless the circumstances warranted slower driving.

There are many motorists who believe that the rate of speed prescribed by law is not a very important factor in traffic control and that better results would be attained by abolishing the speed limit and making drivers responsible for accidents occasioned by their carelessness or neglect.

However true that view may be the proposal to legalize a rate of 45 miles an hour will be viewed with misgiving.

The condition that would inevitably be created by such a change is that the principal stream of traffic on the main highways would roll along at 45 miles an hour or better, and there would still be the same percentage of reckless drivers to chafe at that rate as too slow and to cut in and out of traffic at their own peril and menacing the safety of other motorists.

And if 55 miles an hour was made the legal speed, the "cutters-in" would still weave in and out, spreading death and destruction in their trail.

The simple truth is that there is a percentage of car drivers mentally unfit to have charge of such a death weapon as a high-powered automobile—and until these people are in jail or have killed themselves, the particular rate of speed set by the authorities will play very little part in the scheme of things.

WHAT CANADIANS EAT.

Figures given in the monthly publication of the Royal Bank of Canada, as to food consumption in this county indicate that in many respects Canadians are the best fed people in the world.

Some of the statistics, especially those dealing with dairy products show an increase in consumption that is little short of amazing.

Take butter, for example.

The figures quoted prove that Canadians in 1929 consumed 29 pounds per capita, an increase from 23½ pounds in 1920.

It takes 450 million gallons of milk to satisfy the Canadian demand for this product, the consumption amounting to a pint a day for every man, woman and child in the country.

Since 1920 the requirements of the home market for whole milk, cream, butter, cheese, and ice cream have resulted in increased consumption of 143 million pounds of butter fat.

We eat twice as many eggs now as we did in 1920 and our consumption of poultry has increased from seven to ten pounds per capita.

Similarly we are disposing of a much larger quantity of pork, the consumption of which has increased from 560 million pounds to nearly 800 million pounds, which figures out as an increase from 66 to 81½ pounds per capita.

On the other hand beef consumption shows only a small increase and there has been a falling-off in the quantity of mutton and lamb consumed.

ONLY ONE THING TO DO

The deadly level crossing has ceased to be something to which we can refer in an academic sense. It is not right that it should remain as a topic which we can discuss every time there is life taken and then proceed to adjourn the discussion until broken bodies again draw our attention to it.

Yesterday morning at one smash six lives were taken near Cobourg; a short time before that a smash at Chatham took one brother and sent another to a hospital where he is reported to be in a serious condition.

Fortunately without loss of life a car was hit on the road west of St. Marys. All these events were staged with a precision that indicates danger in many and widely-departed sections of the province.

The most serious accident near Cobourg was described in an official statement from W. A. Kingsland, general manager of the central region of the C.N.R. system. It will be noticed that Mr. Kingsland says the gates at that crossing near Cobourg have been smashed off ten times by motor vehicles so far this year.

It is quite right that Mr. Kingsland should point to that fact. It is his business to make note of every detail which would set forth the conditions at that particular place.

But no amount of explanation can do away with this fact: There was a crossing there where people could be killed; the same thing has been demonstrated at Chatham, and it has been shown that a similar condition exists near St. Marys.

Those grade crossings are there today just as they were at the moment of the accidents. They will be there next week and so on as long as the public mind is complacent enough to tolerate their existence.

It is quite easy to have an explanation regarding the manner in which these accident occurred. We suppose that at each inquest there will be the usual blue print of the locality, and there will be the usual markings on it to show where the crash took place. No doubt there will be a history of events immediately preceding the crash placed before the jurors.

There will be explanations offered that it was a dark night, or that there was conversation going on in the car. It may be urged that with more care the crossing should have been seen, and so on.

But these things do not help, neither do they explain. There will always be dark nights; it is likely at times there may be rain or fog; there will always be headlights from other cars.

It is for this reason that there can be only one solution, and that is to do away with such crossings, so that there will be no need for coroners or juries to gather round so often to seek and find some explanation which will fit each succeeding case.

We have tried signs at level crossings; at other places there have been bells put in; then, too, there are those wig-wag signals and gates in a number of places where traffic is very heavy.

All these things have been useful to some extent; we dare say there would have been many more accidents were these safety efforts not in existence at all.

Yet the records very clearly show that drivers smash through the gates; the one in which the public will be very much interested just now has been smashed ten times this season. Drivers go ahead in spite of bells and wig-wags, and they arrive right on the track when an engine gets there. So we can take it for granted that preventive effort of the sort we have used is pitifully insufficient.

We must take into consideration careful drivers and others who are not similarly blessed with that quality. Put the highways over or under the railroad tracks.

The two things simply do not belong on the same level, and we have been demonstrating this over and over with funeral processions, and with anxious relatives waiting in hospital corridors to hear if there is any chance for recovery of loved ones.

It is going to cost money, but what of it when there is no other decent way out?—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The R 100 is not likely to arrive in this country until the middle of the election campaign, by which time Canadians should be thoroughly accustomed to wind bags.

There would seem to be more than the usual crop of issues for the forthcoming election campaign, but they'll all boil down to the usual struggle between the "Ins" and the "outs."

That Toronto man who tossed an over-ripe tomato at a motorist who "honked" at him for not getting out of the way quick enough deserves to be gratefully remembered by a long-suffering section of the public.

COMPLAINT

It is best to endure what you cannot mend, and without murmuring to attend upon God, by whose ordering all things come to pass. He is a bad soldier who follows his captain complaining.

What To-day Means To You

"GEMINI."

If May 29th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 7 a.m. to 9 a.m., from 1 p.m. to 2:30 p.m. and from 8 p.m. to 9 p.m. The danger periods are from 4:30 a.m. to 6 a.m., and from 11 p.m. to midnight.

The benign influences of this date should create a feeling of genuine good fellowship among all, and it should be a splendid time to patch up quarrels and misunderstandings. Lovers, take advantage of these propitious moments! Again through inheritance or speculation.

The child born on this May 29th will be industrious, but will lack initiative. It will have a good deal for detail work, and will have the patience to dig things out, step by step. It will be sensitive to slights and easily offended.

Inasmuch as you do your best when you are rather a last minute person, racing with time. To catch a train by the skin of your teeth, to write a club impromptu, is the very breath of life paper the day of delivery, or to entertain with you. You do not need to be pitied in the midst of your self-created turmoil—you love it. Highly concentrated is one of your strong points. Your mind and your hands can work in harmony with speed, and it may be said that you are not a slovenly worker. As a loafer, however, you are en entirely different person. You know the secrets of complete relaxation, both mind and body. It is not always easy to interest or enthuse you, but once you go into things, it is with your whole heart and soul.

You are good at the "give and take" of life, and if anything you will meet the other fellow more than half way in order to keep peace and harmony. You do not have a pugnacious nature, and you would rather reason than fight, but those who step on your toes too hard, soon regret the fact. You do not allow yourself to become easily prejudiced, and are always ready to give any one the benefit of the doubt. You will not be a mill stone around the neck of your wife or husband, but a "fifty-fifty" partner.

APRIL ESCAPADES

CHAPTER XXI.

This man had hired her, as he might have hired any poor little street walker, to play a part. Rich and idle and perfectly willing to run all sorts of risks himself, he had needed a pretty girl for a few hours, and without the slightest difficulties he had found her—had found her willing to take chances so much heavier than his own!

Well, in a few hours she would be home, this secret shut forever in her own heart, she would be home again, wiser and older and sadder, and ready to forget the past, and turn only toward the future—toward being everything that Cass and Mother and Mart and the children could ever want her to be.

And meanwhile, she told herself bitterly, she had the satisfaction of knowing that everything that these spoiled young men believed of poor girls was true. They could be bought, they had no pride, they must be laughed at with perfect impunity.

"And I have a stain against my name forever'" she said aloud, in the dark.

But it couldn't be quite as bad as that. Some people, Mother and Mart, if they ever found out, would surely believe her story. They would know it was only the appearance of things that was against her.

"But you didn't deliberatly pack your things—and lie to me—and go down to that man's house, Mary Kate," she could hear her mother say. "You knew better than that, dear. You knew that that was wrong?"

Suppose Mart refused to touch money made this way? Suppose Mart drove her out of the house—

He couldn't do that! Mother wouldn't let him.

She got out of bed, and knelt down in the dark, and prayed, her hands over her face.

"Please get me out of this. Have me safely back at home, and none of them knowing—none of them angry at me. I didn't mean to do this! I thought—I only thought—"

What she had thought was already vague and far-away. She could not recall it. Her mind drifted idly, while she remained on her knees, went to and fro in a wearisome weaving without beginning or coherence or end.

The ivory dress—the spring-flushed countryside from the train—a parrot on a perch—home again, and silence, and normality once more—the bridge game, and herself so fatuously self-satisfied with her make-believe position and her jewels——!

She was still kneeling when a faint sound stopped the blood in her heart, and brought the salt water to her mouth. Her fingers—her spine, grew cold, her very brain seemed frozen.

This for an endless second. Then her heart began pumping so violently she thought it would suffocate her. She remained absolutely motionless, not making a sound, not moving, by the faintest hundredth part, a fiber of her being.

Somebody was fumbling cautiously with her window shutter. Like a blinding flash of light she considered it. Just a latched shutter, with a bolt, a string, cleverly inserted, might lift the bolt, and if it were lifted, it would make just that faint sound—that shadow of a sound—Mary Kate's staring eyes were turned toward it, in the dark. Her finger-tips were pressed against her cheeks, her mouth open. Outside, the black garden, and the country night. Behind her, as she knelt here on the floor beside the bed, the mysterious unfamiliar passage of the dark house. Where was Chris? Had he come back? Where were the servants?

She could not move. She dared not make a rush for that locked door behind her, and stumble blindly through the dark house, screaming for help, with perhaps this murderous house-breaker's hands throttling her even while she screamed—

"I'm imagining it," her sick spirit tried to say, deep within her. "Oh, my God, save me! Oh, God, help me! Oh, get me out—"

The shutter clicked audibly, this was not imagination. Swallowing with a dry throat, only determined not to faint, Mary Kate rose to her feet, stumbled backward toward the door without daring to turn her back to the shutter, and put shaking hands on the key.

This without a sound. She could hear her own heart pounding, nothing more.

And as she stood there, half-turned toward the room, panting, she saw the shutter swing slowly out. The figure of a man was silhouetted against the night.

There was no moon, a heavy fog had crept in with the turn of the night, and had shut out the stars. But there was a faint glow from some distant roadside lamp, in the side garden, and it penetrated through the trees and shrubs enough to show her the moving figure—a figure that was busy now with the shutters, opening them back noiselessly, securing them against the wall, where they would make no sound.

She turned the key in the latch, the door was open. In a nightmare panic she reached the lower hall, and was groping with shaking hands for the passage that led toward the sitting room—toward the stairs.

To escape from the house was unthinkable, she must rouse someone before she must get to Chris.

Barefooted, clad only in her nightdress that she had washed and ironed herself for the great adventure, she went swiftly, hardly breathing, along the passage. To call, prematurely, to risk even a second of light, might be to bring upon her her own destruction. The fingers of the murderer seemed clawing at her hair as she went.

The stairway! It was a narrow, iron-balustraded stairway that climbed against one of the plain white-plastered walls, its balustrade was only a heavy tasselled red rope, supported by filagree posts. What was above Mary Kate had no idea, but Christopher must be up there—he must be up there, or she would go shrieking made with terror!

At the top of the twisted flight was a narrow hall, in which a low red light was burning. Mary Kate tried a door—piles and piles of linen. Another door, giving upon a dark, empty room full of books—somebody's study. The third door was Christopher's bedroom, and at her first whispered "Chris!" he was awakened, had turned over in bed.

She was beside him, sitting on the bed, holding his hands with her own frozen, trembling fingers. The blessedness of finding him, of finding someone living, warm, familiar, protecting, almost robbed her of speech.

"No—don't light the light—"

"Mary, for God's sake, what is it!"

"Don't light the light!"

"But what is it?"

"It's—" she bowed over him, fighting for breath, cawing in her dry throat. "It's a man!"

His hands were gripping her arms tightly, reassuringly, he was still lying on his pillow.

"You're dreaming!"

"No, no, no, I'm not dreaming! It's a man——"

"Nonsense!" Chris persisted, but in a whisper whose inaudibility matched her own.

"Down in my room—it must be the pearls—" she breathed.

"You saw him?"

"Oh, clearly. I had—I had bolted the shutters—because of the porch windows. But the windows—where the shutters are—weren't locked——"

"Don't tremble so! It's all right. I'll call—'Ill get the police. He won't come upstairs—"

By the dim light in the room she could see him reaching for the telephone that rested on a little rack beside his bed.

"Oh, don't! wait! He may go away! Don't risk his—his might have a gun——"

"He may be only a drunk."

Mary Kate had moved enough to give him room to sit up, and put his feet to the floor, now he reached for a dressing gown, and in the shadows she could see him sticking his long arms into the sleeves. Barefoot, without making a sound, he crossed to a desk, and quietly drew out an upper drawer.

Chris came back to the bed, and breathed into her ear.

"I think you were dreaming," he said. "But just the same I'm going to look around. It might't do any harm to take that little telephone, and tell Peters I want him and Tony and anyone else right away—tell 'em to get in the back door—Mrs. Peters has the keys—ring that bell twice, with your finger—it won't make any sound—"

There was a second's silence. Then from downstairs came a muffled sound, the sound of a chair falling.

"Hello!" Chris said, gripping her wrist. "You're right! He's in. He's in the dining room, probably. Get Peters if you can—"

The little flat, double-disked receiver quivering in her hand, the girl placed it at mouth and ear.

"Did you ring twice?"

"Yes."

"Make it snappy," said the whisper at her ear. "Unless he starts up the stairs he can't hear you."

"You talk!" Mary Kate quavered in the very shadow of a voice. She surrendered the instrument, and Chris leaned heavily on her shoulder as he talked, in a sharp, rasping breath.

"Peters? Man in the house, Peters. Rouse Tony and get over here as fast as you can—No, I'll call the police, you get over here—"

And instantly he was speJaing through the other telephone, hardlyabove a whisper, she could hear the click of some alarmed reply.

"Hello, operator, look alive, will you? I'm reporting a burglary—the man is in my house—yep, now. Yep. Will you? This is the Bersinger house—up beyond the club—tell 'em to move fast, will you? Steynes, Steynes. In the Bersinger house.

LOWLAND DWELLERS DRIVEN FROM HOMES

Louisiana Upstate Flood Waters Threaten to Widen Over flow Territory.

NEW ORLEANS, La., May 29. — (C.P.)—Having claimed their first life, Louisiana's upstate flood waters gnawed to-day at levels and emergency dykes and threatened to widen the area covered by the overflow.

Driven from their homes, approximately six thousand lowland dwellers continued to receive aid from the Red Cross and other agencies in concentration camps.

The territory lying between the dividing line of Bossier and Red River parishes, to Coushatta, thus far has received the brunt of the Red River overflow with stretches inundated for 15 miles on both sides of the river. In Red River and Natchitoches parishes alone, more than a hundred thousand acres have been covered by water with another hundred thousand lying under receding muddy water in Bossier, Caddo and Desoto parishes.

The first fatality of the flood occurred yesterday when William E. Laffoon, 17, was drowned in Grant parish while attempting to drive cattle across an area overflowed by water from Sandy Bayou.

ANGLICAN AND CATHOLIC CHURCH UNION SUGGESTED

KINGSTON, Ont., May 28 (Canadian Press). — The union of the Church of England with other branches of the Catholic Church was referred to by Rev. Dr. F. H. Cosgrave, Provost of Trinity College, Toronto, during his sermon delivered at the annual Synod service in St. George's Cathedral last evening.

Dr. Cosgrave explained that the Church of England had some feature which related it to the Roman Catholic Church, while it had other features which related it to the Non-conformist Protestant Churches, and it could not be united with the one or the other without sacrificing something essential to its entity.

Dr. Cosgrave stated the church in its present form had strayed from Christ's ideal. In the way of a union of all the branches of the Catholic Church, he emphasized the desirability of a united Holy Catholic Church, but expressed the opinion that it could only be brought about by all Christian churches deciding simultaneously and unanimously on a basis of union.

1ST PETERBOROUGH TROOP

Arrangements for the forthcoming parents were pushed forward at the last weekly meeting of the 1st Peterborough Troop of Boy Scouts (St. John's). Scoutmaster Johnson opened the meeting in the usual manner afterwards dismissing the boys for inspection and patrol instruction.

During the evening Commissioner Hornsby and S. M. Wolfe paid a short visit to the troop and soon after they had terminated their call, Scout Master Ingram paid the troop a visit to renew old friendships, which commenced with a former visit to the troop a year ago. The Scouter is connected with an Oshawa troop. During the evening two recruits were invested as scouts and towards the close of the meeting S.M. Ingram addressed the boys and in a few words spoke of the relation of scouting to nature. He also led the boys in a fine game called "Match box relay."

The proceedings closed with the National Anthem and the hauling down of the flag.

Parents and Boys Please Note—It has been found necessary to postpone Parent's Night to Friday, June 6 at 7.30 p.m.

Wheat Averages Lower On Chicago Grain Mart

CHICAGO, Ill., May 29. (C.P.)—With much enlarged deliveries on May wheat contracts here and with Liverpool quotations weak, the Chicago wheat market averaged lower early to-day. Oklahoma reports of root rot, were current, but for at least the time being failed to act, as any great stimulus to buyers. Opening unchanged to 1½ lower, Chicago wheat afterward rallied. Corn, oats and provisions were also easy, with corn starting ½—5-8 off to 1-8—¼ up, and subsequently holding near to yesterday's finish.

STOCKS CONTINUE SLOWLY UPWARD

Operators Appear to Believe Substantial Business Recovery Close at Hand.

HOLIDAY HAS EFFECT.

NEW YORK, N.Y., May 29 (Canadian Press). — Stock prices continued their leisurely and somewhat halting upward progress to-day, as professional operators, scanning the rather meagre industrial news at hand, still appeared to feel that the weight of the evidence favored substantial business recovery within a few months.

Speculation for the rise was resumed in merchandise stocks to-day for the first time this week.

The rail shares, however, continued to reflect light movement of freight.

Trading was restricted by the fact that the market closes to-day for the rest of the week, and many traders, in anticipation of a dull day, left town yesterday. The preparation for three-day closing seemed to call out as much short covering as profit-taking

Worthington Pump sold up more than 7 points to above 167, a gain in excess of 100 points from the year's low Columbian Carbon made a similar advance. In the steels, Spring Chalfant, normally not very active, rose several points in active trading. Shares gaining three points or more included American Tobacco B, Macy, Sears-Roebuck, Safeway Stores, Jewel Tea, and A. M. Byers.

Several of the foods shares were well bought, National Biscuit, Bardens, and National Dairy reaching the best levels of the year. Other shares making fair progress included Air Reduction, Proctor & Gamble, Drug Inc., Curtis Publishing, Goodyear, General Asphalt, and United Cigar Stores Preferred. In the rails, Chesapeake and Ohio dropped 8 points, then rallied moderately.

'AUSSIES' AGAIN SMOTHER OXFORD

Showed Batting Power and Then Prove Prowess With Ball.

OTHER CRICKET SCORES.

LONDON, May 29 (C.P.).—Having proved their strength with the bat, the Australian cricketers made a show of Oxford University with the ball to-day. Australia declared their first innings closed at 406 for two wickets, and then skittled out the Collegians for 124. Clarence Grimmett, the Antipodean slow bowler, captured five wickets for 48 runs. Oxford followed on, and at the tea interval had lost three wickets for 59 runs.

Second day tea time scores in other matches were:

Middlesex versus Hampshire, at Lord's: Middlesex, 232 and 60 runs for one wicket; Hants, 230 (Hosie 63, Lownes 52, Durston five wickets for 74 runs).

Gloucestershire versus Surrey, at the Kennington Oval: Gloucester, 150 and 173 for two wickets (Hammond 78, Lyon 70, both not out); Surrey, 194 (Hobbs 83, Goddard five wickets for 67 runs; Neale four wickets for 92 runs).

Derbyshire versus Kent,at Ilkeston: Derby, 136 and 274 for eight wickets (Townsend 104, Jackson 57 not out); Kent, 107.

Nottinghamshire versus Glamorganshire, at Nottingham: Glamorgan 231; Notts, 443 for nine wickets (Payton 64, Lilley 68, Barratt 61).

Yorkshire versus Essex, at Dewsbury: Yorkshire 364 for nine wickets, declared; Essex, 216 for three wickets (Russell 74, Nichols 77, both not out).

Lancashire versus Leicestershire at Nelson; Lancashire 206 and 79 for no wickets; Leicester 126 (MacDonald, four wickets for 41 runs. Dick Tyldesley six wickets for 20 runs).

Worcestershire versus Northamptonshire at Worcester; Northants 259, Worcester 245 for seven wickets.

Cambridge University versus Sussex at Cambridge; Sussex 265 and 198 for five wickets (Duleepsinhji 127 not out); Cambridge 87 (Bowley, four wickets for 25 runs).

'BREWERIES' RISE TO NEW SUMMIT

Featured Trading, Leading the Activity on Montreal 'Change.

DISCOUNTS PROSPECTS.

MONTREAL, Que., May 29. (C.P.)—To-day's trading on the Montreal Stock Exchange was again featured by National Breweries which established a new high for the year yesterday and to-day climbed a further point. It lead the Exchange in activity, selling in larger quantities than Brazilian Traction or International Nickel, the traditional leaders of the Exchange.

The strength in Breweries is understood to be discounting the company's favorable prospects. It touched a year's high of 35 3-8 to-day and eased slightly to 35¼ where it was a full point over yesterday's close.

Elsewhere the market showed a long list of fractional gains and in one or two places point increases. Losses were few. Shawinigan recovered the point it lost yesterday, selling at 75. Brazilian Traction, after opening stronger at 50, turned soft, but recovered to 49 7-8, where it showed an increase of 1-8. Nickel held about unchanged and Montreal Power was fractionally higher.

PRICE CHANGES REMAIN LIGHT

Market Idles Through Another Dull Period on Toronto Stock Exchange.

SOME FRACTIONAL GAINS.

TORONTO, Ont., May 29. (C.P.)—The market idled through another dull period on the Toronto Stock Exchange this morning. As has been the case all this week, price changes were for small amounts and were of no significance.

This morning fractional gains were made in Brazilian, International Nickel, Bell Telephone, Ford of Canada, Massey-Harris, were among those to show some appreciation. City Dairy was up ½ point, on an increased turnover and DeForest Crosley, on the curb, was firm at 11.

Oils varied by ½ point, or less, B. A. Oil and Supertest easier, Imperial and International Petroleum firmer. Service Stations sold up above 45 again.

SEEK EMPIRE ECONOMIC POLICY

LONDON, Eng., May 29. (C.P.)—The Congress of the Empire Chambers of Commerce yesterday called upon th governmnts of the Empire to make a concerted move to formulate an Empire economic policy. The business men who form the congress passed a resolution to this effect without a dissenting voice.

YOUR INVESTMENTS

by R. M. DIXON, B.A. District Representative of BICKLE, CLARKE & CO., LTD. 330 Bay Street, Toronto INVESTMENT SECURITIES

ARTICLE XXXIV.

Q.—What are the chief objects and advantages of corporate forms of conducting business?

A.—Corporate forms of conducting business offer many advantages and are therefore replacing the partnerships of former days. They create a new channel for the investment of funds. The small investor is able in this way to be a part owner of large concerns without any personal liability for debts incurred by such concerns, or without having to take part in the management of its affairs. The corporation is able to attract greater sums of money than would be possible in any other way. And the shareholder can share in the profits of the company. These profits are not retained by a few, but are distributed in varying amounts among the many shareholders. The risk is also borne by a large number.

This concentration of capital is responsible for the large corporations of to-day. They are not dissolved with the death of an owner as in the case of a partnership but are in a sense perpetual. The management is divided among several directors, the stockholders retaining control through their voting privileges.

Such organizations fulfil a necessary part in our daily life. Large scale organizations provide the necessities and comforts of life at prices which would be otherwise impossible. And the life of a large organization must be perpetual. They build for the future, improving year by year. If it were not so, our existence would not be so abundant.

TWO YEAR CHILD CARRIED OFF BY BIG BLACK BEAR

Tiny Tot Missing Since Wednesday Right After Bear Was Seen.

IN KENORA WILDS.

Constable and Farmers Comb Bush All Night With Lantern in Vain.

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., May 28.—(C.P.)—Believed to have been carried off by a big black bear a two year old child, son of M. and Mrs. Geske, home steader near Dinorwic, on the C.P.R., 196 miles west of Port Arthur, has been missing since Wednesday afternoon. A big bear was seen in the vicinity of the home.

Mother Frantic.

During the afternoon the two year old child, playing about the house, rambled into the yard and has not been seen since. The mother, missing the child, ran frantic to neighbors. Provincial police were notified and Constable Wright of Dorion started a search, assisted by a number of farmers entering the bush. Search was carried on through the night with the aid of lanterns. Constable Wright has been authorized from district headquarters here to use every possible means and spare nothing in the effort to find the child.

SHOOTING OF LAD COST CITY $6,650

Montreal Constable Seeking False Alarm Culprit Shoots Innocent Youth.

HIT IN LEG.

MONTREAL, Que., May 29. (C.P.)—Theodore Roy, who was shot in the leg and placed under arrest by Constable Ouellet two years ago, today was awarded judgement of $6,650 against the City of Montreal by Mr. Justice Martineau.

Roy claimed he had been standing at a street inter-section bidding good-night to friends when a taxi pulled up and the constable jumped out, reaching for his revolver. Roy was terrified and ran away with some friends. The constable, according to the plaintiff, ran after the boys and fired a shot which struck Roy's leg. The boy was taken to police headquarters.

A false alarm had been rung and the constable was seeking the culprit. In defense the city claimed that the act was an accident and no action could be brought as claim had not been entered within 30 days. The court refused to accept this plea, pointing out that the injury was not an accident as the police officer had voluntarily discharged his revolver.

W. McKENDRY DIES IN FENELON FALLS

Deceased Was Pioneer Railroad Builder in Lindsay District.

IN 92ND YEAR.

LINDSAY, Ont., May 29 (C.P.). — William McKendry, a pioneer railroad builder of this district, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. N. A. Lee, in Fenelon Falls to-day. He was in his 92nd year, and had served for 44 years as a section foreman on the G.T.R. and the C.N.R. He helped build the first railroad line from Lindsay to Beaverton, and from Lindsay to Haliburton, coming to Fenelon at the age of 24 from his home in Pittsburgh County, near Kingston.

For 60 years he served as an elder of Knox Presbyterian Church, Fenelon Falls, from whence he will be buried Saturday.

England has had more marriages so far this year than in any similar period in several years.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND BRIEFS

A SPECIAL SERVICE TO THE EXAMINER

The Newbec property is active these days. On surface, men are engaged breaking a road suitable for trucks with a view to an early resumption of shipments of ore to the Noranda smelter.

President T. H. Rea tells the Financial News Bureau that such shipments will be resumed in the near future. Underground, work is being centred at three points. Drifting on the new ore recently encountered on the 125-foot level to the east is now underway. So far results have been good with some sections showing good widths of 7 per cent copper material. On the 250-foot level, directly underneath the original ore found at 125 feet, a raise is being put up to the next horizon. Mr. Rea disagrees with statements to the effect that Newbec's ore has not been found at 250 feet. He stated the raise is being put up in ore and to date has penetrated some 30 feet. The ore broken down in this work will be available for shipping. Further east on this level,a winze is being sunk with an initial objective of 375 feet. The winze is expected to be completed close to the new ore found at 125 feet. If ore developements at 375 are encouraging a new shaft may be found necessay. The new material is well over 400 feet from the shaft and, rather than continue to 375 with the present shaft and then drift over 400 feet, a new shaft may be stargted. This is a matter for the future to decided. Officials are quite satisfied with results and look forward to the future with confidence.

Despatches from Sudbury are to the effect that a final effort will be made th week by Falcombridge Nickel Mines in connection with their deep diamond drilling program when the drill will be set up again opposite the shaft at the 1,000-foot level for the purpose of deepening No. 2 drill hole. This hole, which was started on an angle of about 70 degrees, intersected about 5 feet of a fair grade of copper-nickel ore at about 2,000 feet. The intention is to continue the hole in the expectation that the ore already intersected might prove to be an offshoot from the extension of the main body. On the completion of this hole the drill will be brought to surface and a campaign of surface drilling will be started, holes to be spotted so as to inter-space the previous drilling done east of the present shaft.

Recent strength in Arno may be attributed to reports which state they have completed a satisfactory financing deal. One rumor on the street was that Nipissing Mining Company may become interested in the enterprise. However, a local official of Nipissing tells the Financial News Bureau that he knows nothing of any deal between the two companies.

It is reported from the west that officials of Calmont Oil plan to issue a stock dividend of three shares for one now held. No official announcement has yet been made. New valves are being attached to the company's No. 2 well to-day to permit the use of greater back pressure, and it is expected that a real test of production will be possible within the next few days. No. 1 well has made 10 feet of new hole in the lime and was waiting yesterday morning for a Government test of the casing run recently and cemented. Drilling is expected to be resumed in a day or two.

Trading proceeded at very slow pace in the forenoon session of the Toronto Stock Exchange to-day and the market was again lacking in pep. The speculative public is on a buying strike and not to be dislodged from the ranks of the uninterested until a change takes place in conditions that will lend enthusiasm and start a demand for securities. There is no question that the present technical position is the best in nearly five years.

Market values present a much closer relationship to earnings than ever before, dividend returns are fairly attractive and the floating supply of stocks is greatly diminished and the excess supply dumped by speculators during the crash has practically disappeared. Business conditions in the Dominion are not as bad as first painted and the depreciation in value has long ago discounted what unfavorable factors there are. Money is in good supply and lending at a lower rate than at the time when the "bull" campaign was at its height a year ago and the public has gone from one extreme to the other and will not exactly be bearish traders are not bullish enough to make commitments of the long side. At the same time accumulation of investment issues is going on and the market itself is quite bare of the more highly regarded securities. What leadership to be had is coming from Wall Street and strictly Canadian stocks are displaying no tendency to jump out of the rut and supply the active leadership that might quicken interest in the list as a whole. To-day they are experiencing one of those lulls that frequently marked trading in the old days when participation was confined to the ranks of a very few and not the entire public as was the case for the past three years.

Prosperous Outlook.

The financial statement of the Bank of Montreal, covering the first six months of the institutions fiscal period to April 30, 1930, is a very satisfactory exhibited in the face of a slowing down on international operations and a lessened demand for money, profits were slightly in excess of the corresponding period of the previous year. On the occasion of the annual meetings of Canadian institutions in the latter months of 1929 and the early months of 1930, bank executives told their shareholders the current year would be a difficult one in which to maintain profit at the high level of the years immediately preceding. Call money was in much demand in 1929, at high rates of interest and to-day is loaning at comparatively low rates. This decrease in money rates has been world wide and revenue from the lending of money will be lower the world over. There has also been a notable failing off in the demand for call and current loans the balance sheet of the Bank of Montreal fully reflects this. Decreased activity in the stock markets is reflected by a drop of nearly $12,000,000 or approximately 30 per cent, in Canadian call loans and a decrease of over $71,000,000 or 32 per cent, in call loans elsewhere as compared with April, 1929. In the six months covered by the statement call loans in Canada decreased by $12,000,000 and elsewhere by $47,000,000. Current loans in the half year decreased by $35,000,000 but on April 30, 1930, were $21,000,000 above the total as of April 30, 1929. The increase can be explained by the large amount of grain in storage against which the banks have made heavy loans.

Its last fiscal period seems to have become something of a habit. The gross value of production has shown a steady increase since 1921 and while grade declined each year for a time, the last two years have seen increases, this year's figure of $8.05 comparing with $7.83 in 1928-29 and $7.66 in 1927-28.

Drilling for the first quarter at Bwana M'Kubwa's property in northern Rhodesia totalled nearly 10,000 feet, making 66,638 feet in all accomplished to date. The Mindola orebody had been proven for a length of four miles on May 15, the average thickness being 15.5 feet and grade 3.95 per cent copper. Reserves are estimated at 66,000,000 tons, averaging 4.02 per cent copper.

According to reports from the west, all work is being suspended at the property of Reeves McDonald mines on the Pendoreille River. During the recent hearing of applications for the power rights on the Pend Oreille the management of Reeves McDonald stated they would be unable to continue operations if forced to purchase their power, and the present move, following the allotment of the rights to West Kootney power appears to be in line with this statement.

Valuable Information.

A compendium of information of Canadian government and Provincial loans as well as much valuable information on production statistics, population, area and resources of the provinces is contained in the 1930 edition of Dominion Securities Corporation handbook of Cznadian government loans. The book makes a ready reference for not only bond dealers but investors in high grades and contains in addition to particulars concerning the government loans comparative financial statements of provinces the publication containing the latest figures available from the Dominion Bureau of Statistics and it is arranged for quick reference.

At the request of officials of the company the shares of Canada Dry Ginger Ale, Inc., are to be with drawn from trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange at the end of the months. This company first had its origin in the Dominion and the shares were listed on the local market at a time when there was a wide interest here. In recent months transactions in Canada Dry have dwindled to such an extent that sales only take place periodically, and in future Canadian stockholders will have to look to the New York Stock Exchange. The company at the end of the last fiscal year, September 30, 1929, had outstanding 510,684 shares of no par value out of an authorized issue of 800,000 shares.

FURTHER DECLINES EXPECTED IN PRICE OF SILVER PER OUNCE

London Advices State Present Value Will Set Another Low Record.

STRENGTH IN VIPOND.

TORONTO, May 29. (Special to Examiner.)—The importance of the gold content in Noranda ores is emphasized in a rather hopeful wire received in town to-day from a well-known Northern Engineering Service. "Understood Noranda now smelting ore yielding $7 per ton in gold in addition to the regular copper production. This more than offsets the drop in copper price and will assure continuance of dividend."

Apparently the price of silver is not going to do anything else but get worse. London advises to-day stated silver was quoted there at 17 7-16 pencil per ounce, which looks very much like another low record. The outlook for the future of the metal is summed up by President J. P. Bickel in the Castle Trethewey report as follows: "The tendency to decrease the use of silver as currency and the increase by product output, incident to the greater production of base metals, coupled with reports of greatly stressed stocks in India and China, present a situation that for the present is far from encouraging."

Recent strength in the shares of Vipond Consolidated is partically explained by the report that the company has cut the 426 vein on the 500 level. The crosscut shows a width of $12.40 ore, and this width may be even a little greater as the face, not assayed at the time the report was issued, had ore appearance. This is understood to be an improvement over the levels above. The vein is one extending in from the Hollinger and will apparently make an important amount of ore higher than the vipond mine average.

PROBABLY FINAL WEEK FOR LIQUOR CLEARANCES

OTTAWA, Ont., May 29 (C.P.)—This is likely the last week that clearances will be granted liquor from Canada designed to the United States. The new bill preventing such clearances will come into effect when it received royal assent, which will be one of the last acts before Parliament is prorogued—probably either Friday or Saturday. It is proposed that messages be telegraphed to all customs collectors notifying them that the change is in effect as soon as the Act has been signed by the Governor-General.

TO MAKE BRITISH AUTOS IN CANADA

Manufacturers Prepare to Back Venture By Aggressive Salesmanship.

LONDON, May 29 (By George Hambleton, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent). — British motor manufacturers are preparing to invade the Canadian market. They propose the establishment in Canada of assembling and manufacturing plants, backed by aggressive salesmanship. This was brought out in private discussion between British and Canadian delegates attending the congress of the Empire Chambers of Commerce to-day when what was described as United States dominance of the Canadian motor markets was among the subjects explored.

Three Main Points.

Canadian delegates submitted three principal points:

(1) That Britain should imitate the example of the United States by providing as far as possible for manufacturing plants in Canada, and that the most effective way of meeting foreign competition in Canada was for British manufacturers to take their courage in their hands and put up manufacturing plants in Canada.

(2) The necessity of having in Canada centres for assembling where organizations could be developed for the provision of spare parts.

(3) The necessity of more aggressive salesmanship.

Reporting to Congress this afternoon, P. J. Hannon, the chairman of bilateral discussions, said he had received from British motor manufacturers a letter in which they said they were prepared by co-ordination and co-operation to make a really concentrated attack upon Canada through more highly organized methods of advertisement and publicity.

INJURED IN TRIAL WHALE OIL DIES

TORONTO, Ont., May 29 (C.P.)—Whale Oil, star Canadian-bred in the Thorncliffe Stable, who finished second to Aymond in the recent King's Plate and then won the Breeders' Stakes died early to-day. The horse was injured yesterday while undergoing final training for the Prince of Wales' Plate. A change of riders was being effected before the stand, when the horse plunged a couple of times, struck the inside rail and turned a complete sommersault. He walked to his stall where medical examination revealed two or three broken ribs and internal injuries. The horses died on its feet, in the stall.

The Retrospect of Forty Years

Within the past forty years, Canada has made extraordinary progress.

The total of freight annually carried on the Canadian railways has increased six-fold. The total of savings deposits in the banks has grown nearly twenty-fold. The total of life insurance in force in Canada has grown nearly twenty-five-fold.

The figures are as follows:

	1890	1929
Freight carried	20,787,000 tons	133,330,000 tons
Savings deposits	$ 76,640,000	$1,480,000,000
Life insurance	$248,400,000	$6,157,300,000

These changes have occurred within the life-time of the present generation of business men.

Nevertheless, the past forty years witnessed a series of trade depressions. During a large part of the 'nineties, in 1908, in 1914-15 (both before and after the War began), in 1921-22 and again in 1924, business activity was severely restricted.

Each of these depressions aroused serious misgivings with regard to the future: each put a stop to much constructive planning. But, looking backwards, we now regard them as only short-lived interruptions in the march of progress.

These are the things we should remember as we face the problems of today.

OUTLAWS FLEE MOUNTAIN FORT

Gov't Troops Advance to Find Moro Stronghold in Philippines Deserted.

FOUGHT SINCE MAY 7.

MANILA, May 29.—(C.P.)— Warfare between the Philippine constabulary and a band of Moro outlaws in Lanao Province, came to an end to-day with the flight of the Moros from their mountain fort in which they had defied the Government since May 7.

Colonel L. R. Steven, district commander of the constabulary in Lanao, telegraphed headquarters here that the Moros fled last night after the Government troops had withdrawn from their first attack.

From dawn to nightfall the Moro fort yesterday withstood a bombardment from the constabulary's mortars. Gas and rifle fire backed up the mortar attack. The Moros replied with shotgun and rifle fire and the constabulary, fearing a possible night counter attack, withdrew to Dansalan, the provincial capital.

The government troops entered the insurgents' fort this morning to find it deserted.

Graf Zeppelin is Flying Northward

NATAL, Brazil, May 29 (Caadian Press). — The Graf Zeppelin, bound for Havana and Lakehurst, N.J., sailed north-westward to-day from Pernambuco and Natal under northern skies in which the Great Bear and the Pole star replaced the Southern Cross as guideposts.

It was expected to reach Havana some time on Saturday, remain there two or three hours, and fly on northward to Lakehurst, where the ship will be moored on Sunday.

Doings In Commons.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 29. (C.P.) — To-day in Parliament:

The Senate will sit.

The House of Commons will consider estimates and business remaining on the order paper.

Yesterday in Parliament:

The Senate approved the treaty with the United States for the protection of the halibut fisheries in the North Pacific and the Behring Sea and passed a number of bills already approved by the Commons.

In the House of Commons the bill incorporating the tariff changes of the budget was passed third reading. A large number of amending bills including the amendments to the Criminal Code were passed through third reading. The bill providing for a bounty on coal used in the manufacture of steel and iron was given third reading. Main estimates were proceeded with.

By an executive decree Bolivia has postponed regular presidential elections indefinitely.

Principals in Illinois Suicide and Murder.

The finding of the bodies of Mary Hogg, 25-year-old Toronto nurse, and William Cochrane Murray, war veteran, and South African remittance man in a car in Chicago suburb, revealed the dramatic story of a runaway marriage and its sequal of alleged murder and suicide. The photographs show: (1) Mary Hogg; (2) W. C. Murray; (3) two children of Murray's and (4) another camera study of Mary Hogg.

DR. WILLIAM SPANKIE HAD MANY ESC APES FROM DEATH

Long Career as Practising Doctor on Wolfe Island One of Many Adventures.

THRILLING EPISODES.

KINGSTON, May. 29—During the forty-five years in the practice of medicine on Wolfe Island, Dr. William Spankie, member for Frontenac-Addington in the Canadian House of Commons, has had a dozen narrow escapes from death while travelling on stormy winter nights to attend sick patients who urgently needed his medical skill. To Wolfe Island, Dr. Spankie has been for years a kind of "Dr. McClure" who tended the Scottish folks for the love of healing rather than for the fee. He went forth from Queen's University in 1885, the year of the Northwest Rebellion, and only a couple of months ago, after more than two score years of labor, did he write "finis" to his daily medical memoranda book. One has not heard of his delivering a valedictory to the islanders to whom he ministered so long. Perhaps he could not do that. He could not say farewell because the island and its people are too dear to him. When Parliament prorogues he may summer there again and be "physician emeritus" to the inhabitants. He has been much missed by Wolfe Island since Parliament opened, and once when there was a very sick patient and the river crossing to the municipality from Kingston was too dangerous, a city doctor was carried over by aeroplane to attend the sufferer.

Country Doctor Disappearing.

Dr. Spankie is among the last of the so-called "country doctors" who devoted their lives to alleviating the sufferings of their fellowmen with little monetary reward, but were content to dwell among people they had long known and administer to their physical ills. The day of the old-time country doctor is disappearing in Ontario. The increase in hospitals, the development of the automobile and the building of highways connecting even remote rural places with the cities and towns have ended the usefulness of the country doctors who, for a century or more, played a great part in the upbuilding of this older portion of Canada. Since Dr. Spankie ceased the practice of medicine on Wolfe Island, a municipality of twelve hundred population—an island which saw British troops and their Indian allies encamped during the American Revolutionary War of 1776—it has been found impossible to induce a medical practitioner to settle there. Dr. Spankie had independent means, but continued as an active disciple of Aesculapius until two months ago when his parliamentary duties called him to Ottawa.

From 1885 to 1930, during a period of forty-five years, Dr. Spankie was Wolfe Island's chief physician. In his younger days he was Frontenac's public school inspector, but gave up that post years ago. Dr. Spankie is both an arts and medical graduate of Queen's University and rose to the highest positions in the medical councils of Canada, being elected president of both the Ontario and Dominion councils. But perhaps Dr. Spankie is happier in the thought that he has attended the third generation of Wolfe Islanders.

Thrilling Experience.

Dr. Spankie is so modest that very few people know of his thrilling experiences while attending the sick in winter. He had a number of hair-breadth escapes while driving over the icebound bays and rivers around the island, which is three miles south of Kingston. In his younger days he was nearly drowned when driving from Wolfe Island to Garden Island with his little son. The horse and cutter broke through the ice and he and his son were precipitated into the icy water. He caught hold of the boy and tossed him up on the stronger ice and then managed to get himself out of the water. He accomplished that feat in this way: He turned over on his back in the water after getting alongside the strong ice; then put his heels on the lower edge and his head on the upper edge; a super-human effort rolled him onto firm ice. His ability as a runner and boxer stood him in good stead in the predicament like that.

Another adventure of Dr. Spankie occurred on a night when he drove over the ice to respond to a call from Garden Island. On reaching the shore he drove against a raft of logs and broke through the ice. He managed to get on the logs and with assistance made his way to the shore, and after changing his clothes proceeded to attend the patient.

Some years ago the doctor was called to the foot of Wolfe Island, a distance of nearly fifteen miles, on a stormy night to attend a man who lived alone in a shack and who had pneumonia. "It was a hard night for driving," said Dr. Spankie, "but I managed to reach my destination. The shack was a poor affair and I had to construct a tent from bed clothes in order to keep the snow from blowing in on the sick man. I stayed with him until midnight and then started for home, but lost my way in the blinding storm. The horses could not follow the road and we wandered about for several hours. Finally I saw lights and found that I was on the American channel out in front of Cape Vincent, N. Y., miles off my course."

The doctor's last adventure was during the great snowstorm on last December. He was called to attend a case in the evening and started to drive. He said he was never out on a rougher night in all his career, but managed to reach the home.

Getting back on the Highway

The side roads may be picturesque but the big mileage is made on the highways.

Last Autumn thousands returned from the side road "Speculation."

Lately other side roads such as "Wait and See," "Don't Buy it Now" and "Over-Caution" have been attracting large numbers.

The national task however is to get Canada back on the highway of prosperity and good times as soon as possible. It is a time to take forward steps. Fundamentally, Canada is wealthy, healthy and virile and has every reason to regard the present with confidence and the future with high hopes.

Let us repeat: "What we do is more important than what we say. Let us buy and sell—build—go ahead—plan and work—keep the wheels turning to the utmost of our ability as individuals."

SUICIDE PAIR SENT TO TORONTO FOR BURIAL

Chicago Business Man Gave Money For Expense of Sending Girl's Body.

TORONTO, Ont., May 29 (C.P.).—Preparations at Chicago for the burial in Potter's Field of Mary Hogg, pretty 25-year-old Toronto nurse, were halted to-day when a local business man offered to defray the expense of bringing the body to this city for burial.

Miss Hogg was found in a parked motor car near Glencoe, Ills., last Friday with a bullet through her brain. Alongside of her reposed the body of William C. Murray, 30, Great War veteran of Durban, South Africa. He too had been shot through the head. In his hand was clutched a revolver, leading to the belief the couple died in a suicide pact.

A new British flotilla leader destroyer has been named Winchelsea, for the small and ancient Sussex town, in recognition of its service to the Navy in the days when it was a flourishing seaport.

MEDICAL ASSOCIATION ELECTS 1930 OFFICERS

Dr. Ferguson Criticises the Publicity Given Anaesthetic Deaths.

TORONTO, Ont., May 29 (Canadian Press). — Levelling criticism at the publicity given recent deaths during anaesthesia in various parts of the province, Dr. John Ferguson, retiring president of the Ontario Medical Association, declared at the annual convention here last night that this publicity was having an intimidating and harmful influence on the people.

Dr. Ward Woodner, of Ayr, Ont., was chosen president of the Association for the coming year. This is the first time in the history of the Association that a village practitioner has been elected to the office.

Other officers elected included Dr. L. J. Austin, Kingston, first vice-president.

Dr. T. C. Routley announced that the board of directors of the Association had decided to set aside a sum of money for doctors and their families who were in need of monetary assistance.

More than 500 marriages were solemnized in London civil offices alone at Easter time this year.

WOOLER.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Fitzgerald, an elderly couple, who were driving in a light coupe, met with an accident and were quite badly shaken up, are improving and will soon be all right again. The only damage to the car was a broken windshield and bent bumper.

Work Starts on Paving.

Great changes are taking place at Wooler on the Wooler-Trenton road, where a gang of men are engaged on the preparatory work in connection with the asphalt pavement. As yet the work is only in its infancy, material being placed at the point where the two bridges are situated. These two bridges will be torn up, and in their place will be erected two steel bridges with cement tops. The work on the bridge is in charge of W. S. Leger, who is conducting the building operations on the bridge for the Ontario Bridge Company. The recent rains have retarded the work considerably because the foundations for the bridges cannot be put in place until a great quantity of water has been pumped out. To do this a dam has to be built. The bridge building will be rushed to completion so that the men working on the road itself can start operations. The company building the road is the Raynor Construction Company, and operations will be under the supervision of Colonel A. Erchman of Brighton, who will be moving from Brighton to Wooler to live so that he can be on the job all the time. Planking arrived from Cobourg and Warkworth and will be used on the bridge construction. The pavement will include that section of the highway from Trenton to Wooler on through Codrington and Campbellford, or what is better known as the Old Iroquois Trail.

Building New Bridge.

Work proceeds rapidly at the overhead bridge near Smithfield with steam shovels at work. There are approximately thirty-five men on the job, which includes the crew of two pile-driving machines. The danger attached to the crossing of this spot will thus be eliminated. The pile-drivers are reinforcing the spot where the abutments of the bridge will be and should take about ten days to complete this job. On the north end of the approach 100,000 yards of filling is being done, while three shovels are kept busy. The men will work on one shift only, unless there is a considerable rush.

WARSAW

"Ordinary soaps may cause serious irritation"

warns LINA CAVALIERI celebrated Paris beauty specialist.

"I always recommend Palmolive Soap . . . for a very good reason. I have found that the vegetable oils of which Palmolive is made are safe, soothing, healthy for the skin."

Lina Cavalieri

61, AVENUE VICTOR EMMANUEL III, PARIS.

Every skin needs the deep cleansing which only vegetable oils of palm and olive can give. These cosmetic oils have been famous as beautifiers since Cleopatra's day.

"ORDINARY soaps," says Madame Cavalieri, "may cause serious irritation. If you have the mistaken notion that soap may harm your skin, it is because you are not using the right soap. Next time try Palmolive. I heartily advise it . . . to keep skin smooth and lovely."

Lina Cavalieri's expert advice

In her sumptuous salon on the Avenue Victor Emmanuel III, Lina Cavalieri advises her fastidious patrons to follow a simple home beauty treatment with a soap blended of palm and olive oils.

"Before retiring," says Madame Cavalieri, "wash with Palmolive. Then I advise the use of my camphorated jelly No. 5, which should be applied over the face and neck. When slightly dried a little powder should be added and the preparation may remain on all night. In the morning, cleanse the skin thoroughly with Palmolive Soap and then use my 'Lotion Onctueuse' No. 7 — afterwards applying my Cream No. 2. By following this simply treatment you will keep that schoolgirl complexion."

Beware of irritation

So many soaps irritate while they cleanse. They are apt to roughen the texture of the skin and spoil its delicate coloring. Palmolive is a pure vegetable oil soap. Its color, its odor, its very feeling is that of nature's great cosmetic oils. It cleanses safely, beautifies easily.

Lina Cavalieri is one of a great international group of beauty specialists who have discovered the facts about Palmolive for themselves, and who now tell their patrons to use this soap in preference to any other. Today, there are over 19,813 such experts. Think of that! Thousands and thousands of those whose advice is sought and paid for by women in many countries, voluntarily proclaim Palmolive best. You will like Palmolive. You will be using it soon for the bath, too, since it costs even less than quite ordinary soaps. Follow Madame Cavalieri's advice. Begin this very day.

MISSIONARY WORK IN JAPAN IS ONLY BEGUN SAYS MINISTER

United Church Holds Big Conference in Cobourg.

DR. ARNUP SPEAKS.

(By a Staff Reporter)

COBOURG, May 29.—"Our missionary enterprise in Japan is but well begun," said Rev. J. H. Arnup, D.D., secretary of foreign missions of the United Church of Canada, in his address at the missionary mass meeting of the Bay of Quinte of the United Church here last night.

Home from the Orient only a month ago, Rev. Dr. Arnup presented his fresh and studied impressions of the accomplishments of Christian missions in Japan with a frankness on the one side that emphasized the immense task that still needs doing and on the other with heartening reassurance that the work is soundly established and that the gospel of Christ and its preachers and teachers have attained an entrenched position.

"Japan is a lovely land in charg of a lovable people," Dr. Arnup said. "I fell in love with the country at once. It is a poor country. The average size of the farms is one and a half acres. Only fifteen per cent. of it is tillable. The rest of it is tilted up on edge as mountains. With sixty million people, its economic situation is tremendous. Because they are our nearest neighbors on the west we should regard the Japanese with every sympathy."

Laborers Comparatively Few

Illustrating his first impression that missionary work is only in its first stage of advancement, Rev. Dr. Arnup recalled that in one industrial area of Tokyo there are 800,000 people with only two young women of the United Church among them as resident missionaries.

"The Japanese Methodist Church has some preaching places in that section, but the average attendance is only fifty, and the meetings are held in obscure places. The total number of the congregation in a week would not exceed five hundred. Hence in a population of 800,000 that is not exactly dominating the situation."

Of 420,000 students only the barest fringe is in any way under the influence of Christianity. The thirty millions of the rural population is virtually an untouched field for the Christian church.

Other Large Vineyards

"In the Nagoya field, which includes thirteen cities with an aggregate population of two million people, we have only one man and his wife, and there is no representative of the Women's Missionary Society in that field at all," Rev. Dr. Arnup continued. "On a motor trip with one of our men we passed a city of 60,000 people which he has never been able to enter. Along a twenty-five mile stretch of the highway there was a total of 80,000 people in towns and villages, and among them there is not a Japanese pastor nor a missionary. We shall have to go a long way yet, before Japan is possessed of Christianity. And we should remember that it is the most developed of our foreign mission fields."

Religion and Patriotism

There are not easy mission fields to-day, Dr. Arnup said, after citing other figures bearing upon his original assertion. One of the greatest obstacles to Christian missionaries is found in the fact that Buddhism, the national religion is closely identified with loyalty and ancestor worship. On the recent occasion of the completion of the rebuilding of the area of Tokyo that was demolished by earthquake and fire a few years ago the Emperor solemnly informed his ancestors that the reconstruction of the city was complete, and 50,000 of his people bowed their heads in silence. And a special courier was sent some distance to a shrine to bear the same information to the sun goddess from whom the dynasty is supposed to have descended.

"So, you may understand why there is no mass movement in Japan towards Christianity," Dr. Arnup observed, "and also why it is difficult for the individual person to find the way to Christianity. There is no cause for wonderment that a silent host of followers of Jesus in Japan are so imbedded in this patriotic system that they do not step out and identify themselves with Christianity."

"Notwithstanding anything I have said that seems pessimistic, Christianity has made a good beginning in Japan, and is now making steady progress. It is established as a real, authentic and self-conscious Christian church."

True Marks of the Church

Dr. Arnup related some of his experiences in meeting various groups of Christian Japanese who in their Christian character and fellowship equalled any other group he had ever met anywhere. One group was composed of the members of the building committee of a church, its pastor, a graduate of two American universities, also a business man, several engineers, and others.

"And the impression grew on me that I had met them all before, in Cobourg, and Belleville, and Kingston and other places where I have been. I felt that I had met their counterparts in the fellowship of our home church."

Material Results

The Methodist church in Japan, which is the branch there of the United Church of Canada, has one hundred self-supporting and self-governing churches, and it has thirty more that are aided by their own missionary societies. These societies have an assessment plan of ten yen for the maintenance and missionary fund. The Japanese dollar is a yen.

The church is still small in numbers, but it has a recognized place in Japan. Thirty-five years ago when a bill was introduced in the Diet providing for the recognition of Christianity, a band of men in one province signed a pact which they sealed with blood that they would murder the sponsors of the bill if it was not withdrawn. Two years ago when a similar bill was brought out, there was no protest. This is an example of the extent to which Christianity has come to be accepted.

Prominent Christians

There are five Imperial universities in Japan, and the presidents of three of them are Christians. The other two presidents are married to Christian women. The leader of the Japanese Labor Party is a Christian and so is the Minister of Foreign Affairs.

What has the Gospel to bring to the Japanese, Dr. Arnup asked. One youth who became a Christian said that he had found peace and joy which he had sought in vain in Buddhism. Another youth was won by the doctrine of the personality of God, for in the polytheism of Buddhism there is no place for the personality of God. Another was led to Christianity by the teaching of the fatherhood of God and His power to bring man to the fulness of life. These instances indicate the charter for the United Church's presence in Japan.

A Boon to Women.

In the secondary category, Dr. Arnup mentioned the change in the position of women in Japan. This effect alone was worth all the effort that had been poured out by Christian missions for twenty-five years.

"Whatever else may be said about our missions in Japan, our objective is primarily and essentially religious," Dr. Arnup concluded. "Our missionary enterprise is religious, and it must be operated and interpreted and judged on the basis of religious results. Social service and education are powerful adjuncts, but nothing contributory must be put in the place of the primary objective of bringing home to the people of Japan a full consciousness of Christ."

Home Missions.

Rev. C. G. Young, D.D., secretary of Home Missions, in an address on the missionary work of the United Church in Canada declared that the home mission task was not being overtaken. This year there are 1,600 workers in the Canadian field, one hundred fewer than last year, and with 148 fewer areas than in 1926. On the other hand, during the last four years 560,000 people have come into Canada, presenting a grave challenge to the church with its reduced ranks of mission workers and allocated funds.

The Gospel is preached in Canada to-day in twenty-eight different languages, but not so many years ago only four languages were required. Dr. Young pointed out the difficulty of finding the workers in the first place, and then of training them for the service the United Church is calling them.

"No church in all the world," he said, "has ever been confronted with such a difficult task of meeting the necessities of our home mission enterprise in Canada."

Conference Officers.

The conference officers for 1930-31 elected on Tuesday evening are as follows:

President—Rev. A. J. Wilson, Napanee.

Secretary—Rev. G. C. R. McQuade, Odessa.

Treasurer—Rev. R. T. Richards, Port Perry.

Statistician—Rev. James Taylor, Eganville.

Press secretary—Rev. S. F. Dixon, Bath.

Peterborough Presbytery.

Rev. T. M. Wesley, Lakefield, presided at the Peterborough Presbytery meeting on Wednesday morning. The sale of the Bethel Church in the Hastings village charge was referred to a special committee.

In the report of the Westwood area it was stated that the Westwood congregation is dissolved and the church is now included in a new Hastings-Westwood charge under the Rev. H. J. Bell, M.A., B.D., of Hastings.

The Cottesloe and South Dummer section of the Westwood charge will be taken by Rev. R. F. Stillman of Norwood.

Financial Report.

In discussing the financial condition of the church, Rev. Robert Laird, D.D., treasurer of the United Church, stated that according to authoritative statistics it has been found that for every dollar spent on education on this continent, fifteen dollars are spent on luxuries, not on the care of the family or for other needs, but on luxuries; and for every dollar spent on religion thirty dollars are spent on luxuries.

"Some parts of Canada might be able to present lower figures," Rev. Dr. Laird said, "but not very much. It might be good business to turn things around, and for one year spend thirty dollars on religion for every one dollar on luxuries.

600 Self-Supporting.

Under the Board of Home Missions nearly 600 aid-receiving fields have become self-supporting since 1925, a record not equalled by any other church in Christendom. Three hundred new fields have been opened.

The comment may be made that we have set our allocation too high, yet in Alberta, according to a survey of two years ago not more than 50 per cent are receiving religious instruction in the home, the church or the Sunday school. Some men have estimated that Alberta's natural resources are the richest of our provinces, but one-half of the children are without religious instruction."

Ministers Assisted.

Dr. Laird said that almost one-half of the ordained ministers of the United Church of Canada, nearly 1,500, are dependent in whole or part on the Missionary and Maintenance Fund of their livelihood, and also beyond that for their training and equipment.

At the time of Union the church's deficit was $221,000. During the next four years $336,000 for extraordinary expenses, such as legislation, litigation, brought the total to $557,000. At the end of four years the deficit was $504,000, Dr. Laird said.

The total disbursements of the departments under the Missionary and Maintenance Fund in 1929, were $3,718,886, a decrease of $314,156, as compared wwith the 1928 disbursements.

The total receipts last year were $3,415,709, and the deficit for the year amounted to $30,177.50.

"The heart and conscience of the church is sound," Dr. Laird asserted. "We have been giving more money in the last four or five years than we ever gave before."

Book Room Prospers.

Rev. Samuel Fallis, D.D., the Book Steward, reporting on the publication branch, stated that the Book Room in Toronto, was putting back into the service of the church, more than $100,000 a year, as it was in 1929. Few churches anywhere, except, perhaps, in England, have been able even to pay their way.

Never since its inception, one hundred years ago last September, has the Book Room incurred a deficiency in its work. It has $500,000 in cash, and with its favorable balance between bills receivable and payable, it has sufficient to wipe out entirely the indebtedness which will be due in two years when the outstanding debentures mature.

"We have not had to face retrenchment," Dr. Fallis said, "but we are actually planning an aggressive-ies of Sunday school lessons for graduat ment movement, creating a new ser-ed and primer classes. They will be ready in October, and we believe they will be the best on the continent."

This department contributed $30,000 to the superannuation fund last year.

"The amount we put back into the service of the church last year," Dr. Fallis said, "amounted to the total of the salaries of the headquarters official staff of Toronto."

Albert College.

Rev. C. W. Bishop, D.D., principal of Albert College, informed the Conference that the registration this year was 109 as against 84 last year. On the financial side nearly $20,000 of indebtedness in the capital account was retired, and it is expected that the budget for maintenance this year will be balanced.

"No less than eleven of our students this year are new candidates for the ministry, although they have not announced themselves to their pastors," Dr. Bishop said, "and I give you promise of some fine material that is on the march to the ministry."

Some of the Delegates.

Among the expected delegates from this district are the following ministers: W. R. Archer, Havelock; H. J. Bell, Hastings; H. B. Herrington, Warsaw; S. A. Kemp, Lakefield; J. V. McNeeley, Keene; S. H. Meyer and R. F. Stillman, Norwood; Alfred Poulter, Bethany; J. O. Totton, Bridgenorth; T. M. Wesley, Lakefield; M. E. Wilson, Havelock; E. F. Swayne, Fraserville; W. H. Pimples Itched So Could Not Sleep. Healed by Cuticura.

"My face was covered with pimples and blackheads. The pimples were rather small, hard and red, and spread to my neck. They itched so badly that I could not sleep at night, and when I scratched them they scaled over and were very sore. The trouble lasted about a month.

"My doctor recommended Cuticura Soap and Ointment so I purchased some, and after using one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment I was completely healed." (Signed) Miss Cleghorn, 472 Main St., Toronto 13, Ont., July 8, 1929.

WILLYS EIGHT IS INTRODUCED IN MEDIUM PRICED AUTO CLASS

Companion Car to Willys Six Presented After Months of Tests.

ON DISPLAY NOW.

After months of intensive experimental work in laboratories and gruelling road tests over thousands of miles of mountainous and level highways, the new Willys Eight, with a wheelbase of 120 inches, is presented by Willys-Overland, bringing higher standards of performance and car beauty to the field of medium priced eight cylinder cars. The new product of Willys-Overland conforms to the most advanced engineering practices which have been proved sound in principle under every motoring condition.

The new Willy Eight is the senior companion car to the popular lower priced Willys Six which has been so widely accepted by the public. The eight is presented in two body styles consisting of a Sedan, and a Coupe. The sedan model accommodates five passengers while the coupe is designed to comfortably seat four. A commodious baggage compartment is provided in the rear of the coupe.

Powered with a straight eight engine that develops 80 horsepower and produced a speed of more than 75 miles an hour in hight and 48 miles an hour in second gear, the Willys Eight engine is designed to fully meet every speed and power demand of modern motoring.

Beauty and Comfort Are Features

A careful inspection of the car reveals unusual attention paid to every detail of style, luxury, comfort and smooth riding qualities. Both interiors and exteriors are characterized by modish design and quality. The 120-inch wheelbase and the overall chassis length of 166 5-8 inches have given the designers unusual freedom in providing a car of graceful, sweeping lines with maximum roominess for drivers and passengers in the spacious interiors. The style note is also carried out in the carefully blended color combinations of the exterior and the rich upholstery and fittings of the interiors.

Flexible padded arm rests at each side of the wide, deep seats in the rear, smart toggle straps for hand grip, and foot rail are noticeable features of comfort. The front seat of the sedan and the driver's seat in the coupe are adjustable by means of a handy turn screw which is within easy reach and may be operated while driver is seated. This seat adjustment assures driving convenience for a tall or short person and is especially pleasing to women drivers who sometimes are handicapped by the distance from seat to clutch and brake pedals. Steering posts in all models are also adjustable.

Wire Wheels and Smartness

The six wire wheels impart an air of outstanding smartness. This general smart effect is further enhanced by placing the two spare wire wheels in front fender wells. Both models are also equipped with a large trunk rack at the rear.

Viewed from any angle the new Willys Eight bespeaks quality. The trim, high narrow radiator, the graceful lines of the hood, the artistic mounting of the chromium parking lights on the cowl ad the wide sweep to the gracefully curved rear section of the car are a tribute to modern craftsmanship.

The New Willys-Overland Eight.

After many months of intensive experimental work in the laboratories and gruelling road tests the new Willys Eight is presented by the Willys Overland. This new product conforms to the most advanced engineering practices which have been proved sound in principle under every motoring condition.

UNEMPLOYMENT SPLIT BRINGS LABOR VICTORY

Liberals Abstain From Voting As They Had Planned.

LONDON, May 29 (C.P.). — The Labor Government has won again. Last night it survived its second trial of strength this week, securing a majority on the question of unemployment greater even than the Labor-ites had predicted. When the Conservative motion to reduce the salary of the Right Hon. J. H. Thomas, Minister of Employment, went to division it was defeated by 270 to 241 votes.

The Liberals, as they had planned, abstained from voting.

THE ONE GREAT ISSUE OF THIS ELECTION

"A Third Party had to be found and found it was in the scheme of 1926---the policy of equal status and free co-operation." Rt. Hon. A. J. Balfour

The record of history has been laid bare by the spade of the archaeologist. The unearthing of the different layers of the records left by nations whether it be Babylonia, Egypt, Crete, Greece, Rome, the Mongol nations of Northern Asia or those of ancient America, discloses the fact of the birth, growth and decay of the mighty peoples of the ancient world and the causes of it. The evolution of nations is at last made plain and it shows that peoples like individuals are born and grow and that when they cease to grow that instant as with the individual human being the top of the ascent is reached and the descent to the grave is begun. Thus have multitudes of men and great arrays of mighty nations perished in the dust of time. Whether nations grow or not depends upon themselves, but when they cease to grow they most surely begin to die. The history of what is now Canada, perhaps interests us most. From a wilderness we evolved into a number of provinces and from a number of provinces into a confederation or dominion. Short though their lives had been, the seeds of decay had already become manifest in our separate provinces or districts. Rivalry and the rubbing together of opposing provincial interests were already threatening the existence of the Maritime Provinces, Quebec, Ontario and the West. Either the harmony of a united whole would fuse the spirit, the industry and the economic activities of these provinces, or they stood to be absorbed by the U.S.A. or to dry up from lack of circulation. Confederation of Canada was opposed by just the same short-sightedness and selfish ambitions as the confederation of the Britannic Empire is being opposed to-day. People with limited vision or selfish ambitions would have sacificed and would yet sacrifice the great dominion to the pettiness of small provinces and the sectional interests of a selfish few. It is so with the empire itself. We must unite. We have been born and we must grow or die. We find leaders willing to preach for political gain the doctrine of Canada only for Canadians, just as the same sort of people preached and are preaching still, Nova Scotia for the Nova Scotians, Quebec for the Quebeckers, and even Prince Edward Island for the few people who inhabit it. The world lives by international trade. The moment countries cease to trade with each other they fold up and die. It is the decree of history. It is the inexorable fact of time. An empire is, as our dominion is, just a so much greater centre of trade and commerce, strength and culture than before. A world composed of a few great trading nations is easier to handle and surer to succeed. The self-determination or separation of peoples as advocated by President Wilson ruined Europe, and its people are faced with the immediate necessity of a pan-European combination in the interests of world-trade or with certain death. Political union has nothing to do with these facts any more than the municipal government of Peterborough has with the trade of Canada as a whole. Political conditions are best when separate and, better still, when home rule reaches down even to the very family itself. But when we come to trade and that protection which greatness alone gives we must combine. All those who can combine must in their own interests combine. The united states of the British Empire are just as necessary for its success as the United States of America and the united states of Europe now being formed by France. For economic purposes, not racial or national purposes, Canadians must join a British Empire and grow or become a small and isolated people, and, like those of Central Europe, face extinction at the hands of their great rivals who will presently dominate the world. Machines may be driving our people out of employment though production is vastly greater than ever. Unemployment is worst where production is greatest. There is no unemployment amongst the Eskimos or the Lapps. It is worst in the greatest nation of the world. We will either increase our trade with the other nations of the world and they with us or our machines will eat us up. The time has come to re-organize the trade of the world. It must interflow more rapidly. It must keep pace with production. Let us not hinder it by withdrawing from closer communion with other parts of the Empire and by shutting ourselves up in a narrower sphere. We must be in it or out of it. A mistake will be fatal.

The world is demanding a place into which it may overflow, a world market for the increasing products of its unexampled production. We must join in making that world-market or our unemployment must increase, not lessen. We cannot consume all we produce. That is what is the matter with us now. Would you make it worse? A country must not import what it can make and consume, but when it has made and cannot consume and seeks to export its wheat, its timber, its flour, its fish, its minerals, its paper, its machines, it must either trade with the world or go out of business, and that means unemployment. Protection ceases to protect when industries are fully developed, and can more than supply your own country and you are ready to export. Hence to miss such an immense development of trade as is possible in a British Empire is to throw away our chief hope of future expansion. All the goods imported into Canada to-day would not, if we made them all, keep us from expanding. In a short time we should find that it is much more necessary for us to look for foreign markets than to nurse the delusion that our remedy lies wholly at home. Why then shut out the Empire and the world? The home-market no longer protects us from unemployment. Our hope lies in the increase of trade. To reject Empire trade for the prospect of fully supplying the home market is to surrender a great and a glorious prospect for something that would satisfy our difficulties for about an hour.

The Empire and its vast possibilities of trade do not require us to lower our tariff but to raise it higher against those not members of the Empire than against those who are. Is that to pay too dear a price for Empire? And yet there are those who would throw away the Empire! What do you think is the matter with them? Is it politics or just the itch? Or is it a huge Americo-Canadian Syndicate making ready to take control of Canada and exploit its dazzling resources for their own benefit?

Mr. Bennett has astonished everybody by suddenly turning clear about from the position of not caring a hoot for anybody but Canada to that of being once more a "colony" of Britain, clinging to her apron-strings. He seems determined not to follow the recommendation of the London Conference of 1926, at which the Rt. Hon. A. F. Balfour and Rt. Hon. Amery, with the King himself presiding, speaking for Britain herself, declared that after many years of careful investigation they had come to the final conclusion that a British Empire could be founded upon only one condition, and that is, the absolute equality of status of the Mother Country and the Dominions. This recommendation they await the confirmation of at our coming election and at the conference next September, and unless it is confirmed the long and arduous task of finding a happy issue out of all our troubles, laid down as a necessary condition by the Mother Country herself, cannot be fulfilled. The last hope of founding the Empire, as Mr. Balfour has said, will vanish. Why then does Mr. Bennett persist in trying to thwart the finding of the Mother Country and the Dominions so heartily approved by His Majesty presiding? The Empire must be founded, as M. Balfour says, upon preferences, however slight, but still "preferences." This condition Mr. King has agreed to, and the British newspapers of all parties assert with great rejoicing that this budget carries it out. What is Mr. Bennett trying to do? The High Tory Morning Post and the House of Peers say the King budget is a magnificent thing. Why cannot Mr. Bennett make one like it, or better? But why try to break it all up?

GOD SAVE THE KING!

(Empire Publicity Committee, per J. H. Burnham).

RICHARD HALL LIMITED

TRIBUTE PAID TO DR. W. M. TURNBULL

The Alliance Weekly Carries First Part of Complete Account of Life and Ministry.

Worthy tribute to the late Dr. W. M. Turnbull, editor of The Alliance Weekly and vice-president and foreign secretary of the Christian and Missionary Alliance, is paid in the current issue of that missionary magazine, which carries the first part of a complete account of his life and ministry.

"His personal friends will desire knowledge of the accident and of the services of our beloved brother," states the article.

"On Friday evening, May 9th, Dr. Turnbull, with the other two Foreign Secretaries, Rev. A. C. Snead and Rev. David Mason, addressed the final missionary meeting of the students of the Institute at Nyack. In his address to the students, Dr. Turnbull appealed to them to allow nothing to detract them from seeking God's best. He was also present on the platform at the baccalaureate services on Sunday morning, May 11, and led in prayer. In the afternoon he went to Schenectady to join a party in radio broadcasting over Station WGY, a form of service in which he delighted. Dr. Turnbull had intended to return to New York by a night train, but decided to join the party going by motor direct to Nyack. In following a narrow winding road, connecting the two principal highways, north of Bear Mountain at Cold Spring, N.Y., the car left the pavement on the crest of the road the right wheels of the car continued to slip in loose gravel on the edge of the road, and a little ditch threw the car further out of control. The rear door was thrown against a stone gateway. The car was split open and Dr. Turnbull, who was sitting on the right hand side was instantly killed. The other occupants were practically uninjured."

Funeral services were conducted in the home at Nyack, in the Gospel Tabernacle at New York, and in the Alliance Tabernacle, Toronto. Following the graduation exercises in the afternoon of Tuesday, May 13, the students paid their last tribute at the home. Members of the Board of Managers, the Faculty, and other intimate friends remained in the home in the evening for a time of prayer.

The services in the Gospel Tabernacle at New York were conducted on Wednesday afternoon, May 14 at 3.30, with Rev. H. M. Schuman, president of the Christian and Missionary Alliance, officiating. The scripture was read by Rev. David Mason, prayer was offered by Rev. William T. MacArthur, and testimonies of appreciation were given by Rev. A. C. Snead, foreign secretary; Rev. David J. Fant, publication secretary; Rev. E. J. Richards, pastor of the Gospel Tabernacle; and Rev. Kenneth Mackenzie, who had known Dr. Turnbull since his student days; and Rev. H. M. Schuman.

On the following day services were held in the Alliance Tabernacle at Toronto. Pastor, friends and associates from Hamilton, Ottawa and Peterborough and other towns gathered to give expression to their love and sympathy. The speakers were the Rev. F. Nowl Palmer, pastor of the Toronto Tabernacle, Rev. J. D. Williams, superintendent of the Eastern Canadian District, and Rev. H. M. Schuman. Dr. Trevor Davies, pastor of the Timothy Eaton Memorial church read the scriptures, and Rev. A. W. Roffe offered prayer. The interment was at Mount Pleasant Cemetery, Toronto.

Dr. Turnbull is survived by his widow, Mrs. Victoria Fleming Turnbull; his father, J. C. Turnbull, who is now in Los Angeles; and four brothers, Louis, Bruce, Will and Rev. John R. Turnbull.

FROM RANGE TO CASTLE

FAIRFIELD, Mont., (U.P.).—It's a far cry from rough and ready Montana farming to the throne of a castle in old Erin, but Pat Walsh, with the adaptability of his race, made the jump within a span of eight months. Walsh sold his Fairfield ranch last fall and returned to the "old sod." He acquired 213-acre estate including a bonfide Irish castle in which he now reigns supreme.

NORTH MONAGHAN REVISION COURT

Present Assessment of G. D. Carlisle is Confirmed—Ernest Payne Seeks Redress.

The North Monaghan Council held a Court of Revision for the 1930 assessment roll at the Court House, Peterborough, on May 26. The members were all present and each one took the declaration of office as member of said court of revision.

Deputy-Reeve Waterman was appointed to chairman of the court. The first appeal heard was that of G.D. Carlisle. His complaint was that his property was assessed too high in proportion to the same class of property on the Provincial Highway, whereas his property at the present time has a very poor outlet on account of the condition of the street. A motion was passed that $100 be taken off Mr. Carlisle's assessment for the present year. An amendment was moved that the presenet assessment be sustained. The amendment carried, and the present assessment confirmed.

G. N. Moncrief appealed against the assessment of the assessor, Bert Sanderson, being the west 50 feet of lot 2, plan 42 in the Township of North Monaghan and also called the Court of Revision's attention to the fact that a large part of the resident property owners adjacent to the City of Peterborough were enjoying a very low assessment. Mr. Moncrief pointed out that a 75 acre farm, which he owns in school section No. 2 was much higher assessed than the property he had referred to.

A resolution was passed and carried unanimously that the assessment of Bert Sanderson be confirmed. Appeal not granted. Mr. Moncrief, through his solicitor, filed an appeal to be heard by His Honor Judge Huycke.

Seeks Redress.

Ernest Payne came before the council and made the statement that by deed a number of lots, including lot no. 258, plan 48, for the Township of North Monaghan, became the property of his mother, Mrs. Sarah Payne. This lot also by deed with a prior registration became the property of H. F. Doig. Mr. Doig being the legal owner of the lot, Mr. Payne seeks redress from the Township Council, for the five years taxes that Mrs. Sarah Payne has paid on same. This matter was left in the hands of the Township Clerk for investigation and to be reported back to the Council.

C. K. McKane appealed to the Court of Revision to have his dog tax remitted, the dog having been destroyed. Appeal granted.

A resolution was passed that the assessment roll be accepted and confirmed, and that the necessary changes be made therein by the assessor.

Council Meeting.

The Court of Revision adjourned and the council resumed regular business. J. F. Strickland, representing the Trust and Guaranty Company of Toronto, and the estate of the late R. M. Waddell, appeared before the Council in regard to the water lying in front of the Waddell property and also on the road allowance in front of this property. Mr. Strickland drew the council's attention to the fact that a large percentage of the water collecting on the property referred to, was from the drain from the Prince of Wales School property. Mr. Strickland also made the assertion that the culvert across Monaghan Road at the Waddell property was plugged and not functioning properly. The Canadian General Electric Company have caused a bank of earth and cinders to be put along and under their fence on the east side of Monaghan road and have completely shut off all drainage for the water accumulating on both the Waddell property and road allowance. A resolution was passed on suggestion from Reeve McIntosh that arrangements be made with the City of Peterborough and the Canadian General Electric Company, the Township of North Monaghan and with representatives of the estate of the late R. M. Waddell and that a meeting be held on the grounds for the purpose of arranging some form of drainage for this property..

Melville J. Johnston, appeared before the council and made application for the position of tax collector for the year 1930.

A resolution was passed that whereas the tax collector has received the taxes from assessment No. 645 $12,62 and assessment No. 1222, $9.58 and these assessments have already been returned to the County of Peterborough for collection, that the Township Clerk give the County Clerk notice to remove the aforegoing from his books.

C. B. Adair, tax collector, was present and made returns for the tax roll for the year 1929, as follows:

Total of tax roll, $47,083.34. Errors additional, $38.40, 5% collected, $235.44, Poll tax, $184.50, Total, $47,541.69.

Cash transferred to Township account, $46,420.52, Bank charges, $9.35, Errors and deductions, $177.05, To be returned against land, $552.12, Dog taxes outstanding, $48.00, In suit, $25.59, Check herewith to balance, $309.06, Total, $47,541.69.

A resolution was passed that the tax collector take immediate proceedings to collect the balance of dog taxes outstanding and amounting to $48. That the said tax collector take legal proceedings and summon all offenders under dog tax and Sheep Protection Act before a court, that the tax collector's attention be called to Section 3, sub section 7 of the Dog Tax and Sheep Protection Act and the penalty provided for failure to carry out his duties and that the balance of outstanding taxes amounting to $25.59 be placed in the solicitor's hands for collection immediately.

A number of complaints have been received by the Municipal Council caused by certain noises and offences by outboard motor boats on the Otonabee river in the vicinity of Crawford's Grove. This nuisance has veen very noticeable on Sunday afternoons. The Township having a bylaw, being No. 711 for the maintenence of order and the suppression of nuisances in the Township of North Monagham, and by a resolution passed at this meeting, the clerk is hereby empowered or any member of the Township Council or any interested resident ratepayer may make appeals to the Provincial Police to have this nuisance or any other public offence stopped.

The Clerk was instructed to notify the Township Roads Superintendent to have the boat houses removed from Park lot No. 1, Township Lot 13, concession 11, the owners of the boat houses having failed to comply with a notice served on them.

W. J. Byers presented a petition from the residents of both the north and south sides of Edison avenue, requesting the council to have a concrete sidewalk, five feet wide or such other width as the council may determine constructed as a local improvement from Park Street to Monaghan road. This petition is referred to the Township Clerk for report and that if the same is found to be signed sufficiently by the required number of ratepayers according to the terms of the Local Imrpovement Act that F. D. Kerr prepare the necessary by-law, authorizing the council to proceed with the work, the treasurer to make arrangements with the Bank of Nova Scotia under s special agreement to cover the cost of work until debentures are issued and sold and that a special meeting of the Council be held on May 30 at the Court House, to deal with this matter. F. D. Kerr township solicitor, appeared before the council and various questions were taken up with him, one of them being the preparation of a bylaw calling for two payments of taxes per year, the same to come into effect in the year 1931, the suggestions being that the first payment of taxes to become due and payable on the first day of July and the second payment becoming due on the first day of December, that a 3% discount be allowed for a prompt payment of the full amount of the taxes or on the first payment of taxes if paid by July 1. The meeting then adjourned.

HONOR FAMOUS WOMEN

TOWNSEND, Mont., (U.P.)—Memory of "Charity" Jane Dillon, an early pioneer character who conducted a stage station and road house between Townsend and Radersburg, will never die in Montana. Steps are being taken to erect a marble monument in honor of the famous woman whose station was one of Montana's landmarks in the 60's and 70's and whose kindness to wayfarers won her the name of "Charity." She died in 1872.

The 185th anniversary of the Battle of Culloden was observed on the battlefield near Inverness, Scotland, recently.

CHURCH CHOIR HOLDS OUTING

Presentation Made John Crane By Members of St. Andrew's Choir.

AT KAWARTHA PARK.

Following a custom which has prevailed for about ten years St. Andrew's Choir and a goodly number of their friends journeyed on the holiday by car to Kawartha Park and from thence by motor boats to spend the day at "Gladhaiken", Stoney Lake, the summer home of John Crane, who until fut recently was their organist and choirmaster.

The weather although unsettled in the morning turned out later to be all that could be desired, upon arriving the choir at once began to make themselves feel at home on the island which has become very familiar to most of them, in fact one member thought it was a very opportune time to begin training for the next Wrigley Marathon by swimming a few miles in Stoney Lake but as no other members seemed anxious to share the pleasure he was content to be make the distance shorter. Mrs. George Richmond and her social committee had fortunately anticipated the appetite of the crowd and had armed themselves with a bountiful supply of good things to which everyone did themselves justice.

The main feature of the day was the presentation to Mr. Crane of a beautifully illuminated address which was read by Miss B. King and was as follows:

Dear Mr. Crane:

St. Andrew's Choir has learned with deep regret that you have resigned the position of organist and choir leader. Your eleven years of service in the interest of the choral part of the church service of St Andrew's Church has been deeply appreciated and much enjoyed We feel that we have made very material progress in our knowledge of good music under your tutorship.

There is another department in which you have excelled. You have been intensely human; you have taken a deep personal interest in the members of the choir, both collectively and individually They have even learned to regard you more as a friend than a choir master. Their interests have been your interests Your motto seems to have been that of an English poet who prayed thus: "Give me a sense of humor, Lord.

Give me the power to see a joke.
To get some happiness from life
And pass it on to other folk"

We hope that you will thoroughly enjoy your well-earned rest and that you will still continue to take an interest in the choir of St. Andrew's church. We will still remember the pleasant times that we spent together and hope that those delightful relations will never be completely severed.

Following this Mr. F. E. Kerr on behalf of the choir also presented Mr. Crane in a few well chosen remarks with a splendid wardrobe travelling case. Mr. Kerr emphasized the sincere regret and loss which is felt by the choir. Mr. Crane made suitable aknowledgement of the gifts. Evening came all too soon but everyone was satisfied that this had been one of the most enjoyable of the many picnics held at "Gladhaiken."

PARISIAN FOIBLES

Unusually striking is this gown with smoothly fitting bodice in black velvet and billowy skirt of tulle, which Madame Jenny has called appropriately "The Bat."

BLACK VELVET AND TULLE MAKE THIS CHARMING GOWN.

Unusually striking is this gown with smoothly fitting bodice in black velvet, and billows skirt of tulle, which is called appropriately "The Bat". The shoulder straps and the ornament of the decolletage are in strass which contrasts most interesting with the vivid black of the gown. The skirt, following the trend of this season's styles, touches the ground. (Copyright 1930, by the Bell Syn., Inc.)

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D

NOISE.

Perhaps you wonder why I talk so much about the harmful effects of noise. As you know, sleep is just as necessary to life as is food, and the 'rundown' condition of many individuals can be traced more to an insufficient amount of sleep than to any lack of food or lack of digestion of the food they do eat.

However, this matter of 'noise' has become so serious in its damaging effects upon the human body that, as mentioned recently, a Noise Abatement Commission has been organized.

They are studying noise from the scientific standpoint, and already the first preliminary report as to the actual effect of noise on man is at hand.

The effect of noise on the heart is measured by the electric cardiograph which gives exact knowledge of the strength of the heart—that is, the ability to do its work of pumping blood to all parts of the body

This machine shows also the rhythm or regularity of the heart-beats.

Another instrument, sphygmomanometer measures the pressure of the blood.

And still another measures the actual pressure within the skull.

What have they learned so far about noise?

(1) That the normal development of infants and young children is seriously interfered with by constant loud noises.

(2) In attempting to overcome the effects of noise, a great 'strain' is put on the nervous system leading to actual mental disturbances in many cases.

(3) Noise interferes seriously with the ficiency of workers and makes concentration on any set task difficult.

(4) Noise interferes seriously with sleep, even if a few individuals apparently get so used to certain noises that it doesn't 'seem' to bother them.

(5) Hearing is apt to be impaired in those exposed to constant loud noises.

To sum it all up it simply means, with loud noises close at hand, you unconsciously tense mind and body, in an effort to do your own work, of brain or body, 'despite' the disturbing effect of the noise.

This effort is really a strain, which uses up energy that you should have for your work. Wastes are created quicker than they can be removed from the system and so you are tired that much sooner.

As mentioned before, you are doing from 25 to 40 per cent. more work than you would need to do, if your surroundings were quiet.

Noise is more than a nuisance. It is an enemy to health.

OUR CHILDREN

By Angelo Patri

LAUGH A LITTLE.

Don't be afraid of a good laugh with the children. If they have been reared to laughter they will not take advantage of it. If they do so now you will know it for a sign that they have not had enough of it to know its place. Give them more of it until they do know when to stop. They are probably starved for lack of it.

Children do funny things and it is quite in order to laugh at them. It is human to do so and why should we be anything but human? This prodigious dignity that we wrap about ourselves in dealing with children does not deceive them but it drives them into themselves and away from us. They know we laugh behind their backs and they wonder why it is we can't do it when they can share the fun.

I know a mother who stored up funny stories about people and told them to the children when they needed them most. If John James began stamping his feet and roaring like a bull she would smile in a far away fashion and begin, "Once we had a neighbor who used to stamp and roar like mad when anything went wrong with him. If he stubbed his toe he roarded and stamped with rage. If he hit his thumb, if it rained when he wanted it to shine, if the hens laid no eggs, if the hired man forgot to close the gates, anything at all set him to roaring and stamping. Well, one day the milking was going on too slowly to suit him and he stopped before the shed, to which he was leading a little bull calf to be fed, and began stamping and roaring. The little calf was frightened and butted him right in his middle. Down he went, all mixed up with the calf and the rope But—he had selected a very poor place for dancing and stamping. He went through the top of an old cistern that drained the barnyard, calf and all, and it took some work to get him out again. My, it was funny to see him down there trying to keep out of the wet and out of the way of the plunging calf. Dear, dear, how we laughed." And she would wipe tears of mirth out of her eyes. John James, fascinated by the tale, laughed too. And there was a truce to roaring and stamping with never a word about it. Just a pleasant story of once upon a time flavor.

When Betty showed signs of shirking her tasks the story would begin: "I'll never forget the day your grandmother, my own mother fed sixty men with no help except what we children could give her. Of course we didn't have enough dishes and the things we had to do to make everything go round—"

When they are funny laugh at them and with them frankly. When they are frisky administer a story as needed. You will find laughter, laughter that the whole group enjoys, the finest possible solvent for tempers and humors. You will find the little story that tells about close-at-home people and their doings the finest kind of medicine for behavior just a little out of order Their thoughts are directed away from the wrong notion to something pleasantly related to it and the whole situation is recast happily.

It heartens a child to discover that grownup people sometimes do silly things, that they have troubles and make mistakes and are punished and laughed at and loved just the same. They love us when we are human and gentle laughter is a distinctive characteristic of humanity.

FASHION SERVICE

TUCKS DEFINITE WAISTLINE.

An enchantingly lovely dark hued background silk crepe with a dash of lobster red is incomparable for street and casual daytime wear. The neckline expresses modern note in applied bands, and shows striking contrast in plain red crepe.

It's subtly feminine with smooth, unbroken line that favors the Princess silhouette. Horizontal tucks nip the normal waistline at front, which makes Style No 3220 impartially becoming to miss or matron. The circular skirt shows pointed treatment at front with tendency for downward curved movement toward the back. The flare starting about half way between the knees and hips with extreme fulness at hem, flutters beautifully when wearer moves.

It's so simple to make! Practically a two-piece skirt to be seamed and stitched to two-piece bodice! Thin; it over! You'll adore it for it will make you appear charmingly slender and smart. It is designed in sizes 16, 18 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust. In the medium size, 3¼ yards of 39-inch material with ½ yard of 35-inch contrasting is sufficient to copy it exactly, which makes the cost very small.

Black canton crepe with peach-pink, orangy red silk crepe self-trimmed feather-weight woolen in chartreuse green tones with plain blending shade, aquamarine blue crepe de chine, and flowered chiffon in black and white are stunning combinations for its development.

OBITUARY

MRS. TIMOTHY H. CROUGH

(Examiner Correspondence)

ENNISMORE, May 29.—The funeral of the late Mrs. Timothy Crough took place on Monday morning from her late residence to St. Martin's Church and cemetery. The funeral mass was sung by Rev. Father McAuley. The pall bearers were James Killen, James Gifford, Joseph Quinland and Edward Sullivan.

MRS. TIMOTHY HERLIHEY

Predeceased by her beloved husband less than fifteen months ago, Mrs. Tomothy Herlihey passed away at the home of her daughter Mrs. T. J. O'Neill in Emily township on Wednesday, May 21, after an illness of four months.

She was born in Emily seventy-six years ago and resided there almost all her life. While lovingly devoted to her home and family, she was ever interested in the welfare of the community in which she lived. Naturally a sunny and charming disposition and a loyal friend, Mrs. Herlihey readily won the respect and regard of all with whom she came in contact and her presence will be sadly missed. With a true understanding of the duties of a Catholic wife and mother, she breathed into her home an atmosphere of true religion and internal happiness which impressed even the casual visitor.

Fortified by a life of naive confidence in God's ways, she died in silent resignation. Her whole life was permeated by a lively devotion to the Blessed Virgin and it seemed significant that she should pass into the higher life in the month of May.

The funeral Mass was celebrated in St. Luke's church, Downeyville, by Rev. J. V. McAuley of Ennismore, who paid eloquens tribute to the sterling qualities of the deceased and offered words of consolation and exhortation to the sorrowing family.

A host of mourning friends accompanied the body to its last resting place, interment taking place at St. Luke's cemetery, Downeyville. Rev. Fr. McAuley officiating at the grave.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. M. D. Twomey, Ennismore; Mrs. T. J. O'Neill, Emily; one son, Leo Herlihey of Calgary, Alberta; fifteen grandchildren and two great grandchildren, also two sisters, Mrs. F. O'Donoghue, Ennismore and Mrs. N. Herlihey, Emily. Three brothers, Messrs Simon, Richard and John O'Connel, all of Emily.

Pall bearers were: Michael Fox, Lindsay; Maurice Twomey, Ennismore; Simon, John and Richard O'Connel and Thomas O'Neill of Emily.

JOHN STRAWBRIDGE DAVIDSON

(Contributed)

MILLBROOK, May 29.—The sudden death of John S. Davidson, which took place at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. T. C. Ingram, Millbrook, on Wednesday, May 21, meant the passing of another old Manvers boy, a member of a pioneer family of that township, the news coming as a great shock not only to his immediate relatives, but also to his many friends in Manvers, Omemee, and Millbrook.

John Davidson, as he was popularly called, was born in the township of Emily 75 years ago, and was the son of the late Edward and Jane Davidson, and a grandson of Lieutenant-Colonel Davidson, who passed away at the ripe old age of ninety-two years, and after whom the deceased was named.

His parents came to Canada many years ago from Ireland, and were part of the company of early settlers who pioneered Emily township, hewing out homes from the wilderness. The boys of the Davidson family, starting out for themselves, bought two hundred acres of land in Manvers township, near Mount Horeb, and here they spent the greater part of their lives. John later moved to Omemee, and some time afterward came to Millbrook to make his home. Deceased was particularly fond of good horses, and during his lifetime owned many of them, and was an annual visitor to the Lindsay Central Exhibition in its early days.

Left to mourn his loss are his two children, Mrs. T. C. Ingram, Millbrook, and his son, Talbert, on the homestead, besides a host of relatives and friends, all of whom fondly cherish his memory. His wife, Susanna McMillan, daughter of the late William McMillan, of Kendal, predeceased him by thirteen years.

The funeral took place from the home of his daughter, Anne street on Friday, at 2:30 p.m., and was largely attended, many of those present coming from Toronto, Lindsay, Peterborough, Manvers and Clarke. The service was conducted by Rev. W. W. Jones, B. D., pastor of Saint Andrew's United Church, and in his address reference was made to the fact that the deceased brother found great comfort in reading John 14, his favorite Scripture passage. During the service Mrs. W. McKee Bingham sang very sweetly, "God Shall Wipe Away All Tears."

The pall-bearers were two nephews, Burton and Lawrence Blackwell; two grandsons, Lawrence and Carman Ingram; his son, Talbert, and his son-in-law, Thomas C. Ingram. Interment was in the Emily cemetery.

"There are golden ties of friendship
That bind old Manvers boys,
To the friends and scenes of childhood,
To the home of early joys.
There are sentiments deep-rooted,
That words can ne'er express,
That throb in the breasts of old Manvers boys,
No matter where their quest.

But life's tide keeps ever flowing,
And as the years roll on
One by one our dear, loved ones
Pass out to the Great Beyond.
But fond memory will ever cherish
Though its pages with age grow sear,
Those golden links of friendship,
And the scenes to all so dear."

"Do Not Hesitate to Try It"

"Your Vegetable Compound is a good medicine. Anyone who is in poor health should not hesitate to try it. When I was taking the Vegetable Compound I tried the sample Liver Pills I found in the package. I have taken them every night since and I can feel myself improving. I am so thankful for the good they do me that I have told several women about it."—Mrs. G. W. Posliff, 263 Huron St., Stratford, Ontario.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Alice Michaelis

ONE WHO UNDERSTANDS

He has left youth behind him, yet he knows
How brimmed with loveliness the old word gleams
To clear young eyes, and how life's current flows
At flood to bear Elysian hopes and dreams.

Nor has he tasted yet the flat, stale brew
That age must drink; but strangely he can feel
How dark the day that brings no interest new,
How closer, deeper night's sure shadows steal.

Though pang of poverty, vast riches' load
Have never touched his days, he knows them all;
And so he is a brother on the road,
Who shares in every fate that may befall.

Of greater worth than glory, wealth or lands
Is this, the gift of one who understands.

NEWEST FASHIONS REMINISCENT OF OTHER DAYS

NOTHING NEW UNDER THE SUN? WHAT ABOUT AN ORGANDIE SUIT?

NEW YORK, May 29.—(U.P.)—The organdie suit provides the ultimate in feminity and it may also be said, frivolity. The silk suit will play an important role in summer wardrobes. One more variation in such an original suit medium as organdie is certain to attract women who are on the alert for a costume that is individual and refreshing.

It offers the same crisp tailored lines that are apparent in cloth or linen, with the added advantage of coolness, and a wide range of colors, including bright tones as well as pale tints. Combinations of colors are also important in developing organdie suits, since the crisp little tuck-in with short or no sleeves is a favorite in costumes of this type and may introduce a contrasting pastel.

The suit is an outstanding example of the extensive variations which may be developed in one style type. Sponsored by suit houses, sportswear firms and in a whole-hearted fashion by dress creators, both crisply tailored and soft versions of the dressmaker type are strongly accented.

Since the silk suit has been generally approved, it naturally follows that many varied fabrics have been drafted for service. Revealing to what lengths the insistence on the suit by designers has gone, one has only to view the mediums sponsored, with particular interest, of course, manifested in the sheer silks, printed and plain, for summer wear.

State lotteries have been proposed in England to pull the country out of its financial condition.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

WE HAVE ALL heard about fresh air being a great purifier so many times that probably we do not seem much impressed when we read about it repeatedly.

• • • • • • •

Fresh air contains properties that restore life to things as well as people! Have you ever realized this?

• • • • • • •

The benefits which come to people who live out-of-doors a great deal of the time have been recognized for many generations.

• • • • • • •

Physicians and many other people too, have become aware of this and as a result sunshine is artificially produced and so, as you know, artificial sun treatments are becoming very popular indeed.

• • • • • • •

But it takes more than the sunlight to give full benefit of outdoor fresh air. The very atmosphere is thereapeutic and because of this, it acts as a restorative to things, as well as persons.

• • • • • • •

It is on these inanimate things that the discussion today is based. Textiles that have lost whatever stamina was theirs originally have it restored in full or in part at any rate, by hanging out-of-doors in the fresh air.

• • • • • • •

Allow the air to circulate freely around, about and through them—this is very essential, indeed.

• • • • • • •

Hang the things out-of-doors in the morning and be sure you bring them back into the house before the sun goes down and dampness is in the air.

• • • • • • •

This dampness may not harm them, but if allowed to remain in the materials after they are folded and put away, the things may get musty, and are sure to get creased very badly.

• • • • • • •

It is from lack of air circulating through the weaves that fabrics become musty. The dampness settles—it is confined and because it can find no outlet, it shows in mildew and gives off a musty odor.

• • • • • • •

It is a good plan always to put wall hangings out-of-doors once or twice during the year.

• • • • • • •

If you have not already tried this, you will be agreeably surprised at what the fresh air will do in the way of adding to their continued beauty and resistance to wear. The very "feel" of the textiles expresses a sort of vitality after giving a fresh air treatment as described.

• • • • • • •

While housecleaning is being done, it is very common to see upholstered furniture piled out on the back lawn or verandah. It is thoroughly brushed and aired and by so doing the furniture will look much better.

• • • • • • •

Perhaps in this modern age when the vacuum cleaner is so widely used, the furniture is seldom, if ever, given the benefit of fresh air treatment.

• • • • • • •

Of course the cleaner is much more thorough than the old-time method of brushing and beating, but it cannot supply the restorative properties of pure fresh air circulating about and through the upholstery.

• • • • • • •

All clothing requires fresh air. The pieces may not need the direct rays of the sun lest they fade, but the air is vibrant with indirect rays in its restorative quality.

• • • • • • •

Well-aired clothing has a pleasing fragrance. Because this fragrance is sweeter than any perfume, there is an added reason for airing garments.

FASHION FANCIES

A COOL REASON FOR JERSEY'S CONFIDENCE

Jersey is the material foundation on which many of the season's smartest costumes rely for fashion authority. There is excellent reason for the cool confidence with which jersey costumes approach the first warm days, for they are light of weight and knitted in lacy weaves. Furthermore, they are tinted in all the delectable hues of the pastel color chart. Sports costumes of all types, bathing suits and semi-tailored models for town and country are developed of these practical and beautiful jerseys.

Of soft lemon yellow jersey, the frock sketched above is easily adaptable for a run-about dress in town or country. Shaped seams on the bodice and skirt have button trimming, while inverted pleats effectively develop the skirt. A subtly draped scarf of navy, white and yellow silk crepe dresses the neckline in a flattering manner.

SAY "BOKAR" When Buying Coffee

Bokar is a product of which the world's largest importers of fine coffees are justly proud. It is due to this tremendous buying power that A & P foodshops can sell this superior product at such a ridiculously low price. NO MATTER WHAT PRICE YOU PAY FOR COFFEE—BOKAR CANNOT BE EXCELLED FOR FLAVOR AND QUALITY.

And then, too . . . Bokar has been twice signally honored—first in 1928, when it was selected as the official coffee of the Byrd Antarctic Polar Expedition, and, lastly, by being selected by the Rameses Temple Shrine Committee as the official coffee of the mammoth June Shrine Convention.

TENTH ANNUAL MEETING OF PETERBOROUGH'S MALE CHOIR

Satisfactory Reports on Year's Work Read From Various Secretaries.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

The tenth annual meeting of Peterborough Male Voice Choir was held in the Chamber of Commerce Room on the evening of Tuesday, May 27. The interest evinced by the members was encouraging — about thirty members being present — and the spirits of the remainder absent owing to other engagements hovering over the assemblage waiting an "amen" to the deliberations of the general council.

Choir Is Undenominational

This worthy community organization is deserving of rank with others in the city's hall of fame. During ten years of steady progress, though uphill at times, in the cause of better music in our midst, the choir, which is undenominational in its constitution and connected with no religious body whatever, has a place for every man in the city who can read music and has a love for the propagation of the art of vocal expression. This explanation is necessary to allay the fears of many that it is sponsored by a certain church body. All sects have the same open and hearty welcome to its ranks, where at all times reigns the best harmony and friendship. There is also through affiliation with the Male Voice Choir, an educational and social aspect to the period of practice during the winter months.

Choir's Past Record

In this short historical resume, it may be well to again remind readers that the choir holds a high place in the ranks of male choirdom throughout Canada and the United States, as a result of the unique standing of this body at the great massed chorus and contest in Madison Square Garden a little over a year ago, which is vividly recalled by the fifty choristers who made the journey. To refresh the memories of our citizens, the choir, under Martin B. Chenhall, reached third place in the contest on May 25, 1929 (given twenty voices more, they had first prize in their grasp) against the pick of American choirs and Temple Choir of Ottawa. Up to date reference is very frequently made in correspondence of the notable attainment of the local choristers, with the hope of meeting again, perhaps in Toronto, if plans are carried out, about two years hence. The choir is also a member of the Federated Glee Clubs of America, New York.

This year-old record, along with the concerts of merit presented each year, is surely worthy of recognition as a community organization of premier standing by local citizens.

Past Year's Work

The meeting on Tuesday evening was called for the purpose of hearing reports, and recommendation for the new executive. John Anderson occupied the chair as president for 1929-1930. The minutes and financial statement of the meeting one year ago were presented by secretary William Fletcher, all the details being referred to in passing by free discussion, including the financial statement of the past choir season from Harry Chenhall, treasurer. A small balance remains in the bank to start off the season next October. This report was passed as a satisfactory conclusion of the choir activities.

In order, reports from Publicity Committee by W. J. Skitch, Membership by Tom Parker, Social by Arthur Siddall, Music by George Chandler and Librarian Horace Hope were cheerfully given, with thanks for assistance rendered by all to the officers in discharge of their duties.

Several suggestions for the welfare of the choir were presented, which will be referred to the new executive all tending to a bigger and better Male Voice Choir.

Details of the New York Choir Fund were presented by Dr. Fulford and received by the members.

Officers for 1930-1931

A. H. White was called to the chair and Jack Wade as secretary pro tem for the election of officers for the ensuing years, as follows:

Hon. President—Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C.

Hon. Vice Presidents—R. R. Hall K.C., James Dutton, Dr. F. C. Neal, H. J. McCannan, Dr. J. J. Craig, R. M. Glover, Dr. D. W. Clark, G. A. Gillespie, W. G. Morrow, Joseph J. Duffus, Mayor Denne, J. J. Turner, and Bishop-elect O'Connor.

Past President—John Anderson.

President—W. F. Skitch.

Vice-President—D. R. Fleming.

Secretary—W. H. Fletcher.

Asst. Secretary—John Wade.

Treasurer—Dr. C. H. Fulford.

Librarian—Horace Hope.

Auditors—S. Ivey and J. Anderson.

Chairmen of Committees—Membership: Tom Parker; Publicity: A. H. White; Music: George Chandler; Social: John Branston.

The unanimous voice of the members regarding musical director as Martin B. Chenhall, A.R.C.O., expressed the deep feeling of regard and loyalty for the conductor.

The recommendation for choir pianist was Stanley Northrop, A.T.C.M.

Letters of thanks were tendered to the orchestra which assisted in the "Maritana" performance, with the name of Mrs. John Foster as leader; to the press for past mercies; and to all who helped towards success the Peterborough Male Voice Choir during the season 1929-1930.

PRESIDENT GETS SECOND TERM

St. John's A.Y.P.A. Holds Annual Banquet—Officers Are Elected.

PRESENTATIONS MADE.

For the first time in ten years, a president of the Anglican Young People's Association of St. John's Church was re-elected to serve a second term in the chief officer's chair, when Miss Aloha Horn was accorded that honor last evening at the annual banquet of the society, when elections for the coming year also took place.

Other officers elected were: E. Rigby, vice-president; Miss Audrey Heap, secretary; and W. Gore, treasurer.

The banquet was a very pleasant one and excellent arrangements for a very bountiful and well-served meal were in the hands of the members of the Women's Friendly Bible Class of the church. The banquet was held in the lower rooms of the Parish House, the young people adjourning later for a dance in the upper hall.

Rev. Dr. Blagrave installed the officers and Rev. E. R. James officiated at the business of election. Miss Horn occupied the chair for the banquet, which was featured by an interesting reading from E. V. Morphet. During the evening, Mr. Morphet, who directed this year's A.Y.P.A. play, was presented with a fountain pen, the presentation being made by the president, Miss Horn, on behalf of the members.

PINS PRESENTED TO JUNIOR MEMBERS

Interesting Reports of Diocesan Annual Meeting Given to St. Luke's W. A.

The presentation of pins and certificates to successful members of the Junior Auxiliary of St. Luke's Church was a feature of the meeting of the Women's Auxiliary held last evening at the rectory, where the members were entertained later by Rev. and Mrs. G. J. Bousfield. Interesting reports of the Diocesan annual meeting in Toronto were given and a brief address from the Deanery officer, Mrs. J. L. Hughes, was also heard by the ladies. Mrs. Hughes spoke of the Deanery meeting to be held early in the autumn months at St. Luke's.

Successful members of the Junior W.A. in the recent examinations who received certificates and pins last evening included the following: Phyllis Davies, Dorothy Lipsett, Phyllis Starr, Myrtle Joyes, Hazel Mahood, Beatrice Mahood, Audrey Whittaker, Norma Whittaker, Gladys Clarke, Evelyn Lawless, Margaret Lawless, Iris Williams, Lillian Brand, Isabel Milliken, and Thelma Pattenden.

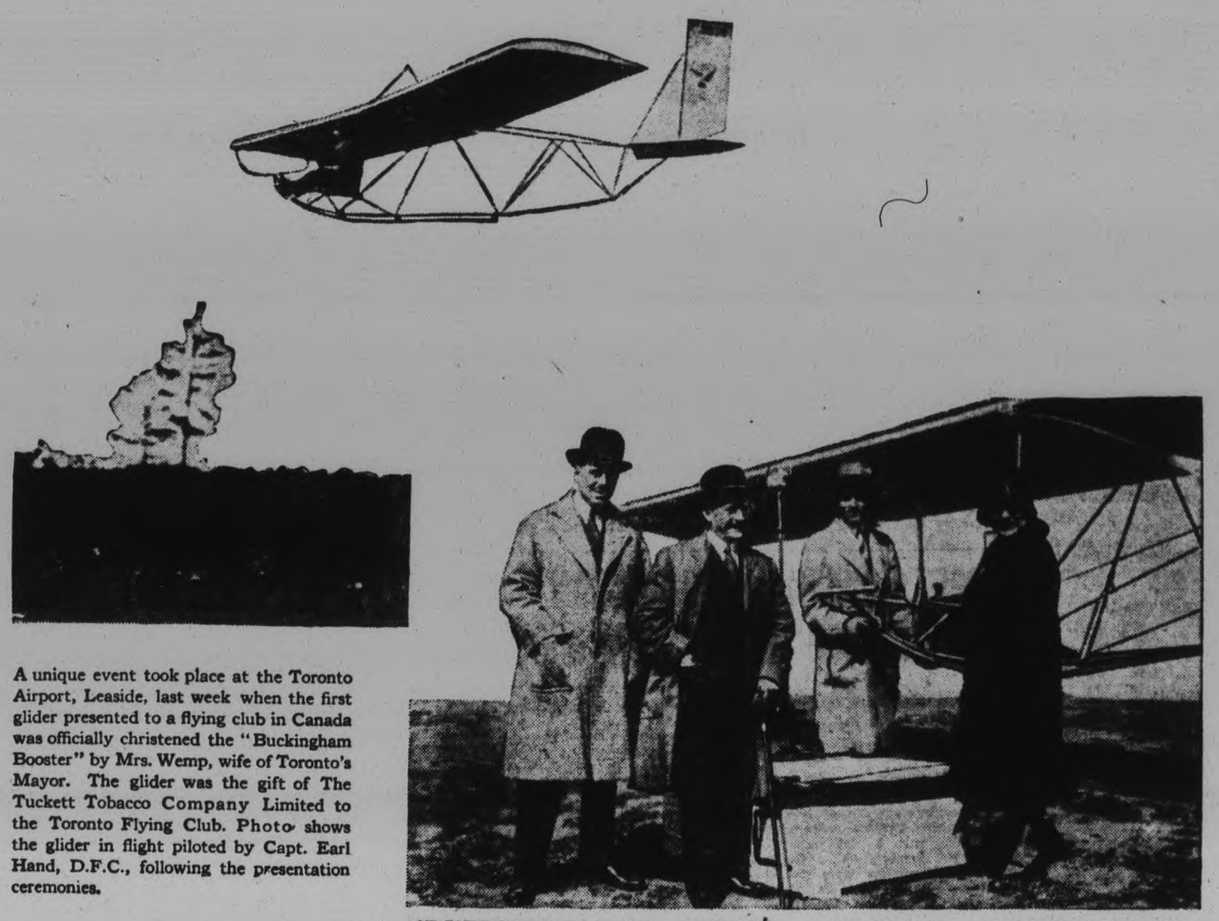
Mayor Wemp of Toronto at Glider Christening



A unique event took place at the Toronto Airport, Leaside, last week when the first glider presented to a flying club in Canada was officially christened the "Buckingham Booster" by Mrs. Wemp, wife of Toronto's Mayor. The glider was the gift of The Tuckett Tobacco Company Limited to the Toronto Flying Club. Photo shows the glider in flight piloted by Capt. Earl Hand, D.F.C., following the presentation ceremonies.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

CANADA MAY HEAR BROADCAST OF WOLFE MEMORIAL SPEECHES

Descendant of General Montcalm Be One of Speakers on June 5.

DINNER AT CANADA CLUB.

LONDON, May 29 (By Thomas T. Champion, Canadian Press Staff Correspondence).—Arrangements are being made for the broadcasting throughout the British Isles and, possible, in Canada of the ceremony of unveiling the Wolfe Memorial, which will take place on June 5. The speeches of Sir Campbell Stuart, head of the memorial committee, and of the Maquis de Montcalm, descendant of the famous commander who was Wolfe's gallant foe, will be radioed from Greenwich in the afternoon.

The Marquis de Montcalm will unveil the memorial and thus the names of the great generals will again be brought together through in the atmosphere of friendship, which is a symbol of the new order between two world powers and between the two races of Canada.

Speeches at the Canada Club dinner the same evening will also be broadcast. The speakers will be the French Ambassador, Lord Elibank, descendant of Sir James Murray, Wolfe's companion-in-arms, who took command of the British army when Wolfe fell in the Battle of the Plains of Abraham and became the first English Governor of Quebec, and J. H. Woods, of Calgary, President of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

BROCKVILLE, Ont., May 28 (C.P.)—Officers elected yesterday at the 27th annual Ontario state convention of the Knights of Columbus were as follows:—

State Chaplain, His Grace Archbishop M. J. O'Brien, Kingston; State Deputy, T. E. Brown, Ottawa; Past State Deputy, J. J. Duffus, Peterborough; State Secretary, George L. Bush, Guelph; State Treasurer, Coleburke Lyons, Windsor; State Advocate, A. B. Collins, Belleville; State Warden, J. C. Gravelle, Sudbury.

PURSE OF GOLD PRESENTED TO BISHOP SEAGER

Presentation Made By Clergy at Close of 63rd Congress of Diocese of Ontario.

900 CONFIRMED IN 1929.

Canon A. T. MacTear Re-elected Honorary Secretary—F. King, K.C., Solicitor.

KINGSTON, Ont., May 29 (Canadian Press). — Presentation of a purse of gold to Bishop C. A. Seager marked the closing session of the 63rd annual Synod of the Diocese of Ontario here last night, the presentation being made on behalf of the clergy by Senior Rural Dean L. E. Davis on the eve of the departure of Bishop Seager for the Lambeth Conference being held in London, England during July and August.

At the closing session reports of various committees were received and adopted. Archdeacon J. H. H. Coleman of St. Paul's church, Kingston, reported for the committee on the state of the church, and showed that during the past year there were 900 candidates confirmed, an increase of 166 over the previous year.

F. King, K.C., New Solicitor.

Francis King, K.C., of this city, was elected Synod Solicitor, in place of Dr. J. B. Walken, K.C., who resigned.

Dean W. W. Craig of St. George's Cathedral, Toronto., Archdeacon Coleman, Chancellor J. B. Walkem, of Kingston, and Judge E. J. Reynolds of Brockville, were elected delegates to the General Board of Missions.

An interesting motion was introduced by Canon J. W. Jones, who spoke strongly in favor of his amendment to the existing canon which was that the chaplain of the Portsmouth penitentiary, Rev. Hilyard Smith, receiving $2400 a year from the government be not made eligible to participate in the benefits of the annuities of the clergy trust fund, but the motion was defeated by a very heavy vote.

Canon A. T. MacTear was re-elected clerical Honorary Secretary of the Synod, while E. R. Checkley was again re-elected as lay secretary.

ALL PARROTS, LOVE BIRDS BANNED FROM CANADA

OTTAWA, Ont., May 29 (C.P.) — No more love birds are to enter Canada. Neither shall parakeets, cockatoos, macaws, lories, lorokeets and several other varieties of parrots. This is all because of the fear of transmission of the disease psittacosis.

The order of the Department of Agriculture to this effect has been today forwarded by the Department of Natural Revenue to all customs officers.

Royals and Bisons in Tie for International Lead

TORONTO LEAFS LOSE DOUBLE DECISIONS TO THE ROYALS

Johnny Prudhomme Hurls One Hit Game But Is Beaten 1-0.

FIRST GAME BY 10-2.

Guy Cantrell and Clarence Fisher Swamped Under Barrage of Hits.

Rain played havoc with the American division of the International League yesterday, but the two games played in Canada only served to tie the circuit in a tighter knot.

A double-header victory over Toronto boosted the Montreal Royals into a tie for first place with the Buffalo Bisons as the Leafs dropped to fourth position, which was held by Montreal previous to yesterday's two contests. The Royals won the opener 10 to 2, and then took the seven inning nightcap 1 to 0.

Although Montreal and Buffalo lead the league in percentage with 20 victories as against 16 defeats, the first division clubs are actually tied in games won and lost. Baltimore, in third place, has won one more game than either of the leaders, but also has lost one more, while Toronto has won two and lost two more than Montreal and Buffalo.

In winning the first game yesterday, Herb Thormahlen hung up his seventh consecutive victory of the season, holding the Leafs to seven scattered hits. Johnny Prudhomme, Toronto mound ace, held the Royals to one hit but three passes in the seventh coupled with that one hit gave Montreal the game.

BELANGER SEEKS TO REGAIN TITLE

Toronto Boy Gets Big Chance in Coliseum Bout on June 10.

FOR WORLD HONORS.

TORONTO, May 29—When "Frenchy" Belanger, Canadian flyweight champion and former world's titleholder, boxes Frankie Genaro in the feature bout of the boxing show, being held by the Shamrock A.C. at the Coliseum June 10, in conjunction with the Shriners' program, it will be his fourth match against the New York Italian. And Belanger states that he will be in better condition for this battle than for either of the last two. He beat Genaro on the occasion of their first meeting, the bout being the Toronto boy's main event. Genaro reversed that decision to win the world's champion hip from Belanger a few months later, and, in a third battle, retained the title.

Victorious in his last three bouts, Belanger has also shown great form in the gymnasium lately. He is taking his work seriously — so much so that he has not been a regular attendant at the races, as in former years. It is his big chance, for if he fails this time he cannot well expect another.

Genaro is recognized by the National Boxing Association as world's champion and the winner of the bout here has only to box "Midget" Wolgast, champion in the eyes of the New York Commission, to entirely clarify the flyweight situation, which has been in a muddled state for some time. The June 10 bout is at the championship weight, 112 pounds.

Dominion Day Races At Deloro On July 1

MARMORA, May 29 (Examiner Correspondence).—The fourth annual Dominion Day races promoted by the Deloro Amateur Athletic Association will be run off on July 1st. These races for which a section of the Marmora-Deloro highway supplies the course, are open to runners who have been residents of Hastings County since January 1st, 1930.

For the senior relay, the Kent Challenge Trophy is the award for the year's holding, with a replica cup for permanent possession. In 1927 and 1928 Charles Fairweather of Stirling was the winner, while Manley Emmorey of Deloro secured the trophy last year. For this race, contestants must be under 21 years of age and for the junior race, under 17 years of age on January 1st, 1930.

The distances are approximately 6 and 3 miles respectively.

Further particulars will be gladly given to prospective contestants by the Deloro Amateur Athletic Association.

CARPET BOWLING LOOP SEASON BROUGHT TO SUCCESSFUL CLOSE

Over Forty Members Gather at Annual Banquet—Presentation of Prizes.

CHALLENGE ISSUED.

The Peterborough Carpet Bowling League finished the season on Tuesday evening with a very successful banquet at Hooper's Palm Rooms Over forty members were present with President Wiggins as chairman and toastmaster. The following gentlemen as guests were present: Rev. J. D. Paterson, Rev. J. L. Hughes, and Rev. E. R. James, who apologized for the absence of Dr. Blagrave.

Presentation of Prizes.

Presentation of prizes interspersed with community singing and other numbers by the various artists went to make up a most enjoyable evening. After the toast to the King President Wiggins, before calling upon the Rev. J. D. Paterson to present the cup and prizes to the winning rink, expressed the thanks of all to the donor of the cup, W. A. Hope.

Rev. J. D. Paterson then gave a brief history of the formation of the Peterborough Carpet Bowling League which was formed two years ago with but eight rinks and has grown this year to fourteen rinks and promises to be much larger next season. Many good games have been lost and won during the past season especially in the second half of the schedule. He then called on the winners to come forward and he handed the cup to Mr. Hope to present to Mr. Coombe, skip of the rink, with G. B. Richardson, vice, A. Hope, second, F. Leether, lead. With the cup were four casserole dishes.

Messrs. F. Clarke and T. Curvin rendered a banjo duet and Mr. Clarke responded with "Watermelon Hanging on the Vine" as an encore.

Rev. J. L. Hughes was called upon present second prizes, silver cream dishes to Messrs. C. Wiggins, skip, R. Page, vice, J. Young, second, J. Raybould, lead.

Rev. E. R. James was then called upon to present the third prizes, silver butter dishes, to Chief G. Gimblett, skip, H. Hill, vice, B. Thomas, second, A. Guppy, lead.

Sponsors Friendship

Chief Gimblett, in accepting the prizes emphasized the fact that it was not so much the winning of prizes, but the spirit of friendship and goodwill that is formed during the games.

This was followed by a banjo duet by Messrs. F. Clarke and T. Curvin and a song by R. Hendry and J. Smith, with banjo accompaniment. W. J. Runnett contributed a humorous recitation and was called upon to present the fourth prizes to St. John's rink, with W. H. Lemmings, skip, F. Dainton, vice, W. Gore, second, W. Davis, lead and Messrs. R. N. Stuart and W. G. Howden as subs. These prizes were silver salt and pepper shakers.

Rev. J. D. Paterson next presented the fifth prize, cups and saucers, to S.O.E. rink, F. Parsons, skip, A. Follis, vice, F. Lemmon, second, F. Land, lead, G. Collis, sub. Sixth prizes, ash trays, were presented by Rev. E. R. James to Park Street Baptist rink, R. Batley, skip, M. Dunkley, vice, J. Douglas, second, J. Quibell, lead, and A. Harris and P. Bullied, subs.

Jack Smith rendered "Annie Laurie."

Each skip in responding expressed the pleasure of the games during the winter and all promised to be into the game next winter.

E. Cooney then threw out a challenge to Mr. Coombe and his rink. The game is to be played at All Saints' Parish Hall on Tuesday evening next, June 3, to which all members and their wives were cordially invited.

The chairman moved a vote of thanks to the artists which was heartily endorsed. Rev. J. D. Paterson moved a vote of thanks to President Wiggins for his work in arranging banquet, which was seconded by Mr. Richardson and carried unanimously.

Millbrook-Campbellford Lacrosse Game Postponed

CAMPBELLFORD, May 29. (By Examiner Staff Correspondent) — Owing to the many counter-attractions on June 3rd, the Campbellford-Millbrook lacrosse game that was scheduled for that day has been postponed. It is expected that this game will be played on one of the Thursdays following.

Attendance for one day at the recent Agricultural Show at Sydney, N. S. W., was 122,000.

INDIANAPOLIS SPEEDWAY RACE IS MORE THRILLING THAN EVER

New Rules Allow 40 Cars in Annual 500-mile Automobile Classic.

WILL BROADCAST RACE.

Known as one of the automobile classics of the world, the famous annual 500-mile Indianapolis Speedway Race promises to be even more colorful and thrilling than ever this year. New rules of the speedway allow 40 cars to start, and with changes in specifications, unprecedented interest has already asserted itself.

Larger, heavier and faster cars will be in the line-up this year. The mechanic will ride along with the driver during the race. The minimum weight of cars is 1750 pounds, but only two or three will weigh in at the minimum, the majority will weigh up to 2745 pounds. Motors may be as large as 366 cubic inches, piston displacement and only two carburetors are permitted on each motor.

"These changes necessitated a new tire—one that would be heavier and stronger and which will be able to stand the grueling grind over the 2½ miles of brick track at Indianapolis on the new racing cars," said Waldo Stein, Firestone racing tire expert. "Building tires is a serious task and when you construct a new one altogether, it is going ahead with nothing except your general experience and contact with the sport of auto racing. Firestone has more than a special interest in this race, since our tires have won this event for the past ten consecutive years".

So that all sport fans may get the details of the race, Firestone will broadcast the last hour of it direct from the Indianapolis speedway. Graham McNamee will be at the mike and the broadcast will start at 2:15 p.m., central standard time, and be broadcast over 50 stations on the NBC network.

Firestone To Broadcast Indianapolis Speedway

Tomorrow at 2:15 p.m., central standard time, the Firestone Tire & Rubber Company will broadcast the last hour of the famous 500-mile speedway race which is annually held at Indianapolis.

The program will be broadcast over a chain of 50 stations on the NBC network, which are used for the regular weekly broadcast by Firestone. Graham McNamee will be at the mike and it is expected that the winners of this thrilling event will say a few words to the radio audience.

PERFORMANCE OF SOCKS SEIBOLD IS WONDER OF MAJOR LEAGUES

Veteran Ball Hurler Leads Braves to 5-1 Victory Over Phillies.

7TH WIN FOR EX-LEAF.

The current performance of Harry Seibold, veteran pitcher of the Boston Braves, is one of the most amazing things in the National League struggle. Back in the days when Washington had a pair of pitchers named Nick Altrock and Al Schacht and a young left-handed hurler appeared on the Boston Red Sox roster as G. Ruth, and was considered a good enough batsman to appear in a world series game as a pinch hitter, "Socks" Seibold was a regular hurler with the Philadelphia Athletics.

A decade ago Seibold disappeared into the minor leagues and little more was heard of him until he appeared at the top of the International league list with reading in 1928. The Chicago Cubs called him in from their farm to use as trading material and sent him to the Braves. Seibold had a fair season last year, winning 12 games and losing 17, but it was not until the start of the 1930 race that he really began stepping out.

So far in a race only two months old, Seibold has pitched nine complete games and has won seven of them. He has not yet been removed from the hill, taking his complete turn every five or six days with a remarkable degree of success in a close race. He held the Phillies to six hits yesterday and won his seventh victory by a 5 to 1 score in the first game the teams have been able to play this week. Giving usually only one hit an inning, Seibold went along at a steady pace while his mates picked slowly at the hurling of Phil Collins and Grover Alexander for eight blows, one of them Walter Berger's eleventh home run of the season.

Seibold's leading rival for staying honors in the major leagues, Walter Stewart of the St. Louis Browns, trailed right along behind him yesterday, completing his eighth contest in ten games with a 4 to 2 victory over the Detroit Tigers. Stewart also has won seven games, but has been defeated three times. The victory put the Browns into sixth place, moving the Chicago White Sox to seventh by a few points. In games, the two rivals of yesterday and the White Sox are tied for the head of the second division, twelve games behind the leading Washington Senators.

The Chicago Cubs moved up to an almost safe place in the National League's first division by winning the remaining contest of the three which survived the rain and cold of yesterday, by defeating the Cincinnati Reds, 6 to 5, the Cubs made their margin over the New York Giants a full game.

League Is Organized By Pro Golf Players

CHICAGO, May 29.—An embryonic professional golf league has been organized for intercity team play along the lines of professional baseball, it was announced tonight by James Carserry, captain of the Chicago club. Teams have been assembled in Cleveland, St. Louis, Chicago and Detroit. The first clash will be between the Detroit and Chicago teams at the Hawthorne Club on June 12.

To avoid the semblance of commercialization, the first games will be played for charity, receipts from the Hawthorne Club meet going to the Michigan Society for Crippled Children.

SEEKS RELEASE AFTER 21 YEARS IN PRISON

Canadian Serving Life Sentence in Nebraska Penitentiary For Murder.

Lincoln, Nebraska, May 29. (C.P.)—Lafayette Dales at the age of 49, left his family in Owen Sound, Ont., to seek his fortune in the United States. That was 21 years ago.

Now at the age of 70, he has written to the Nebraska pardon board, asking for relase from a life sentence for murder. "My children, of course, are grown up now," he said, "but they want me and I want to go back to them."

Throughout his long term in prison his wife has never ceased her efforts through the British vice-consul at Chicago to obtain his freedom. Dales was convicted for the murder of a horse trader who had offered to take him west in a wagon. Dales admitted killing the trader at his trial but contended it was in self defense. The pardon board will act on his case next month.

COGS WILL MEET ELECTRICS NINE ON FRIDAY NIGHT

While Rays Tangle With Cobourg in Lakeshore Fixture on Saturday Afternoon.

REAL TREAT TO FANS.

All Four Teams Will Field Strongest Line-ups For Coming Battles.

With warmer weather promised, conditions should be right for the week-end bill of baseball. Two of the season's choice games are being offered. On Friday evening at Exhibition Park the champion Cognawaga aggregation hook up with the smart C.G.E. team in an East Peterborough League fixture, and at the same park on Saturday afternoon Cobourg comes here to play the Rays in a Lakeshore League entertainment.

Real Treat to Fans

Judging by the brand of ball dished out by the Electrics in their 3-1 triumph over the Crescents and the display of strength given by the Cogs when they defeated Bethany 14 to 1, the game to-morrow night should supply a real treat to ball fans. Both outfits will field their strongest lineups since the teams' management have become impressed with the importance of grabbing a win in every game possible.

The Saturday afternoon game should test the capacity of the stands. The Rays have lined up a squad of ball-tossers that defeated the much-improved Oshawa club right in their own ballwick on the holiday, while Cobourg is reported to have a team that promises to make a strong bid on the championship. In Toey Ibey, who will do the hurling here, they have a pitcher who made a remarkable record for himself last season in the Central League. With the good pitching, Cobourg has a smart fielding team and a squad of heavy hitters.

It is likely that Rus Kitchen will get the call to the mound for the Rays. He showed great form in Oshawa, ringing up five strikeouts in the two innings he performed.

It will be the last chance the fans have to see the Rays in action until June 14.

ADMISSION PRICE SET FOR BALL GAMES

Ball Fans to Pay 10 Cents Admission Fee For E.P.L. Games.

Considerable discussion has ensued among ball fans since Monday night's game due to the fact that the East Peterborough League officials are charging only ten cents admission to the games, where a class of ball is dished up that compares favorably with senior baseball.

Several fans have stated that the games are certainly worth a quarter and think that this sum should be the minimum set. However, the officials in putting the price at ten cents feel that this sum would prevent no one from attending the games, whereas the quarter charge might hit some fans rather hard.

The rule is that all surplus money received at the gate is to be turned over to the home team, which means that any person who is satisfied to pay anything over the set price for a ticket will be contributing the extra change to the home crew. To-morrow night the Cogs are the visitors.

To-night the C.G.E. players will practice at the Exhibition Grounds starting at six o'clock sharp, in preparation for the battle with the Cogs and a classy tournament is assured.

PONSFORD SCORES 220 RUNS NOT OUT

Australians Tally 406 Runs For Two Wickets in Oxford University Match.

LONDON, May 29 (C. P. Cable).—The enormous score of 406 runs for only two wickets was made by the Australians in a cricket match against Oxford University at Oxford yesterday. Chief contributor to the Antipodean total was W. H. Ponsford with 220 not out, while S. McCabe scored 91.

One of the season's best bowling performances so far was A. M. Freeman's nine wickets for 50 runs for Kent against Derbyshire. First day closing scores in matches were:

Middlesex v. Hampshire at Lord's—Middlesex, 236 (Hendren 122, Kennedy, five wickets for 61 runs); Hants, 92 runs for one wicket (Hosie, 50 not out).

Gloucestershire v. Surrey at the Kennington Oval—Gloucester, 150 (Dipper 61, Glover, four wickets for 46 runs); Surrey, 118 for three wickets (Hobbs 65 not out).

Derbyshire v. Kent at Ilkeston—Derby, 136 (Storer 57); Kent, 107 (Mitchell, four wickets for 42 runs).

Nottinghamshire v. Glamorganshire at Nottingham—Glamorgan, 231 (Hills, 74); Notts, 92 for two wickets (George Gunn 61).

Yorkshire v. Essex at Dewsbury—Yorks, 365 for nine wickets (Sutcliffe 76, Holmes 63, Leyland 93, Oldroyd 63).

Lancashire v. Leicestershire at Nelson—Lancashire, 205; Leicester, 49 for two wickets.

Worcestershire v. Northamptonshire at Worcester—Northants, 259 Hawtin 67, Root for wickets for 63 runs); Worcester, 21 for no wickets.

Cambridge University v. Sessex at Cambridge—Sussex, 265 (Collins 90, Kemp Welch four wickets for 47 runs); Cambridge, 50 runs for two wickets.

BABBLE IS WINNER OF DUNDEE PURSE

Favorites Fail at Thorncliffe—Large Crowd Again in Attendance.

TORONTO, May 29. — Favorites faltered at Thorncliffe Park yesterday afternoon, not the least of them being Black Diamond and Kingsway, a pair which failed dismally in the running of the Dundee Purse event, feature race on the card. Babble, wearing Ryland H. New's white and scarlet colors, finished first amid thunderous applause. He had entered the home stretch in second position, with Elizabeth Bolla setting the pace but the son of Chatterton and Charlotte B. came up with a great burst of speed to take the decision by a neck in one of those thrilling finishes.

Black Diamond, carrying top weight, 116 pounds, was first to get away when the barrier was lifted and Jockey McGinnis went to the whip in an effort to gain a commanding lead. Black Diamond, however, was unequal to the task of beating horses who were carrying far less weight and he fell back after about half the distance was completed, and finished in fourth place. Swatter taking show money without undue trouble.

Kingsway Disappoints

Far back of the leaders Kingsway and Macil trailed in, well and decisively defeated. Kingsway had never been better than third, while Macil, ridden by Veriyn Smith, appeared to be out of his class. Smith had five mounts and finished in the money twice, getting a second and a third. He has yet to win at the Leaside course.

Another large crowd was in attendance despite threatening weather and those race-goers seemed to be enjoying themselves even if the favorites could not get up there to win. Gasps of dismay greeted the horses who caused the upsets, but that's how it goes in racing.

CAMPOLO NAMED

NEW YORK, N.Y., May 29 (C.P.)—Victorio Campolo, Argentine heavyweight, has been named by Madison Square Garden as the alternate for the Max Schmeling-Jack Sharkey title bout at the Yankee stadium, June 12. In the 10-round semi-final Arthur de Kuh, Italian giant, is to meet Walter Cobb of Kansas City.

BELMONTS WIN SOFTBALL TILT BY LONE RUN

Winners Retain Lead Secured in Early Frames of the Play.

FINAL COUNT 9-8.

Playford, Calladine and Montgomery Star Batsmen For Northerners.

The Belmont Club made an auspicious return to City League Softball circles last night after an absence of three years, by their 9-8 victory over last year's league champions, Harrison's squad.

Making three runs in the first frame and another two runs in the fourth the Belmonts had a one tally lead over their opponents and with four runs in the fifth innings, they held right fast, while Harrison's 'nine' made a bold bid for first place.

Montgomery pitching for the 'Sunoco' boys made a weak start, walking two men in the opening frame, but he made a good recovery and was allowed to retain his position on the mound. He made three strikeouts and displayed very promising form.

Holyman twirling for the clubmen, made two strike-outs and played good ball throughout. He walked two men.

Thrilling Game

The promise of a thrilling game was fully justified, there being few dull moments from start to finish. Calladine, Playford and Montgomery were the star batsmen for Harrisons, sending several fly balls to outfield, where the Belmont outfielders accomplished some nice corralling. Playford lost a run to his team, by failing to touch the cushion on third, in the fifth innings, while Delahay, the Belmont's lf. allowed Calladine to score on an error.

Lebarr substituted for Clark in the sixth innings, while in the last few moments of the game Harrisons' manager sent in Cruthers to pinch hit for Smith, who got to first after which Clark was put out, bringing a fast game to a conclusion.

There were several blocked balls during the game on account of the spectators crowding the infielders.

Score by innings:—

Harrison's	112011101—8
Belmont	300240000—9

Line-ups:

Harrisons—Jones, c.f.; Crary, s.s.; Dobson, c.; Calladine, 2b.; Playford, 3b.; Montgomery p.; Venette, l.f.; Smith, 1b.; Cruthers; Clarke, r.f.; Lebarr.

Belmont Club — Delahaye, l.f.; Mather, 1b.; Craighead, s.s.; Holyman, p.; Galbraith, r.f.; Munro, 2b.; Haskill, c.; Board, 3b.; Scates, c.f.

Umpires—Bud Weese at the plate; Harold Dormer on bases.

AMERICAN STAR EXTENDED TO WIN

Unknown English Lassie of 18 Battles Mrs. Helen Wills Moody.

AUTEUIL, France, May 29 (C.P.)—A practically unknown English girl, Phyllis Mudford, came within a fraction of upsetting the tennis aplomb of the noted United States star, Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, in the third round of the women's singles of the French hard court tennis championship yesterday. The singles match about stole the show from the mixed doubles battle in which Big Bill Tilden of the United States, and his partner, Cecille Aussem of Germany, triumphed over Henri Cochet of France, and Mrs. Eileen Bennett Whittingstall of England in straight sets, 6—4, 6—4. Mrs. Moody won by 6—2, 6—4.

The Moody-Mudford match produced the unusual spectacle of a comparatively obscure youngster holding her own in driving with the world's champion and handling Queen Helen's powerful service with deftness.

Miss Mudford displayed not the slightest trace of stage fright at being pitted against the French, English and United States titleholder. She had began to attack the moment the match began with the result that Helen was on the defensive a good share of the time. Many of Mrs. Moody's points, especially in the second set, were earned through wider tournament experience and finesse.

THREE UNITED STATES' ENTRIES LEFT IN BRITISH GOLF RUNNING

Bobby Jones Pitted Against Harrison R. Johnson in This Afternoon's Play.

HOPE VERSUS VOIGT.

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, May 29. (C.P.)—The British amateur golf championship to-day began to look more like an all British affair. Only three entries from the United States remained in the afternoon only two can still remain, as Bobby Jones, United States open champion, is pitted against Harrison R. Johnston, amateur champion of his country.

This afternoon W. L. Hope, British star, will oppose George Voigt, of the United States, while the Jones-Johnston match will be the other high spot of the sixth round play.

PICTORIAL GOLF

HANDS START CLUBHEAD BACK.

Starting the club back with the hands before the clubhead gets underway is the safest way to hit a golf ball, George Duncan, famous Scotch professional, is responsible for this thought although he does not claim that it is original with him.

The theory is that the clubhead will always be kept in a direct line and not be in danger of lagging at the moment of impact. If the hands are held in subjugation while the clubhead is swinging through the shot will most likely be a success and an unusual distance gained. (Copyright 1930, by the Bell Syn., Inc.)

AWREY APPOINTED COACH

WINDSOR, Ont., May 29 (C.P.) — Appointment of George P. Awrey, former grid coach for Hamilton Tigers and Queen's University, has been sanctioned by the meeting of the newly-organized Windsor rugby football club here. At the same time Austin J. Deneau, well - known in local football circles, was named as manager of the team for the 1930 season.

LAD SHOVED INTO WATER, DROWNS

TORONTO, Ont., May 29 (C.P.) — Shortly after William Trace reported to police he had seen a number of boys shove another youth into the bay at the foot of Jarvis street during a playful scuffle, life savers last night recovered the body of Harold Fedorchuk, aged 8, of 301 Church street.

Police were unable to locate his playmates.

WOMEN TO REMAIN IN OLYMPIC GAMES

Baillet-Latour Proposal is Rejected at Berlin Convention.

BERLIN, May 29 (C.P.)— Women will be left on the Los Angeles Olympics, as at Amsterdam, including track, field and fencing as a consequence of to-day's rejection on the Baillet-Latour proposal to admit them only in gymnastics, swimming, tennis and skating.

The vote, by a show of hands, after heated debate in which Murray Hulbert of New York led, was so overwhelming that Baillet himself threw up his hands good naturedly and requested that he be recorded in favor of the rejection of his own proposal.

The Olympic Congress further decided on sixteen days' duration for the Los Angeles games, including three Sundays.

Westclox and C.G.E. In 4th Game To-night

The fourth fixture in the City League Softball schedule will see a clash to-night at Central School grounds between Westclox and C.G.E. After their promising form, shown in the opening game the 'Engineers' and 'Clockmakers' should provide a good fast game with plenty of thrills.

The game is timed to commence at 6.15 p.m. sharp.

On Friday night the Sugar Bowl and Belmont Clumben will each field a good line-up.

JUST BALLYHOO?

The famous Edmonton Basketball Coach, Percy Page, according to some angles appears to be up to his ears in trouble. Daniel J. Ferris, secretary-treasurer of the Amateur Athletic Union of the United States claims that the Edmonton Grads played the Taylor Trunks basketball team of Chicago recently and that the team they were playing is professional. Not only that, but Mr. Page was warned of these facts before the game.

However, the famous "Percy" defends himself in saying he enquired into the status of the basketball situation and never received any reply from Mr. Ferris. Not only this but Mr. Page points out that his team is not affiliated with the A.A.U. or the W.A.F. of Canada. However it has been pointed out in the last that the Alberta Basketball Association holds an affiliation with the Canadian Basketball Association and the latter is affiliated with the Women's Federation of Canada.

SEA FLEA DRIVERS WANT PROTECTION

Pilots Form Association to Gain More Say in Control of Sport.

TORONTO, May 29. — Opposing what they considered practically a combine most of the leading sea-flea drivers in Ontario assembled at the Royal York Hotel last night to form a protective organization, which will be known a Canadian Out-board Drivers' Association. The theme of the meeting was to secure more say for the active pilots in the conducting of races, regatias and the general business of the sea-flea sport.

The drivers complained that the recently organized Canadian Power Boat Association was directing the sport without consulting the men who own and drive the sea-fleas, and there was a long list of complaints, many of them technical, voiced. The main opinion of the meeting was that a selected few were getting all the favors and that active drivers had little say in the conducting of their own game.

To Work With C.P.B.A.

Tom McClure, secretary of the C.P.B.A., which has assumed control of the out-board game in Canada, explained the idea of his organization while he read the constitution. The drivers all agreed that they did not want to oppose the controlling body and were anxious to operate in harmony, but they demanded more say in the conducting of the sport and more consideration. A list of requirements was made, to be submitted to the C.P.B.A., which included a year's suspension for any driver doctoring a motor in an official race.

The following officers, which include the best sea-flea drivers in Ontario, were elected: Commodore, Harry "Red" Foster; Vice Commodore, W. Landergin; Treasurer, Harold Ballard; Secretary, Frank James; Directors, Bud Butler, Guelph; Wes Kelly, Peterborough; Harry Sleeman; Ted Matthews, Harry Hague and Art Heaven.

Otto Van Porat Back As "Heavy" Candidate

CHICAGO, Ills., May 29. (C.P.)—Otto Von Porat, long ridiculed as a fighting man without a real fighting heart, has bounded back as one of the outstanding candidates for the heavyweight boxing championship.

The angular Norwegian regained his standing and completely belied his soft-hearted reputation at the Chicago stadium last night by battering Jack Gagnon, knockout conqueror of 'Tuffy' Griffith, to the canvas after six slashing rounds.

The stadium matchmaker is now seeking a bout for him with the winner of the Jack Sharkey-Max Schmeling fight for the heavyweight crown.

THEATRES

AT THE REGENT

"THE ARGYLE CASE"

Thomas Meighen's first talking picture brings him to the screen in a murder mystery story, in which he is the detective in charge of investigations. The picture is interesting, partly owing to the manner in which it delineates modern and up-to-date methods in tracking down criminals.

The admirers of the slow-moving Meighan in older pictures will probably be rather surprised to hear his voice. It is quick, sharp and just a little edgy at times. It suits admirably the role of the swift-moving, curt detective who manipulates matters so that his methods bring him quick results. Lila Lee plays opposite Meighan and is just as satisfactory as always in the part of Mary Morgan, ward of the murdered millionaire, Argyle, and suspected of the crime.

The story moves dramatically through various episodes that follow the murder, with different suspects rounded up and the final capture of the real criminal.

And then there is H. B. Warner in an unfamiliar role—that of the criminal. What a voice! Arresting, haunting, modulated and yet always low-pitched, suiting his face and his eyes and his whole demeanor. How he dominates any picture that he appears in, no matter who may be the principals.—Jeannette.

Bowling Season Opens On Stirling Greens

STIRLING, May 29. (Examiner Correspondence).—The bowling season opened on Monday afternoon when a mixed tournament took place with 30 in attendance. The winning team was W. Whitty, skip, Mrs. Bastedo, lead, Mrs. Atkins, part time, Mrs. Potts, part time, J. O'Donnel, vice skip.

Tea was served in the club house.

Softball Notes.

The Pirates defeated the Red Sox by score of 14-7 with "Pud" Sturgeon on mound for winners in the Brinton carpet inter-shop softball league.

On Friday evening, the two first place teams will tangle when the Yankees meet the Maple Leafs.

On Monday evening at 6.15 sharp the Brinton City League softball team will inaugurate their home games, meeting C.G.E. on Brinton grounds.

A BEDTIME STORY

by Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY DIGS A HOLE.

From the time when he was a small rabbit boy, big enough to hop around by himself and do things, Uncle Wiggily had always wanted to dig a great, deep hole in the ground, like a gold mine, or, perhaps, a coal mine. But, somehow or other, it never happened.

Uncle Wiggily could well remember once, when he was a little chap, he was taken by his father and mother to the seashore. They gave him a pail and, what was better, a shovel.

"Now," said the little rabbit boy, who of course, wasn't called Uncle Wiggily then, "now I shall dig me a deep hole in the sand."

So he dug and he dug and he dug, but pretty soon the hole in the sand was filled with ocean water (as has happened to you, I suppose) and the rabbit boy had to stop.

"Oh, dear!" he sighed. "I wanted to dig a great, deep hole but I can't—!"

Then, when he grew to be bigger, the little rabbit fellow was, one day, given a larger shovel. He went off by himself in a field and began to make a hole. He dug and he dug and he dug, but after a while, the sun began to go down and it grew dark and his mother called:

"Ho, Wiggy, my dear! Time to go to bed!"

So Uncle Wiggily had to leave that hole out in the field.

"I'll dig deeper to-morrow," he said to himself.

But when tomorrow came it brought

"There's something in that hole!"

rain and the rain washed into the hole the dirt Uncle Wiggily had dug out so there was no more hole.

"Dear me!" sighed the rabbit boy, "it seems as though I shall never dig that great hole on which I have set my heart!"

So time went on. The rabbit boy grew into a rabbit man and became Uncle Wiggily and what with having adventures and looking after his forty 'leven sixteen bunny boys and girls, Mr. Longears never yet had time to dig that wonderful hole.

But now had come the spring of the year, with summer just around the corner. The ground was soft and mellow, and, one day, having nothing else to do, the children having gone to school, Uncle Wiggily took a shovel out of the box where the garden tools are kept.

"What are you going to do, Wiggy?" asked his wife.

"I am going to dig that great hole you have so often heard me speak about," answered Mr. Longears. "To-day I shall dig all the way through to China, or perhaps I may dig a gold mine; who knows!"

"Oh, you dear, silly old rabbit man!" laughed his wife! "What good will it do you to dig a great, deep hole?"

"No good at all, perhaps," Uncle Wiggily said. "But, having set my heart on it since I was a little boy, I feel that now I must go on and dig that hole. It will keep me busy at any rate. And I may get an adventure out of it."

"Good luck to you!" wished his wife as Uncle Wiggily hopped away with the shovel. He found a place in the meadow, where a clump of trees made it shady, and there he began to dig. Shovel after shovel of earth Uncle Wiggily tossed out of the hole, until it began to get quite deep, and he himself was down in it out of sight.

"I must be careful not to dig myself in so deep that I can't get out," thought Mr. Longears. "I must get a grapevine rope, or something to fasten to a tree or stick up here on top of the ground. Then, if I dig myself down in deep I can pull myself out. Perhaps I have gone deep enought in the hole for one day. I must make some way of getting out when I go deeper."

The hole was already so deep that it was all Uncle Wiggily could do to jump out with his shovel. But he managed, by cutting little steps in the earth of the sides of the hole, to climb up. And, as he got to the top, and stood beside the heap of earth he had tossed out of the hole, Uncle Wiggily saw the Fox there.

"Oh my!" thought the rabbit. "I would have done better to have stayed down in the hole. Oh— Oh!" And the Fox grinned and asked:

"Whar are you doing?"

"Just digging a hole," answered the rabbit, careless like and indifferent.

"What for?" asked the Fox.

"Oh, just for fun. No other reason!" answered Uncle Wiggily.

"Nonsense!" snarled the Fox. "You can't fool me! You have something hidden at the bottom of that hole and I'm going to get it and then I'm going to get you! Can't fool me that way! There's something in that hole!" The Fox leaned over to look down at the bottom. But, all of a sudden, Uncle Wiggily gave the Bad Chap a push and sent him tumbling down into the deep pit.

"Ha! Ha!" laughed the rabbit as he ran home with his shovel. "I told you the truth. There wasn't anything in the hole, but there is now! You are there, Mr. Fox!" And it took the bad chap an hour to climb up and out, for he had no shovel to dig with.

So Uncle Wiggily saved himself by digging a hole for fun.

SOME AMBITION

PARIS, (U.P.).—Roger Vincent, who has already pedalled his way across the English Channel, hopes to ride a bicycle across the Atlantic ocean next summer. He rides a hydrocycle, which is a ordinary bicycle mounted on pontoons and fitted with a waterwheel operated by the pedals. He can make up to 10 miles an hour and the frail craft is never in danger of capsising for the pontoons are filled with cork and weigh enough to keep the bike upright.

Bed rooms having wardrobes and dressing tables, a small bath room, saloon and a cock's gallery are included in the new "air yacht" recently built for Hon. A. E. Guinness of England.

Easier Housecleaning

Old Dutch brings Healthful Cleanliness and is your greatest help at housecleaning time. Old Dutch Cleanser cleans with a scientific efficiency and represents a significant advance in modern home cleaning. It is perfect for porcelain and enamel, tile, painted woodwork, floors, steps, windows, utensils, etc., in fact for all cleaning throughout the house. There is nothing else like it.

For greater economy Old Dutch is unequalled. No cleaning preparation does as much as Old Dutch and none can do it so well.

FINAL MEETING OF MILLBROOK C.G.I.T.

Society Decides to Hold Sale of Home-made Candy on Saturday, May 31.

MILLBROOK, May 28 (Examiner Correspondence).—The Wide Awakes C.G.I.T. group, which has not been meeting for some weeks owing to unavoidable circumstances, held its closing gathering, until after the holiday season, at the leader's home on Thursday evening, when a pleasant and profitable time was spent.

The president, Miss Marian O'Brian, was in the chair, and in the absence of the secretary, Miss Francis Jones acted for that officer. Business items brought up a discussion of plans for increasing the funds on hand, the final decision being to hold a sale of homemade candy on Saturday, May 31, the committee in charge being the president, and Misses Beatric Jones, Jean Stinson, and Mary Vance.

As soon as word is received regarding the provincial C.G.I.T. camps for the summer, the group will hold a special session and elect the two girls who will represent the other members at whatever point the camp for this district may be held. Last year the group had seven members at the Y.W.C.A. Camp at Eagle Mount, Stoney Lake; the previous summer they had a cottage at Chemong Park with ten or more of the girls, and their leader, enjoying a week's outing; this season they will again send delegates to the Provincial Camp.

A letter from a 'teen age girl, clipped from a daily paper, on the subject of proper regard for the 'the castle (myself) of which I am the keeper' was read by the leader, and was followed by some comment.

The devotional period was opened with the usual impressive ritual, and the lesson read in unison was Psalm 93, "The Christian's Dwelling Place"; the girls were urged to make this Psalm so much their own that each would read it at least once a week during the months when no regular meetings are being held. A period of prayer followed.

Brief, helpful comments on individual scripture verses were read by several of the members, and the leader's talk was based on a few verses from Mark 10, practical suggestions for living up to the ideal contained in the C.G.I.T. pledge being given from the Master's life as recorded in the passage chosen. Special attention to the daily devotional life in Bible reading and prayer was stressed for the weeks ahead when the girls will not be together as a group, and holiday time may bring new associations and circumstances.

A practice of a group chorus to be given at the Y.P.S. banquet on Monday, May 26, followed the closing prayer, and the hostess served ice cream and cake before the gathering dispersed.

WEDDING BELLS

DRAIN—TUCKER.

The marriage was solemnized quietly at one o'clock yesterday at St. Paul's Manse by the pastor, the Rev. W. Allan, of Milton Edgar Drain, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Drain of Dummer, and Elsie Edna Tucker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Tucker of Warsaw.

Attendants were Miss Olive Drain and Mr. David Tucker.

OBITUARY

ARTHUR BLADE.

Final tribute to the memory of a well-loved citizen was paid by a large gathering of relatives and friends who attended the funeral service of the late Arthur Blade on Tuesday afternoon at which Rev. John Sylvester of Midland officiated.

The bearers were all members of the S.O.E., and all the various florists of the city turned out to pay homage to the oldest member of their business in the city.

Out-of-town mourners included a nephew, Sydney, and Mrs. Kate Magee of Rochester, W. H. Griffith and Mr. Hawkes of the Imperial Oil Company, and Mr. McCrea, all of Toronto.

JAMES EDWARDS.

The funeral of the late James Edwards of 68 James Street, retired butcher, was held on Wednesday afternoon to Little Lake Cemetery, with Adjutant Jones of the Salvation Army officiating.

A large concourse of relatives and friends were present to pay their last tributes to his memory.

The pall-bearers were: R. Carter, Fred Jopling, J. J. Howden, S. Parks, R. Payne and R. Castell, all members of the deceased gentleman's former trade.

He leaves to mourn his loss his wife, Mrs. James Edwards, six daughters, Mrs. Stenson of Ottawa, Mrs. Jones of Toronto and Mrs. Parnell, Mrs. Harding, Mrs. Pulley, Miss Cynthia, all of this city, and two sons, Jack Edwards of Nebraska and James of this city. Another daughter, Mrs. C. Hopcroft, died some short time ago. He also leaves one brother and a sister in England.

EVELYN GRACE ESTES.

The death occurred at Simcoe of Evelyn Grace Estes, formerly of this city. Her husband, Corey Ross Estes, predeceased her by a little over a week, having been laid to rest at Little Lake Cemetery on May 14th.

The body is being brought to this city, and will be laid to rest in Little Lake Cemetery on Friday.

HELEN MORPHET PICKERING

The death occurred at noon to-day of Helen Morphet Pickering, widow of the late James M. Pickering of Picton, at her late residence, at 263 Rubidge street. Mrs. Pickering was born in Mariposa Township, 66 years ago, and moved here in 1918. Her illness was very brief.

The deceased was a member of the Baptist church at Picton.

She is survived by four sons; James of this city; Edwin of Picton; Percy, of Lindsay, and John of New York City, and also one daughter, Mrs. E. Friendship, of St. Lambert, Quebec.

The funeral service will be conducted on Saturday at 9.30 a.m. from the residence of her son, James, at 263 Rubidge street. Rev. Douglas Paterson of All Saints' Church, will officiate and interment will be in the Glenwood cemetery.

TWO FARMERS FACE CHARGES

Stuart Murphy and Wellington Tate Charged With Unlawfully Setting Out Fires.

WHICH DAMAGED TIMBER.

For unlawfully setting out fires which caused considerable damage in the northern woods of the county, Stuart Murphy, of South Burleigh, and Wellington Tate, of Harvey, will be tried before Magistrate O. A. Langley. Informations charging the men were sworn out here this morning by H. W. Crosby, district forester.

Murphy will stand trial at Warsaw on June 6 at 4.30 p.m. and Tate at Buckhorn on June 4.

It is alleged that contrary to the provisions of the Forestry Act the men set out fires on their property without first securing a permit. Later the fires got beyond their control, burning considerable timber before members of the Forest Patrol succeeded in putting them out.

This is only the second time in many years that cases of this nature have been tried in this county.

STUDY IN BLACK AND WHITE

With the bell striking as the firemen were in the act of cleaning and painting the fire hall yesterday morning, a rapid turnout was made by the entire outfit, who presented a ludicrous yet businesslike appearance. Men who have been cleaning ahead of the whitewash party in the basement, contrasted strongly with their blackened faces against the white, splashed faces of their co-workers. Going to Rogers and Robinson it was found that they had once again been the victims of a false alarm, from box 53.

INVITED TO STAY.

A unanimous invitation to Rev. A. E. Thornley, M.A., to remain yet another year as pastor of Mark Street United Church was extended by the church following a meeting this week. That Mr. Thornley is doing great work at Mark Street was the feeling of the Board members, and they sincerely hope that he will accept the invitation to remain a fourth year as pastor.

RADIO-TELEPHONE HISTORY MADE

CALL CONNECTED WITH PLANE OVER PACIFIC OCEAN

Major General MacBrien Speaks For Canada From His Ottawa Office.

2,500 MILES AWAY.

Germany, Britain, U. S., All Inaugurate Service at Same Time.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 30. (C.P.)—Sitting in his home here last night, Major General J. H. MacBrien, president of the Aviation League of Canada and former Chief of General Staff in the Department of National Defense, picked up his telephone in answer to the tinging bell and talked with a passenger seated in the largest airplane in North America, which was flying over the Pacific Ocean a mile in the air off Los Angeles 2,500 miles away.

First Call of Its Kind.

This, for the first time, a Canadian talked across a continent to a man out over the sea, cut off by space from land or water. For Canada, both radio and aviation history were made as the combined radio-telephone and land telephone call was completed.

Speaking for the Aviation League as well as for all Canadians interested in the progress of flying as a vital factor in modern life, General MacBrien gave his greetings to the unknown passenger, who in turn expressed the hope for regular communication by this method.

Many Countries Included.

While General MacBrien spoke for Canada, Premier Benito Mussolini was talking in Rome on behalf of Italy; Charles G. Dawes, United States Ambassador to Great Britain, in London; Director Milch, of Lufthansa in Berlin, and Colonel Maldonaga in Mexico City.

The demonstration was made with the standard radio installation of a Western Air Express transport monoplane liner, carrying 32 passengers. Herbert Hoover, Jr., son of President Hoover, was in charge of the radio operation during the flight.

SCHOOL TEACHER NAMED BURGLAR

Crippled Telephone Operator in Court is Sure of Attacker's Identity.

MAN WORE MASK.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 30. (C.P.)—Kate Wilson, crippled telephone operator at the nearby town of Carp, told Magistrate William Joynt in the County Court here to-day that she recognized N. A. V. Hooper, teacher of Carp high school, by his face, voice and clothes, as the man who attacked her on March 30 last and stole $5 from the phone office cash drawer. Trial of Hooper began to-day in a court room crowded with residents of the farming community in which Carp is located. Hooper denies the charge and is continuing his duties as teacher pending outcome of the case.

So badly crippled by paralysis that she requires the aid of crutches, Miss Wilson hobbled up to the witness box and detailed the visit of the marauder who forced his way into the telephone office of which the operator is sole occupant. After struggling valialy with the man who was masked, Miss Wilson said she eventually was knocked down and kicked as she crept toward the switchboard to summon aid.

Defense counsel pondered at length on the failure of Miss Wilson to deny newspaper reports that she had identified a man other than Hooper as her assailant.

Medical evidence was entered to show the operator was suffering from a sprained wrist, scratches on her hands and a bruised back and side when examined after the alleged attack.

Bread Line in Pas Ceases on June 2

THE PAS, Man., May 30 (C.P.)—The bread line at The Pas will be discontinued on June 2. According to a decision of the Town Council, no further issue of bread will be made to unemployed after that date. Some 600 men were in the line-up when rations were first handed out by the civic authorities on May 19.

Race Track Measure is Turned Down in Upper House.

SALMON TREATY PASSES.

Bill Authorizing Dominion to Guarantee Third of St. Lawrence Bridge Withdrawn.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 30 (C.P.)—The sixteenth Parliament of Canada is about to pass into history. To-day probably will see it come to an end and the members hasten home to prepare for the election. The House of Commons toiled masterfully yesterday and far into the night on departmental estimates, the only subject on the order paper.

The Senate took an important part in yesterday's proceedings by striking out a clause of a bill which would prohibit the publication of horse race odds, tips, selections and pari-mutuel prices. The vote was: Against 21, for 6.

Leaders to Co-operate

Premier Mackenzie King obtained last night assurances from both Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative Leader, and Robert Gardiner, Leader of the Progressives, that they would co-operate in permitting prorogation to-day.

The bill ratifying the Sockeye Salmon Treaty between United States and Canada was passed by the Commons after a long and, at times, slightly acriminous discussion.

Premier Mackenzie King assured the House it is the Government's intention to hold the inter-Provincial Conference on Unemployment this year. The question of seasonable unemployment and the best way to combat it will be one of the main topics.

A bill authorizing the Dominion to guarantee one-third of the cost of building a bridge over the St. Lawrence at Caughnawaga was withdrawn. The Province of Quebec has guaranteed the remaining two-thirds and a limit of $1,700,000 was placed

SUICIDE AND MURDER IN MONTREAL DEATHS

MONTREAL, Que., May 30 (C.P.)—A verdict of murder and suicide was returned to-day in the coroner's court in the case of Michael and Mrs. A. Tonovitch, 37 and 33 years of age respectively, who were found fatally shot at their home on Dandurand street, on Wednesday last. The jury decided that the man had shot his wife and turned the revolver upon himself.

Principal witness at the inquest was a 16-year-old daughter of the couple, who told of finding the bodies when she returned from work. She was convinced, she said, that nobody from the outside could have entered the home and caused the deaths. Her father had lost his job and had lost a great deal of money in the stock market, she said, and had been discouraged.

Propose Half-Day Holiday All Year

Toronto, Ont., May 30. (C.P.)—Throughout Western and Northern Ontario a movement has been started to curtail the hours of labor in retail stores and the universal adoption of the weekly half holiday.

In a letter sent to Hon. Peter Heenan, Federal Minister of Labor, and Hon. Forbes Godfrey, Ontario Minister, N. C. Ryan, of G. B. Ryan and Company, Limited, Guelph, Ont., suggests that the weekly half-holiday be made obligatory throughout Ontario, and, if possible, throughout the Dominion, for the whole year, and, if possible on Saturday afternoon, which, he contends, is the logical day. Retail stores could be kept open on Friday night to give everyone an opportunity to do their shopping then instead of on Saturday, as is now the custom.

BAD AUTO CRASH TAKES ONE LIFE

Detroit Man Cremated Near Ancaster as Gasoline Bursts Into Flames.

FRIEND BADLY HURT.

HAMILTON, Ont., May 30.—(C.P.)—One Detroit man was cremated in the wreckage of an automobile which burst into flames early this morning following a collision with a Hamilton truck on the Brantford highway, six miles west of Ancaster, and his companion is expected to die from the burns and injuries he received in the same mishap.

Former Toronto Man.

The dead man was William Mitchell, a former Toronto drug store clerk who had been living during the last year at Detroit, Mich. The driver of the American auto, Frank Cook, 2351 West Grand Boulevard, Detroit, was dragegd from the flaming mass of twisted steel by a passing autoist and is at present in a serious condition in St. Joseph's Hospital. His injuries include a compound fracture of the right leg and extensive burns to arms, legs and body.

Mitchell and Cook are casual acquaintances according to police, and were on their way from Detroit to Toronto.

The two men were driving a small new coupe with Cook at the wheel, when opposite the farm of E. C. Curran, about six or seven miles west of Ancaster on the Hamilton-Windsor highway, the coupe crashed into a standing truck, which had been in charge of Fred Holland, 134 Robert street, this city.

The force of the impact shattered the gasoline tank in the American auto and in a second the hot engine had ignited the gas. Truck and auto burst into flames with the two still inside.

Drags Driver From Flames.

One of the first passing motorists to reach the scene was Nelson Court, Detroit who stopped his machine some distance from the scene of the Police Break Up Raid at Dharasana Injuring Ten Badly.

BOMBAY, May 30 (C.P.)—Alarming reports were received here to-day of renewed rioting yesterday between Moslems and Hindus at Dacca, 150 miles from Calcutta; capital of Bengal. A large number of Hindus were arrested and the City Superintendent of Police, commanding Gurkha troops, was injured. Neighboring villages were said to have taken up the communal conflict, which, since it began Thursday of last week has taken 14 lives at Dacca and caused injuries to 40 others. Thursday's renewed disturbances seemed to centre on the Rair Bazaar, Western suburb of the city.

Police Fire on Mob

At Lilligoah, also in the Calcutta area, police opened fire upon a mob of 4,000 rioters, most of them railway workers from the East Indian workshops. Four persons were wounded in the disturbance which grew out of introduction of a new wage scale. The mob besieged the company office and injured several European officials slightly before the situation was brought under control.

In Bombay last evening Nationalists staged another imposing demonstration in behalf of their cause. About 50,000 persons, including 2,000 women, took part, the leaders carry-

Vandals at Work In Two City Parks

Two deplorable cases of wanton destruction and vandalism in the city parks comes to the notice of The Examiner, and is confirmed by Alderman Walter Stocker, chairman of the Parks Committee, who declares that about a week ago some individual with little respect for the property of the citizens, pulled up three shrubs in Confederation Square Park. The motive was not a desire to replant them in his or her own garden, but mere wilful destruction, as they were left uprooted to wither and die.

A repetition of this outrageous incident was found in Victoria Park, when on Wednesday several tulip bulbs were uprooted.

The vandalism has obviously been perpetrated by an individual who has little or no appreciation for the beauties of nature or any idea of the amount of labor and care involved in beautifying our beautiful little city — Peterborough.

KIWANIS CLUB FORMED TO AID BUSINESS MEN

R. T. Stanley, of Toronto, Addresses Peterborough Kiwanis Club.

BUSINESS AND KIWANIS.

Clubs Playing Important Part in Raising Standard of Business.

"There is just as much opportunity for idealism and character in business as there is in art, music or literature," declared Richard T. Stanley, of Toronto, in addressing the Kiwanis Club at the noon luncheon to-day on the subject "Business and Kiwanis."

A leading Toronto business man, international chairman of the Business Standards Committee of Kiwanis, and chairman of the Retail Merchants' Branch of the Toronto Board of Trade, Mr. Stanley made a strong plea for courtesy and higher ethics in business. He stressed the important part that Kiwanis was playing in raising a new standard of business practises.

Tracing the history of Kiwanis, he said that it originally had been founded with the aim that it would serve as medium to bring business men together to discuss business and business methods. Later, he said, thanks to the high ideals of the men Kiwanis became something greater and was aimed at loftier attainments. Still, he said, the Business Standards Committee had remained one of the most important committees in the club.

Defined a Policy.

Recounting some of the contributions made by the Kiwanis Club, he reviewed the period shortly after the war and the part the great club had played in defining a policy to overcome the depression. It was found after close study by a group of business executives brought together by the Kiwanis Club that much of the depression was due to the waste in business which had crept in during war years. Owing to the speeding up in production the fundamental factors in manufacuring had been lost. A policy of re-establishment brought out by the Kiwanis Club in 1920, and this was acclaimed by the President of the United States, Premier Sir Robert Borden, and the Federal Reserve Board of the United States as one of the most valuable contributions ever made toward relieving the situation.

Quoting James Russel Lowel, Mr. Stanley stated, "New times demand new methods and new men." Amplifying this he said that the community was looking to the Kiwanis Club as a group of leading business and professional men for business ideals. Kiwanians must reflect the highest standard of ethics, courtesy and character.

Guard Membership List

He cautioned that the membership list must be jealously guarded and only those above reproach should be allowed membership in the club. On the other hand, the club should never countenance any unethical methods on the part of the members. He also warned against allowing the club members to be exploited, and the need to guard against them being the prey of illegitimate appeals.

"The Kiwanis Club is naturally the medium of business methods," said the speaker, "and from time to time the club should be addressed by care-

HUSBAND CONFESSES TO SHERIFF NEW SWEETHEART SHOT HIS WIFE

Two Children Watch as Mother is Slain on Lonely Road.

BANDITS ARE BLAMED.

ASHTABULA O., May 30 (C.P.)—Sheriff Frank Sheldon announced today that he had obtained signed confessions from Trilby Smith, 26, and Mrs. Maude Lowther, 22, to plotting the slaying of Smith's 28-year-old wife, because they wanted her out of their love affair.

Woman Wielded Gun

Smith confessed taking his wife to a lonely spot on a road south of here last night where Mrs. Lowther, who had concealed herself in a clump of bushes, stepped out and shot Mrs. Smith, according to the sheriff.

Both were taken to Jefferson, the Ashtabula County seat, and will be arraigned to-morrow and charges yet to be determined, the sheriff said.

According to their confession, Smith drove his wife and their two small children to the spot where Mrs. Lowther was hiding. Smith stopped and the woman fired a .32 calibre bullet into Mrs. Smith's temple, killing her instantly.

Bandits Blamed

Smith took the children to a filling station nearby, calling police and telling them his wife was the victim of hold-up men, while Mrs. Lowther went to the home where she was employed as a maid. Authorities were unable to find any trace of the hold-up men described by Smith and after hours of questioning he confessed the plot, implicating Mrs. Lowther, they announced.

Mrs. Lowther, who came here from Clarksburg, W.Va., two years ago, said she had been married twice but was separated from her second husband. Smith did a trucking business. They said they became acquainted only two weeks ago.

1,949 Subscribers In 10-Day Canvass Promise $138,737

Canvassers on the Last Day of Campaign Put Fund Over the Top By $37 and Big Gifts Committtee Adds to This the Fine Sum of $10,200.

FRANK P. WOOD, OF TORONTO, GIVES $3,000 AND THE CANADIAN DEPARTMENT STORES $2,000

Many Other Splendid Amounts Are Announced in Final Drive —Farmers in Neighboring Townships to Put Campaign Over the Top.

The tide of enthusiasm and generosity which has characterized the Y.M.C.A. $128,500 extension campaign, carried the organizers over the top and well past their objective, with the grand total of $138,737.

Scenes of wild enthusiasm were witnessed at the Victory supper, which brought the campaign to a close last evening—a campaign which received the whole-hearted support of 1,949 subscribers in all walks of life, during its duration of ten days.

The announcement that the objective had been passed by $37 without taking into account the Big Gifts on the last day, amounting to $10,200, caused fresh outbursts of applause and cheering, which after it had subsided, was acknowledged in a spirit of thankfulness and touching appreciation by the singing of the Doxology.

The report of the Big Gifts Committee at the Victory dinner included the following subscriptions:

Frank P. Wood, Toronto, $3,000.
Canadian Department Stores, $2,000.
B. F. Ackerman, $1,500.
Harold Morrow, $1,500.
Silverwood Dairy, Limited, $600.
Dominion Woollens, Ltd., $500.
William Hamilton Company, $300.
Grafton & Company, $300.
Maple Leaf Milling Company, $300.
Metropolitan Stores, $100.
George May & Company, Chicago, $100.

Secured by Team 18.

The Canadian Department Stores subscription was obtained through the efforts of Team No. 18, under Captain W. F. Butcher, and was turned over to the Big Gifts Committee, on account of its generous proportions, while the sum from George May & Company of Chicago was received from their head office due to the fact that their engineers, who are working in this city at the William Hamilton Company's works, were greatly impressed with the worthy objects behind the appeal, and made representations to that effect to Chicago.

Immediately following the splendid repast served by the women workers, C. A. Saimonson, vice-chairman, read a message of congratulation which he had received from the London, Ontario, Y.M.C.A., and the Y.W.C.A. of this city. After reading a message from R. J. Kidd, who expressed regret at his inability to attend the Victory dinner, the vice-chairman said that they all regretted his absence very much. His presence during the campaign had been an inspiration, and his advice and encouragement had helped to maintain hope and faith in the enterprise. A lot of the credit for the wonderful success goes to Mr. Kidd. (Applause.)

In tendering thanks to all who were in any way connected with the campaign, Mr. Saimonson omitted nothing. He made special mention of the G. A. Gillespie family, who had

GREAT INCREASE IN WORLD MOTOR CAR PRODUCTION

Canadian and U. S. Factories Put Out 89 Per Cent. of World Total.

$5,621,709 IS NEW RECORD.

Closed Car Demand Jumps — Now Makes Up 89.4 Per Cent of Output.

WASHINGTON, D.C., May 30.—(C.P.)—The production of motor vehicles in the United States, Canada and Europe in 1929 totalled 6,295,352, an increase of 1,092,213 over the previous year, according to a study by the Department of Commerce. Factories of the United States and Canada, the Department said, were responsible for more than 89 percent of the world's total as compared with 88 percent in 1928.

Increases were also reported during the year by England and France while Germany and Italy reported decreases.

"The manufacture of 5,621,709 automobiles in the United States and Canada in 1929 represents an all-time production record, and an increase of more than 1,00,000 vehicles over any previous production figure" the Department said.

"The output of 801,601 trucks and buses is an increase of 234,050 over the record total established in 1928.

"Canada produced 207,498 cars, 55,787 trucks and buses in 1929 and 196,741 cars, 45,641 trucks and buses in 1928.

"Canada exported 64 863 passenger cars in 1929, a gain of 16.6 percent over the 1928 total and 36,858 trucks and buses, 35 percent more than in 1928.

"A steady increase in the demand for closed cars is being reflected in a greater proportionate production of that type in the United States and Canada.

In 1929 closed cars accounted for 89.4 percent of total passenger car production as compared with 88.5 percent the year before."

CENTRAL SCHOOL WINS CADET CUP

Public School Cadets Are Inspected This Afternoon.

KING EDWARD SECOND.

D Company, Central School, won the coveted Denne Trophy, emolematic of the best Cadet company in the Peterborough Public Schools Cadet Battalion, this afternoon at the annual inspection.

It was the greatest turnout of Cadets ever witnessed in the city, and although the weather was inclement the parade grounds in front of the Armouries was completely surrounded by a watchful throng of interested spectators. Captain Edwards, inspecting officer, expressed great pleasure at the perfection of the drill and maneuvers of the youthful Cadets.

He remarked that it was difficult to choose between Central School Corps and that of King Edward School for the best drilled company, and that all the schools reached a high standard of efficiency.

This is the first time since 1927 that Central has won the Cadet Trophy, having been tied in that year with King Edward. King Edward earned possession both in 1928 and in 1929.

FIFE MEMORIAL WELL RECEIVED BY MOTHERWELL

Definite Assurance Given That Suitable Memorial Will Be Established.

MEN VISIT OTTAWA.

Two Department Officials Will Visit District in Near Future.

Definite assurance that a suitable memorial will be established to perpetuate the memory of David Fife of Otonabee, the pioneer farmer who developed the strain of wheat which played such an important part in the development of the wheat belt, was given to the deputation which waited upon Hon. Dr. Motherwell, Minister of Agriculture, and Hon. Senator McGuire in Ottawa, this week.

Committee visits Ottawa.

The Fife Memorial Committee, composed of Reeve McIntyre, chairman; James Hawthorne, Warden of Peterborough County, and J. J. Duffus, return with reports of a wonderful and sympathetic reception. The Minister said that he welcomed the opportunity of going into this matter stating that it is a deplorable fact that only two monuments to farmers exist in Canada, a country which owes more than any other to her agriculturists. One memorial is erected in Quebec to the first farmer in in that province, and the other recognizes the contribution to agriculture, given by the man who developed the McIntosh apple. The latter memorial stands on the spot where the first McIntosh apple tree bore its fruit.

While the Minister of Agriculture did not commit himself as to the form which the Fife Memorial shall take, he gave the definite promise that a suitable memorial shall be established, although he stated that it is a matter for mature and careful consideration, as he does not wish to establish a precedent which cannot be consistently followed in the future. Several ideas were discussed. The conference was of the unanimous opinion that a suitable memorial shall be erected in an appropriate place to be cared for for all time by the Government. The proposals mooted the possibility of an illustrated sub-station, or in other words 40-50 acres of land operated under the supervision of the Department of Agriculture; an experimental substation, namely an experimental farm on a small scale.

Officials to Visit District.

Hon. Mr. Motherwell added that he will send one or two of the Department officials to this district in the near future to discuss the details as to location with a view to arriving at a decision on the matter which is most suitable and practical.

Both the Minister and Senator McGuire were of the opinion that the question will have to be gone into carefully, even though it takes considerable time, and they also considered that from now on more attention will be paid to the men who have done so much for agriculture as the late David Fife.

Wingett Death Is Found to be Accidental

DEATH RESULT OF NEGLECT TO OPEN ELECTRIC SWITCH

Inquest is Held at Lakefield Into Death of Leonard Wingett.

RECOMMENDATION MADE.

Electric Shovel Had Broken Down and Men Were Attempting to Repair It.

That the death of Leonard G. Wingett on May 24 at the quarry of the Canada Cement Company in Douro was due to electrocution and accidental, was the verdict of the coroner's jury at Lakefield last night which, with Dr. J. C. Smith presiding assisted by Crown Attorney V. J. McEderry, investigated the holiday morning fatality.

"And we strongly recommend that men working around electrical equipment be thoroughly trained in the use of safety appliances placed at their disposal for their own protection", was the commentary rider which the jury attached to their formal presentment.

Somebody forgot to pull the main switch that would have cut off the power operating the electric shovel upon which Wingett and several other employees were engaged in making a minor repair. That statement was the feature of the evidence, which clearly established the fact that the Canada Cement Company had provided every precaution for the protection of the workmen.

Main Switch Movable

The scene of the accident was the company's quarry in Douro township about half a mile or more east of Lakefield. The electric shovel was loading cars with quarry material of rock and gravel for the cement plant. Power for the operation of the shovel was carried by a pole line to the quarry where it was controlled by a movable oil switch. This switch was movable because of the fact that the shovel was advanced as it scooped up the available material. It had to push forward in order to keep working. When the oil switch was open the power was cut off at that point, and that means it was entirely cut off from the shovel.

In the cabin of the shovel there is another switch. Its purpose is simply to control the power to the motors of the shovel. The motors are geared to the drum on which is wound the cable that reaches out to the big steel scoop. When the switch at the shovel was opened it merely stopped the motors. The evidence explained in detail these mechanical details and also the generally known operations of a big electric shovel.

Slip Rings Guarded

Because the shovel pivots around in its working, the power lines to the motors were led up in a conduit through a central hollow iron shaft at the pivoting point, to use an untechnical term, and connected in the cabin with slip rings from which the power passes on to the motors. These slip rings were encased in a protective box or covering.

On a flange of the cable drum there is a steel clutch band, lined with asbestos. It is four inches wide and about three feet in diameter. It does not completely circle the flange, and when it has to be removed its points are sprung apart, and it is then drawn over the circumference of the flange. This clutch band in its function is somewhat analagous to the clutch of an automobile. It connects the drum to the motor drive.

Clutch Band Broke

On the morning of May 24 the shovel had been working for an hour when the clutch band broke near

REDS SURROUND CHANGCHOW CITY

Thousands of Populace, Terrified, Flee Towards Coast.

OPIUM AGENT SLAIN.

AMOY, China, May 30. (C.P.) — Communists surrounding Chang-Chow, 30 miles west of this city, today were believed preparing to attack the city. The Reds cut the telegraph lines and dug trenches across the highways, isolating the city. Thousands of the terrorized populace were fleeing toward the coast.

The Fukien Nationalist Opium Suppression Commissioner, an enthusiastic supporter of the Nanking government was assassinated here today. The commissioner was formerly a bandit leader of Southern Fukien Province. The slaying was believed to have been the work of Communists seeking political revenge.

Advices from Southern Kiangsi Province stated that Communists continue to terrorize the populace of Kanchow, where a siege was being maintained.

"King of Hoaxers" Is Given 9 Months

LONDON, May 30. — Hunter Charles Rogers, laborer, and so-called "King of Hoaxers," was sentenced to nine months in jail at the Berkshire Assizes for uttering forged documents purporting to bear the signature of William Penn, founder of Pennsylvania, which were sold in Toronto.

REDFERN INQUEST FAILS TO SOLVE POISONING CASE

Barrister Who Talked to Kitchener Man Before He Died is Not Called.

"Poison Self Administered."

Death of Reta Gardiner Likely Remain Mystery—Detectives Tell Story.

LONDON, Ont., May 30. — No light was shed on the circumstances surrounding the death of Reta Gardner of Baden in a hotel in Montreal, when London authorities last night concluded the inquest held into the death of George H. Redfern of Kitchener.

Fergus E. Murphy, barrister, who held a ten-minute consultation with Redfern a few minutes before he died, was not asked and did not tell what revelations the Kitchener man had made. Redfern, he said, had talked "freely," but Mr. Murphy, after consulting with the Ontario Bar Association and with a senior experienced member of the leal profession here, had concluded that there was nothing that would justify him in disregarding the principle that what passes between a lawyer and his client is sacred.

The jury returned a verdict that Redfern had died of strychnine poisoning and "the jury are of the opinion that the poison was self-administered."

Nothing came to light concerning when Redfern swallowed the poison.

Detective Inspector Harry Down, who with Detective Thomas Bolton made the arrest of Redfern at the Grigg House, testified that before they left the hotel he had kept Redfern constantly within arm's length. He had searched the prisoner and in his pockets had found two capsules, which the analysis made by the autopsist, Dr. A. J. Reid, showed contained strychnine.

Down described how Redfern had been registered under the name William B. Barker of Buffalo and till his identity was clear beyond shadow of doubt, he had persisted in the claim that he was a representative of a large corporation in Cleveland, Ohio. Finally Down pulled from Redfern's pocket a booklet which fell open at a page on which was written the name "George H. Redfern, 6 Krug Street, Kitchener." Redfern collapsed evidently with nervous exhaustion.

A few minutes later as he was being led from the room he asked to be assisted, saying his legs were unsteady. At headquarters, he was searched again but nothing more was found and special precautions were taken by both the detectives and Sergeant William McCullough when Redfern was locked up.

McCullough took his collar and tie from him, and searched him for a belt, fearing he might try to hang himself.

Mr. Murphy said he had talked to him for several minutes before the illness began and at the first signs of distress Redfern had explained to him that his stomach had been out of order for a few days. His conversation, however, was quite rational, but Mr. Murphy decided to see him again when he felt better.

William Allen, who was at Police Headquarters when Redfern was brought in, told one morsel of testimony bearing on Redfern's claims concerning the Gardner girl.

"While I sat looking at him," said Allen, "he said to me: 'I did not kill the girl. I liked her very much.'"

WOMAN PLEADS CAUSE OF CHINA

Highly Cultured Tibetan Acts as Agent of Nanking Gov't.

HAS MEDICAL DEGREE.

LONDON, May 30 (C.P.). — The London Daily Mail to-day said that a woman diplomatist had arrived at Lhasa, Tibet, as agent of the Nanking Government, which is trying to reassert Chinese suzerainty there.

The despatch did not give the woman's name, but said that she was of mixed Chinese and Tibetan birth and had been educated at a Christian mission on the Sino-Tibetan frontier. She has a medical degree, is highly cultured, speaks English, Tibetan and Chinese, and has won the sympathies of many high officials at Lhasa who never before have had any dealings with a woman diplomatist.

She is practising medicine in Tibet, also, and gaining influence there by and with the masses.

The Kanan irrigation project, servicing an area of 562 square miles in Japan, is nearing completion.

FIRST ALBANY-MANHATTAN TRIP BY AIR STAGED 20 YEARS AGO

First Two Successful Canadian Planes Flown at Petawawa Year Before.

FLIERS WELL KNOWN.

NEW YORK, N.Y., May 30 (By Guy E. Rhoades, Canadian Press Staff Writer).—Twenty years ago yesterday Glenn H. Curtiss flew his odd-looking pusher biplane from Albany to Manhattan and accomplished a feat which the late William Howard Taft, then President of the United States, described as "the greatest in the history of aviation." Curtiss flew 137 miles at an average speed of 54 miles an hour.

Trip is Retraced

The commemoration of the Curtiss flight, which takes place to-day when an armada of modern aircraft will retract the pioneer's course, is of interest to Canadians, for the first two really successful airplanes ever built in Canada were being exhibited the previous year at the Petawawa, Ont., military camp under the eye of the Department of Militia and Defense.

The Canadian planes, known as the Silver Dart and the Beddeck No. 2 were built at Beddeck, N.S., under the direction of Dr. Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone, who was then prominent in the National Geographical Society and very much interested in the development of a feasible heavier-than-air machine. They were flown at Petawawa by John McCurdy, now prominent in a Canadian aircraft manufacturing concern, and Casey Baldwin, who is still at Beddeck experimenting with variable pitch airplane propellers.

The ground at Petawawa proved rough for the trials, and, after one successful flight, McCurdy crashed the machine and broke his nose. The two fliers were equally unlucky with tests on a second machine of the same kind which was rushed from Beddeck and, though they escaped without further injury the two young pilots were forced to give up flying from the rough cavalry parade ground which had been their airdrome, and to go home leaving military authorities only half convinced of the practicability of airplanes.

Curtiss and the Canadians were closely associated during the early days of flying on this continent. In fact it was at the Curtiss motorcycle plant that Dr. Bell and his assistants tested the first successful machine. These tests made McCurdy the first Canadian and the sixth man in the world to fly. Baldwin flew after McCurdy and came next on the list.

The Beddeck type of plane looked odd compared with modern machines with all their refinements, yet it flew over 2,000 miles before its pilot hung it up in a tree one morning, and then climbed down to the ground uninjured.

McCurdy Gained Fame

Of the two first Canadians to fly McCurdy gained more renown. He was the first pilot in the world to perform figures of eight in the air, a feat he accomplished near New York a short time after the Petawawa exhibitions. Later he competed for a prize offered by the Cuban Government to the first man who would fly from the mainland of the United States to the inland republic. McCurdy took off from Key West, Fla., flew the long stretch of water and was forced down by engine trouble within twelve miles of Havana, his destination. The Cuban authorities were so greatly impressed by his effort that they gave him the prize even though he fell a bit short of the mark.

McCurdy has retired from active flying, although he often goes aloft as a passenger. He things modern aircraft too fast for him, although he says they do not differ from his old plane except in the matter of mechanical perfection.

Although, he says, he never thought of it at the time, McCurdy realizes that he took some pretty big chances in his juvenile days. He and Baldwin taught themselves to fly at a time when flying was practically an unknown art. What these two did was figure out what might be expected to happen under certain conditions in the air, and then go up and try it. They made numerous flights, crashed several machines and yet were never seriously hurt.

LAKEFIELD BOY IS PROMOTED

Frank Dench is Appointed Agricultural Representative of Renfrew County.

TAKES OVER DUTIES.

COBDEN, May 30. — A Lakefield boy, Frank Dench, B.S.A., has taken over his new duties as Agricultural Representative of Renfrew County. A. H. Martin recently vacated this position to accept a position with the Department of Agriculture at Toronto as Assistant Director of the Crops, Co-operation and Market Branch. Mr. Dench for the past year has acted as Assistant Representative in Grey County, and comes from there very highly recommended. He graduated from the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph in 1929, specializing in animal husbandry, and while there proved himself to be one of the outstanding students of the year.

ABOLITION SUGGESTED OF SHRINERS' FESTIVALS

TORONTO, May 30. (C.P.) — The Imperial Council at the National Shriners' Convention, to be held here in June, will discuss, it is understood, the suggestion of abolishing the National gatherings for the more convenient sectional conventions. It is reported a certain section of the delegates coming here are in favor of this move while others will argue for the holding of a National conference, once every three years.

CANADIAN HONORED.

TORONTO, May 30. (C.P.) — Rev. Hugh Thompson Kerr, D.D., native of Elora, Ont., and graduate of the University of Toronto, was elected Moderator of the American Presbyterian Church, at the United States Assembly in Cincinnati yesterday. He is the first Canadian to be honored with this office.

Doings In Commons.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 30.—(C.P.)—To-day in Parliament: The Senate will sit.

The House of Commons will deal with estimates in an endeavor to wind up the business of the session.

Yesterday in Parliament:

The Senate rejected the amendments to the criminal code passed in Commons respecting betting on horses and races and sedition and approved other bills passed by the Lower House.

In the House of Commons: The Sockeye Salmon Treaty Bill was given third reading. A bill to provide for the building of a bridge over the St. Lawrence river at Caughnawaga was withdrawn and also one to amend the Representation Act. Leaders of the three parties announced they would agree to expedite business to enable parliament to prorogue to-morow. Estimtaes for the Departments of National Revenue, National Health and Trade and Commerce were passed.

Scotland's drink bill last year was $132,000,000, equal to $21.85 per head of population, a decrease from 1928.

ing portraits of Mahatma Gandhi and of various Parsee leaders arrested during the campaign against the Salt Laws.

DHARASANA, Bombay, May 30 (Canadian Press). — Ten Nationalist volunteers were taken back to their camp at Untadi to-day on stretchers after a sorti against the salt depot here.

One hundred and eleven volunteers participated in the raid. They had reached one of the salt heaps and had started to pick up salt when the police made a lathis charge, injuring several, ten of them badly.

The remainder of the volunteers were dispersed by the lathis or staves in the hands of the police and driven outside the boundaries of the depot. They went back to the Untadi Camp, where other volunteers were arriving and sitting around in batches of four or five in the ruins of the camp which the police several times have demolished.

Large numbers of volunteers arriving at Bulsar from various parts of Gujerat are expected at Untadi to-morrow to participate in further raids.

WOULD CONSULT GANDHI.

LONDON, May 30 (Canadian Press). — A Bombay despatch to the Daily Herald to-day said that Hoosenbhoy Laljee, president of the Indian Merchants' Chamber, composed of nearly 500 business incorporations, had conferred with Sir Frederick Sykes, Governor of Bombay Presidency urging conciliatory measures and necessity of consulting Gandhi.

Laljee is an enthusiastic Nationalist, it is represented as gravely alarmed at the effect of the agitation upon the economic life of India as made evident by the growing gulf between European and Indian business men and the damaging results of the frequent hartals, or cessation from work.

He was said to have impressed these views upon Governor Sir Frederick Sykes, and to have dwelt upon the bad feeling aroused by Gandhi's arrest and the declaration of martial law at Sholapur. The despatch said the Governor listened to him sympathetically.

BRIDGE CONTRACTS.

TORONTO, May 30. (C.P.) — Contracts for paving and construction of bridges and culverts in Ontario announced yesterday by the Provincial Department of Highways include—Bridges: Overhead, east of Owen Sound; north of Beaverton; Indian River Bridge (north of Almonte); South Nation bridge at Cass; also grading and culverts from Cass northerly; bridge east of Collingwood.

on the Federal grant. Hon. R. B. Bennett opposed the bill on the grounds that the concern was a private company and it was to charge tolls. Hon. J. G. Elliott assured him the company was to consist of five persons appointed by the Quebec Legislature. There would be no profits made and it was possible the Dominion would not have to donate anything. As the bill was considered contentious, it was dropped.

Maple Syrup Bill Passes

Despite a stormy session, the bill to prevent the adulteration of maple syrup and other products was passed by the House. Hon. W. R. Motherwell, Minister of Agriculture, inserted an amendment making it clear that maple products such as flavoring must be marked as such on the container. It was passed.

In committee of the supply, estimates totalling $6,009,803 for the Department of Trade and Commerce were rushed through the House.

During discussion on the estimates of the Department of National Health, R. J. Manion (Cons., Fort William) sought to reduce by $50,000 a $300,000 vote for medical assistance to immigrants. He was unsuccessful and the rest of the estimates, totalling $10,037,500 carried. In a comparatively few minutes, approval was given the remainder of the $14,144,952 estimates for the Department of National Revenue.

ROSENEATH PASTOR ACCEPTS WHITE LAKE CIRCUIT CALL

Rev. M. R. Brown Has Made Many Friends During His Ministering at Roseneath.

FORMED MANY SOCIETIES.

ROSENEATH, May 30.—(Examiner Correspondence).—Rev. M. R. Brown, pastor for the past three year of the Roseneath United church, has been unanimously accepted on the White Lake circuit, where he will be in charge of two appointments. White Lake is a prosperous community situated on an important highway, fifty miles from Ottawa.

A graduate of Victoria College, Rev. Mr. Brown was ordained in the summer of 1927. He is the son of the late Rev. A. L. Brown and Mrs. Brown of Lindsay.

During his three years ministering on the Roseneath circuit, he has made many friends who will greatly regret his leaving. His courteous manner, jovial ways and upright character have been a valuable contribution to the Roseneath community. The Brown home has been a centre of hospitality and Mrs. Brown has taken an most active part in church and community work.

Rev. Brown has given great assistance to the young people here by forming church societies such as: the League, the Trail Rangers and Young People's class. He was most active in building up the baseball team and he will long be remembered for the support he gave the skating, which has become the the chief winter recreation for the whole district.

Accepts Call.

Rev. M. R. BROWN

Pastor for three years of Roseneath United Church accepts call on the White Lake circuit near Ottawa.

DEATH RESULT OF NEGLECT TO OPEN ELECTRIC SWITCH

one of its points. It had to be taken off for a welding repair job. Nearby in the confined space within the cabin of the shovel, housing the drum, motor and other parts of the machinery, was the box covering the slip rings of the electrical circuit mentioned above.

Leonard Wingett and Alexander Wannamaker were the two employees who began to remove the clutch band.

Mr. Wannamaker, replying to Mr. McElderry's questions, said he might have thrown out the switch in the cabin of the shovel, but his memory was not clear on that point.

Mr. McElderry—Why wasn't the main oil switch pulled out?

Mr. Wannamaker—It was just forgotten I guess.

Mr. McElderry—You knew it had to be opened?

Mr. Wannamaker—Yes, but in some way it was overlooked.

Remove Slip Ring Cover

The motor switch in the cabin was pulled, and the two men, one on each side of the drum started to spread the clutch to get it off the flange of the drum. To make more room to work in the box covering the slip rings was shaken off, and Mr. Wannamaker said that one end of the steel clutch band must have come in contact with the exposed rings.

Wannamaker received a rather severe shock himself. He could not call out. Wingett fell backward. There was no flash of the electric current. Wingett was lifted out of the cabin of the shovel. Efforts at resuscitation were of no avail, and although Wingett breathed for ten minutes or so, he did not speak or show any signs of consciousness.

Brother Pulled Switch

Harry Wingett, 19, brother of the victim of the accident, employed as a cranesman in the quarry stated that his brother Leonard and Alex Wannamaker told him to open the switch in the cabin of the shovel before they started to take off the clutch band.

Witness said he knew the oil switch would cut off the power entirely. This switch was 150 or 200 feet from the shovel.

Mr. McElderry—Did it occur to you at the time that the other switch should be off?

Harry Wingett—No.

1,300 Volts Caused Death

Edwin S. Kelsey, electrician at the Cement plant, stated that the current was nominally 2,250 volts. It registered only a little more than 1,300 volts when he tested it last Monday. The power drove five motors that are required on the shovel.

"The equipment is 'alive' to the terminals of the switch in the cabin of the shovel, but it is not accessible without taking off the covering," Mr. Kelsey explained. "As far as I can see the accident was due to an oversight to throw out the main switch."

To M. P. Kennedy, foreman of the jury, Mr. Kelsey said he had satisfied himself that the men understood the operation of the switches. Electric repairs are to be left to the electrical department. In this instance it was partly electrical and partly a mechanical repair job, and the men at the shovel undertook it themselves.

"The cover should not have been taken off the slip rings" Mr. Kelsey said, "and it was not necessary to remove it. The first precaution in taking off the clutch band was to have pulled the main switch. When I arrived at the shovel this switch was off."

Dr. Smith and Mr. McElderry tried to clear up this point as to who opened the main switch subsequent to the accident, but none of the witnesses or any of the men in the audience apparently knew anything about it."

William Robinson, trolley man, was standing a few feet behind Wingett when the removal of the clutch was started.

"Less than a minute after Wannamaker and Wingett began to take it off Wingett yelled and fell back into my arms" witness said.

Regular Safety Meetings

J. R. Hill, safety engineer at the Cement plant, told of semi-monthly safety meetings which are held to get reports on all equipment and to make sure that it is safe. Instructions as to the opening of switches did not come within his supervision. Mr. Hill's opinion of the cause of the accident was "fallability of the human element."

Mr. McElderry — The personal equation entered in and there was forgetfulness somewhere?

Mr. Hill—Yes.

Dr. Alex Fraser testified that Wingett's death was due to sudden heart failure from an electric current passing through the body, probably from one hand to the other. There were slight marks of burns on both hands but none elsewhere. The heart would be in the direct line of such a circuit through the body.

Other witnesses: L. Hogarth, Wm. Webdale, Fred Young, John Millege, were called, but their testimony contributed no new features.

The personnel of the jury was: M. P. Kennedy, foreman, Clare Chittick, Roy Charlton, Frank Erskine, G. J. Elmsley, W. H. Stabler, Allan Hunter, Reg. G. Mulkins, Walter Chappell.

In a brief summation to the jury, Dr. Smith said the accident was apparently due to a lack of thought and perhaps also of knowledge. The jury was out about half an hour.

A. R. Webster of Toronto, Inspector for the Ontario Department of Mines was present at the inquest.

all assisted very materially, and also Mrs. Roper and her band of lady workers who had so capably presided at the luncheons throughout the campaign, and he presented her with a bouquet of roses on behalf of the directors of the Y. He mentioned the churches, theatres, the press, musicians, office force, Canadian Department Stores for loan of decorations, post office and Association staff, J. M. Brookes who supplied the ginger ale at the banquet, bankers who daily audited the campaign receipts, Murray Street Church for the loan of tables, and T. R. Jordan, International Y.M.C.A. Secretary, the organizer-in-chief, whose untiring efforts had made the victory possible, and the Field-Marshals, Colonels, Majors, Captains, workers, and each of the 1949 subscribers. Three hearty cheers were given for Mr. Jordan, after which he was greeted with a lusty chorus, "For he's a jolly good fellow."

"I have enjoyed the work," said Mr. Salmonson in conclusion "and anything I have done for the organization I hope has been for the benefit of Peterborough—progressive Peterborough and the future boys of this city."

Public Compliment.

"It is certainly an honor to the president of an institution to receive such a public compliment as the Y of Peterborough has received. Such a wonderful response makes the directors wonder why the appeal was not launched ten years ago," declared W. A. Richardson, who thought that a lot of credit should go to G. A. Macdonald and family for providing the 'backbone' of the support which was received. He also paid tribute to the 150 workers, more or less, and to the citizens generally, adding that a large percentage of Peterborough families who had supported the campaign would not have done so had they not thought it right. Mention was also made by Mr. Richardson of the leadership given by Mr. Jordan and said that the assistance given by Mr. Salmonson should also not go by without appreciation. Speaking of Majors Breyfogle, Marshall, Abbott, Glover, and Cummer, he said they had been right on their toes throughout. He was sorry that Thomas Barrie was not present on this occasion. He is a man who has probably done more work on the local board of the Y.M.C.A. than any other individual," he said. Fine tribute was also paid by the speaker to Peterborough's Old Boys, who have responded nobly.

Mr. Richardson was loud in his praises for the support which has been received in the campaign from the country districts saying that the duty of the Y.M.C.A. executive will be in future to see that the country boys are given every facility for enjoying the same privileges as boys living in the city. The way the farmers have helped, has given us food for thought" he remarked. He cited an instance where C. S. Cummer canvassing in North Monaghan that afternoon had received a pledge og $80 from Joseph Madill who later telephoned and said that he wished to increase the amount to $100.—(Applause).

"The 'Y' has in Peterborough one asset not to be figured in dollars and cents", he concluded—"men and women who have supported us through the week. Such people who are ever willing to do something to help others, are indeed real assets."

Dream Come True

Speaking of what he described a wonderful dream come true, Mr. Roper the 'Y's' energetic general secretary, said it had been thought that such a sum could not be raised here, but we had not measured our people in the proper proportions, he remarked. In the future it would be his endeavour to make the Association measure up to the expectations of the citizens of Peterborough.

"I want to express my appreciation for the fine spirit all of you have shown" said Mr. Jordan. "I have only done my job and am not entitled to your gratitude although I am proud of the great achievement for your city and think it will have the tendency to elevate the spirit of community life here. "Back of this fine fund, he said in closing, "is not so much the idea of accumulating money but the fine possibilities of better work being accomplished among your young men and boys."

Division totals for the last day of the campaign and final were as follows: Colonel W. R. Breyfogle $1,488, $16,274; Colonel J. R. Marshall, $1,344, $11,540; Colonel R. A. Abbott, $1,276, $12,959; Colonel R. M. Glover, $623, $7,682; Colonel C. S. Cummer, $2,659; $9,868.

Team totals for the last day of appeal and final: G. A. Gillespie, $158, $2,875; G. S. Matthews, $450, $3,062; J. K. Hughes, $478, $2295; T. H. Gillespie (no report) $1,705; G. D. Carlisle, $405, $6,337; Dr. J. J. Craig, $365, $2,254; Frank G. Stinson $353, $2,504; Dr. G. R. Scott, $198, $1,301; R. T. E. Hicks-Lyne, $340, $3,473; R. L. Dobbin, $88, $2,008; C. H. Rogers, $31, $2,255; A. McLeish, $328, $4,864; J. Matthews, $80, $1,107; F. Hills, $15, $1,541; J. Wells Fraser, $221, $3,192; Chas. Lacheur, $213, $1,246; H. Tudhope, $72, $1,765; W. F. Butcher, $174, $1,351; A. Elliott, $2, $1,810; J. Wearing, $162, $1,510; J. Juby, $439, $1,720; J. Gillespie $591, $2,600; C. Cumming, $554, $1892; C. H. Rishor, $531, $1,763; S. J. Black, $544, $1,893; C. H. Cutmore, $50, $1,356; Friday Night Supper Club (per Bob Killally) $38, $1,598.

C. S. Cummer in recognition of his having brought in the largest total in subscriptions on the closing day, namely $2,659, was made a Field Marshall and was invested with due ceremony. Honour was also paid to A. McLeish who had the record total of 463 subscribers to his credit. J. Wearing who canvassed Smith township spoke of the wonderful response he had also received from the farmers.

FRIDAY, MAY 30, 1930

A STRONG EXHIBIT.

There should be a considerable amount of reassurance for the general public in the confident tone of the half-yearly statement of the Bank of Montreal.

The numerous evidences of strength supplied by this most interesting and encouraging report come at a time when their influence should be of the most beneficial nature.

When, in spite of the stock market crash which has caused unusual conditions for financial institutions generally, the Bank of Montreal finds it possible to issue such a fine record of successful financial activity, the conclusion is inevitable that there is nothing very much wrong with Canada at the present time and that there is every reason to regard the future with hope and confidence.

An analysis of the report shows that in the six months to April 30th the Bank of Montreal has increased both its paid-up capital and its rest account, while in the same period profits to shareholders have shown a gain.

The bank's financial strength is indicated by the fact that the total deposits now stand at $688,067,752 and the total assets are valued at $822,599,648.

The whole tone of the statement is most satisfactory as an indication of how successfully Canada's financial institutions and the country generally is meeting a temporary period of depression.

EXTENSIVE REFORESTATION.

The extent to which the Provincial Department of Lands and Forests plans to convert the northern part of Peterborough County into a huge forestry reserve will be a surprise to most people in this district.

Last year 103,640 acres of land in Harvey and Burleigh and Methuen Townships was set aside for reforestation purposes, and a further large tract, comprising extensive proportions of Chandos, Anstruther and Galway and Cavendish Townships, will be included in the scheme.

All the islands not patented in Koshabog, Oak, Clear, Long and South Lakes form part of the area, which in Methuen alone comprises 62½ square miles.

Thousands of pine seedlings have already been set out and eventually this whole territory, which is to be known as the Kawartha Provincial Forest Reserve, will be reforested and become a prolific source of wealth, that under careful handling will yield an annual crop.

This is work of the greatest value and importance, not only to this district, but to the Province generally, and future generations will have reason to bless the foresight, vision and business ability that set on foot such a praiseworthy effort to correct the waste and extravagance of the past.

Since he took over the portfolio of Lands and Forests Mr. Finlayson has been a most zealous advocate of extensive reforestation, and his policies are now beginning to bear fruit almost at Peterborough's door.

ALL CHARITIES INCLUDED.

The general opinion will be that the Federal Government has acted wisely in accepting the views of Opposition members and making much more general the exemptions to be granted under the Income War Tax Act, in the matter of contributions made for charitable purposes.

When the Dunning budget was brought down among the changes proposed was an income tax amendment proposing to exempt from the income levy contributions to churches, hospitals and educational institutions, not exceeding 10 per cent. of the income of the taxpayer.

This proposal met with general approval in the House, but Labor and Opposition members pointed out that the policy should go further and include contributions made to any charitable organization, suggesting that as a matter of justice a donation to a community welfare fund budget, for example, was just as worthy of exemption as a contribution to a hospital.

The Government, instead of resenting these suggestions, has reconsidered the whole matter, and on Wednesday Hon. W. D. Euler, Minister of Revenue, announced that the views of the Opposition had been acceded to and that the provision would be broadened out to include all charitable institutions, a change, The Examiner feels sure, will be applauded throughout the country as a step in the right direction.

THE ROTARY STREET FAIR.

It is not surprising to find that the tickets entitling the purchaser to estimate the mileage that will be covered by the Rotary car up to the night of June 18th are in keen demand.

In the first place, there is to most people a fascination in any competition that promises a rich reward for a little effort.

Secondly, the public realizes that the money to be derived from this particular contest and from the street fair will be entirely devoted to financing Rotary activities on behalf of under-privileged boys and crippled children, two undertakings in which the people are keenly interested.

The work done at the Rotary Boys' Camp and the splendid efforts that have been and are being made to give crippled children a chance to win back to normalcy or to so improve their condition that they will grow up to be self-supporting citizens are well known to the people of this city and district, and they can be expected to rally to the assistance of the Rotary Club, both by freely purchasing tickets for estimates on the car mileage and by attendance at the street fair, which will be one of the major events of the summer season.

Tickets for the car are on sale from members of the Rotary Club, and citizens thus have a chance to support Rotary activities and at the same time to win themselves a handsome automobile.

THE CHURCH AND BOBBED HAIR.

The central authorities of the Roman Catholic Church have decided that while long hair is more befitting woman's modesty, bobbed hair is not to be condemned, provided it is not "harmful to the integrity of Christian morals." This decision was in reply to questions from bishops, parish priests and rectors who had asked whether the banning of "indecently dressed woman" from churches generally and from administration of the sacraments specifically, had included those with bobbed hair.

The church authorities pointed out that bobbing of hair is so general at present that it would be impossible to prohibit women with short hair from churches. Furthermore, it would be difficult to establish such a rule because of the practice of women in wearing hats or veils in church. The ban therefore should be limited to exaggerated or too conspicuous bobbed hair, the authorities ruled.

The central authorities seem to have taken a worldly, as well as a religious view, of the matter. They realize, apparently, that it would be a grave injustice to attempt to bar women from the church because they are following a custom that has become almost universal. Women who have been shorn of part of their hair have not been thereby shorn of their virtue or their modesty. They have not become lost souls merely because they have lost some of their earthly crown of glory. But if they had, that would be all the more reason why they should not be barred from church.

The authorities reveal worldly wisdom in concluding that if a ban against bobbed hair were put into effect, many would seek to avoid it by subterfuge, and deceit, which would do more harm to the souls of the evaders than would any custom followed openly. No hair styles, so long as they do not appear unseemly or do not divert the attention of other worshippers, should cause those indulging in them to forfeit their right to attend church and none of the present styles of wearing abbreviated hair should affront the dignity of any church or throw devout worshippers into hysterics. They have been accepted as a matter of form. In fact, long hair among any considerable number of women in a congregation would create more notice than bobbed hair does now.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

THE COST OF GOLF.

"In less than one generation golf has risen from comparative obscurity to such prominence that it is now recognized as the most popular, the most costly and the most richly endowed sport of Canadians," writes H. H. Roxborough in the June 1 issue of MacLean's Magazine.

"A short while ago a reliable United States golf architect gathered figures and estimated that in his country there were 4,200 courses; that forty per cent. of them were nine-hole courses constructed at a minimum average cost of $25,000; and that the remaining sixty per cent. were of regulation size built at the mean expense of $200,000. Now let us apply this valuation to Canadian links. In the Dominion there are about 700 clubs and 280 of them constructed at $25,000. Each would require an expenditure of $7,000,000; the remaining 420 courses would involve an investment of $84,000,000 or a total cost of $91,000,000.

"This valuation may appear to be surprisingly high, but in reality it is likely much below the actual cost of clubhouses, courses and equipment. Ralph H. Reville, editor of Canadian Golfer, believes that a very moderate estimate of the Canadian investment would total $100,000,000, and when we recall some of the many expenditures its assets at $325,000; that the Colwood Golf and Country Club in Victoria, B. C., owns a clubhouse that cost $140,000; that the C.P.R. course at Banff cost $400,000; and that the Essex Golf and Country Club at Windsor, Ontario, recently appraised its assets at nearly $700,000, our estimate seems very conservative. But even the minimum investment is sufficiently large to confirm the assertion that golf is our most richly endowed game.

"And is golf also the most costly game to the individual? Well! The annual amount contributed by golfers is likely to exceed $50,000,000, and if you think this estimate suggests a trifling with the truth, just recall some of the many expenditures associated with this pastime. Golfers must finance the interest on that odd $100,000,000 investment and contribute sufficient additional funds to allow for depreciation, repairs and expenses of operation; they must buy suitable clothing, golf clubs and balls; pay the fees of professional instructors—and there are at 250 pros. in Canada; buy meals and entertain friends; pay the cost of transportation and the many smaller expenses known only to a golfer. Add to these expenditures the 'big money' paid by thousands of Canadian men and women who journey south in winter to improve their game on hothouse courses, and remember that entrance fees in many clubs are $500.

"Some idea of the required annual club revenue is revealed in the last report of the Lambton Golf and Country Club, which indicated that the 1929 income was approximately $120,000. What, then, would be the average cost to the individual? Jack Daray, professional at Olympia Fields links at Chicago and a famous designer of courses, estimates that in his country the total expenses average $500 each, and Stanley Thompson, prominent Canadian golf architect, has made the same appraisement for Canada. If you think those computations too high, you may reduce them $200 each and still be faced with the fact that Canadian golfers annually pay $50,000,000 for the privilege of banging an inoffensive white ball into a little sunken tin. When you recall that Canada's income tax revenue is less than $60,000,000, you must admit that golf's right to be considered our most expensive sport is fairly well established."—St. Catharines Standard.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

One thing that Parliament can always do in a hurry is to authorize the spending of money. Estimates rarely take up much time.

Probably the weather and the election campaign will both warm up about the same time.

"GEMINI."

If May 30th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., from 4 p.m. to 5:50 p.m., and from 10 p.m. to 11:15 p.m. The danger periods are from 10 a.m. to 11 a.m., and from 8 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.

The very positive influences in force on this date are bound to make things happen, and it will be a time of vivid experiences, all of which will not be pleasant ones. Tongues will be set loose; beware of half truths, you may get hold of the wrong half!

Children born on this May 30th will be impulsive in speech and abrupt in manner. They will have considerable literary ability, good imaginations, a love of beauty, and artistic tendencies. They will be very sympathetic and affectionate, in spite of their bluntness.

You may be classed amongst the simple, gentle, lovable folk of the world. You are a devout nature lover, and a friend to all wee creatures. As a man, you are probably a passionate angler, and awake to all the beauties and allurements of wood and stream. As a woman ,you have pic-nic-y tastes, and you joyfully put up with the discomfort of camp life.

You are too much of a dreamer to be overly ambitious, and there will probably be few ground foundations underneath your castles. You are more interested in your comforts than the size or number of your worldly goods. You work from necessity, and not because of your driving energy—you know how to loaf with pleasure. There is nothing malicious, mean or small about you, and you are too well satisfied with life, and too contented to be troubled with envy or jealousy. You are capable of being very efficient and very clever, but you seldom bother to be either. No one can make you over; you will always follow the line of least resistance. You refuse to fight or quarrel; a smile and indifference, are your weapons.

You dislike formal social life, but you thoroughly enjoy the informal sociability of your intimate friends. You are a generous, natural host or hostess, and because you do not fuss over your guests, you are popular.

GROUP INSURANCE IS DISCUSSED BY SYNOD

Raised in Same Manner as Money for General Purpose Fund

KINGSTON, Ont., May 29 (C.P.)—Group insurance was discussed at to-day's morning session of the Anglican Synod of the Diocese of Ontario, now being held here. The meeting adopted a resolution by Judge E. H. MacLean of Picton, to the effect that the Synod's share of the one thousand dollar premium for group insurance be raised hereafter in the same manner as money for the general purpose fund. The motion was adopted by a vote of 46 to 21.

R. J. Carson, Kingston, was re-elected honorary treasurer of the diocese.

CHAPTER XXII

He hung up, without a sound. He gripped Mary Kate's arm, and she moved beside him toward the door, in the darkness.

"S—sh! Go easy. I'm going to have a look into the hall."

"Oh, please—please, Chris!"

"It'll only be a moment before Peters gets here. We've got him now, unless he makes a run for it. And I'd like to be near enough to pop him, if he does!"

There was another angled dim light and shadow in the room from the garden, to show the upper hall, when the door was open. Chris's lips were close to Mary Kate's ear.

"Did you put out this light?"

A sickness of absolute horror shook her. "No—no, I'm sure I didn't! It was—it was lighted when I came up."

"It can be put out from below," he breathed.

"Why—why would he come up!" In her thin nightwear, barefooted, she shuddered like a person in a chill, as she leaned against him.

"If he gets his head above the stair level—" Chris whispered.

"Oh, Chris, why should he come up!"

"Why, if he saw those pearls—which he probably did, if he was hanging 'round, he'd think you were upstairs—"

They were clinging together, half crouching, half kneeling, in the doorway, Chris had his arm tightly about her, the postil glinted in his free hand. All about them the shadowy house was very still.

"There may be more than one of them, Chris!"

"Maybe."

"Have you got another pistol?"

"No. Can you fire one?"

"I could!" she answered, with chattering teeth.

"Here—take this—" He was writhing out of the dressing-gown. "You'll be ill. Take it! Go on. Slip it on."

She gratefully got into the thick, warm, flannel garment, resumed her former position.

An interval of watching, of complete silence, intervened.

"Could he have got away?"

"I thought of that."

"In that case, what would they do?"

"Chase him, probably."

More silence, infinitely reassuring.

"We didn't count on this, did we?"

"I'll say we didn't!"

"I'm only sorry you got the scare."

"You really think he's gone?"

"It sounds like it, doesn't it?"

"But he hadn't had time to get anything? Silver, or anything."

"Where'd you leave the pearls?"

"I put them back in the case, and into the bureau."

"What the deuce is he doing? I wish to goodness—"

Silence.

"Has he gone?"

"I'll be damned if I know!"

Christopher straightened up, and she stood up beside him clinging to his free arm. They moved across the upper hall. Mary Kate feeling invisible fingers clutch at hair and ankles as she went.

"I think he's beaten it!" the man whispered.

Then suddenly Bedlam broke loose. Mary Kate heard Christopher shout, "Ha—look out there!" and felt him jerk his arm away from her fingers. He ran a few steps forward, she could not see just where, in what was all darkness and strangeness to her, and called downward as if he were leaning over the stairway head, "Turn round there!"

Below, meanwhile, there was the horrible sound of pounding feet, silence no longer necessary, and a sudden angle of hideous light, on the stairway wall, and a babble of voices.

Then the revolver cracked, and something fell—slithered on the stairs—groaned, Peter's voice came above the confusion.

"You got him ,sir! It's all right—you've got him. The police are here, sir—we've got him!"

Then the babble again. A woman's voice in a long pitying "Ah-h-h!"

"Ah-h-h! That's the time we got him. Stand aside. What is it? Hold his head up. He got him all right, officer, look here at my hand, sir. He's bleeding, under the arm, there, sir. He's badly hit, all right! He's the man we've been after for some time. Stand back, will you!"

Christopher ran down the stairs, Mary Kate crouched against the wall, in the upper hallways, her hand over her eyes. She felt the cool plaster against her temples. Her senses swooned, revived, swooned again.

Oh, my God!" she whispered, now and then, in a vague, dull tone. "Oh, my God! Oh, God have mercy on him—'

Had she expected them to club him to death? She did not know. She only knew that it was a relief when the crisp clear voice of Christopher said, "Hold his head up there, officer. He's coming 'round."

"He's off again. He's gone, poor feller," the richly sympathetic slow-Norse tones of Mr. Peters interposed.

"He's got what was coming to him."

"How'd he get in, sir?"

"Through the spare room window there."

"There was half-a-dozen of them on this job."

"There was more than one, all right."

"It looks like an inside job."

"No, it's not an inside job!" This was Christopher, laughing. Laughing reluctantly and mirthlessly, it was true. But he would laugh at anything.

"You've got the revolver, sir?"

"I left it in my room."

"He's done for, all right."

"Did anyone telephone for an ambulance?"

"Yes sir. Coming right away, sir."

Voices. Voices. Voices. Then suddenly a head and shoulders appeared in the stairway opening, and a fresh-faced young policeman was here in the upper hall, looking at her. She was on her knees, crouching. Mary Kate took her hands down from her face, and looked at him a long time.

"I beg your pardon, Madam."

She tried to speak. Her throat, her mouth were dry. No sound came forth.

"Do you know which door is the door of Mr. Steynes' apartment?"

A gesture of her head toward the door. He still hesitated. Then he asked respectfully.

"Were you here at the time of the shooting, Madam?"

A desperate deep quiver of mirth shook her. Where else, indeed? But she could not speak. Her sunken, haggard eyes did not move from the fresh, young concerned face. She nodded, swallowing.

The officer was plainly puzzled. He looked toward Chris' bedroom door, looked at Mary Kate, and finally, turning back toward the stairway, blew a brief, light note on his whistlye.

Instantly an older officer appeared as he had done, in the stairway vulat.

"This lady was here, sir."

"You're Mrs. Steynes, madam?" the constable asked.

"No, sir."

"A relative of Mr. Steynes?"

"No."

A pause.

"If you'll give me your name, Madam? There need be no publicity about it," the older man said, as she remained silent, staring blankly at them, her blue eyes glinting in an ashen face.

Christopher was suddenly beside her. He raised her to her feet, and straightened the heavy dressing-gown in which she was half-wrapped.

"Here!" he said, flattening the collar. He smiled easily at the officer. "My name is Christopher Steynes, address Players' Club, or Steynes and Schumacher Bank, New York City," he said. The officer wrote it down. "Tell them your name, it's a mere formality!" he said to Mary Kate.

"O'Hara," she said slowly, the deep color suddenly flooding her white face. "Mary Catherine O'Hara."

"And your address, Madam?"

"They won't use it," Chris assured her. "They're doing the same with Peters and Tony."

She gave the O'Farrell street number.

"You were in that bedroom downstairs, Miss O'Hara?"

"Tell me your own name," Christopher said. "I hate to call anyone 'you.'"

"Constable Browning, sir."

"Well, now, look here Mr. Browning, the less—"

"But just one moment, sir. This is a mere matter of form. The young lady was in the downstairs bedroom?"

"She was."

"She was in the room the thief entered, sir."

"She was."

"You had latched that window, Miss O'Hara? You had locked it?"

"No. Well, yes, in a way I had. But the glass part was open."

(To be Continued.)

Then the revolver cracked and something fell—slithered on the stairs—groaned.

'OVERSHOES' FOR AIRPLANE WINGS

Professors Invent Device Which Will Resist Formation of Ice on Wings.

OIL ON RUBBER TUBING.

KITCHENER, Ont., May 30.—Airmen everywhere recently rejoiced over the news from Cornell University that Drs. Wm. C. Geer and Merit Scott had perfected "overshoes" for airplane wings which successfully resisted the formation of ice.

Every pilot has a great dread of the Ice Ogre. Nungesser and Coli and other would-be trans-Atlantic flyers, unheard of since their take-off, are believed to have perished from the same cause. Pilots know that with moist atmosphere just below 32 degrees ice will begin to form on the landing (frontal) edge of the wing, rapidly accumulating into a ridge, rising inches above the camber. This formation radically deflects the rushing windstream away from the upper surface, destroying the efficiency of the wing. The lift is lost. The pilot frantically "guns" his motor. Relentlessly, his ship is dragged down.

The device consists of a vulcanized rubber caging to be laced to the leading edge of the wing, and impregnated with an oil which resists the formation of ice. There the scientists were faced with the problem of composing an oil which would not only offer zero-adhesion, but would not be scrubbed away by the action of 100-mile winds and rain. Further to render the scrubbing action impossible, the oils are absorbed into thin sheets of vulcanized rubber which in turn exude the mixture.

But the Ogre has yet another weapon. The terrific force of his ally, the wind, against a plane in flight is sufficient to hold ice particles against the rubber by atmospheric pressure, although there is no actual adhesion. The ice will not remove itself. Ingeniously, the experimenters ran an air tube through the overshoe beneath the oil-holding layer. A flip of a small pump in the pilot's cockpit slightly inflates the tube, budging the ice, which is blown away.

Dr. Gee, one time vice president in charge of development of the parent company of Canadian Goodrich Company, Ltd., who retired to realise his early ambition of scientific reasearch, favors Goodrich with his rubber inventions.

MISQUOTATION IS FULL OF TROUBLE

Baltimore Man Arrested For Chipping Superfluous Letter Off Shaft.

ON POE MEMORIAL.

BALTIMORE, Md., May 30 (C.P.)—Unable to longer tolerate a misquotation from "The Raven" on the Poe Memorial here, Edmond Fontaine last night carried out his published intention to chip off what he called a "superfluous letter." He was arrested at his work, charged with defacing the monumment, and held in a police station during the night in default of bail.

"Dreaming dreams
No mortals ever dared to dream before."

Thus read the inscription on the face of the monument while the accepted editions of Poe's works have the word "mortal" instead of the plural form.

Fontaine, who calls himself a tree surgeon and plant pathologist, also attempted to remove a daub of black paint which had been placed on the monument.

At the police station, Fontaine declared there could be no real charge against him because he "did nothing but good."

GOOD PROSPECTS PARKHILL MINES

Finances Aranged For Test Work — Quartz Essays Around $100 a Ton.

COPPER BUYING UP.

TORONTO, May 30. (Special to Examiner.)—Described as a mining prospect with splendid chances, the property of Parkhill Gold Mines, is at present being tested out by shaft sinking which, according to latest report, had reached a depth of 105 feet on May 23. Finances were arranged early in March, an engineer and crew moved to the property on the 17th of that month and camps, including bunk house, cookhouse and manager's residence have been erected, a one mile power line constructed, mining plant installed and head frame put up since that time.

The vein, a the present depth has a width of between 2½ and 3 feet of rusty looking quartz that assays around $100 a ton. Last season work included the stripping of the vein for distance of 800 feet, and three ore shoots each running between 150 and 200 feet in length were developed and thoroughly sampled. A shipment made to the Noranda Smelter last year of surface ore averaged $62 to the ton the geologist formation in which the vein is found is known locally as porphyrite.

Cover Future Needs.

Shareholders of Nordon Corporation were assured by President Ruby at Thursday's annual gathering that the number of shares left in the treasurer after the capital organization and transfer of assets to the Delaware company would be sufficient to cover future needs of the company a total of 1820,014 shares will be transferred to present shareholders on a share for share basis, leaving approximately 680,000 shares of $5 par on hand. The stock will be listed on the New York Curb as soon as the valuation under way at present is completed. The shares will also be listed on the Toronto, Vancouver and Standard exchanges, he said.

It is understood that Stewart Abate mines near the Croesus in Beattie Munro section is negotiating with the Blue Quartz Co., for the mining equipment on the latter company's property at Painkiller Lake, in the same area. Several reports have been heard of renewed interest in that gold section which is reported to possess promising possibilities.

Leading copper producers are now formulating plans of operation in accordance with conditions that have developed since the cut in metal prices more than a month ago. Buying from both foreign and domestic sources has been in large volume, but the first flood of purchases following price reductions has now dried up, and a lower and steadier flow of orders is expected.

Action has been taken to stabilize copper producing operations more in line with demand, and wages will be reduced in accordance with the agreement that they shall be based upon the selling price of the metal. These considerations, it is believed, will mitigate the effects of price reductions, but even so profits of copper companies throughout the world will compare unfavorably with those of last year, especially among the high cost producers.

TALE OF TRAGEDY IS TOLD AT TRIAL

Witness Names Slayer of Aged Nova Scotia Recluse.

USED AXE FOR DEED.

NEW GLASGOW, N.S., May 30 (C.P.)—That James Stewart, a neighbor of John Dryden, 74-year-old recluse who was found dead in his bed late in April, struck the blow that killed the aged man, was the evidence of William MacDonald, first witness for the prosecution at Stewart's preliminary hearing here this morning.

The double-bitted axe, stained and rusted, which is claimed to be the death weapon, was produced in court.

According to the evidence of MacDonald, Mrs. Stewart, her daughter, Mrs. Fisher, Stewart, Fisher and himself, were in the house when James Stewart killed Dryden.

MacDonald testified that he and Arthur Fisher went to Dryden's house on the night of April 18. Fisher entered, he said, and did not come out, whereupon MacDonald also went in to find James Stewart and his wife, Fisher and his wife, already there. Dryden was lying on the bed. MacDonald said he spoke to the old man, but received no reply. After striking Dryden twice with the flat side of the axe, according to MacDonald, Stewart took a purse containing $58 and Dryden's watch.

Afterward the five went back to Stewart's house, MacDonald said.

THEATRICAL MAGNATE HAS HEART ATTACK IN JAIL

LOS ANGELES, Calif., May 30.—(C.P.)—Dr. Benjamin Blank, County jail physician, disclosed that Alexander Pantages, former theatrical magnate, suffered a severe heart attack yesterday and was in a serious condition in the jail hospital last night.

Pantages was convicted of attacking Eunice Pringle, 17-year old dancer, and sentenced to one to fifty years.

OIL ISSUES ARE ACTIVE STOCKS

Relatively Few Mining Stocks Show Changes at Noon Hour.

NORDON ADVANCES.

TORONTO, May 30. (C.P.)—Except among the active oil issues, trading interest on the mining market during the early period to-day was of a sketchy character, only a relatively few mining stocks showing changes at noon from last night's closing levels. The opening was brisk but turnover dried up as the effect of the lack of interchange business became noticeable.

Ajax Oil and Nordon climbed into new high territory, the former standing at mid-day at $2.65 for a gain of 18 and the latter, after touching $2.32 in early sales, at $2.14, up 8. Chemical Research continued in good demand, advancing 35 to $7.10. Calmont was slightly easier and the balance of the oils practically at a standstill.

Base Metal stocks displayed only minor movements. Nickel sold up 1-8th, Noranda 10 and Hudson Bay 20, while Abana and Arno advanced a couple each to 85 and 8, respectively, and Newbee a fraction to 16½.

SOME ACTIVITY IN CITY DAIRY

Price Jumps Nearly Six Points Above Last Night's Close in Heavy Demand.

OIL SECTION QUIET.

TORONTO, Ont., May 30. (C.P.)—Toronto Stock Exchange market was a lifeless affair this morning. City Dairy was the only stock in which activity was evident. Demand increased in the second hour and the price jumped spectacularly to 64, nearly 6 points above the close last night. Later trading slowed and the price eased back part way, though still retaining a net gain of some three points or more. The turnover in City Dairy up until midday was greater than that of all other stocks on the listed section combined.

International Nickel had only one sale the first two hours, Brazilian some half dozen transactions. With each the price was firm but changes one way or the other meant nothing. Massey-Harris was better above 35. Ford eased under 36. Walkers was unchanged. The oils did nothing.

SMART, YOUNG COMMITTED ON FIVE FRAUD CHARGES

TORONTO, Ont., May 30 (Canadian Press). — William J. Smart and Maurice E. Young, of the Homer L. Gibson Co., stockbrokers, were to-day committed for trial on five charges of fraud and conspiracy by Magistrate Robert J. Brown in Police Court at a special sitting. This terminates one of the longest preliminary trials ever heard by a Magistrate. Both men renewed their $50,000 bail.

The trial of Smart and Young will be the first of more than a dozen brokers arrested during the recent action of the Attorney-General's Department.

BOLE REMANDED TO JUNE 4.

WINNIPEG, Man., May 30 (Canadian Press). — Fred H. Bole, prominent grain merchant and head of the Bole Grain Company, charged with obtaining $85,000 from the Bank of Montreal by means of false statements, was given a further remand until June 4 when he appeared in Provincial Police Court yesterday. He is alleged to have obtained large advances to the Electric Elevator and Grain Company from the bank illegally.

REORGANIZATION PLANS READY FOR BARCELONA TRACTION FIRM

Ontario Shareholders Advised to Deposit Stock National Trust Company at Toronto.

NEW STOCK PLAN.

TORONTO, May 30. (Special to Examiner.)—The necessary steps have been taken to effect a consumation of the capital reorganization of Barcelona Traction, Light and Power Company, Limited, and all that now remains necessary is for shareholders to surrender their share certificates so that the new share certificates may be issued in exchange.

The organization was approved by shareholders at a special general meeting held March 20, 1930, whereby only one class of stock will be outstanding in place of the present preferred of $100 par value and the ordinary shares of $50 par value. The preferred stock is to be converted into common on the basis of six shares of common for each preferred share and the common shares of $50 par value into common shares of no par value share for share.

Shareholders are advised to deposit their stock with the company's transfer agent, National Trust Company, Limited, Toronto. For the convenience of shareholders in Europe, share certificates may be lodged at the office of the company's London agents, Canadian and General Finance Company, Limited, and for a limited period, at the Bank of Scotland, London.

HIGH CHURCHMAN IS LAID TO REST

Lord Davidson Buried Under Shadow of Beloved Cathedral.

MANY FLORAL TRIBUTES.

CANTERBURY, England, May 30 (C.P.)—Lord Davison, who was Archbishop of Canterbury from 1903 until 1928, was laid to rest to-day under the shadow of the cathedral he loved during his many years as Primate of all England.

His grave is under the open sky in a peaceful spot sheltered by the cathedral cloisters where he often walked in meditation.

To that spot have come many from all parts of the world to bid farewell to the noted churchman. The Most Rev. Cosmo Gordon Lang, present Archbishop of Canterbury, administered Communion to many priests and friends who kept a vigil all night around the coffin, which was in a crypt before the Chapel of Our Lady Undercroft.

During the burial services to-day Lady Davidson, who is aged, bore herself bravely. Then the coffin was lowered into a grave lined with purple violets and having a great cross of red rhododendrons at the head.

Piled against the colster walls were floral tributes from the great and the lowly, from the aged and the young.

Funeral services for the former Archbishop, who died Sunday, were held yesterday in Westminster Abbey.

CONSPIRATORS SENTENCED.

TORONTO, Ont., May 30 (C.P.).—Sentences of 18 months and three months respectively were imposed by Judge Denton in general sessions today on Frederick T. Gilroy and Robert W. McClintock, found guilty of conspiracy to defraud the shareholders of the Safety Grip Tire Co.

TO OPPOSE HON. HUGH GUTHRIE

GUELPH, Ont., May 30. (C.P.) — South Wellington Liberals will name a candidate to oppose Hon. Hugh Guthrie in the forthcoming Federal election at a convention to be held on Wednesday evening, June 4, in the city hall here. Mitchell F. Hepburn, M. P., for West Elgin, and Hon. Nelson Parliament, Liberal organizer, will be speakers, it was announced to-day.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND BRIEFS

A SPECIAL SERVICE TO THE EXAMINER

City Dairy common was on the rampage again to-day on the Toronto Stock Exchange, advancing from 58½ to 64 and back to 61½ by midday. Talk of a possible deal between this company and Borden persists on the street and the latest gossip is that the American concern is willing to make a deal on a share for share basis while officials say there has been no change in the situation in recent weeks. To-day's flurry is said to have followed a visit of officials of Borden to the city yesterday.

Good Year for Massey.

"While the recent low prices for wheat and other grains have no doubt curtailed farm purchasing power as far as a number of goods and services are concerned, they have not been reflected to any great extent in a decreased demand for farm power machinery like tractors and combines," say Bongard and Company in discussing the outlook for the Massey Harris Company. The company's business is well diversified with respect to both production and distribution. Only around 40 per cent of total is done in the dominion, while its export business is around 60 per cent of the total. In addition to factories in Canada. Sales branches are maintained in all the principal countries of the world. The circular speaks of Massey Harris as ably managed and having a very promising future. Various divisions of foreign business, and particular in the Argentine did well last year.

Majestic Earnings Increase.

Leading radio manufacturers in Canada did better than companies across the border in 1929. Deforest Crosley published a financial statement a short time ago indicating earnings of $1.61 a share for a fifteen, month period on the stock that was split in 1929 and to-day President D. H. McDougall informs shareholders of Rogers-Majestic that the company earned $3.78 a share in the year ended March 31, 1930. The earnings of these Canadian companies make favorable comparison with American concerns, a great many across the border experiencing deficits in the past year. The outlook for the current year is equally good. President Hahn, in speaking at the annual meeting of Deforest Crosley informed those present that sales for the month of May, to date were greater than for the first four months of the previous year.

Dull Session at Toronto.

So far as the market as a whole was concerned, it required a rather free and easy imagination to conceive of the trading action of Toronto Stock Exchange this morning as a market. But it was disappointing to no one as with New York closing at a time when activity has been of the very dullest, brokers and traders were prepared for just such a session. The fact that only one trade occurred in Intrenational Nickel up till midnight and that International Petroleum did not appear on the board at all the first two hours is mutely eloquent of present intrest in the stock market. City Dairy provided some excitement for a time when it shot up spectacularly to within a point of it previous high for the year. Saturday, Wall Street remains closed and all principal Canadian exchanges will be closed.

Eighteen Are Killed In Political Battle

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, May 30 (C.P.).—Eighteen persons were killed and 30 wounded, Sau Paulo Brazil despatches to-day said, in a political battle between police and citizens of the town of Andradas, state of Minas Geraes.

The officer commanding the police and local political leader, named Orestes Gomes, were among the dead. Andradas is near the border of Sao Paulo.

ARTICLE XXXV.

Q.—What are the rights of a stockholder?

A.—A stockholder has the right to share in the profits of the company. He often has the right to subscribe to new issues of capital stock before the offering is made public. Unless otherwise stated he possesses a voting privilege and thus shares in the management of the business, not directly perhaps, but through a voice in the appointment of directors. Usually there is one vote for each share held. In the case of liquidation he shares in the assets of the company according to his status and the number of shares held. Shareholders can, at times, demand an inspection of the books of the company, if they think the affairs of the company are not being correctly managed. This may be limited to large shareholders or those holding their stock for a certain length of time. He has no right however, to interfere in the management of the corporation so long as it is functioning properly and fulfilling the interests of its stockholders.

If the directors have exceeded their corporate privileges or have indulged in fradulent practices the stockholder has a right to sue them.

A stockholder has no personal liability for debts incurred by the company. After his stock is paid for he owes the company no services, and is usually a passive onlooker as far as the business of the company is concerned.

TRY FOR LIBERTY ENDS IN DEATH

Ohio Convict Shot as 47 Attempt to Batter Way From Cell Block.

NO WALL AROUND PRISON.

LONDON Ohio, May 30.—(C.P.) — Sam Mazello, Trumbull county convict, was shot to death to-day when prison guards at the London prison farm fired on 47 convicts who attempted to batter their way from the cell block.

The convicts attempted to break from the cell block and when they refused to obey instructions of guards to quiet down they were fired upon. Bullets struck Mazello in the heart and head.

The unruly prisoners were among the lot brought over to the prison farm from the Ohio penitentiary following the fire of April 21 in which 320 convicts perished. They had been causing disturbances in the prison farm cell for more than 48 hours.

The guards fired on the rioters on orders of Superintendent W. F. Armine. No prison wall surrounds the farm and after escaping from the cell block the prisoners would have had free access to the outside.

TWO TAKE LIVES NEAR CORNWALL

Coroners Probing Deaths of C. N. R. Employee and Immigrant Boy.

BOTH IN 24 HOURS.

CORNWALL, Ont., May 30 (C.P.).—District coroners are investigating two suicides which occurred in this district within 24 hours.

John Raux, 45, an employee of the Canadian Pacific Railway, was found hanging in a hut in a sugar bush near his home at Monkland, 15 miles north of Cornwall, Thursday morning. According to members of his family, Traux was an eye-witness to a level crossing accident at Monkland last summer, in which four persons lost their lives, and the incident had preyed upon his mind since that time. He leaves a wife and one son.

Alex. Cassidy, 18-year-old boy of St. John's Home, Ottawa, hanged himself in a barn on the farm of Alex. Duncan, four miles north of Avonmore, Tuesday. Cassidy was an immigrant boy, and known as a willing worker. The Duncans are unable to throw any light upon the cause for Cassidy's action.

Niagara Daredevil Is Running Rapids

Niagara Falls, Ont., May 30. — William "Red" Hill, veteran riverman and daredevil of Niagara's treacherous waters, this afternoon began his perilous journey in a steel barrel through the lower rapids below Niagara Falls.

Much secrecy had been attached to the time and place of Hill's embarkation through the whirlpool, and the stunt man suddenly appeared from "under cover" on the American side of the river.

He was towed out into the Niagara by two men in a boat, who cut the rope at his signal, and Hill's steel barrel was soon carrying its occupant drifting into the swift current toward the rapids. Great crowds lined both banks of the river.

Hill was noticeably calm and appeared much less nervous and ruffled over the proceedings than those accompanying him in the boat.

MARK TWAIN AUTHORS' CLUB FALLS INTO EVIL DAYS

NEW YORK, N.Y., May 30.—The Authors' Club, formed by Mark Twain as a retreat for male members of the profession, has fallen upon what he probably would have viewed as evil days.

The first woman ever to attend a meeting of the club as an elected member invaded the club house in West 76th street last night. She was Ida M. Tarbell and was the only one of eight women recently elected to membership who appeared.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 30 (C.P.).—The House of Commons met at 2.30 o'clock in place of 3.00 this afternoon and will sit until prorogation. A motion by Premier W. L. Mackenzie King to this effect carried shortly after one o'clock without discussion.

RE-ORANIZATION STOBIE FORLONG IS APPROVED BY JUSTICE ORDE

No Substantial Objection Has Been Raised, His Lordship States.

TOTAL CLAIMS $3,754,728.

TORONTO May 30. (C.P.) — Final approval of the re-organization of Stobie Forlong Co., assigned stock brokers, by which the creditors will receive stock in a new company equal to their claims, and will have a majority control, was given by Mr. Justice Orde, at Osgoode Hall to-day.

"No substantial objection to the carrying out of the scheme has been raised," His Lordship said.

Total claims against the company amount to $3,754,728, and of these the votes in favor of the plan represented $3,130,879. Of the remaining $623,848, creditors claiming $518,698 did not vote at all and only claims of $105,000 were openly antagonistic.

BAY OF QUINTE CONFERENCE ELECTS DELEGATS TO GENERAL COUNCIL

Rev. David Wren and Dr. J. E. Middleton Will Represent Peterborough Presbytery.

ALLOCATION MADE.

(By a Staff Reporter)

COBOURG, May 30—At Thursday afternoon's session of the Bay of Quinte Conference of the United Church, Rev. David Wren and Dr. J. E. Middleton of Peterborough were elected commissioners from the Peterborough Presbytery to attend the general council of the church at its approaching sessions in London, Ontario.

Rev. D. R. Clare of Norham and Frank A. Dorland of Codrington were chosen as commissioners from Cobourg Presbytery and Rev. C. D. McLellan and William Newman, M.P.P., Lorneville, from Lindsay Presbytery.

R. F. Downey of Peterborough asked permission of the Conference to suggest the name and personality of Rev. Dr. W. T. G. Brown of Kingston as a prospective candidate for the highly responsible position as the new Moderator of the church to be appointed for two years at the general council in London.

The morning devotional services, which are being conducted daily by Rev. Duncan MacLeod of Formosa, have been an impressive feature of the conference sessions. Thursday morning his devotional study was on the lives of the disciples between the Crucifixion and Pentecost.

Historical Committee

Reporting for the historical committee, J. D. Boyd of Kingston told the Conference that the response to the committee's request for historical information regarding congregations, property titles and their disposition had been very satisfactory. Mr. Boyd said that all these facts should be in the hands of the Historical committee, and also that the historical committees of Presbyteries should begin to function. He also remarked that five years have already passed since Union, but there has been no provision of finances for the committee's assistance.

In appealing for more active co-operation with the committee, Mr. Boyd said that the archives and history of the church should tell the present and future generations what their fathers did.

For Ordination

Rev. M. W. Leigh, Hilton, of the committee on Students and Education, recommended the following candidates for ordination at the special service on Sunday: Orloff Flindall, Belleville Presbytery; Alfred M. Wooton, LL.B., Kingston; Wesley Clifford Smith, M.A., Bach. Paed., Toronto; W. D. Craig and G. W. Fish of Queen's University; W. J. Byers, B.A., B.D., of Queen's, who is to be ordained by Saskatchewan Conference by order of the Bay of Quinte; D. B. Gordon, son of Rev. D. L. Gordon, formerly of Agincourt and now port chaplain, Montreal; and A. J. Gray of Kingston Presbytery. The latter two are to be ordained by Manitoba Conference.

M. and M. Committee

The report of the Missionary and Maintenance Committee, presented by H. W. Ackerman, Belleville, was adopted, including the following clauses:—

The allocation sent down by the National committee for 1931 was the same as this year, $320,000, and is reallocated to the Presbyteries as follows:—

Belleville, $74,500; Kingston, $48,000; Oshawa, $45,000; Cobourg, $19,000; Lindsay, $35,000; Renfrew, $47,000; Peterborough, $39,000.

Another clause dealing with the duplex envelope plan follows: "In view of the fact that where duplex envelopes are used in the Conference the givings per member for the Missionary and Maintenance fund are more than double what they are on the charges not using the envelope, the committee strongly urges that an effort be made in every Presbytery to see that this system is adopted on every charge if possible. There are 139 charges in the Conference using weekly envelopes for the M. and M. fund, and it is the opinion of the committee that if the system will work successfully in 139 charges it would work in all the rest."

The committee recommended an every member canvass in November of each year to secure pledges for the following year, and the canvass be preceded by a two weeks' program of education.

"We further recommend that when this canvass has not already been made for the current year, that this be done before midsummer if possible, and that it be followed by a supplementary canvass in November to finish the year's account and at the same time secure promises for 1931."

Monthly Remittances

Monthly remittances by every congregation to the treasurer of the M. and M. fund in Toronto were also recommended, and also that half the annual contribution be forwarded by July 1st if possible.

A conference of laymen in Albert College, Belleville, in early autumn was also approved, and that this be followed by conferences for laymen in as many centres in each Presbytery as is found expedient, and that the Laymen's Association be asked to promote plans for it.

Another clause was: That at the early autumn meetings of the Presbyteries, special consideration be given to the M. and M. fund that a careful review of the charges be made and that the Presbytery M. and M. committee arrange to visit the charges where weekly envelopes are not used with a view to introducing it if possible.

Encouragement of the use of the United Church Record was also advocated.

The Board for the ensuing year was named as follows: M. and M. Presbytery conveners with one other from each Presbytery, suggested as follows: H. W. Ackerman, Belleville; W. S. Gordon, Tweed; F. W. Galbraith, Port Hope; Rev. H. W. Cliffe, Kingston; S. T. Chown, Renfrew; Frank Riches, Lindsay; J. C. Young, Oshawa; Dr. J. E. Middleton, Peterborough.

The total sum raised by the Conference for the M. and M. fund last year was $238,320, or 72 per cent. of the allocation. The givings per member for the Conference was $3.82, which is a little under the average for the whole church.

Should Present the Needs

Elmer Davis, Kingston deprecated frequent appeals for money, stating that the people were inclined to resent. They lacked knowledge of the need of the moment, and for that reason more emphasis should be placed on the presentation of that need, even into the details of individual cases.

"Could we not outline the condition of that area in the West where there have been no services for two years because student ministration has been withdrawn," Mr. Davis suggested.

There were other necessitous cases not only in the West but nearer home in Ontario, all forming a need for missionary service so obvious and appealing that it should be set forth in its own facts and not in terms of money, Mr. Davis said.

The discussion of this committee's report occupied a major part of Thursday's deliberations.

TORONTO PRODUCE

TORONTO, May 30.—The Toronto butter market continued to show a firm tone yesterday and many sales were made at the top price of 29c for No. 1 Ontario creamery pasteurized. The buyers remained active, due to the good receipts of Ontario "grass" butter, and though some sales were made during the last few days of New Zealand, and buyers refused to pay higher than the top price asked for No. 1 Ontario. Shippers were quoted 28½c to 29c for No. 1, and 27½c to 28c for No. 2. Retailers were offered supplies at 33c for No. 1 and 31c for No. 2.

Cream

Churning cream remained at the week's quotation of 31c to 32c for special; 30c to 31c for No. 1, and 27c to 28c for No. 2, f.o.b. country points.

Cheese

Some dealers have been claiming sales of new, large, cheese at 17¼c, but the majority have been satisfied with 17c. The general prices were 17c for new, large; 17¼c for new, twins, and 17½c for new, triplets. The prices to retailers were unchanged.

Poultry

The quotations to shippers for poultry yesterday showed decreases in nearly all lines. Fatted hens, live weight, were reduced 1c to 2c per lb. though dressed weight held firm. Heavy broilers were firm, but light broilers were down 3c per lb., both live and dressed. Old roosters took a drop of from 1c to 3c, both in live and dressed weights. It will take a great number of visitors to clean up the poultry now on the Toronto market.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, May 30. — End-of-the month deliveries of wheat on a big scale proved to be a decided handicap yesterday for friends of higher prices. The market at times made strong rallies on account of bullish crop reports both domestic and foreign, but the gains failed to hold well. Yesterday's deliveries on Chicago May wheat contracts aggregated 1,627,000 bushels, with further large deliveries looked for on Saturday.

Closing quotations on wheat were irregular, ranging from ⅞c a bushel setback to ½c gain, compared with Wednesday's finish. Corn closed ⅛c to ¼c off to ⅝c up. Oats unchanged to ⅛c higher, and provisions unchanged to 20c decline.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, May 30—Trading was dull on the Montreal dairy and produce markets yesterday. Butter prices were reduced, but other lines remained unchanged. The Ascension Day holiday contributed to the quiet tone of the market.

Wholesale prices for butter in carlots dropped another ½c per lb., Eastern Townships No. 1 pasteurized becoming 27½c per lb. Prices to retailers were unchanged. Receipts were 191 boxes.

The cheese market was dull and steady with receipts at 1,529 boxes.

No changes were reported on the egg market, where receipts were 2,425 cases, or on the potato market.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, May 30. — Wheat prices climbed a laborious fraction on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange yesterday, mainly because offerings on the bulges failed to develop too generously. At the close gains were ⅝c to ¾c. Trading, however, was not impressive and overnight export business was negligible as far as could be determined. Liverpool's close was strong.

Coupled with Liverpol's attitude, reports of crop damage in isolated cases in the United States tended to encourage buying. Besides, some opinions were held that more export business is being worked that reflects in the daily pit trade. Both wheat and coarse grains experienced dull cash trade.

REVIVAL SERVICES CONTINUE THIS WEEK

Evangelist Beatrice L. Sims, R.N., of London, Will Aid Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Watson.

Evangelist and Mrs. W. R. Watson, who are still conducting their revival campaign in the Grand Opera House, have been joined in their ministry by Evangelist Beatrice L. Sims, R.N., of London, who will address Sunday audiences at 3.00 o'clock and evening at 7.30 o'clock, and will continue each evening at 8 o'clock during the following week.

Miss Sims is a returned missionary from the French Sudan, Africa; having spent some time among the Mosi tribe in the interior. She has a message for all, which should prove of deep spiritual interest.

On Tuesday and Wednesday evenings of this week Evangelist Miss Sims gave a deep spiritual exposition from the Word of God revealing, "Christ in the Glory", and "In Humiliation" which was deeply appreciated by the audience.

The Evangelist's subjects will cover a wide range, including the great fundamentals of the Christian faith, "the Virgin Birth", plenary inspiration and the Scriptures, The literal physical resurrection of the Lord Jesus Christ, The signs of the times and the Blood atonement.

"Couldn't Sleep. Had Indigestion Bad Liver. All Disappeared."

Quebec Woman Prostrated. First Box of "Fruit-a-tives" Gives Wonderful Relief.

Mrs. P. Bernier of St. Pascal, P.Q., writes: "I was very sick, continual headaches and couldn't sleep night or day. My liver was out of order. Severe pain in my side. I suffered with indigestion could hardly eat and what I did eat caused burning stomach and terrible gas. My nerves were on the ragged edge.

"I tried everything I ever heard of. I had a maid and rested as much as possible, but grew steadily worse. At last I read of 'Fruit-a-tives' and tried them. The first box helped me. I slept fine. Headaches, nervousness, indigestion, constipation and pain disappeared and now I am very well. Doing all my own work, caring for my 6 children."

Just another example of thousands. They write indigestion, biliousness, heartburn, gas, sick headaches vanish like magic with "Fruit-a-tives". Nerves and heart quiet, sound sleep at once. Constipation and liver trouble end overnight. Kidney and bladder ills, pain in back disappear quick. Rheumatism, neuralgia and neuritis go in a hurry. Complexion clears in no time.

Don't continue sick, weak, wretched. Get "Fruit-a-tives" from druggist today. Wake up tomorrow morning with new pep and life.

OMEMEE W. A. HEARS REPORT

Annual Flower Service Observed in Christ Church on Sunday Last.

Y.P.U. MEETING.

OMEMEE, May 9—(Examiner Correspondence).—The Women's Auxiliary of Christ church, was held at the rectory on Thurday afternoon with a fair attendance. An interesting report of the annual meeting held in Toronto recently was given by Miss Cornwall and Miss Johnston.

The June meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Charles Bent, which meeting will be the final until September.

Flower Service

The annual flower service was observed in Christ church on Sunday evening by the Sunday school scholars, who occupied the centre front pews. The junior pupils brought flowers which they placed on the trays held by two boys. At the close of the service these flowers were distributed among the sick and shut-in members of the congregation. The scripture reading was given by Mr. Howard Bent and the offering was also lifted by four boy scholars.

Rev. A. T. Weir spoke very fittingly from XVI St. Luke 10: "He that is faithful in that which is least, is faithful also in much."

Young People Meet.

A varied program and social time in the Sunday school room on Monday evening brought to a close the activities of the Young People's Union of Trinity United Church for another season. Mrs. Irvine Connell presided. Following the devotional exercises, Mrs. Fred Weir was appointed as delegate to attend the summer school which will be held nearly Stirling. A piano solo was rendered by Miss Evelyn Morcomb followed by a reading by Miss Madeline Gray entitled "Blueberry Pie." Miss L. Parsons rendered a vocal solo, "A China Tragedy", after which Miss Frances McPherson played a pleasing instrumental. A vocal duet by Mrs. Cyril Elliott and Miss Lillian Race and a piano duet by Mrs. I. Connell and Miss Race brought the musical part of the program to a close. A contest answered by words ending in "age" afforded much pleasure. The gathering was then divided into four groups, each of whom satisfactorily acted a charade. Belfast, Foreign, Foxglove and Sausage were the words used containing two syllables each and each group created a good deal of amusement.

Partners were obtained for lunch by a musical promenade and soon sandwiches and tea were quickly disposed of to be followed by cake and an abundance of ice cream.

"Smile the while we bid you fond adieu" and the National Anthem, followed by the Mizpah Benediction, brought to a close the evening's entertainment.

ROUEN, May 30.—(U.P.)—The unusual ceremony of golden, silver and ordinary wedding in the same family, performed simultaneously at the same altar, occurred at St. Etienne church in Fecame.

Monsieur and Madame Pierre Pigeon celebrated their golden wedding by repeating the ceremony, while their daughter and her husband, Monsieur Boulanger, observed their silver anniversary, and the latter's son, M. Marcel Boulanger married Mlle. Denise Doaille.

Quick Relief for Rheumatics

Local Druggist Says Rheuma Eases Pain First Day or Money Back.

If you suffer from torturing rheumatic pains, sore, swollen joints and suffer intensely because your system is full of the dangerous poisons that cause rheumatism and make thousands helpless, you need Rheuma and you need it now.

Start taking it today. Rheuma acts at once—the very first day, it eases the pain and brings long prayed for relief to rheumatic sufferers.

Many people, the most skentical of skeptics right in this city and in the country hereabouts, bless the day when McDermid's Jury, Bond's Drug Store offered Rheuma at a small price and guaranteed money refunded if it did not end all rheumatic agony. If you have rheumatism in any form, get a bottle of Rheuma from your druggist today.

Bicycle For Two Is Listed As Hazardous

Boston, May 30 (U.P.). — The bicycle built for two, that vehicle which spread delight all through the Gay Nineties, has been officially frowned upon by the Massachusetts Governor's committee on street and highway safety.

The tandem machine has no place in this motor age and constitutes a highway hazard, the committee ruled in issuing a list of "Don't" in connection with a revival of the bicycling craze in Massachusetts.

ROYALTY TO WAIT ON COAL MINER

New Lord High Commissioner Will Have Marquis as Aid.

SUCCEEDS DUKE OF YORK.

EDINBURGH, May 30. (U.P.) — Dukes and duchesses are to wait upon a coal miner and his wife.

James Brown, one time coal miner, is the new Lord High Commissioner to the General Assembly of the Church of Scotland, an annual appointment, which last year was held by the Duke of York.

When the General Assembly meets here soon "Jimmy" Brown and his wife, who once was a mill-girl, will go into residence at Holyrood Palace, ancient home of ancient Scottish kings.

They will be attended by the Marchioness of Ailsa as Mrs. Brown's lady-in-waiting, and "Jimmy's" aides de-camp will include the Marquis of Clydesdale, the eldest son and heir of Scotland's premier duke.

They will have to address Brown as "Your Grace, the High Commissioner," and Mrs. Brown as "Your Grace."

SPLENDID SERMON IN FENELLA CHURCH

Rev. M. B. Brown Speaks on Subject "Humanizing Religion."

FENELLA, May 30.—(Examiner Correspondence).—"Humanizing Religion." "Whether ye eat or drink, or what ever ye do, do all to the glory of God" (I Cor. 10:31), said Paul to the Corinthians, and this was the text chosen by Rev. M. Brown, when he spoke on the subject of "Humanizing Religion", in Fenella United church, on Sunday evening, May 25. "Our Lord was never so divine, or so appealing, as when he was human", said the speaker, going on to say, in part: "One of the reasons that the mass of people show disinterest in religion is that we, in the church, possess an 'official love', that the people are aware that we are apt to love their souls and not them. We seem to live too heavily. Christ's religion saturates everything. There is no boundary line across which one can step from religion to an area, that is not religious. The saddest element, is to see the chasm, between the thrilling, throbbing, enticing interests of human life, on one side, and the technical, official, conventional interests of religion on the other.

Watch Jesus! When he talked about religion, how different from our official religious jargon. His language was. He talked of fields of flowers, of children at play, of farmers and their vineyards, or carpenters and their buildings, of shepherds and their sheep. He talked about families, where weddings were gaily celebrated, where two sparrows could be bought for a farthing by the poor. He talked about business, money, about the variety of soils with which a farmer deals. About the changing colors of the evening sky. You see it does not sound like technical religion at all. It is life, human life, lifted up into spiritual beauty and worth. All of our important problems are human, and we must have a human religion to meet them. How often have we said that it must have been wonderful to talk with Jesus. Well, I am not so sure. I love him. I admire him, but I stand tremendously in awe of Him.

Man Is Like An Island.

Some one has said that a man is like an island, all around which you have to row before you can find the right place to land. Isn't that what Jesus always did to a man? He rowed around his life until he found his real problem, where he was most needed, and there he landed. He did that with the rich young ruler and landed on the money question. He did that with Zaccheus, and landed on his creating the poor. I know too, that if he sat down with one of us he would do that same thing, we may want to talk big, but he will land on some human difficulty of ours, and leaves us better human beings. O Christ, thou are beautiful to speak about, but there never was anybody half so searching to face. The pharisees were concerned about the sacredness of the Mosaic law. He was concerned about the sacredness of a human person. "Neither do I condemn thee". He said to the woman taken in adultery, "go thy way from henceforth and sin no more" which was as much as saying to the rest of them you must humanize your religion. He said, "the Sabbath was made for man, and not man for the Sabbath. That is to say, take the holiest thing you have, and it is worth nothing, if it does not help people."

You must humanize your religion. Because he cared for people his religion followed people wherever they lived and moved and whatever they did. Jesus' religion was so human because he had a human God. The God that Jesus knows could not be kept in the temple at Jerusalem or Mt. Gerizim. He went out into the fields and said, "God doth so clothe the grass." He put a little child before them, and said, of such is the spirit of God. God is spirit. He is very near you. His sacraments were common things.

Here is a saying of our Lord not recorded by biographers of Jesus, but found on a tablet in Oxyrhynchus in Egypt. "Raise the stone and thou shalt find Me, cleave the wood and I am there." Christ would have it, that there should be no door in my business, my family, my school, my private character, my amusements, through which God cannot see. "Whatever ye do, do all to the glory of God." So many people's religion is like the salt that has lost its flavor, becomes insipid, and without a "tang."

We are guilty of bleaching all the color out of Jesus' life and teaching, and after that has happened our young people see nothing human in us. Thomas Paine remarked truly, that "no religion can be truly divine which has in it any doctrine that offends the sensibilities of a little child. And he set a little child in their midst and said "Of such is the Kingdom of God." Don't be so ponderous, let yourself be human, you were created a simple child, why should you be shocked when another shouts and laughs.

Concluding, the speaker asked this question: "Are we going to repeat the mistake of those serious, hard, gloomy accusers of Jesus?" "They all were looking for a king To slay their foes, and set them high.
Thou did come, a little helpless babe, That made a woman cry."

Last Sunday Ballyduff Presbyterian Sunday school reached the unusually high total attendance of 60 pupils which is especially creditable considering the number of families connected with the church.

A gang of ten men are busily engaged in gravelling the road at the west end of Lifford Line. They expect in a short time to move the stone crusher from near Janetville to George Chapman's pit at Ballyduff and continue their work with the use of gravel from there. When this summer's work is completed it is expected that this road will need no further attention for a number of years with the exception of dragging.

OUT-OF-TOWN CALLS — QUICKER AND CHEAPER THAN EVER

She almost trembled at the thought

Mrs. Kane was a timid soul—no doubt about it! Modern efficiency rather terrified her.

She wanted so much to talk to her sister in a town 80 miles away because a friend had told her how she enjoyed weekly long distance chats with her home. But she didn't know how to go about it.

"There's nothing to it," her friend told her. "Just ask the operator for 'Long Distance' and when she answers tell her the number you want. If you don't know your sister's number, ask 'Information'—it's so very simple."

Mrs. Kane felt encouraged. She tried it out one evening; found the operator helpful; and in two minutes was talking to her sister and enjoying herself thoroughly.

And the call cost her only 40 cents—the evening station-to-station rate (after 7 p.m.).

The Friday night 3-minute talk to her sister is now an institution. It has made such a difference to know she is so near! And Mrs. Kane calls after 8.30 p.m. now, at a cost of only 25 cents—the night rate.

Evening rates on "Anyone" (station-to-station) calls now begin at 7 p.m. Night rates begin at 8.30 p.m. Just give "Long Distance" the number you want—it speeds up the service. If you don't know the distant number, "Information" will look it up for you.

CRASH VICTIMS LAID TO REST

Bodies Occupy First Graves in New Hamilton Cemetery.

MANY WATCH CORTEGE.

HAMILTON, May 30.—Victims of Monday's level crossing fatality at Cobourg, the remains of six members of the Johnson family of 47 St. Matthew's Avenue, were laid at rest in East Lawn Cemetery yesterday afternoon.

The six occupy the first graves in the new east end burying ground, dedicated by Bishop Owen last week. Side by side the caskets were lowered.

Outside the funeral home, along the route of procession and at the cemetery, thousands assembled and reverently stood with heads bared as five hearses passed with the remains of father, mother, son, wife and children whose lives were taken in a flash when a C.N.R. locomotive crashed broadside into the auto in which they were returning home from a happy family re-union held in Montreal last week-end.

Separate motors conveyed the bodies of H. J. and Mrs. Johnson, their son, H. J. Johnson, Jr., and his wife. Following was a white hearse in which the bodies of the two children of the younger couple, aged three years and 18 months, were carried. Rev. J. Ballard of Grimsby, where the victims formerly resided, officiated at the chapel and graveside.

Before the funeral hour hundreds filed through the parlors. Floral tributes were numerous. Comrades who fought on the battlefields with the elder Johnson formed a guard of honor, the personnel comprising members of the 98th Battalion, which unit the deceased enlisted with. Last Post was sounded by Bugler Ambrose. Reaching the cemetery, six caskets were carried by as many groups of pall-bearers and were placed side by side over open graves while the committing service was repeated. Robert Johnson, sole survivor of the crash, attended the service.

When a hawk attacked a thrush at Fort Lodge, Ireland, recently, a man shot and killed it, saving the thrush.

Scene at Gra veside as George Redfern is Laid to Rest.

Here is shown the grave-side scene at Woodland cemetery, Kitchener, Ontario, as late George Redfern, who took his own life, following arrest in Rita Gardner poison case, was laid to rest in the presence of a small group of mourners.

PREMIER ANDERSON HOLDS RESOURCES PORTFOLIO

SASKATOON, Sask., May 30.—Speculation regarding the appointment of a Minister to handle the Department of Natural Resources for the Province of Saskatchewan has been set at rest by the announcement of Premier J. T. M. Anderson, that he himself will take over the Department and will be sworn in as Minister on June 4, at Regina.

Dr. Anderson expressed the opinion that the enabling legislation would pass the British Houses in the very near future, and expects that the Resources will be turned over to the Province about the middle of August.

NEGRO MOTHERS OBJECT TO ORDER

Decline to Make Pilgrimage to War Graves of Sons Under Rules Laid Down.

APPEAL TO HOOVER.

NEW YORK, May 30. — The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People yesterday announced that 55 negro Gold Star mothers have declined to make the pilgrimage to the war graves of their sons, under rules they said the War Department has laid down providing for segregation by color.

The mothers have appealed to President Hoover to abolish the ruling, the announcement said. Their petition terms the War Department's attitude "gratuitous insult.'

"Twelve years after the armistice," they continue "the high principles of 1918 seem to have been forgotten. We who gave and who are colored are insulted by implication that we are not fit persons to travel with other bereaved ones. Instead of making up parties of Gold Star mothers on the basis of geographical location, we are set aside as a separate group. 'Jim Crowed' segregated and insulted." . . .

COMMODORE IS BURIED AT SEA

Commander W. Marshall of Liner Majestic Lowered From Destroyer's Deck.

WAS HIS LAST WISH.

SOUTHAMPTON, May 30. (C. P. Cable).—Slowly and solemnly lowered from the deck of a British destroyer into the sea which he had loved so well, and on which he had served for more than 40 years, the body of Commodore William Marshall, Commander of the liner Majestic, who died here on Wednesday, found its last resting place at noon to-day.

Burial at sea, in accordance with a last wish of the Commodore, was made from the deck of the British destroyer on orders issued by Admiral of the fleet Sir Roger Keyes, Comander in Chief at Portsmouth.

KINSMEN CLUB VISITS OSHAWA

Six Members of Peterborough Club Attend Oshawa Dinner.

INVITATION EXTENDED.

Six members of the Peterborough Kinsmen Club journeyed to Oshawa last night and were the guests of the Peterborough members were given Oshawa Club at its regular bi-weekly dinner. The Oshawa boys had planned a Peterborough night, and the a splendid dinner program, after which they were the guests of 'Pop' Ozier, the president of the Regent Theatre. The visitors were welcomed on behalf of the Oshawa Club by Tom Wilson, the vice-president. A challenge of a softball game between the two clubs was accepted by President Alex. Elliott, on behalf of the visitors, when he was replying to the welcome extended by the Oshawa boys.

The Oshawa Club was invited to be the guests of the local club at its next dinner, which will be held in the Empress Hotel on June 11. Those attending from Peterborough were Pat Whyte, D. Ralph Honey, Dr. Herbert Young, Edward Riley, Fred Green and Alex. Elliott.

Recipients of unemployment subsidies in Austria on April 15 numbered 211,000, a decline of 73,000 in a month.

CIRCUS IS COMING ON FRIDAY 13TH

First Evangels of Sells Floto Circus Appear on Streets To-day.

POSTERS ARE UP.

Before most of us were up and about this morning, the cheery army of workers whose happy duty it is to first inform us that the circus is on the way, were bustling about and preparing to spread the good news. The big 80-foot advertising car of the always welcome Sells Floto Circus, gay and brave in its bright red paint and gold lettering, drew in to tell us that the big show will be seen in Peterborough on Friday, June 13.

It is from this car that thousands of posters, banners and lithographs emerge to be placed conspicuously throughout the city and surrounding country, shining from billboards, walls, windows and house tops, with the anual message of optimism and happiness. The car not only has workroom space for the enormous amount of printing to be properly sorted, dated and apportioned to each group of men as they start out to the sections of the city to which they have been assigned, but there is Pullman accommodations, stateroom an dlower and upper berths, for thirty-two men. The Sells Floto executive in charge of this able brigade is Verne Williams, one of the best known and most competent posting experts in the circus world. Under his directions the campaigns in each city are carefully planned and carried through.

On the advertising car, as well, is the first harbinger of the Sells Floto press department, A. E. Johnson, who first conveys to the local newspapers the news of the show's coming. Mr. Johnson inaugurates the publicity campaign, the other members of the Sells Floto press staff following him at intervals until the actual arrival of the great show. Due to these able efforts of Mr. Johnson, Mr. Williams and the assisting crew, no circus fan need be unaware that the Sells Floto Circus is soon to be with us, and with the circus will be the famous Tom Mix and Tony, who appear at every performance.

LORD DAVIDSON IS LAID TO REST

Vast Throng of Notables Attends Impressive Ceremonies.

KING REPRESENTED.

LONDON, May 30 (C. P.). — Funeral services were held yesterday in Westminster Abbey for Lord Davidson, former Archbishop of Canterbury and Primate of England, who died last Sunday.

In the great throng that attended the impressive ceremonies were the Duke of Gloucester and many others of the utmost prominence in the life of England.

The King, the Prince of Wales and the Duke of York were officially represented. The Archbishop of Canterbury and York were present.

The service was conducted by the Dean of Westminster. At its conclusion the body was taken to Canterbury where a further ceremony and burial will take place today.

Lord Davidson was the 94th Archbishop of Canterbury, occupying that office from 1903 until 1928. These various pastorates and clerical appointments began in 1874. He served in one office or another through the reigns of Queen Victoria and King Edward VII, as well as that of the present Monarch. He held many high honors and wore numerous decorations of Great Britain and other countries.

SENATOR DEFENDS OFFICERS WHO SCORED NAVAL PACT

WASHINGTON, D.C., May 30. — A staunch defense of the high ranking naval officers who criticized the London Treaty before Senate Committees, was embodied in a statement issued for publication to-day by Senator Johnson, Republican, California.

The Californian, himself an opponent of the pact, said the officers had "dared to tell the truth," had been "true to the highest traditions of the American navy," and "deserve from all Americans only commendation and praise."

He took upon himself the responsibility for calling most of them before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and said they testified as witnesses in court, stating "the essentials of our national defense and the needs of our navy."

6,95,342 NEW CARS

WASHINGTON, D.C., May 30.—(C.P.) — World production of new automobiles last year was estimated by the Commerce Department at 6,295,352 vehicles, of which Canada and the United States were responsible for 89 percent.

Have Your Car in Good Condition

before you take it on the road

Check your brakes carefully before you start out on the highway. You may have to depend on them, and they may fail you . . . to the injury of yourself or others.

See that your headlights do not glare. The Night Patrol of the Traffic Police may stop you and issue a summons. Glaring headlights are the terror of night driving.

Be careful. Show courtesy to others on the road. Use your common sense in deciding where, how, and at what speed you will drive your car.

W. CHAPMAN IS ELECTED HEAD

Otonabee Sunday School Association Holds Annual Convention at Zion.

OTONABEE, May 30.—W. Chapman was elected president of the Otonabee Sunday School Association at the annual convention held at Zion on Thursday. Other officers are as follows: A. Rennie, vice president; D. Edwards, secretary treasurer; Mrs. T. E. Rose, superintendent of children's work; Mrs. A. Rennie, of girls' work; A. Adamson, boys' work; Mrs. H. Bennett, young people's work; J. Burns, adult department; Miss G. Thompson, home department; Rev. V. McNeeley, teacher training; Miss M. Thorne, missionary department and Rev. J. R. Simpson, temperance department.

In the absence of the president, J. Burns, Mr. Chapman occupied the chair and the Rev. Mr. McNeeley conducted the devotional exercises. Reports were given by the secretary treasurer and the leaders of the several departments. The report of the schools was given on the wall chart conducted by the Rev. Mr. Neal.

Following this the workers formed into conference groups to discuss various problems of the different departments.

The Resolutions Committee brought in three resolutions, thanking the ladies for the sumptuous supper, the officers and members of the church for allowing the convention to be held there and to Rev. Mr. Neal and Rev. Mr. Simpson for their leadership in the convention. The thanks of the convention was also extended to A. Matchett for his services on the executive in the past and that he may be speedily restored to health.

The convention next year will be held in the River Road School. The township executive will meet at Coldsprings Hall on June 16, at 8 p.m. to discuss the work of the Association during the coming year.

Evening Session

J. Burns presided for the evening session and the devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. Mr. Simpson followed by the installation officers by the Rev. H. B. Neal.

Rev. Mr. Simpson addressed the convention on temperance and two excellent violin solos were given by Stewart Dawson after which Rev. H. B. Neal gave his evening address. The Coldsprings orchestra greatly assisted in the singing and also gave separate selections.

BISHOP OF ROCHESTER RESIGNING DIOCESE

LONDON, May 29.—(C.P. Cable).—The Bishop of Rochester, the Rt. Rev. John Harmer, is resigning his diocese. Dr. Harmer is 72 years of age and has been Bishop of Rochester for a quarter of a century, a period longer than that served by any other English Bishop now alive, except the Bishop of London, the Rt. Rev. Arthur Winnington Ingram.

Dr. Harmer's voice has seldom been heard in the larger councils of the church. He was devoted himself mainly to unobtrusive and thoroughdoing pastoral work in his own diocese, where Dr. Harmer is intensely loved and respected. His resignation comes when the 800th anniversary o Rochester Cathedral is being celebrated.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D

DON'T LET HEART GET STALE.

When Dempsey, Tunney, Sharkey or any other boxer is getting ready for a bout, he starts training in an easy fasion at first, a little jogging or slow running on the road, a little skipping or shawdow boxing in the gymnasium, and two or three rounds of boxing.

He gradually increases his work until he is doing as much as he will have to do during the bout. In addition to this, he is running three to five miles daily.

However, a few days before the bout, you will read that he is 'down to weight', increased up on his training, and for two or three days before the bout he does no real work, just a little walk or shadow boxing to keep him limber.

Why this 'let up' on his training when you would think he would work right up to the last minute?

Because he does not want to become 'stale'.

Staleness means that the athlete has been doing so much work that the waste from his work have not been carried away by the circulation, and actually prevent the muscles working at their best. In fact if work is kept up too long the muscles become practically paralyzed until they are rested for some time.

And so to avoid any chance of too much waste being in the muscles, even a little too much—the athlete stops his hard training for a few days before the bout and the heart and circulation can thus carry away any wastes, should there be any.

Now why do I speak about this?

Because your heart is made up entirely of muscle. True it is not within your control, but it is muscle just the same and so should be treated in the same manner as the other muscles of the body.

As you know, the heart gets a rest between the first beat and the second beat, and again a longer rest between the second beat and the first beat again.

But perhaps you have had an illness, or infection of some kind, and the heart has been beating at the rate of 100 or 140 to the minute, instead of 72 to 76.

It can keep up this rate for a long time because of its 'reserve' power.

However, just as the other organs of the body need a prolonged rest after weeks of training, so also does the heart.

It may not become dilated, may not increase in size, may be working along pretty well as far as your physician can tell, but just the same it has lost some of its reserve during the ailment, and this reserve must be regained.

And just as the athlete rests for a few days before his bout, so also you should remain in bed, or at least sit or lie around the house for a few days after the infection or ailment has passwed away, before you go about your daily work.

Thus you will build up your heart reserve again.

OUR CHILDREN

By Angelo Patri

SMILE IT OFF.

There are a couple of children who reach home every afternoon with a string of complaints at the ends of their tongues.

"Mother, Miss Jones is awful mean. She skipped me in class to-day and if she had asked me I could have had an extra. She asked Pussy Willow and she got an extra. She's awful mean."

"Ma, Ma, I wish you go see about Mr Witts. He shoved me right off the line to-day. He gives everybody a chance to be first except me."

"I'm not going to speak to Lillian any more. When I was going by her house I called to her and she didn't even answer and then she came along with Betty. She only notices me when she can't get anybody else. I'm mad at her."

So on and on throughout the meal-time and mother listens anxiously and asks questions to make sure that the person who threatened the peace and happiness of her child could be brought to justice and something done to him.

This is a poor practice. It makes children sour in their disposition. That is a serious matter. Children need friends. They need the atmosphere of friendliness in order to grow in grace and intelligence. To keep looking for slights, to treasure every fancied wrong, to cultivate grudges is poisonous to body and mind. Teach the children to smile it off. Most of their troubles are trifles. Teach them to throw them off lightly. Forget them. Smile and be friends with all who come their way.

I am not saying that they are to accept affronts and indignities. A child must have power to maintain himself among his mates. But that power is not cultivated by treasuring grudges and uttering complaints and wailing constantly.

Happy children are gay and happy. They make their own friends within their circle. Now and then there will be a falling out which is soon patched up again if nobody interferes. It is unwise for grown-up people to meddle with the affairs of children as long as it can be avoided.

When a child complains of ill-treatment at the hands of his mates, investigate the child himself. Be sure there is something wrong in his attitude that brings this unpleasantness upon him. Set that right. Teach him to think right. The right way means to keep thinking kind thoughts, generous thoughts, about all other people, whoever, wherever they may be.

Healthy, loving thoughts are a tonic to the spirit and the body of the child. If for any reason a child is thinking wrong, see what can be done to build up his physical health and at the same time to establish right thinking. One reacts upon the other.

Don't cultivate complaining attitudes in the children. Smile them off. Whatever steps you take to adjust things are to be silent ones. Teach children to live more outside themselves than inside.

The tea-gown which appears in varying degrees of formality this season is beautifully realized in this fenny model of white crepe satin trimmed with chiffon and deep beige lace.

TEA GOWNS APPEAR IN VARYING DEGREES OF FORMALITY.

The tea-gown or neglige in which one passes intimate hours chez soi, is of considerable importance. It appears in varying degrees of formality, but it is seldom more beautifully realized than in this elegant gown of white crepe satin, trimmed with a long floating drapery of mousseline de soie, and with deep borders of beige chiffon on sleeves and skirt.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Alice Michaelis

OLD AS THE STARS

Old as the stars the songs men sing,
Old as the stars and sun;
For, ah, in what a little ring
The deep emotions run!

Of love and hope and joy men's songs,
Back in the dawn of time;
And since to every age belongs
Each theme they weave in rhyme.

As old as stars, yet ever new,
Blithe songs of love and hope;
They are so dear, they are so few,
The dreams toward which men grope.

Love like a flower, love like a flame,
And hope, a voice that lures;
Men's themes of song will be the same
As long as earth endures.

SERVICE FOR CHILDREN.

Temperance Certificate Given Out and Baby Kelk Baptised at Springville.

SPRINGVILLE, May 29—(Examiner Correspondence).—A pleasing variation was lent to the regular morning service of Springville United church on Sunday, May 25, when the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Kelk was baptised by the pastor, Rev. S. Moyer. A new silver baptismal bowl was used on the occasion, the gift of the church of Mr. Keith Fairbairn.

The sermon that followed was of extreme interest to the children and parents. Presentation was made of the temperance certificates recently won by a number of the Sunday school pupils, three of whom were winners of extra prizes.

Special musical numbers were solos by Mrs. M. Westington and Miss M. Southam.

Announcement was made of the change of date of the W. M.S. evening service, which will now be held on Sunday evening, June 8.

Fashions

NEWEST FASHIONS REMINISCENT OF OTHER DAYS

FEMININE VERSIONS OF THE "TWO PANTS SUIT"

NEW YORK, May 30 (U.P.). — Women are known to be extremists. Having adopted pajamas and to a lesser extent shorts, one now is confronted with the "two pants suit" idea.

Among the newest and most startling of the season developments is the exploitation of daytime frocks in printed and plain fabrics, which, by the simple removal of their wrap-around skirts, are transformed into active sports costumes, comprising shirt and shorts. When made of dark ground prints in flat crepe de chine, these little dresses suggest their suitability for city wear and are offered as "week-end frocks" in sports departments.

Tennis costumes are seen in many guises, with linen and shantung of foremost importance. Some pique appears, usually combined with another, thinner cotton. The tuck-in blouses are often made with low-cut sunbacks and another idea is the grouping of two blouses with one pair of shorts, one of the blouses cut low in back, while the other is made with a high collar.

When developed in printed percales and muslins, little suits comprising shirt, jacket and shorts are extremely modest in price and because of this appeal they should prove strong features during the vacation season.

Many of the beach and sports costumes shown include matching hats. With beach pajamas, a crownless brim of wide proportions is shown of matching material, and with swagger little muslin suits, there is a muslin beret in contrasting color. Other berets are of knitted fabrics and there are fabric scarfs that can be tied kerchief fashion around the head.

Flannel appears in shorts, long pajamas and in separate coats.

R-100 Pilot's Wife.

Mrs. Ralph Booth, wife of Captain Ralph Booth, who will pilot giant dirigible across the Atlantic to Montreal, is now staying in Toronto, Ontario.

WEDDING BELLS

DRAIN—TUCKER.

A quiet but pretty wedding took place on Wednesday afternoon, May 28, at St. Paul's Manse, when Rev. William Allan united in marriage Esie Edna, elder daughter of Mrs. John Tucker, Warsaw, and Mr. Milton E. Drain, son of Mrs. David Drain of R.R. No. 2, Lakefield.

The bride was charmingly attired in white crepe Romain, with white hat and white kid shoes and hose to match and carried a bouquet of Columbia roses and maidenhair fern.

The attendants were Miss Olive Drain, sister of the bridegroom, in sand gown, coat and hat, and Mr. David Tucker. Immediately after the ceremony the young people left on their honeymoon for Essex, Buffalo and Niagara Falls, amid showers of confetti and good wishes. The bride travelled in a beautiful gown of midnight blue georgette with navy coat, sand hat, gloves and shoes to match.

AL CAPONE ENTERTAINS

MIAMI, Fla., May 29. (C.P.) — Engraved invitations from "Mr. Alphonse Capone" brought several score guests to his Palm Island estate last night for a "good will" dinner, mineral water and a musicale, which combined operatic arias and the Highland fling.

Style 215, a New Superlatively Sheer Chiffon Stocking at $1.15 a pair

For years Orient has provided Canadian women with better silk stockings in the newest modes, at lower than usual prices—

And now offers style 215, an extraordinary value in fine chiffon — almost "beach bare" in its smart sheerness.

This new member of the "Orient family of better stockings"—is finest quality, full fashioned, pure silk from top to toe, full length with the exclusive "Art Moderne" (French) heel, in all the smart, fashionable shades.

The exquisite sheerness of this new stocking, with the extra wear provided by invisible reinforcing in foot and garter hem, make it an outstanding value at its price.

"Orient" on a stocking, identifies highest quality and greatest value in appearance, wear and satisfaction at a lower than usual price.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

THERE ARE FEW of us who do not regret the necessity of a hurried breakfast!

• • • • • • •

But it is upon Mother that the entire responsibility lies—it is she who speeds the man of the house on his way to business and then the children on their way to school.

• • • • • • •

Both of these matters make time valuable.

• • • • • • •

There are always routines of work to go through to say nothing of the eternal unexpected that crops up so frequently that it has almost to be reckoned with as much as routine.

• • • • • • •

If only things could proceed wit h leisure is the ardent wish of one and probably all the members of the family.

• • • • • • •

It is, of course, well to consider the advantages that accure from this speed, for the disadvantages do not exist alone.

• • • • • • •

At first thought there may seem only disadvantages, but there are also some advantages about this speed. The balance is at least even, and perhaps upon due consideration the advantages may over-balance in weight.,

• • • • • • •

Speed the first thing in the morning sets a good tempo to action!

• • • • • • •

It puts worth on time which well used makes work get out of the way with surprising rapidity.

• • • • • • •

In homes where breakfast is eaten leisurely work is apt to drag afterwards with the result that real leisure when one wants it earlier in the day, is sadly lacking.

• • • • • • •

So we see speed without any hectic rush has its distinct advantage in this matter of accomplishing work.

• • • • • • •

For another thing, when time is pressing, the attention of each person is focussed on the duties of the day without being diverted by unrelated thoughts and discussions that turn the attention into unimportant channels.

• • • • • • •

The accomplishment of present and immediate duties should stand uppermost. They require concentrated thought and effort.

• • • • • • •

Where breakfasts are prolonged by conversation it is hard afterwards to drag one's thoughts back to duties. Time is frittered away, if the conversation is trifling.

• • • • • • •

If it has been deep and profound, mental energy is taxed and it takes more or less time to restore energy as it does to recharge a battery.

• • • • • • •

It is only when the mind is restored or recharged, that the thought can be guided back with any degree of vigor to consider plans and to see that tasks at hand are executed.

• • • • • • •

After all, then, it is not wise to accept with a good grace, the necessarily hurried breakfast, not eaten in a rush but with the attention given to the nourishing food rather than to diverting talk?

• • • • • • •

Such a breakfast permits one's thoughts to shape themselves about the duties of the day. It furthers ac complishment both by tuning up one's energies and stimulating concentration.

FASHION FANCIES

Shorts Enter the Tennis Tournament.

Shorts are expected to play a long game in the tournament of tennis costumes this summer. They challenged all comers at the fashionable resorts this winter and established a new record on the courts. Striped and plain shirtings are at present among the favorite fabric winners. Often the shorts are pleated to give the effect of a brief, full skirt, as is shown in the sketch above. Green and white striped broadcloth develops this model.

The trick of slipping a wrap-around skirt over the shorts is one that many are fast learning. This sartorial gesture gives the costume the dignity of a smart sleeveless summer dress for other events.

First Cruiser Docks At George Street Wharf

The first cruiser to reach Peterborough this year via the internationally famous Trent Waterway was tied up at the George street wharf on Wednesday of this week and was seen to be busily refueling at about 4.00 in the afternoon of that day. The cruiser was a smart forty-five footer, the Artene of Windsor belonging to the Department of Game and Fisheries and proceeding to its summer cruising grounds among the 30,000 Islands of Georgian Bay.

Those in charge of the craft stated that they had found the cruise to be in every way delightful, though somewhat cool and that the waterway, channels, locks, etc., seemed to be in the best of working order. It was not stated at the time whether they received the harbor-master's hat on arrival at the Government wharf, Peterborough.

WONDERFUL, SHE SAYS, OF SARGON

"When I started taking Sargon I was weakened and run-down. I was so nervous I couldn't get the proper amount of sleep and my kidneys seemed badly disordered. I'd be in misery after meals from indigestion, and constipation kept my system filled with poisons and caused pains in nearly every part of my body. It's wonderful what Sargon did for me! It strengthened and invigorated me to where I do all my housework, my nerves are better, my kidneys never bother me, I sleep well and eat anything I like without the least trouble with my stomach.

MRS. WM. PLACE.

"Sargon Pills cleansed my system of poisons and regulated me perfectly."—Mrs. Wm. Place, 36 E. 19th St., Hamilton.

Sargon may be obtained in Peterborough from Bond's Drug Store.

RANGERS PLAN TO STAGE PLAY

Norman Laing is Playing Leading Role in "Aunt Lucia."

ON JUNE 5 AND 6.

"Aunt Lucia" is the title of the play which the Peterborough Rangers have made preparations to produce on Thursday and Friday next, June 5th and 6th, in the auditorium of the Collegiate Institute. Miss Violet Martin of the Universal Producing Company, is in charge.

A strong cast of local players has been chosen, as follows: Jerry (the fake aunt) Norman Laing; George (a college student) Charles McLeish; Dick (a football player) Dr. Ralph Honey; Collins (Dick's father) Jack Primeau; Butter and Egg Man, Jim Turnbull; Professor Gaddis, Dick Lush; Dr. Seamore (college president) Herbert Wilson; Mrs. Seamore, Mrs. G. A. Richmond; Betsy (George's girl) Miss Nan Parsons; Molly (Dick's girl) Miss Florence Adams; Ethelyn (Jerry's girl) Miss Jean Padget; Freshmen, Jack Krogh and Andy Rutter; Fraternity President, Murray Smye; Glee Club President, Jack Pritchard.

The play proper deals with the story of the Home Coming of Bula Bula College. The setting of the show is in a Fraternity House drawing room. The whole school anxiously awaiting the arrival of Lucia Wakefield, the widow of the late Roderick Wakefield, who is worth fifty million dollars. She is going to attend Bula Bula College Home coming, and they are expecting her to give a large sum of money for the building of a football stadium. Jerry Watson, one of the college boys with the help of his two roommates, George and Dick, dressed himself as an old lady, for the entertainment of his fellow fraternity members. While dressed in this outfit, he was mistaken by Prof. Gaddis and Dean Howard as the real Lucia Wakefield from Florida, and they immediately introduce him to the College President and everyone as such. Once in this dilemma, it was impossible for him to explain without getting in bad, and so he is carried on throughout the story, masquerading as Lucia Wakefield, when in reality, he is only Jerry Watson.

Around the character, playing the part of the fake Aunt Lucia, all the fun and comical situations of the play developed. Prof. Gaddis and Mr. Collins, and the Butter and Egg Man, all fall in love with this fake Lucia Wakefield, and try to marry her. Their proposal scenes are flowery, insistent, and very funny. When Jerry finds himself playing the part of the old lady, he makes love to the other boys' girls, enjoys the proposals of the men, and generally adds to the comedy of the play. Also, there is the College President, Dr. Seamore, and Mrs. Seamore, who add to the dignity of the cast. Dean Howard, the old maid school teacher and Prof. Gaddis, the old bachelor lovers for fifteen years, finally come together and are married. Then the Prof. finds that Lucia Wakefield was only a man. In the end, the real Lucia Wakefield in Florida wires the necessary amount of money for the building of the College stadium and Jerry, who has been the fake Aunt, wins back his girl, who has stepped out with the College sheik. Besides these characters there are two college girls, friends of George and Dick. All in all, it is a collegiate plot, with a great many comical situations which are hilarious from start to finish. "Aunt Lucia" is one of the funniest shows ever staged.

fully selected business men, who can make an intelligent address on business and business methods.

"Courtesy," he continued, "is recognized as the least expensive and the greatest asset in any business. Let Peterborough be such a city that tourists after visiting the city will leave saying that Peterborough is the place where they were treated with the greatest courtesy and found the highest business ideals. Sir Arthur Currie said, 'Courtesy is the keynote of all business'."

Mr. Stanley said that Kiwanians spread the gospel of courtesy and high business ethics. "Happy is the town with a few great hearts and a few great minds for they can revolutionize a community," he concluded.

Introduced by Dr. J. J. Craig, chairman of the Business Standards Committee of the local club, Mr. Stanley was tendered the thanks of the club for his educative and inspiring address by Percy Blackmore.

Wilfred Huycke was booster for the day.

Blinding Headlights Followed by Death

WOODSTOCK, Ont., May 30.—(C.P.). — Blinded by the headlights of an approaching car, Leslie Herron, 18, of Otterville, did not see two youths walking along ahead of his car near that village last evening. He struck them, Francis Sterling, 18-year-old farm hand, being instantly killed and his companion, Morley Clinton, slightly injured. The other driver, unaware that an accident had taken place, did not stop. Herron and three friends who were in his car, picked up the pair and rushed them to the village.

TEXTILE STRIKE END IN SIGHT

National Executive Intimates Willingness to Enter Into Agreement.

TERMS ANNOUNCED.

LONDON, May 30. (C. P. Cable)—A move which is regarded as a definite and hopeful step towards ending the great woollen and textile strike, which has been crippling the industry for the last six weeks and has left Yorkshire almost idle, was made yesterday by the executive committee of the National Association of Textile Traders Unions. A resolution of executive expressed willingness to enter into an agreement with any firm of federation on certain terms.

The terms of the executive are: That on resumption of the work the immediate reduction of wages should be only equivalent to 5.8 per cent. of the former rate, this reduction to operate for six months. At the end of that time the executive would submit to a reduction of approximately 7.5 per cent. to operate for a further three months. Thereafter the full terms of the reduction of 9.2 per cent., recommended in the findings of the MacMillan Court of Enquiry, would be accepted.

This proposal from the trades unions is regarded as being tantamount to a surrender. The great expenses to which the unions and the men have been put during the long idle period are held responsible for the unions' reluctance to agree to an immediate application of the full reduction recommended by the Court of Enquiry—the same rate of reduction which, when posted by the employers a few weeks ago, led to the strike.

It is believed that pressure may have been brought to bear on the textile unions to make some overture by the parliamentary Laborites.

PLUNDERED DISTRICT.

WOODSTOCK, May 30.—Provincial Police in Oxford Perth and adjoining counties concentrated ther efforts to run to earth the gang of robbers who have been plundering this district for the last week or two, and whose efforts in Embro village and vicinity a few days ago netted them several large hauls. Suspects, including several men, a woman and several children, travelling in two autos, were traced to a rendezvous in an empty house near Medina yesterday, but the party escaped just before the arrival of the constables. Their cars were a coupe and a well-known sedan.

PARDON ARABS ON KING'S BIRTHDAY

Outcome of Last August's Rioting Been Major Arab Executive Issue.

ONE JEW INCLUDED.

JERUSALEM, May 30. (Jewish Telegraphic Agency.) — The Hebrew daily, "Ha'Aretz," said yesterday that all persons condemned to death in Palestine, including a number of Arabs, and one Jew, sentenced to hang as a result of last August's rioting, would be amnestied on the birthday of King George, June 3.

The matter of the condemned Arabs has been a major issue in the program of the Arab executive and was one of the demands of the Arab delegation in Great Britain. The Privy Council recently rejected an appeal against the death sentences of certain Arabs while a number of prominent Jews here have circulated petitions to the High Commissioner urging that all death sentences be commuted.

PASSPORTS COST REDUCED IN U. S.

House Votes to Cut $10 Fee to $5 on Vote of 169 to 89.

INCREASE LIMIT.

WASHINGTON, May 30. — The House yestreday voted to reduce the original cost of passports from $10 to $5, and to increase the limit to which they may be extended from two to six years. This action was on a bill by Representative O'Connell of New York. As originally introduced it simply provided for the extension of the time limit, but the Foreign Affairs Committee amended it to reduce the passport fee to $5 for bona fide school teachers going abroad for travel study. Mr. Cramton offered an amendment making the fee $5 to all, and this was accepted, 169 to 89.

FRESH AIR CAMP IS GIVEN $1,200

Annual Grant is Made by Kiwanis Club to Health Association.

BUDGET IS $4,000.

The Kiwanis Club at its meeting to-day unanimously passed a motion granting $1,200 for the Jackson Park Fresh Air Camp. This amount maintains the camp, covering the expense of the supplies necessary for the camp, but does not include the salary of the nurse, which brings the total expense of the camp for the months of July and August to about $1,500.

This summer the Kiwanis Club is establishing a Clinic where the children will be examined and only those most needing the fresh air and healthy food of the camp will be kept there. These will number sixty and they will be kept at the camp the whole two months.

It is interesting to note that the Peterborough Health Association was organized in 1911 and the first community effort for funds was made in 1912 through the medium of the Summer Fair, when $4,000 was raised.

The Kiwanis Club erected the buildings at Jackson Park and equipped them and keep them in repair in an effort to co-operate with the work being done by the Health Association.

The Kinsmen has lately come to the fore as another service club and through its efforts $475 was contributed to the Association.

The Health Association Budget for the year is $4,000.00, and roughly divided in expenditure as follows:

Jackson Park Camp	$1,200.00
Nursing	1 500.00
Supplies used throughout the city and district, other than Jackson Park Camp	1,300.00
	$4,000.00

The revenue is derived as follows:

City Council, grant,	$1,000.00
Interest from bequests which have been made from time to time	400.00
Kiwanis Club for Jackson Park Camp	1,200.00
General contributions	925.00
Kinsmen	475.00
	$4,000.00

OBITUARY

JOHN W. BOYD.

HASTINGS, May 30. (Examiner Correspondence.)—The death occurred at Timmins on Saturday, May 24, as a result of an accident, of John Boyd, beloved husband of Annie Anderson Boyd, and brother of Ezekial Boyd, California. The dead man was the youngest son of the late Ezekial and Mary Jones Boyd, formerly of Peterborough county. Two brothers and one sister predeceased him.

He was born in this district, 55 years ago, and lived for many years on the farm on the Marmora Road, now occupied by Mr. Edward King. Fourteen years ago he moved to Timmins where he was employed in the mining business.

On Friday last, while working underground in the Vipond mine, he was crushed by a falling boulder, and suffered injuries from which he died Saturday at noon. Besides his wife, he leaves three children, Harry and Maude Boyd, at home and Mrs. Harold Shantz, all of Timmins.

The funeral services were held under Marmora Orange Lodge auspices, of which he was a member, was conducted at the Anglican Church Rev. P. C. Howard, and Rev. J. Lennox officiating. Many friends from all the surrounding country, and as far off as San Francisco, were present at the funeral, testifying to the esteem in which the late Mr. Boyd was held. Many beautiful floral offerings were heaped high on the casket as it was borne from the church to the Maple Grove cemetery where interment was made in the family plot. Members of Marmora Orange Lodge were present in large numbers, and gave the last rites of the Orange Order to the departed brother.

Among those from a distance who were present for the funeral were the following: Harry Taylor, Detroit, Mrs. R. E. McMullen, Windsor, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kirschener, San Francisco, Calif., Mr. Claude Garrison, Ottawa, Mr. Tom Anderson, Mrs. Harry Parsons, Smith Falls, Mrs. Arthur Smith and two sons, Mr. and Mrs. C. Boyd, all of Marmora, Mr. I. Boyd, Campbellford, Mr. Randall Anderson, Mr. Keith Sterling, of Timmins, Mrs. Boyd and Mrs. H. Shantz and Veronica Shantz, Harry and Maude Boyd, all of Timmins. About eighty floral pieces were left at the graveside. The sympathy of the entire community is extended to the bereaved family.

fire and pulled the driver, Cook, from the wreckage.

Smoke and flames concealed the unconscious form of Mitchell and his presence in the wreckage was not discovered until Brantford and Ancaster firemen extinguished the flames.

Coroner Dr. A. F. Rykert, of Dundas, Ont., opened an inquest into the death of Mitchell this afternoon. After the preliminaries an adjournment was taken.

Provincial police to-day arrested Fred Holland, the truck driver, on a charge of criminal negligence. Holland, who is a Hamilton man, was remanded for one week when brought before the Magistrate in county police court.

CLOCK MAKERS SWAMP C. G. E. TO WIN 17-4

Winners Connect With Two Electric Hurlers For Total of Seventeen Hits.

WEAK ON THIRD.

Belmonts and Brintons Top League With One Victory and No Losses.

What a game it turned out to be! 17 to 4, that's the kind of comeback the Westclock boys pounded out last night to down the C.G.E. crew at the Central School Grounds, and make up for the drubbing they took from the Brinton lads on Monday night.

And did they have it all their own way?—well out of two C.G.E. pitchers they larrupped out twelve singles, three doubles, three triples and a homer, while in return all Darling for the Clock aggregation allowed was five single sacks.

Both aggregations were weak, terribly weak around third, which on Dorrington's part is considerable of a surprise, considering the season he put in last year. In addition to this the C. G. E. boys had an off night on batting, as nine of them walked to the plate and walked away again without a start for the circuit—and all Darling was dishing up was a little bit of speed, which was considerably wild, and had it been waited out would in all probability have resulted in a good many walks.

Webb Scores Twice

Webb, for the Electrics, stretched the only two free issues, that Darling handed out, into counters, scoring in the first, and again in the third. Wilson in the third singled through the pitching box and counted. Calladine got two singles but tallied only on the one in the third, while Miller got the remaining two hits, one in the third which he very nearly scored on, getting out on a throw to the plate from Foley in left field picked up on a muff on Goodson's part. The other he drove through to centre field in the right. This effort was very short-lived, however, as he was cut off at second when Routley drove one down to Goodson at short who shot it to Fowler on second, who in turn sifted it to first for a double play. O'Toule was the only other man to get on, and then it was solely through two errors, one to Dorrington and the other to Goodson.

For the Westclock crew all but Kitchen entered the hit column, Dorrington lapping out a pretty circuit drive in the second to the left field, and collaring a single besides in the seventh. Cooper snagged one hit and two runs, White two and three runs, Goodson three and three, Foley two and three runs, Fowler one and two, Mongraw, one and two, and Darling one and one.

Count Early Lead

Richmond took the mound for the C.G.E. lads to open proceedings and in two innings the score sheet said seven for the Westclock, Powell replaced him in the third and held the round scoreless. Two came in the fourth, and then till the eighth it resembled more of a ball game than a running race, no score coming in for either side. However, in the last two sessions, Powell weakened and the Clocks crossed the rubber eight times. In fact in the ninth there were so many Westclock runners on the bases at one time that there wasn't room for them all. They had to go some place and a pretty game of tag ensued. A lovely time was had by all, and after throwing the pill around and up and down, the hill runners finally settled down and decided to sit on the sacks till things cooled down a bit—everybody safe. At that moment Kitchen did his bit by hitting out a triple over in left field and sent the skittish trio home. Calladine picked up a pretty fly from Kitchen in the eighth.

In only one session the third, were the C.G.E. boys off to their stride, and then they grabbed off three runs, but after that failed to break for further counts.

Score by Innings.

Westclock .....250 200 054—17
C. G. E. .....103 000 000— 4

	R.	H.	E.
Westclock	17	12	4
C. G. E.	4	5	5

Two base hits, Kitchen, Foley, Mongraw; three base hits, White, Kitchen, Fowler; home runs, Dorrington. Walks, off Darling 2, off Richmond 2, off Powell 2. Struck out, by Darling 9, by Richmond 1, by Powell, 3. Double play, Goodson to Fowler to Kitchen.

Line ups:

Westclock: Darling, p; White c; Kitchen 1b; Fowler 2b; Dorrington 3b; Goodson ss; Foley lf; Cooper cf; Mongraw rf.

C. G. E.: Richmond and Powell, p; Routley, c; McLeish, 3b; Wilson 1b; O'Toule 3b; Caladine ss; Millard lf; Webb lf; Miller rf; (McDonough batted for Webb in the eighth, and Bennett for Routley in the ninth.)

Umpires: Biffer Ranger at the plate and Jack Playford on bases.

Last night's mix-up sets the league—C.G.E. won one and lost one; Westclock, won one and lost one; Belmont Club won one lost none; Brinton Carpet won one lost none; Sugar Bowl won none lost one, and Harrison's won none and lost one.

DODGERS TIE CARDS FOR NATIONAL LEAD

Blake Herman Hits Two Home Runs—Defeat Giants 4-1.

BROOKLYN, May 30—The Brooklyn Robins regained their tie with the St. Louis Cardinals for first place in the National League yesterday, by defeating their closest rivals, the New York Giants, 4 to 1.

Babe Herman hit two home runs, one off Carl Hubbell, and the other off Joe Heving, who relieved Hubbell in the eighth inning, and batted in three of the Robin runs. William Clark allowed the Giants only six hits, one at a time, and was deprived of a shutout only by Andy Reese's homer in the fifth.

KILMARNOCK VICTOR OVER ULSTER TEAM

Clever Display By Scottish Leaguers at Guelph—Final Count 6-1.

GUELPH, May 30. — Giving a delightful exhibition of the dribbling code, Kilmarnock, Scottish Cup winners of 1929, defeated Ulster United of Toronto by 6-1 in an exhibition game here last night.

The Red Handers, who had held the Scottish visitors to a drawn decision in Toronto last Saturday were expected to give Kilmarnock a stiff battle, but after the first few minutes of play the Scottish team settled down to standard of play far superior to that shown by the Toronto eleven.

The brand of soccer provided by Kilmarnock was quite up to the standard expected from such a famous team. Clever individual play, coupled with delightful combination, served to show fans in attendance just how soccer should be played. Ulster, who were forced to take the field minus the services of three regulars fought back pluckily all through but were rarely in the picture.

PIPGRAS CHECKS SENATOR STREAK

New York Yankee Pitcher Keeps Washington Club's Hits Well Scattered.

FOUR STRAIGHT FOR A'S.

NEW YORK, May 30—With George Pipgras playing the leading role, the Yankees checked the winning streak of the Washington Senators yesterday after seven straight victories. The score was 4 to 2.

The "Great Dane" allowed nine hits, but kept them well scattered after the first inning when the Senators started off with three successive singles to score one run.

The Yankees took the lead in the second inning as Chapman doubled after Gehrig and Cooke had walked and never ware seriously theratened. Ruth drove in the third Yankee run after Combs had tripled and scored on the fourth on his double and a single by Hargrave.

FOUR STRAIGHT FOR A'S

PHILADELPHIA, May 30.—Mahaffey, the Athletic's pitcher from Portland, Oregon, bested Milt Gaston in a twirling tangle here yesterday, pitching the Mackmen to a 2 to 1 victory over the Boston Red Sox.

A two-base boot by Regan on Haas' ground in the seventh inning paved the way for the winning run that was scored on Cochrane's two-bast hit to right.

The only member of the Red Sox to pass second on Mahaffey was Oliver, who singled in the sixth, advanced on an infield out, and scored on a double by Durst. Yesterday's win was the Athletics' fourth straight.

By Frank Getty

STEVE'S BIG DAY

To-day, May 30, is Steve Hannagan's big day.

• • •

I can see him now, with his cap pulled down over one eye and the freckles on his tiptilted Irish nose glistening in the sun and his infectious Irish grin, watching the red racers in their mad whirl through the dust at the Indianapolis speedway.

There will be 100,000 pairs of eyes fixed on that thrilling 500-mile race this afternoon, but none will gleam as fondly as Steve's Irish blue ones as he looks upon his handiwork.

• • •

The 500-mile automobile race is Steve's baby, his first born, so to speak. His is the blatant good humor which says to the throng:

• • •

"Come one, come all, and see the greatest shown on earth."

ONLY ONE STEVE

As a press agent, young Mr. Hannagan has few equals, and the Indianapolis race is his first love. For many of us, Steve makes the race what it is.

• • •

The art of press-agenting a big sporting spectacle is not easy to attain. Some affairs, such as the fight for the world's heavyweight championship, are their own best publicity men, and about all the press agents needs is a mimeograph machine and a nasty way with him when the ticket moochers start their mooching.

• • •

Some big sports shows, however, wouldn't be what they are without the stimulus lent by the "counsel on public relations" as some of the boys like to style themselves. Steve Hannagan never went in for any such high hattedness. Ask him what he calls himself and its 10 to 1 he will turn that Irish grin on you and reply:

• • •

"I'm just a little boy from the county trying to get along."

NEWSPAPERMAN HIMSELF

Steve came out of the Hoosier hills about seven or eight years ago, the most unregenerate, unlicked cub ever to breathe gin affectionately upon his city editor. We should know, having had the task of drying him behind the ear and giving him his first newspaper training in New York. (N.B. He is still untrained).

• • •

They couldn't keep young Hannagan in the newspaper game, and now they can't keep him out of the newspepers. In the winter-time, Steve press-agents Miami Beach, in the summer-time he may be found where the cooling breezes play over the playgrounds of the rich along Long Island.

• • •

Everything he touches turns to news, which is what constitutes a good press agent, which is what Steve Hannagan has become. He has an infectious good humor, a ready wit, a vast number of friends and a permanent weakness for the fair sex.

Home Towners Plan To Honor Pitcher Frey

JACKSON, Mich., May 30.—(U.P.)—Benny Frey, Cincinnati pitcher, is the first Jackson resident to go to the major leagues, and baseball fans here have decided the event shall not pass unnoticed.

Accordingly a "Benny Frey" day will be held at Cincinnati June 22. It is expected Frey will pitch that day, and 300 or so friends from Jackson will be on hand to add their cheers to those of the local rooters.

Plans have been made here to run a special train to Cincinnati for the game. A suitable gift from Jackson friends will be presented Frey before the game.

CALEDONIANS MEET BRINTONS SATURDAY

Kick-off at 3 O'clock Sharp—New Field Will Be Officially Opened.

On Saturday afternoon the local soccer fans will have to get acquainted with the new field that has been prepared by the executive of the Brinton Club which is located in front of the establishment in fact it is the same field that the old Church League used to play in many years ago. It is on the east side of the Exhibition grounds.

They will have as their guests for the day the Caledonians who have chosen the following players to represent them in this important league game: J. Ward goal; S. Agnew and A. Bogie, full backs; R. Graham, T. Craig and R. Curtain, halves; W. McCracken, H. Ellis, A. Mitchell, D. Best and A. B. Coyle, forwards. Reserves: J. Pottie and J. Millar.

Before the game, the manager of Brinton works will kick off so as to officially open the new pitch. It is in good condition and is well covered with grass that has been rolled and cut, thereby giving the players every chance to show their ability.

In all probability the Brinton will field the following men: W. Curtis, goal; F. Lucas and T. Westwood, full backs; J. Taylor, E. A. Baylis and D. Green, halves; J. Mayette, W. James, E. Boon, A. Robertson, J. Bolton, W. Tait, H. Hotson, Eric Jones, John Anderson and James Sharman, forwards. All other signed players be on hand.

The kick off is scheduled for three o'clock and the referee is Jack Hodson.

TORONTO LEAFS ARE IDLE AGAIN

Extra Base Drives Aid Montreal to Collect 5-4 Win From Rochester.

BIRDS MAKE HITS COUNT.

BUFFALO, N.Y., May 30.—Delaying things more than half an hour in an effort to avoid idleness the Buffalo Bisons and Toronto Maple Leafs were finally thwarted here yesterday afternoon when intermittent showers chronic throughout the day, turned into a steady downpour just as the teams were ready to take to the diamond.

As a result of the enforced idleness both clubs suffered by the workings of the sensational tussle for first place in which the four first division teams were virtually deadlocked.

The Bisons tobogganed from first place to third place in the standings just a notch ahead of the Maple Leafs, when the Montreal Royals, miracle club of the hectic race, polished off the champion Rochester Red Wings and broke out of a tie for the top rung.

ROYALS TOP LEAGUE

ROCHESTER, May 30—Niebergall's triple and Urbanski's homer in the fifth inning broke up a hurling duel between Art Smith and John Merly here yesterday, Montreal defeating Rochester, 5 to 4.

Rochester scored twice in the eighth on four hits, including two doubles, but a fast double play saved Smith. The victory put Montreal in the International League.

BIRDS MAKE HITS COUNT

READING, Pa., May 30—Baltimore won the first of the series from Reading here yesterday, 5 to 2. The Keystones outhit the Birds, 12 to 11, but could not produce in the pinches and 14 Reading runners were left stranded on the bases. Scott hit a home run for Reading with no one on base in the fifth.

HOME RUNS AID BEARS

NEWARK, N.J., May 30. — Long home runs by Billy Zitzmann and Ralph Shinners helped the Bears to a 5 to 3 victory over the Jersey City Black Cats yesterday. It was the ninth straight defeat for Jersey City. The southpaw, Jim Faulkner, on the mound for Newark, allowed nine hits and scored his third straight win.

BELMONTS NEED WIN TO-NIGHT

Victory Over Sugar Bowl 'Nine' Will Place Them in Top Position.

FANS EXPECT FAST GAME.

Should the Belmonts win out against the Sugar Bowl "nine" in their encounter on Central School Grounds to-night, it will place them at the top of the City Softball League with two wins to their credit. The promising form shown by the clubmen in their opening victory over the League champs, coupled with the fact that they are to clash with the runners-up in the League honors, is assurance enough that a good fast game, not lacking in excitement, will be on the bill for fandom to-night at 6.15.

If the Sugar Bowl boys get the best of the argument it will leave four teams tied, with a win and loss: Brintons with a win and no lost games, and Harrisons with a loss and no wins.

It is a little early to make any predictions, but Westclox is a team that needs watching. But for a tough break in centre field in the ninth innings, in the game with Brinton's they should have won, and the tussle they gave the "Generals" last night looks as if they are going to put up the toughest opposition in the league.

LOCAL CRICKETERS PLAY FOR THE GROVE

Lakefield Team Drops 99-82 Count to Trinity College Masters.

Assisting the Lakefield Grove School masters and pupils in a cricket match against the Trinity College masters yesterday afternoon at Port Hope, Don Mitchell and C. Thorpe, of the Peterborough Cricket Club, made a fine effort to win the game but did not get enough support. The Lakefield team lost by 17 runs, the score being Trinity College 99, Lakefield, 82. Mitchell batted brilliantly scoring 47 and taking 3 wickets for 10 runs. Thorpe also bowled well, capturing 3 wickets for 17 runs.

The Peterborough Cricket Club will meet the Trinity College Club at the Oval on Saturday afternoon, the match commencing at 2.30. This is the local clubs first home game and they hope to win this match, thus making three victories in a row.

The following have been chosen to represent the Peterborough Club: Monkman (captain), Gore, Thorpe, Elliott, Dyer, Stuart, Mitchell, Jefferson, Binks, Martin, Howard and Jackson.

A practise will be held at 6.15 to-night; all players are urged to be on hand.

TILDEN REQUIRES BEST FORM TO WIN

Hughes, England, Makes Good Showing—Borotra and Cochet Victors.

AUTEUIL, France, May 30.—William T. Tilden caught a Tartar in G. P. Hughes, one of England's rising young tennis stars, yesterday in the men's singles of the French hard court championships. The United States' veteran achieved a victory after a bitterly contested battle in which Tilden was repeatedly on the defensive. The score was 6—1, 8—10, 1—5, 6—2.

Wilbur F. Coen, Tilden's youthful protage and eighth ranking player of the United States, fell before the veteran Italian Davis Cup star, Bar N. Humbert de Morpurgo, in a fourth roundmatch decided by scores of 6—3, 6—4, 6—1, leaving "Big Bill" to carry the load alone.

Elizabeth Ryan of California came through with a 6—1, 6—2 victory over Yvette Barbier of France in the women's singles division.

The men's quarter-finals pitted Tilden against Lyttleton Rogers, the Irish giant; Jean Borotra, France, v. J. Colin Gregory, England; E. F. Moon, Australia, v. De Morpurgo, and Henri Cochet, France, against Harry Hopman, Australia.

Gregory reached the quarter-finals by turning the tables on Dr. Daniel Prenn of Germany, his conqueror in the recent England-Germany Davis Cup tie. The sturdy Gregory won in a hard-fought set match, 1—6, 6—0, 4—6, 6—, 6—3.

In another epic struggle, Borotra nosed out Yoshir Ohta of Japan 5—7, 3—6, 6—4, 6—1, 9—7.

Thirty-eight Driers In Speedway Classic

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 30.—(C.P.)—Thirty-eight drivers, including two foreign stars, presenting the largest field since the inaugural of the race 19 years ago wheeled their cars into position ready to start on the 500 mile automobile race over the Indianapolis motor speedway for prizes totalling $115,000.

With prospects of clear, cool weather, indications were that a record-breaking crowd in excess of 150,000 would witness the racing classic. The start was set for ten a.m. Central Standard time. The triumphant drive will get the checkered flag signalling him as the winner soon after 3 p.m.

Herman Regains Lead In Big Six Circuit

"Babe" Herman batted his way back to the Big Six and National League leadership yesterday as he led the Robins to a victory over the Giants by getting two home runs and a single in four times at bat. The sudden spurt gave the Brooklyn "Babe" an average of .414. Sam Rice hit safely twice in five attempts and with a semi-official revision of the figures, which gave him two more times at bat, dropped to .410. The other National League members were idle, while Al Simmons and 'Babe' Ruth each dropped a point in the averages, getting one hit in three trips to the plate.

COBOURG HERE ON SATURDAY

Toey Ibey Will Likely Be On the Mound For Visitors To-morow.

ADMISSION PRICE SET.

The management of the Raybestos Ball Club desire to have all fans know that the admission price for all Lakeshore League games is twenty-five cents, and that they will be forced to collect "two bits" from every customer at the Cobourg-Rays battle to-morrow afternoon. The expense of travelling the circuit, making trips to Oshawa, Port Hope and Cobourg, is the reason for the twenty-five cent charge, and it is only by rigid economy at that amount that the Lakeshore teams can pay their bills and stay out of the red. While the Rays would have liked to have kept the admission the same as in the East Peterborough League, grim necessity and the fact that the twenty-five cent admission abides in the League, made that impossible.

Now for the game: Cobourg papers have hailed the 3-0 defeat of Port Hope by Cobourg as one of the greatest ball victories in the lakeshore town's history. Cobourg deluged their neighbors under a deluge of hits, while Toey Ibey, star moundsman, turned the Hoper clouters with but four singles. Cobourg is already looking forward to dethroning the Rays from the league championship. They promise to be a tough morsel.

The Rays are in great shape for the struggle and a great game is assured.

SUNVIR WINNER AT THORNCLIFFE

Refiner Graduates From Maiden Ranks in Canadian-bred Event.

BEATS RED BRIAR.

TORONTO, May 30.—The program at Thorncliffe yesterday was made to suit ordinary racers. Two of the events were maiden affairs and the other five claiming events. If there was a fetaure it was the fifth race, a dash of seven furlongs which brought a field of ten to the post. Among them was Gerrard, Judge Bartlett, Sunvir and Blazing Cinch. It looked like the Palmwood Stable had dropped Gerard in a soft spot and he was well supported. McGinnis had the mount and track conditions and the distance suited him.

The Widener castoff started off like a winner. Breaking forth he was soon out in front setting a rapid pace. Going to the half mile pole, he drew away into a four length lead. Night Hawk was second, Red Briar third and Sunvir fourth. Slate was sitting still on the latter and nursing him along. Well around the far turn, Gerard began to sohrten his stride and Sunvir to move up. Swinging for home, Sunvir was racing a length and a half of fthe leader. In the final furlong he gained steadily and in the last 20 yards caught and passed Gerard to win going away at the end by a length and a half. Gerard was driving hard to beat Red Briar a length for the place.

Light showers fell during the afternoon but they had but little effect on the track. The footing was in good shape. The attendance was surprisingly large for a midweek crowd and letter still much enthusiasm was in evidence and the wagering keen.

It was not a good day for favorite players and in several of the events suprises were in order.

Lady Luck who has been frowning on the Thorncliffe Stable, smiled on the Davies borthers yesterday when Refiner, a three-year-old son of Oilman, walloped home to an easy victory in the running of the first race. This was a dash of six furlongs for maiden 3-year-olds and upward foaled in Canada. A hot tip was circulated about Braze Alonzo and the latter went to the post a favorite. They were rather a well behaved lot at the post and when the barrier was sprung, Love's Arrow was first to show. Carlsile made the most of his advantage and in the run down the back stretch opened up a lead of a couple of lengths. Refiner was running in second position and Almers was sitting still. Love's Arorw continued in front until they were swinging for home where Refiner caught and passed him and in the last sixteenth, the Thorncliffe colt drew away to win by two lengths and a half from Archipelago. The latter beat Rose Lady three lengths for the place. Brave Alonzo cut no figure in the running. Off slowly, he was always outrun and at no time was he dangerous.

GARDMINTON IS POPULAR GAME

New English Lawn Sport Receives Much Favor Among Picnickers.

RESEMBLES BADMINTON.

A game that promises to be popular at summer cottages and on picnics this summer is Gardminton, the new English lawn game. Similar in many respects to badminton, it has all the advantages of that popular game, minus some of its disadvantages. For one thing, there will be no going under hedges and getting into brambles looking for a lost shuttlecook. In Gardminton the shuttle is attached by twenty feet of non-tangling cord to a small metal ring in the centre of the net. This confines its flight but does not slow up the game, and will not interfere with the freedom of play.

Rackets are used and a net and the game can be played inside and out. Another desirable feature is that a very small space will serve for a fast game of Gardminton. Old and young can play it, and the speed of the game is only to the speed, agility and stamina of the players. Certainly the game should prove just as popular here as it has in England, where it was originated.

Millard's Sport Goods Store is at present the headquarters of Gardminton equipment.

SCHEDULE DRAWN FOR CITY LEAGUE

Next Game in Junior Series Will Be Played on Monday in Stevenson Park.

JUVENILES ON FRIDAY.

The executive of the City Baseball League put their heads together last evening and drew up the first half of the schedule for the Junior and Juvenile series. According to this schedule the next game in Junior ball will be played at James Stevenson Park on Monday evening, June 2, at 6 o'colck, the Kiwanis and East City teams clashing.

The Juveniles will get under way again on June 6 at 6 o'clock, at Exhibition Park, with the Kiwanis and Brownton being the opponents.

The Junior schedule (first half) is as follows:

June 2, Kiwanis vs. East City, James Stevenson Park.

June 10, East City vs. Kiwanis, Exhibition Park.

June 17, Kiwanis vs. East City, James Stevenson Park.

June 26, East City vs. Kiwanis, Exhibition Park.

Juvenile (First Half.)

June 6, Kiwanis vs. Brownton, Exhibition Park.

June 11, Brownton vs. Kiwanis, James Stevenson Park.

June 19, Kiwanis vs. Brownton, Exhibition Park.

June 27, Brownton vs. Kiwanis, James Stevenson Park.

All games will be seven innings and managers are requested to have full line-ups ready so that the games will get going on time.

Demand Investigation Of Border City League

TORONTO, May 30. (C.P.) — Besides thoroughly threshing out the situation at the Border Cities and deciding that a more rigid investigation of the status of certain players of that district should be made before the Border Cities League is granted affiliation, the sub-committee of the Ontario Baseball Amateur Association decided at the meeting which broke up early to-day, to grant affiliation to 14 other leagues throughout the province. Numerous player transfers were also passed and six were deferred. Seven players had their transfers refused.

Sixteen Entries in Annual Balloon Race

CLEVELAND, O., May 30 (C.P.) — Fifteen entries have been filed for the national elimination of the Gordon Bennett international balloon race, which will start from here next Labor Day, William G. Rose, director of the race, announced yesterday.

The elimination will start from Houston, Texas, either June 10 or July 4, the date being undecided, Rose said.

The two crews that succeed in covering the greatest distance from Houston will, with Ward T. Van Orman of Akron, winner of the last year's Gordon Bennett event, will represent the United States this year in that event.

A BEDTIME STORY

by Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY DIGS DEEPER.

"Well, where are you going now?" asked Mrs. Longears as she saw Uncle Wiggily hopping around the corner of his hollow stump bungalow carrying a shovel.

"I am going to dig in my gold mine," said the rabbit gentleman with a smile which made his pink nose twinkle like a diamond.

"A gold mine!" bleated Uncle Butter, who came prancing along just then. Uncle Butter was a goat gentleman with a lovely bunch of whiskers on his chin. Whenever he talked his whiskers waggled like the tail of a good fish. "You don't mean to tell me you have found a gold mine, have you, Wiggy?"

"Well, no, not exactly a gold mine, my goat friend," answered the rabbit gentleman. "But I am digging a deep hole, just for fun, to see how far down I can go. And I call it my gold mine, though, of course, I don't expect to take out any shining, yellow gold."

"So you are just digging a deep hole, is that it?" bleated Uncle Butter, making his whiskers waggle in such a funny way that Mrs. Longears had to hop into the bungalow for fear of laughing in his face, and that would not have been polite.

"Just a deep hole, yes," answered Uncle Wiggily. "Always since I was a little boy rabbit, Mr. Butter, I have wanted to dig a deep hole. Yesterday was the first chance I had. To-day I hope to dig deeper."

Uncle Wiggily slid down like a sailor

"But it seems queer just to be digging a hole with noting in it," said the goat as he ambled along toward the meadow with Mr. Longears.

"Well, the Fox thought there was yesterday, when he looked down in the hole I had dug!" chuckled Uncle Wiggily. "He said there was something in the hole, and there was. For I gave the Fox a shove and pushed him in the hole, and there he was!"

"I hope he isn't there now!" bleated the goat. "Yes, indeed!"

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "That Fox can't do any harm when he's down in the hole. But I think he must have gotten out during the night. Anyhow, we'll take a look before we do any digging. Would you mind carrying that pail, Uncle Butter?" and Mr. Longears pointed to one near a fence post.

"What are you going to do with the pail?" asked the goat as he picked it up.

"Well, you see," explained Uncle Wiggily, "I dug the hole so deep yesterday that it was all I could do to throw out dirt from the bottom up to the top. If I dig deeper to-day I can't throw the dirt out. But I thought, as long as you were coming along, that you might lower the pail to me on the end of a long piece of grapevine for a rope and haul it up after I fill it with dirt at the bottom of the hole."

"Why, yes, I'll do that," promised Mr. Butter.

"And you may have to help pull me up out of the hole, with the grapevine rope, after I finish digging for the day," went on Uncle Wiggily. "For if I dig deeper I shall not be able to cut steps in the dirt sides of my hole and climb out as I did yesterday."

"I'll help you out," promised the goat.

Pretty soon he and Uncle Wiggily reached the hole the rabbit gentleman had started to dig the day before. They looked down in and listened at the top to make sure the Fox wasn't down there. And the Bad Chap wasn't, for he had climbed out in the night as I told you.

"Well, now I'll dig deeper," said Uncle Wiggily as he found a long piece of wild grapevine for a rope and fastened the empty pail to it.

The pail was lowered into the hole. Then the upper end of the vine was fasened to a tree branch near by and Uncle Wiggily slid down into the hole like a sailor.

"You stay up here on top of the ground, Uncle Butter," said Mr. Longears to his goat friend. "As soon as I fill the pail with dirt you pull it up by the vine, empty it and lower it down to me again. We'll keep on doing that until I have made the gold mine hole very, very deep. I might dig all the way through the earth."

"Oh, I wouldn't do that!" bleated Uncle Butter. "Half way is far enough. But go ahead. Fill the pail so I can haul it up!"

Uncle Wiggily soon was at the bottom of the hole and there he began to dig. He put the dirt into the pail.

"Haul up, Uncle Butter! Haul up!" cried the rabbit.

Mr. Butter pulled on the grapevine rope and lifted out the pail of dirt which he emptied to one side, again lowering the pail to be filled again. So Uncle Wiggily dug and dug until he was very deep. Then, after a while, the rabbit called up to the goat.

"Pull me out now. I've dug enough for to-day!" But there was no answer. "Hey, Uncle Butter!" called Mr. Longears. He jiggled the grapevine rope, and, all of a sudden, the upper end became loosened and fell down on him.

"Oh! Oh!" cried Mr. Longears. "Uncle Butter has gone and my rope has fallen in. How am I ever to get out of this role?"

But don't worry. The rabbit is going to get out all right after he has an adventure in the hole.

KIDNAPPING OF NATIVES RESULTS IN $25 FINES

WINDHOEK, South West Africa, May 29.—(C.P. Cable via Reuters).—Three young Europeans, charged with kidnapping natives and forcing them to work on their plantations under pain of the lash, were to-day found guilty of assault and fined five pounds (about $26) each. The sentences were light in view of the youth of the three men.

They were charged by natives with having descended, armed and mounted on a small kraal and driving off the natives and their families. The men, it was alleged, were made to run all night while the three riders, and some men who accompanied them, jerked them along.

Thousands write new Ironized Yeast adds 5 to 15 lbs. in 3 weeks. Ugly hollows fill out. Bony limbs get graceful roundness. Muddy skin gets clear and rosy like magic. Nervousness, indigestion, constipation vanish overnight. Sound sleep, new pep from very first day.

Two great tonics in one—special weight-building Malt Yeast and strengthening Iron. Pleasant little tablets. Far stronger than unmedicated yeast. Results in ½ time. No yeasty taste, no gas.

So quit being "skinny" tired, unattractive. Get Ironized Yeast from druggist today. Feel great tomorrow. Money back from manufacturer if not delighted with quick results.

EMPRESS MOVES ON 13TH

TOKYO (U.P.).—Dowager Empress Sadako, mother of Emperor Hirohito of Japan, has no superstition about the number "13." She chose the 13th to move into her newly completed palace in the west compound of the Aoyama Higashi Detached Palace, Tokyo. The Dowager Empress' new home was started in 1928 and probably will be called the O-Miya Palace.

CAR TURNS TURTLE AT KING'S WHARF

Mr. and Mrs. Rice of Toronto Have Narrow Escape From Injury.

KING'S WHARF, May 30 (Examiner Correspondence).—What might have been a very serious accident was averted when a Toronto car was overturned in a deep ditch Sunday morning. While going to church Mr. Rice of Toronto (who with his wife were spending the week-end the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Guirry) met with rather a serious accident. When going down a grade, the car turned and went over a culvert into the ditch. It turned on its side and the occupants, Mr. and Mrs. Rice with Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Guiry) met with rather a serious the exception of Mrs. Guiry, who was seriously hurt.

A number of men came in the afternoon and succeeded in getting the car out and it was very little damaged only the doors and fender of one side being dented. The car was able to go back to Toronto Sunday night.

Great Britain has nearly 1,300,co-operative societies operating over 12,000 branch shops.

Mines of Sweden are breaking all previous production records.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear Mother, Jane Furber, who passed away two years ago yesterday, May 30, 1928.
—Sadly missed by her two daughters, Mrs. Warrell and Mrs. Page, Detroit.

IN MEMORIAM

CONBOY—In loving memory of our darling daughter, Ruth, who passed away May 30, aged 6 years and 8 months.
An Angel came with tenderest care
And left with us a lily fair—
A lily fair with heart of gold.
Each day we watched our bud unfold—
Unfolding slowly, our bud so fair,
Into a beautiful lily rare.
Then God gathered in our darling
Placed our bud among the flowers—
Taking back the child He lent us
To a better home than ours.
—Ever remembered by Mother and Daddy.

MAIL SERVICE FOR CLARADAY.

J. J. Duffus has returned from Ottawa with the welcome intelligence that a city mail service is to be established for the urban section of Claraday, just as soon as the necessary conditions are complied with.

Mr. Duffus, who has been advocating this change, which will have a benefcial effect on over 700 people in that district, for some time past received the promise from the Postmaster General who will put the city service into effect as soon as the street numbering has been completed and mail receptacles provided.

OUR MANUFACTURING DISTRICT

Every one in the city apparently has the clean-up and beautify Peterborough spirit, not only in the residential districts but in the manufacturing districts as well, and if the residential streets are to stand out as prominently in the future as in the past, every boulevard and every nook and corner that has been an eyesore will require attention. The Colonial Weaving Company is the latest plant to dress up, and when entirely completed will add greatly to the appearance of Park Street, which is getting to be one of the show streets of the city.

CONFEDERATION SQUARE.

If ex-Alderman J. M. Greene, now residing in Toronto, would just take a day off and run down to his old home town and take a look at Confederation Square in its new spring dress, it might compensate him for all the worry, thought and hard work he put in on the matter of beautifying old Central Park. Many favorable comments have been heard on its appearance this spring. City Engineer Parsons and Parks Chairman Stocker are also deserving of credit for the very fine shape this park is in.

A RARE PLANT

A Wax Plant fifteen to twenty years old, occupies the window of David Jordan's George street Florist Shop and is attracting a great deal of interest. The plant, known as a Hoya by botanists, is very rare, and although it has bloomed each year while in Mr. Jordan's possession, it has exceeded all former bloom records this season. In the place of about a dozen blooms which it has displayed previously, the tough stems now hold over one hundred clusters of tiny wax flowers. The leaves somewhat resemble those of the laurel while the flowers which have a wax-like and artificial appearance are akin to the Sweet Williams.

MOTOR SHOW OPENS TO-MORROW

Formal Opening Saturday at Three O'clock at J. J. Duffus Limited.

The Motor Show to be held all next week by J. J. Duffus, Limited, in their handsomely decorated showrooms, and which is to be formally opened to-morrow at three o'clock by His Worship Mayor Denne, will no doubt bring thousands of people from the district into the city. A Whippet sedan is to be given away absolutely free, as well as six other very valuable prizes.

The new Willys 8 will be on exhibit for the first time.

Everybody is invited to this great motor show any time during the coming week, and to-morrow afternoon and evening.

HIGH PRAISE IS GIVEN TO CADETS BY INSPECTOR

Annual Inspection of Collegiate and Public School Cadets is Held.

CENTRAL SCHOOL WINS.

Prizes and Medals For Shooting Are Awarded By Inspecting Officer.

Earning praise of the highest order from the Inspecting Officer, Captain J. Edwards, M.C., of H.Q. Military District number 3, and the congratulations of Dr. J. J. Craig, chairman of the Board of Education, and their respective headmasters, the boys of the Public Schools and Peterborough Collegiate Institute made a splendid showing at their annual inspection yesterday afternoon.

D Company, Central School, won the coveted Denne Trophy, emblematic of the best Cadet Company in the Peterborough Public Schools, this being the first time since 1927 that Central has won the award, having being tied in that year by King Edward School, who earned possession of the Trophy both in 1928 and 1929.

Public School Battalion First.

Contrary to procedure in other years, the Public School Cadets were the first under the critical eye of the inspecting officer. Headed by the Peterborough Rangers Band the Battalion marched up George street on to Confederation Square parade ground, where they were inspected in line. The inspecting officer was accompanied on his rounds by Battalion Commander Sam Mackness, Lt.-Co. W. G. Hall, V. D., Captain J. Dewart, M.C., O.C., 3rd Company Machine Gun Corps, and Sergeant Major Thomas, permanent force instructor

Following the general salute, the battalion marched past in platoons, displaying an alertness and precision, which made the inspecting officers' task of selection an extremely difficult one. After a splendid display of physical training each company commander was given four minutes to manoeuvre with his company. All kinds of intricate company movements were flawlessly performed and brought forth occasional outbursts of

ENLLISH TORIES AFTER BALDWIN

Former Premier Must Go Is Becoming Battle Cry of Rebels in Party.

PAPER CRITICIZE.

LONDON, May 31 (Canadian Press Cable). — Once again the Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, leader of the Conservatives, is the subject of attacks from within the party, and the chief circulators of the criticism, if not its authors, appear to be the newspaper peers, Lords Rothermere and Beaverbrook.

Although Mr. Baldwin has been stumping the country, almost day in and day out, for months certain Conservatives are renewing their demands for "a more vigorous leadership," and the Conservative leader's grudging acceptance of the Beaverbrook Empire trade crusade does not seem to have won him the support of Beaverbrook, who would much prefer to see duties on foodstuffs made a Conservative plank in the next election rather than the subject of a special referendum, which Mr. Baldwin proposes.

Wanting New Leader.

The Daily Mail, Rothermere paper, says there are Conservative members who say frankly that if Mr. Baldwin followed the example of the Rt. Hon. John Davidson, who has asked to be relieved of his duties as Conservative Party chairman, that the way would be opened to more vigorous leadership of the party forces.

The Daily Herald, Labor, is already discussing the question of a successor to Mr. Baldwin, and picks upon the Rt. Hon. Neville Chamberlain as the most probable. The Liberal Daily Chronicle twits the Conservatives with the slogan "B.M.G." (Baldwin Must Go) in 1930, which, The Chronicle points out, in the modern version of an old complaint the Conservatives having had a "BMG" (Balfour Must Go) rage in 1905 and a "BLMG" (Bonar Law Must Go) campaign in 1923. The Chronicle says half a dozen Conservative rebels are thinking of resigning seats in safe constituencies and seeking re-election as Independents thus putting the official organization in an awkward position.

LONG COURTSHIP.

WINDSOR, Ont. (U.P.).—A 42-year old engagement ended here recently when Miss Abbie McPhail, 65, died, leaving her entire estate to Frank Sweeney, her sweetheart for nearly half a century. They never married, friends said, because of her ill health.

Race Against Time Won by Scant Hour After Hectic Day

Realizing Election Writs Must Be Out Before 12 O'clock Midnight, Commons Voted Millions of Dollars in Estimates As Quickly As They Were Read.

CROWDED GALLERIES ATTENDED HOUSE ALL DAY
LAST ITEM IN SUPPLY PASSED AT 9.30 O'CLOCK

Governor General Dissolves 16th Parliament Shortly Before 11 O'clock After Senate Approves Bills—Ceremonies in Senate and Commons Lack Opening Day Dash.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 31 (Canadian Press). — The halls of Parliament are comparatively deserted to-day. With the sixteenth Parliament dissolved only a few hours, already the members are hurrying home to prepare for the election to be held on July 28. The official nomination day will be on Monday, July 21, one week before the electors go to the polls. It is in strange contrast to the strenuous pace of the past few days, especially yesterday when the House of Commons, with a dead-line set for midnight, plunged through the departmental estimates.

It was a race against time. Realizing that the estimates must be passed, that prorogation and dissolution must take place and the election writs must issue before 12 o'clock so the election might be held on the appointed day, the Commons bent to the task with a will. Millions of dollars was voted in about as many seconds as it takes to tell about it. Item after item was approved as quickly as read by the Deputy-Speaker of the House.

Members Give Reasons.

By this it must not be taken to mean that the items were not challenged by Opposition members or that the Ministers were not asked for explanations. All day long, the different heads of the departments whose estimates were under discussion were called upon to give reasons why the particular money votes were needed.

When the doors of the Commons chamber were thrown open at 11.00 o'clock in the morning, it became apparent that Parliament not only had convened for the last day of the session, but also for one of the busiest in years. The 12.00 o'clock limit was in the mind of every member. All were agreed that the election should be held, if possible, on July 28. Under the amended Election

Bay of Quinte Conference Passes Important Resolutions.

TWO CLASSES QUESTIONED.

(By a Staff Reporter.)

COBOURG, May 31.—After adopting a resolution that "the time has come for the church to give its opinion that war as a means of settling international misunderstandings is un-Christian," the Bay of Quinte Conference of the United Church yesterday afternoon qualified this declaration with the following motion by Rev. James Rollins of Renfrew, seconded by Elmer Davis of Kingston, "that in view of the fact that international law recognizes the inherent right of nations to defend themselves against unjust and unprovoked attacks, nothing in these resolutions shall be interpreted as taking away that right."

This general subject of the renunciation of war was introduced in the reports of the committee on Reconciliation and World Fellowship, presented by the convener, Rev. M. C. Mackinnon of Perth. The discussion was opened at the Friday morning session, and was featured by an incidental and strongly approving address by Rev. Stanley Russell of Deer Park Church, Toronto. Only the first clause was adopted at the noon adjournment and the consideration of the other sections overlapped into a considerable part of the afternoon session.

The Committee's Report.

The text of the clauses of this report follows:

(1) That this Conference resolves that the time has come for the church to give its opinion that war as a means of settling international misunderstandings is un-Christian.

(2)—That this Conference memorialize the General Council to exact that a standing committee of reconciliation and world fellowship be appointed in all the Presbyteries and Conferences and in the General Council of the United Church of Canada.

(3)—That whereas Armistice Day

PROSPECT BRIGHT NORTH HIGHWAY

Lake Superior Stretch Depends on Dominion Gov't Attitude Finlayson Says.

COST ONTARIO $50,000,000.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., May 31. (C. P.) — Hon. William Finlayson, Minister of Lands and Forests, who is in the city in connection with a tour he is making of the northern districts, particularly in connection with a survey of the roads, said this morning that he was confident work on the Lake Superior Highway would be commenced before long. This however depended to a large extent on the attitude of the Dominion Government, he said, which had not yet accepted the proposal of the province that the work be undertaken on a 50-50 cost basis, as an unemployment measure.

"The Transcanada highway of which the Lake Superior stretch is referred to as a part is a huge undertaking, and may cost Ontario $50,000,000, the Minister said, "and the province is prepared to go ahead with a reasonable amount of support from Ottawa. In the United States the Government takes care of roads like the Lincoln Highway, and goes 50-50 on all state and inter-state roads. We regard the Transcanada Highway as a similar undertaking and we are very anxious to start the work at once in view of the tremendous amount of unemployment in the country at the present time."

BRITISH CAVALRY CHARGES INDIANS 106 ARE INJURED

Action at Dharasana Taken As Last Resort to Stop Salt Pan Raids.

NEW IRWIN ORDINANCES.

London and Indian Offices Deny Premier Sent Special Agent to See Gandhi.

DHARASANA, Bombay, India, May 31. (C.P.) — British mounted police and foot police injured 106 volunteers who attempted to raid the salt pans here to-day.

One hundred and fifty-six volunteers attempted the raid, and police with sticks made fruitless attempts several times to disperse them, warning them each time to disperse, when the cavalry rode down the group to break it up. Most of the volunteers were sent to the hospitals.

Plans Spoiled.

British authorities at Sholapur today defeated an ingenious plan of Nationalist volunteers to defy the martial law edict banning flying of the All-Indian National Congress flag in the city.

Three men entered the town dressed in green shirts, red stockings and white caps—the three colors of the Congress flag. The authorities soon noticed them and stripping them of their colors, gave them ordinary white Indian dress. They then sent them back by the next train to Poona, where other Nationalist volunteers were waiting to proceed to Sholapur.

REPORTS DENIED.

LONDON, May 31 (Canadian Press). — Reports emanating from Indian nationalist sources that Premier MacDonald has sent a special representative to India to negotiate with Mahatma Gandhi for settlement of the political upheaval there was denied officially at both the India Office and 10 Downing Street this morning.

One official stated emphatically, "The Prime Minister has no representative in India other than the Viceroy of India," indicating that any negotiations must be directed by or through Lord Irwin. Whether this was being done could not be ascertained since a categorical statement was not available.

IRWIN HAS NEW SCHEME.

LONDON, May 31 (Canadian Press). — A more effective combating of the Indian Nationalist civil disobedience campaign was expected in some quarters to-day to develop from the ordinances promulgated at Simla by Viceroy Lord Irwin.

Others were sceptical. It was pointed out that one of the aims of the civil disobedience campaign is to fill the British jails in India with political offenders, that the Nationalist volunteers have always courted and rejoiced in arrest, and that the addition of another law, more or less, to disobey probably would be welcomed.

The two ordinances promulgated yesterday by the Viceroy prohibit picketing, which has been one of the strong points of the Nationalist campaign, especially as regards the foreign cloth shops and liquor shops, strengthen the Government defence against non-payment of taxes, and tampering with the loyalty of Government servants.

ENUMERATORS START MONDAY

No Time is Lost in Putting Election Machinery Into Operation.

NOMINATIONS JULY 21.

No time is being lost in getting the election machinery into motion. Sidney Whatley, local returning officer, received a telegram early this morning which ordered the enumerators to start work on Monday morning and have their work completed by June 7. They are expected to have their lists in Mr. Whatley's hands by June 10.

Nomination day will be held on July 21. Registration notices will be posted on June 9, and registration sittings will begin on Thursday, June 12, and continue until June 14.

There will be fifty-two polling subdivisions in Peterborough, and for each subdivision there will be two enumerators, making a total of 104.

FROST CAUSES HEAVY DAMAGE IN N. MONAGHAN

Frosts on Friday Night.

TOMATO PLANTS KILLED.

Many Owners Will Have to Replant Their Gardens.

Having remained abnormally low for the past week or two, the thermometer took a drop one degree below freezing point last night, causing heavy damage to crops and garden produce in the low-lying sections of the district.

The warm spell which was experienced at the beginning of the month induced many tomato growers to plant earlier than is generally the case, with the result that the loss has been considerable among the young plants, which got away to a good start, but which were retarded in their growth by the persistent cold weather.

2,000 Plants Killed.

J. Little, whose gardens are situated near the Croft School, N. Monaghan, reports that about 2,000 of his tomatoes were frozen last night. It is hard to say whether they will be a total loss or not. There is a slight chance that, with a change to better weather conditions, a large portion of them may be saved.

Commenting on the damage caused in North Monaghan, Bruce Johnson said that there was a very severe frost, which caused a considerable amount of damage in that locality. It affected almost every gardener and was particularly hard on tomatoes, potatoes and corn. 'It will take an enormous amount of tomatoes to replace those lost last night," he said, "and we will all have to plant more to supply the canners' demands." He added that there was an eighth of an inch of frost on a pail of water this morning. Asked if the frost was severe enough to damage the fall wheat, Mr. Johnson said that it was not, but he thought that the barley would not have escaped entirely.

Parker, the florists of Hastings, who were at Peterborough market this morning, report that their cold frames were all frosted up very badly, but fortunately very little damage was caused to the produce. They have not planted any tomatoes yet, having held back on account of the likelihood of frost at this period of the year.

From various information gleaned around the town, garden produce and flowers have suffered heavily in the city, although in the higher portions of the country and up around the Normal School no frost was noticed.

The Weather

Although to-day is the last day of of May, the thermometer was below the freezing point this morning. It was 31 degrees. This was also the first time this month below freezing was reached, although the temperature was very close to it on a number of occasions. This month our warm weather came during the second week when temperature rose to between 80 and 87 degrees. The latter half of the month has been decidedly cool. Last year the warm weather came during the last week of the month.

FARMERS OF DISTRICT ENTERTAIN TWO SERVICE CLUBS AT BANQUET UNIQUE IN HISTORY OF PETERBORO

Brings Bad Burns

TORONTO, May 31. — It is hardly safe to look in a gas tank with a match, as Harry Bradman, 231 Beverley Street, learned last night. Shortly before midnight he wondered how much gas he had. When he took off the top he couldn't see inside on account of the darkness, so he struck a match. Firemen from College Street hall fixed his hands up, but they will be blistered for a long time yet. Damage to his truck by fire was estimated by District Chief Jack See at about $50.00.

and Rural Dwellers Keynote of Addresses.

MAY BE ANNUAL EVENT.

New Deputy Minister of Agriculture Lauds Possibilities of Ontario.

An event unique in the history of this district, if not in the whole province, occurred at the Empress Hotel last evening when the members of the two service clubs, Rotary and Kiwanis, were entertained to dinner by the district farmers. Fraternizing in the bond of good-fellowship and in the common interest of advancing the community's welfare were the leaders in manufacturing, business, professional and farming life in the Peterborough district. Co-operation between the urban and rural dwellers was the keynote of the addresses.

J. R. Fairburn, newly appointed Deputy Minister of Agriculture for the Province, was the chief speaker, and he took the opportunity to point out some methods that must be adopted if the cause of agriculture is to be further advanced in Ontario. He stressed the necessity of city people buying Ontario farm products.

Planning Match in 1931.

That in 1931 the Provincial Plowing Match will be held in Peterborough County was the welcome announcement of Charles E. Moore, who acted as chairman. Mr. Moore welcomed the Rotarians and Kiwanians and spoke of the benefits to be derived from such a gathering. The banquet was the farmers' method of reciprocating similar banquets given them in the past by the service clubs, stated Vivian Millburn, who also welcomed the guests. Ross Dobbin, president of the Rotary Club, and C. S. Browne, president of the Kiwanis Club, expressed appreciation of the farmers' effort.

It was one of the largest banquets held in the city this year, and its great success will likely make it an annual event. Mr. Fairburn, the Deputy Minister, saw far-reaching results from such a gathering, and expressed the hope that Peterborough's example would be followed and similar ones be held throughout the province.

Condition Best In World.

In commencing his address, Mr. Fairburn stated that he would speak as an individual and not according to the ideas or policies of his department, since he had been in office only one month.

"I will give my own views in regard to agriculture and the possibilities of agriculture," he said, "and, if possible, I shall strive to create a note of optimism.

"Agriculture has been passing through a depressing time but I firmly believe that conditions in Ontario are better than they are in any place in the world. I have reports that show plainly that they are infinitely worse in the United States. Also they are infinitely worse across the water. Records in the office of the Department show that at the end of

TRIBUTE IS PAID TO HON. LEMIEUX

Two Leaders Pay High Tribute to Way Speaker Has Guided Debates.

IN HOUSE 34 YEARS.

OTTAWA, Ont., May. (C.P.) — Speaker of the House of Commons since 1922, and a member since 1896, Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux received tribute from all parties just before the parliamentary session broke up last night. Although no announcement had been made it is customary to change the Speaker when a new Parliament is elected, and in thanking Premier King and Hon. R. B. Bennett, leader of the Opposition, for their expressions of gratitude and respect Mr. Lemieux was probably uttering his last words as Speaker.

Mr. Bennett said Mr. Lemieux had fulfilled his office with scrupulous fairness and had upheld the highest traditions of British parliamentary tradition. Premier King said Mr. Bennett had uttered the sentiments of the whole House, and the remarks of both leaders were applauded in all sections of the Chamber.

"I have been in this House for 34 years," said Mr. Lemieux. "My heart is in this House. I have met only friends here. I hope I have performed the part assigned to me. When I took the chair in 1922 I said I would cease to be a partizan. God knows I was a good partizan before that. I think I have fulfilled my promise and I have endeavored to do it in every ruling, on every word, in every action."

GUARDS EVADED; NEGRO PRISONER BADLY WOUNDED

Husband of Attacked Woman Stabs Victim Already Dying From Bullet.

MACHINE GUNS SET UP.

Shooting Comes As Climax to All Night Reign of Terror.

CHICKASHA, Okla., May 31 (Canadian Press). — Evading a guard of National Guardsmen called to protect Henry Argo, negro, alleged attacker of a white woman, a member of an angry mob early to-day probably fatally shot the prisoner, after either gaining entrance to the Grady County Jail or climbing a tree and firing through a prison window.

Climaxed Reign of Terror.

The shooting came as a climax to an all-night reign of terror when several attempts were made by hundreds of men and boys to gain entrance to the jail after the door was battered down with rams.

Local National Guardsmen partially quelled the mob spirit in the night by setting up machine guns and threatening to "fire at the limbs" of persons who attempted to approach the building.

Tear gas also was used against the rioters by the Guardsmen, who were said to have fired their rifles and machine guns into the air.

The negro was taken to a morgue soon after the shooting was discovered. Dr. [illegible], city health officer, said he believed the victim would not live long.

excitement, but authorities believed further trouble would be averted.

State Victim.

While the negro lay dying, G. W. Skinner, husband of the woman he is alleged to have attacked, entered the morgue and stabbed the wounded man. The victim still lived after the stabbing.

Skinner was arrested and held by officers.

Three alleged members of the mob also were under arrest in connection with the disorders. Six National Guardsmen and several citizens were injured, some seriously.

PERJURY CHARGE IS FACING AUGER

Former Member of Parliament Taken to Ottawa From Penitentiary.

SERVING TWO YEARS.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 31.—(C.P.) — Louis M. Auger was returned to Ottawa to-day from Portsmouth penitentiary to face trial on a perjury charge, growing out of his hearing some months ago on a count of allegedly attacking a young woman. The former member of Parliament is already under a two year penitentiary term for seduction.

The Auger case has been before the courts since early in 1929 when Miss Laurence Martel of Hawkesbury, Ont., then 17, charged she was criminally attacked by the member in his room in the Parliament Buildings when she went there to seek assistance in securing a civil service position. Auger recently was acquitted of the major charge after three separate trials, but conviction followed on the seduction charge.

The count of perjury is an outgrowth of evidence Auger entered in his defense during trial in the major charge.

Thirteen of Family Confirmed at Once

(Special to Examiner)

KINGSTON, May 31. — A unique episode at a confirmation held by Archbishop O'Brien this week in the Roman Catholic Church at Elgin was when thirteen Hamiltonians from four families were confirmed at the same ceremony, a record that will probably stand unbeaten for some time. The honor of the largest number confirmed from the same family was divided between Charles Hamilton and Ceasar Myers, each having five.

GRAF ZEPPELIN FINISHES TRIP TO LAKEHURST

Great Dirigible Appears Out of Mist Over Hangars Like a Grey Ghost.

5,500 MILES FROM RIO.

Expects to Start Eighth Flight Across Atlantic Ocean Sunday Night.

LAKEHURST, N.J., May 31 (C.P.)—Rolling up from Rio to complete the next to last leg of its four-continent flight, the German dirigible Graf Zeppelin arrived at the naval air station to-day under escort of the navy dirigible Los Angeles, a commercial blimp, and half a dozen planes.

The great dirigible appeared out of the south at 6 a.m., eastern standard time, like a gray ghost in the bright morning sunlight. Twenty minutes later it was over the field, its engines resounding in the hangar like a corps of giant drums, and five minutes after that it had settled on the ground near the mooring mast.

Its 5,560 mile hop from South America completed and nothing more remaining of its present adventure but the flight across the Atlantic to Freidrichshafen.

That flight, which it is expected will be begun on Sunday night, will be the dirigible's eighth ocean crossing, it having already crossed the Atlantic six times and the Pacific, during its journey around the world last year, once. On this flight it has come from Germany to Spain, across Africa and the South Atlantic to Pernambuco and down to Rio Janeiro, and up to Lakehurst.

ROGERS DROWNS IN LAKE ONTARIO

Noted Toronto Athlete Thrown From Speed Boat With Two Companions.

WEIGHED BY CLOTHES.

TORONTO, May 31.—As the light of yesterday faded and twilight stole over Lake Ontario last night, Jimmy Rogers, young member of the National Yacht Club, was drowned just outside the seawall fronting the Exhibition Grounds.

Two companions, Harry "Red" Foster and Harold Ballard, both members of the same club, fought in the gathering dusk to save him. Handicapped by overcoats, they swam to his side and struggled to keep him above water. He sank just as aid reached them.

All three had been out for a jaunt in Red's runabout speedboat, the "Jackie Boy." All three wore heavy clothing. And all three were hurled into the cold water when the speeding craft, travelling about 25 miles an hour, struck a huge wave from its own backwash and tilted crazily to one side.

Jimmy weakened as the three started to swim for shore as their erstwhile craft, circling them like a crazy fiend, leaped away from them. Then "Red" turned and seized the sinking boy. Harold turned from certain safety, a buoy, and returned to aid "Red." The two, handicapped by their overcoats and numbed by cold, screamed for help and held Jimmy above water. R. B. "Red" Orde, cruising in his new sloop, reached them just as Harold went unconscious and Jimmy slipped from sight.

At midnight officers and men from the lifesaving station had not recovered Jimmy's body. Red Foster, still waiting at the clubhouse, refused to leave until Jimmy had been brought in. Hilliard Lang, superintendent of the crew, entered and slowly told of their vain efforts.

FEAR RED ATTACK

SHANGHAI, May 31 (C.P.)—Dispatches from Amoy to-day said thousands of residents were fleeing from that city fearing an attack by Red troops was imminent.

All Nationalist officials were reported to have resigned under Communist anti-Nanking pressure and missionaries were ready to flee in the event of a Red attack.

Standing At Dissolution.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 31 (C.P.)—In Canada's sixteenth Parliament which was dissolved last night, the Liberal Party of Premier Mackenzie King had a following of 116 members, a straight majority of 25 over the 91 Conservative members who formed the main opposition group. Of the five other parties in the Commons, all of them comparatively small, the Progressives had a strength of 13 members; United Farmers of Alberta, 11; Liberal Progressives, 9; Labor, 3, and Independents, 2.

This standing of parties was the same as that returned to the House of Commons at the last general elections; by-elections held since that date not having resulted in any change.

When the fifteenth or preceding Parliament was dissolved there were in the Commons 115 Conservatives; 101 Liberals; 24 Progressives; 2 Labor; 2 Independents. One seat was vacant.

NON-PERMANENT UNITS OF MILITIA NEED MORE HELP

Gen. A. E. Ross Claims Practically All Offices Pool Pay in Regimental Funds.

ONLY $600,000 AVAILABLE.

Method of Receiving Coal Tenders at Royal Military College Criticized.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 31. (C.P.)—More substantial assistance should be given by the Government to the non-permanent militia units, General A. E. Ross told the House of Commons yesterday when the estimates for the Department of National Defense were under consideration. He pointed out that there had been an increase in the appropriations for the militia of $2,000,000 since 1928 and he thought some of this should have been spent to assist in keeping the local units on their feet.

Officers Pool Fund

Practically all the militia officers, he pointed out, and in many cases the non-commissioned officers and men pooled their pay in the regimental funds. In some cases they actually made contributions in order to keep up the standard of the service.

The increased expenditures on the non-permanent force had largely been taken up by the larger number of men who were going to camp each year and the larger period of training said Hon. J. L. Ralston, Mininster of National Defense. He pointed out that only some $600,000 of the increased appropriations this year was for the non-permanent militia. The bulk of the remaining $1 400 000 had been voted for the permanent force and the Royal Military College.

Coal Contracts Criticized

General Ross also called attention to certain coal contracts for the Royal Military College at Kingston. He criticized the conditions under which these tenders were received, but his chief attack was as to the methods of weighing the coal. He declared the college authorities had not lived up to the regulations in regard to the weighing slips. He cited the case two truckloads of coal weighed at 8,800 pounds and 8,700 pounds. It was found out afterward, he said, that the scales used could not weigh more than 8,000 pounds. There were some 150 cartloads of coal which were not weighed in the manner required by military regulations.

Colonel Ralston promised the very fullest investigation would be held into all the camplaints General Ross had made. The latter said he had not time, so late in the session, to go any furtner into the matter now but he promised to do so next session.

"RED" HILL RUNS NIAGARA RAPIDS IN STEEL SHELL

Daredevil Boatman Defies the Swirling Currents and Whirlpool Eddies.

FOUR HOUR TRIP.

Five Thousand Spectators Line Banks Watching Barrel Tossed About.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., May 31 (C.P.)—For the second time in his adventurorous career, William "Red" Hill, daredevil Niagara River boatman, yesterday defied the swirling currents and eddies of the whirlpool and lower rapids below Niagara Falls and lived to tell the tale.

Hill made his spectacular stunt in a specially constructed steel barrel, and according to his own words, his only reward was self-satisfaction in having accomplished a goal set some time ago.

For nearly four hours the daring riverman was encased in his steel shell, tossed about like a rubber ball in the turbulent swirl of water.

More than five thousand anxious spectators viewed his battle for success and when he was finally lifted from the barrel at 5.10 at Queenston Dock, there was a deafening shout and cries of "Good old 'Red'."

Hill himself was in a cheerful mood and after he had rested briefly, remarked that it had been "A great experience." He declared that he had suffered no ill effects and expressed himself as fit and ready to do it all over again.

I.O.D.E. WOULD PROMOTE NEW HISTORY OF WORLD

Ones in Use in Canadian Schools have American Bias.

MONTREAL, Quebec, May 31. (C.P.)—Promotion of the writing of an authoritative world history for use in Canadian schools was suggested by Miss W. Gordon of Kingston, National Educational Secretary in presenting her report at the annual meeting of the National Chapter, I.O.D.E. yesterday here. The two now in use, West and Myer, are sound, except for an American bias, she said, and there was no criticism of the British and Canadian history readers now followed. It was suggested also that it would be a patriotic work to encourage the writing of small books on the contributions made to science by Canadians such as Alexander Graham Bell.

The Chamberlain Chapter, of British Columbia, offers a prize of $100 for, or toward an award, for a short story, it was announced, and a member of the Princess Louise Chapter of Nova Scotia, offered a second prize of $50, in the one-act play contest.

MANY PRECAUTIONS TAKEN TO PREVENT FOREST FIRES

TORONTO, Ont., May 31 (C.P.).—Every possible means of combatting fire hazards in Northern Ontario are being taken by the Forestry Branch of the Provincial Government, and as one phase of their fire-prevention work, an entirely new series of placards are being issued by the Department for distribution.

These placards—thirty thousand of them—bring home to the tourist the many dangers which may result from a carelessly thrown cigarette butt or an unstamped campfire.

House Bachelors Need Better Half

OTTAWA, Ont., May 31.—(C.P.)—Party leaders should be married, thinks Michael Luchkovich, U.F.A. member of the House of Commons for Vegreville. He suggested yesterday that Premier Mackenzie King should show the bachelor leader of the Conservative party, Hon. R. B. Bennett and the bachelor leader of the United Farmers, Robert Gardiner, the way to the altar by marrying one of the comely girls in his constituency of Prince Albert. Mr. Luchkovich was talking about the assimilation of foreign-born peoples when the House of Commons was considering the immigration estimates.

Four Persons Killed When Car Leaves Track

Racing Car Leaves Dirt Speedway and Plunges Into Grandstand.

WINCHESTER, Ind., May 31.—(C.P.).—Four persons were killed and twenty injured, one probably fatally, yesterday when a racing car on the dirt speedway here, plunged over the south turn into a grandstand. Those killed were: T. F. Hale, aged 60 years, Middletown, Ind.; Ray Bird, aged about 35, Richmond, Ind.; Malcomb Jennings, aged about 30, farmer, of near Winchester, and John Edward Gaughan, aged 6, of Munice, Ind.

Fern Fizer, of Winchester, suffered injuries about the head, and physicians at the Winchester hospital do not expect him to live.

Quick Relief for Women

Women need not endure periodic pains and headaches. They can spare themselves this suffering by taking ZUTOO TABLETS. Mrs. Allen Wright, of Fulford, who was relieved in 30 minutes of severe pain and headache, wrote saying: "Every woman in the land should know about ZUTOO TABLETS and what they will do." Just try the tablets and know for yourself how quickly they stop the pain.

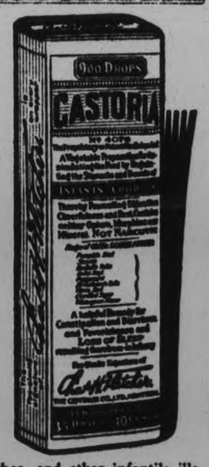
When Babies FRET



There are times when a baby is too fretful or feverish to be sung to sleep. There are some pains a mother cannot pat away. But there's no time when any baby can't have the quick comfort of Castoria! A few drops, and your little one is soon at ease—back to sleep almost before you can slip away.

Remember this harmless, pure vegetable preparation when children are ailing. Don't stop its use when Baby has been brought safely through the age of colic, diarrhea, and other infantile ills. Give good old Castoria until your children are in their teens! Whenever coated tongues tell of constipation; whenever there's any sign of sluggishness that needs no stronger medicines to relieve. Castoria is pleasant-tasting; children love to take it. Buy the genuine—with Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on wrapper.

IT'S WISE TO CHOOSE SIX

From Every Standpoint it is wise to Choose a Chevrolet Six

Consider its low price, low operating cost and six-cylinder performance

MANY thousands of people are availing themselves of the advantages of six-cylinder performance because they realize how little it costs to operate a Chevrolet Six. And because Chevrolet is in the lowest price field—easily within the reach of all who can afford any automobile.

Operation and maintenance are equally inexpensive. No other car you can buy can surpass Chevrolet's economy of gasoline and oil! And Chevrolet service—available throughout the country—is remarkably economical. In fact, charges on many operations—including both parts and labor—are the lowest in the industry.

Once you drive a Chevrolet Six, you will never be satisfied with less. For nothing less than six cylinders can give you six cylinder smoothness. And Chevrolet is the lowest priced six cylinder car. Moreover, the Chevrolet 50-horsepower motor is the most powerful in its class. That is why Chevrolet is faster—quicker at the "get-away"—a better climber on the hills!

The new Chevrolet Six is equipped with "Body by Fisher" —the most beautifully designed in the industry. No other car in the price field offers you this outstanding advantage!

Tour Canada in a Chevrolet Six this summer—it's all worth seeing. The former Hudson's Bay Company post, Post Camorun, — now Victoria, the beautiful capital of British Columbia,— boasts these Parliament Buildings, said to be the finest structure of their kind on the continent and containing three excellent museums, one of history, another of minerals, and a third of botany.

It will take you only a few minutes to discover why it is wise to buy a Chevrolet Six. When you inspect its Fisher Body—and get a demonstration of its smooth six-cylinder performance—you will instantly realize why it commands a high re-sale value. See the Chevrolet Six today—drive it yourself! Ask about General Motors' Owner Service Policy and the G.M.A.C., General Motors' Own Deferred Payment Plan.

IT'S BETTER BECAUSE IT'S CANADIAN

PERHAPS the reader is justified in thinking that there seems to be little or nothing of a religious nature in the "Chips and Shavings" which I have been able to scrape together in the Workshop of John Plane this week! It's not for me to argue that point. Put your own interpretation "Gentle Reader" on the story and let it go at that.

But it might not be amiss for a friend of John Plane's to ask, "Is the reader sure that he or she is bringing a religious nature to the reading of the Church Page?"

It seems to me that there is small reason for complaint for failure to get what we are not prepared to give. As a rule, the more you put into most things the more you are likely to take out! It is different, of course, when it is the case of buying stock in some "gusher" oil well in some distant part of the earth. All you are likely to get then is a rude awakening to the fact that the only "gusher" was the charming salesman who "sold you" the stock! You were a simple stranger, and he took you in. There will be no need for you to carry his photo around with you in order to remember him. You will never be able to forget him. If we may be permitted to use slang—he was a "gusher" and you were, for that occasion, the "sucker"; and the less said about the transaction the better! The cost of your education in that deal was painfully high—but see that it has not been in vain.

A QUAINT NAME.

Our story takes us back to the year 1917. At that time, our mutual friend, John Plane, was doing a bit of work in and around Boston, chief city of one of the most beautiful New England States.

While there, he met a friend—quite a character in his way—by the rather quaint name of Joe Toye.

Joe was what is sometimes called "a card." He was always ready for a game of any kind; and he was game to the last ditch. He was one of those men who simply couldn't be discouraged. You might hit him on the chin and send him to the mat, and he would come up again, all smiles and scars, asking for more. You could not have hired him to join a community of croakers. He used to say, "Aim at nothing and you'll be sure to hit it!" Whenever his way was blocked he used the blocks to mount on. One of his pet questions was:

"Do you know what it is to button up the majority within a single overcoat?"

And one of his many slogans was:

"If you expect to get anywhere in this life you must hasten while your shoes are good."

When invited to take part in a game of cards he would say:

"Cards are like alcohol, dangerous in their disclosures."

John Plane says that Joe Toye practised what he preached. There wasn't a lazy bone in all his body. He was energy personified. Like a cork, he wouldn't stay down. He used to say, when some would be complaining of their somewhat bitter lot, "Cheer up, old fellow! Remember that a grapefruit is only a lemon grown optimistic!"

HIRING A FLIVVER.

I don't think it could happen now—but it happened then! Joe, himself, vouched for the facts in the case. He said he was content to leave a little to the fancy of his friends, and those who might hear the story from his friends. His story went something like this:

• • •

DID you ever hire a flivver I don't mean just hiring one as a jitney, I mean actually hiring one for the day and driving it yourself.

I did that little thing last Sunday. You might have seen me down at Nantasket. I hope you didn't.

To hire this flivver I had to get about 42 people to vouch for me, and I had to give the garage man my name, age, religion, my mother's maiden name, my politics and how I stood on the question of woman suffrage. When I told him I was willing the girls should vote if they wanted to, he let me take the flivver—and now I know that he is an antisuff and wanted to get rid of me.

"It's a 1914 flivver," said the garage man. "It doesn't look very nice, but that was the best flivver ever built. A couple of leaves are broken in the front spring, but you mustn't mind that."

Different Music

WORLDLY joy is like the songs which peasants sing, full of melodies and sweet airs. Christian joy has its sweet airs, too; but they are augmented to harmonies, so that he who has it goes to heaven, not to the voice of a single flute, but to that of a whole band of instruments, discoursing wondrous music.

A ONE-WAY LAMP.

I told him that I wouldn't mind, and started out. I got just around the corner from the garage when the bottom dropped out of one of the kerosene side-lights. I went about a quarter of a mile before the brakes would work, and a little boy came running up with a lamp, and I gave him a dime and tried to put back the lamp, but it was only a one-way lamp, and it wouldn't go back. So I threw it into the car and went on.

I finally reached home, but had to stop with the flivver facing the wrong way. A policeman came along and told me to turn the thing round or he would pinch me. I told him to stop kidding me; that I couldn't turn it around even though he promised me the electric chair. Instead, he said I should be sentenced to a day's tour in the flivver.

ALL ABOARD!

Pretty soon the folks stood on the curbstone and jumped into the flivver and we started off, headed for Cape Cod. First we were going to call on some friends at Pemberton. There were nice right-hand roads all the way down, and things went fine until we reached the top of the hill just at Nantasket.

Then the flivver must have caught cold from the sea breezes, for it began to cough. It sounded like seven men with five wooden legs walking across a tin roof. Then the engine expired.

I coasted down the road and stopped alongside the beach, much to the joy of 8,000,000 automobilists who had to cut around me.

Then along came Jack. Jack had his folks with him. They got out of their flivver and went down on the beach. I looked appealingly at Jack and he came over and said:

"What's the matter, son?"

I told Jack we should hold a guessing contest on what was the matter and give the flivver to the person who guessed. I said I thought the car needed a new motor and a new chassis. We took out the spark plugs and scraped them. Then we took off the timer and found enough oil to last us for several days. Then we took off the self-starter—which was broken, by the way. I crawled under the car and tested the oil, which dripped down in my face and all over my new suit. We took the car all apart, putting the different parts in various of our pockets, so they wouldn't be mixed up. Then we put it together again, but still it wouldn't run.

"I give it up," said Jack, after about three hours of this. So Jack towed me to a garage. I was full of hope. Then I telephoned the man from whom I hired the car, and he said:

"Try her on the mag."

So I went back to the Nantasket garage man and said:

"Is it all right for me to try it on the Margaret?"

"On the what?"

"Oh, I have only known her a day, so don't dare call her 'Mag'."

"Huh," said he. "Go ahead."

So I tried, but "Mag" must have been out for the afternoon, for it didn't work. So I called up the garage man at home again, and he said:

"I forgot. That car has no mag. See if your battery connections are tight."

RIGHT AT LAST.

That was the only thing I hadn't done. And it was that what was the matter. I tightened two and tried the motor. Hooray! It went fine. I climbed into the car and scooted for him, landing there ten minutes after the folks, and the only trouble I had on the way up was that four more leaves in the front spring broke, there was no oil in any of the lamps, one didn't have a wick, the headlights wouldn't work, and I ran out of gas.

So I put a stamp on the flivver and mailed it back to the garage man.

A simple soul stood by when John Plane related that story to me. And at the close of the tale, he said:

"I wonder why all that happened? Do you think that it was because he was doing the thing on a Sunday? It did seem, did it not, that God was displeased with him! I remember, when I was a lad, my father cut my hair on the Sunday; then there was a terrible thunderstorm. When my grandmother got to know that I had had my hair cut on the Sabbath day, she solemnly said that is why we have had this thunderstorm. I wonder if the dear old lady really meant it! Or was she just joking in a serious way?"

DIFFERENT NOW.

Cars are different now! But too many foolish people are permitted to drive them. The ancient flivver and its modern successor has a lot to answer for in the day of judgment—if there be a day of judgment for cars!

One Sunday morning, not so very long ago, I heard a stirring sermon on the text, "And when they were fully awake, they beheld His glory." Surely it was a message of truth—a ringing challenge to the church and to the world. I wished it might have been heard by multitudes. But only about ten per cent. of the members of the church were present. Most of the pews, that beautiful Sabbath morning, were empty.

Just imagine what would have happened—or rather what wouldn't have happened—on that wonderful day of Pentecost when Peter was filled with the Holy Ghost and preached his great sermon, if the crowd had been away somewhere else instead of before him, listening to his message. Not Peter, nor Paul, nor you, nor any preacher that lives and yearns over his people and pours out his heart in an earnest, inspired message of warning, or of love, can convert empty pews, or rouse the spirit of service among church members who are out of sight and sound on their own ease or pleasure bent.

Doesn't it make you sick to hear men talk about worshipping God in the fields and woods as well as in church on Sunday morning—of getting as much good on the golf ground or in the automobile—of beholding the glory of God in the beauties of Nature as well as they can in their place in the sanctuary! Behold His glory! They can't do it. Physical eyes alone never can behold His glory—and their souls are not awake!

Yours till men think more of grace for their souls than of gas for their cars.

Allan Fairbairn.

Our Duty

IF I had been made a firefly, it would not become me to say, "If God had only made me a star, to shine always, then I would shine." It is my duty, if I am a firefly, to fly and sparkle, and fly and sparkle; not to shut my wings down over my phosphorescent self, because God did not make me a sun or a star.

DUE TO HIM.

IT is due to Christ that the one who trusts in Him should reap all the benefits of His finished work. This is only the righteousness of God, and the knowledge of it imparts stable peace to the soul.

GOD'S PROMISES

GOD'S promises were never meant to ferry our laziness. Like a boat, they are to be rowed by our oars; but many men, entering, forget the oar, and drift down more helpless in the boat than if they had stayed on shore. There is not an experience in life by whose side God has not fixed a promise. There is not a trouble so deep and swift-running, that we may not cross safely over, if we have courage to steer and strength to pull.

It is in rude and violent surroundings that great spiritual principles are first asserted.

Men wish for rules; God gives them principles out of which they can frame rules for themselves.

Discontent is want of self-reliance: it is infirmity of will.

23rd Psalm in Many Tongues.

FRENCH.

THE Eternal is my Shepherd, I shall not have need. He makes me repose in pastures green. He leads me alongside the still waters. He restores my soul and He leads me by the paths of justice because of His name. Even should I walk by the valley of the shadow of death I would fear no harm, for Thou art with me. It is Thy rod and Thy staff that reassure me. Thou preparest a table before me in the sight of those that persecute me. Thou anoinest my head with oil and my cup runs over. Yet, happen what may, happiness and grace will accompany me all the days of my life and my habitation will be the house of the Eternal for a long time.

How To Love

WITHOUT distinction, without calculation, without procrastination, love. Lavish it upon the poor, where it is very easy; especially upon the rich, who often need it most; most of all upon our equals, where it is very difficult, and for whom perhaps we each do least of all.

• • •

When musing on companions gone, we doubly feel ourselves alone.

VANDALISM IN THE PARKS.

It is to be hoped that the vandals whose inroads on the shrubs and flowers in Confederation Square and Victoria Park have occasioned considerable damage there will be apprehended and the court given a chance to make an example of them.

These two beauty spots, whose splendid appearance is being most favorably commented on by visitors and citizens alike, should be treated with common decency by the public, and it is disgusting to think that there are people in our midst so lost to a sense of their duty to the community that they would deliberately mar the beauty of municipal parks.

The parks belong to the people, and it is not too much surely to ask them to refrain from anything that would injure the appearance of these most valuable community assets.

It should be everybody's task to keep the city's breathing places clean and neat and to protect the lawns, flowers, shrubs and trees from injury or theft.

On the whole, we have been remarkably free in this community from vandalism of the type complained of, which makes it all the more desirable that these particular offenders should be located if at all possible.

A VARIED ARRAY.

It is predicted that the Dominion election campaign will produce the most varied array of candidates in Canada's political history.

In some Winnipeg ridings, for example, it is expected that there will be at least five different candidates, including Liberal, Conservative, Independent, Labor, Communist and Veteran standard-bearers.

While in Ontario the issue, except in a few ridings, will be fought out between representatives of the two old parties, the battle array in the Prairie Provinces will be involved enough to keep political experts guessing until the ballots are counted.

There will be Liberals, Conservatives, Progressives, United Farmers, Farmers' Political Association candidates, Communists, Liberal-Progressives and at least one Conservative-Progressive, and the mix-up threatens to become so general that it will be difficult for the shrewdest political seer to make an accurate forecast of the result.

This is what Premier King doubtless had in mind when in urging a speedy dissolution of the House he pointed out the possibility of neither of the old parties having a clear majority when the battle comes to an end.

The Prairie Provinces are the crossword puzzle section of the forthcoming campaign, and the battle there promises to attract the chief attention of the political fans.

A SPLENDID SUCCESS.

The surprising success of the Y.M.C.A. building fund campaign, which saw the object of $128,500 exceeded by over $10,000, is a matter upon which the citizens of Peterborough are to be congratulated.

The result shows that this district is in a healthy condition financially, and that local people are ready to help a worth-while cause when its merits are put clearly before them.

Features of the drive have been the splendid generosity of former Peterborough residents, the fine donations of local manufacturers and business firms, and the very large number of Peterborough contributors, including many residents in the surrounding townships, who added their donations to swell the impressive total.

When it is realized that close to 2,000 individuals made contributions, the complete endorsation of the prospect given by the citizens generally can be fully appreciated.

The campaign organizers and the canvassing committees deserve thanks for a big job, done in a big way, and for a campaign that was carefully planned and carried out with vigor, enthusiasm and efficiency.

As a result of the magnificent response, Peterborough will within a year possess a Y.M.C.A. building second to few in the Province, and the usefulness of the institution will be correspondingly magnified.

CHECK AND DOUBLE CHECK.

Commenting on the fact that both political parties are to appoint enumerators for the preparation of lists for the coming election, the Globe says:

"At all events here is something new in the field of politics. A Government going to the country when every advantage counts deliberately gives its opponents an even break in the all-important matter of preparing the lists! It has not been done before in the Federal arena and certainly not of late years in the Province of Ontario."

The Globe overlooks the fact, however, that the present election, so far as urban centres are concerned, presents an entirely new scheme of preparing voters' lists.

Instead of making the municipal list, which, of course, is compiled on an absolutely non-political basis, the foundation of the federal list, the new Election Act calls for the preparation of an entirely new list, secured by appointing enumerators to make a house-to-house canvass in the urban sub-divisions.

That is a radical departure from former methods, and it would be manifestly unreasonable to have the new electoral machinery thus made necessary controlled by one political party.

When that aspect of the situation was pointed out in committee the desirability of a check upon the work was readily recognized, and it was agreed that both the chief parties should have the responsibility of naming enumerators, who will work in pairs.

It is a new system and has the appearance of being absolutely fair.

IT RESTS WITH THE INDIVIDUAL.

The casualty list for the holiday week-end does not make pleasant reading. As is unfortunately usually the case during such periods, lives have been lost, especially on the highway, in some cases unavoidably, in other cases as a direct consequence of the failure to take proper precautions at spots that are known to be dangerous.

It seems a hopeless task to endeavor to avert the accidents that continue to take place on the roads of this Province, as well as of other Provinces. All of the warnings that have been given by Government safety organizations and individuals who have interested themselves in the war against preventable accidents have not availed appreciably to reduce the toll. People still put their machines against speeding railway trains and otherwise run risks that are well known and that very often result in disaster.

Until there is a very general appreciation of the fact that danger is ever-present on the highways, until every person driving a motor vehicle understands that it is the duty so to conduct himself that his own life and the lives of others may be safeguarded, it is far from likely that there will be much improvement in accident statistics. Danger signs, warnings in press, on platform and over the wireless, cannot prove of much value if those manipulating machines carry on in a negligent and careless and thoughtless manner.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

THE ENGINEER STOPS HIS TRAIN.

(From the New York World)

At Tangipahoa, La., according to an Associated Press despatch, a locomotive driver named Leon Ford saw an automobile stalled on the track ahead of him, a boy frantically trying to get it out of the way. Although he realized that what he was about to do would probably cost him his life, he jammed his brakes on full. The locomotive left the track, the boy's life was saved, and Ford died on the way to the hospital. This, of course, was bravery. But was it unusual bravery? One doubts. This locomotive driver did what most of the rest of us would be afraid to do, but at the same time did what most locomotive drivers would do as a matter of course. The tribute that must be paid him goes not alone to him as an individual, but to all locomotive drivers as a class. Whatever else may be said about them, they are brave men. That circumstance may go far to explain the esteem in which other brave men are held, men who by the very implications of their jobs must do what Ford did: embrace death, because there is nothing else that they can honorably do. Such men are sea captains, who sometimes must die because their code demands that they be the last to leave the ship; soldiers, who must charge even when they know that to charge means death; policemen, firemen, doctors, and indeed most of those who are intrusted with life as well as with property. Sometimes all that will save one life is another life, and it is to the eternal credit of such men that they seldom flinch. The death of this locomotive driver on the Illinois Central proves not only his own honor when it was put to the test but the honor of a large portion of the human race.

TREE-PLANTING.

(The Border Cities Star)

The ever-increasing popularity of the motor has resulted not only in many miles of pavements, but in a general demand for rural beautification along much more pretentious lines than anyone ever dreamed of a few years ago. As an example of the changes taking place, "World's Work" recently announced that the State of Massachusetts is giving its highway system of 1,600 miles a "progressive landscaping." Harsh outlines and stern profiles are being softened by background plantings. Bare spots are being covered with ferns, clover or small shrubbery. Trees are being planted where needed, or sacrificed to the axe where it is desired to reveal the beauty of a brook, rolling hills or blue mountains.

This undertaking, "World's Work" comments, is to be applauded. And it adds: "It is a policy that might well be adopted by every State in the Union. Many hundreds of millions have been expended on good roads since the advent of the automobile. No sound argument can be advanced against allotting a fractional amount to beautifying these same highways."

Along Number Three Highway, recently, a number of public-spirited citizens staged a walnut tree-planting campaign. For a considerable distance, fifty or sixty miles we think, they placed young walnut trees at suitable intervals. Most of these trees, it is hoped and believed, will thrive, and a few years hence the results of to-day's foresight will be apparent. What a splendid example this is for the people of Ontario generally. Why not have every provincial highway and every leading county road treated in the same way? Those who come after us would praise our vision and our thoughtfulness. More than that, the walnut trees planted along Number Three Highway this year will be substantial in size long before many of those who participated in the planting ceremonies have passed from the scene.

Tree-planting operations should not be confined to the highways and leading roads. Canada, despite its comparatively small population and apparently vast timber resources, is actually short of trees. Nowhere is this more strikingly borne out than in our own county of Essex and particularly in the river and lake area. It is not a natural condition, of course. There were plenty of trees here in the old days, but thousands of them were cut down to make way for farming operations, for lumber and to feed the wood-burning steamers that were so thick once upon a time. The result is large stretches of territory without trees of any kind.

Only in comparatively recent years, too, have Canadians come to appreciate the fact that when a tree is cut down for any purpose, at least two more should be planted for replacement. Mr. Frank J. D. Barnjum, of Montreal and Nova Scotia, has been carrying on a vigorous campaign of education along these lines, urging the necessity of reforesting, on individuals, companies and Governments. Canada's timber wealth is so traditional that many of us never stop to think that it is not inexhaustible. Mr. Barnjum is able to show, in actual figures, however, how this wealth is being depleted, and that, not so many years hence, it will be practically gone. A country without trees, of course, would be in a serious position. Most of us think of trees as being valuable for shade, fruit and timber, without stopping to think of their influence on drainage and therefore on general agriculture.

If every Canadian property owner or tenant would make it a point to plant one or more trees what a wonderful result would be produced in the next quarter century.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Premier King was quite right in saying that the majority of Canadians would prefer to have the election over as speedily as possible.

It is pointed out Ontario has received nearly one-quarter of all moneys paid by the Federal Government to the Provinces since 1922. But the portion of the Federal revenue contributed by Ontario would more than justify that condition.

Two Niagara Falls men started a fight on a scaffold 160 feet above the ground. Fortunately, however, the incident was only a falling-out and not a falling-off.

News of Our Own Village

The political pot aint hardly started to boil as yet, Ham Burnham being so far the only villager to show signs of excitement.

Mike Park's foot soldiers marched out on Tues. nite and on the whole the boys kept step pretty good, sending the villagers home to bed feeling the country is reasonably safe.

Owing to the election date not having been give out yet Joe Duffus and Ed. Peck got a good brake this week, saving the expense of opening their committee rooms during the cold spell.

Geo. Gordon journeyed to Toronto, west of here, Tues. last, and made a coupla political speeches to the residents of that fair city, without the Tories of that berg as yet conceding no losses in the coming election tracas.

Redge Turner, being in the ice business, tried to breeze through the cold snap this week wearing a straw hat, but found it didn't look good with ear flaps on the same.

Great sympathy is being expressed for Joe Wearing, our well known village solicitor, owing to the Govt. at Ottawa, east of here, tossing a election campaign right in the thick of the golf season.

The village council was all hot and bothered this week because Morley Smithson of Otonabee, east of here, wrote a letter what the Mayor and the boys didn't like. Better read over your outgoing mail, Morley, say we.

Rolly Denne, our worthy mayor, named this here week as clean-up week, but the village Y.M.C.A. beat him to it and cleaned up last week, so to speak.

A fellow from Lindsay, west of here, was fined in the village court Wed. a.m. for driving 65 miles an hour on the highway. It's a good job he didn't drive at that rate on Water St. or they'd fined him double for loafing, say we.

Bathing suits has been on display in the windows of several general stores this week, but owing to cold weather didn't attract no attention, except for a few moths.

Our well known baseball pitcher, Jeff Hardill, had the misfortune to have a hole burnt in the roof of his horseless carriage by some miscreant with a fire cracker, early in the week. Things has come to a pretty pass when crimes like this goes unpunished, say we.

Sandy MacTavish sez he lost the stick off of a 15-cent sky rocket Victoria Day p.m. The string broke. No questions asked if the stick is returned.—Advt.

APRIL ESCAPADES

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

CHAPTER XXIII

The constable looked at the notes in his book, and appeared to consider.

"We have been looking for this gang for some time, Mr. Steynes," he said then, with apparent irrelevance.

"Well?" Christopher asked, almost with a sneer.

His glance seemed to nettle the other man.

"It is all as a matter of protection to your property, sir," he said sharply. "We can't have this sort of thing going on—this is the seventh this year. We know they have plants—"

"I don't know what you're talking about!" Christopher said, in a pause.

"We dont' know there's a woman in the gang," the officer went on. "We don't know there isn't. I want to ask the young lady a few questions. I want to know if she ever—" He referred to his book. "If she ever heard the name of Tony Moody?" he asked.

"Who's he?" Christopher demanded. Constable Browning jerked his head toward the hall, and the group downstairs.

"The fellow I got. Huh?"

"That's the one, sir. Did the young lady ever hear that name before?"

"Look here, Mr. Browning, Miss O'Hara's been Mr. Gordon Rountree's secretary for several years—"

"That wasn't what I asked, Mr. Steynes."

"Did you ever hear that name before, Mary?"

Her wearied, despairing eyes moved slowly to his.

"What name?"

"Tony—what was it? Tony Moody?"

"Why no!" Mary Kate said, wetting her lips, swallowing.

"That's all," said the constable. "We'll want you in the morning, both of you. If he dies, there'll have to be a coroner's investigation."

"We'll be here in the morning, of course," Christopher said curtly after a moment's hesitation.

"O.K., then," said the officer of the law. "Goodnight, Miss."

He ran downstairs. Mary Kate said no answering goodnight.

When the injured man had been taken away in an ambulance and the police officers, after some tramping about the grounds with the discovery of confederates in view, had all gone away, there still seemed to linger a strange agitation and emptiness in the house. The flashlights stopped waving, like enormous antennae, over the garden, the pound of heavy boots died away, and the police-station cars chugged away down the road.

Peters made a fire, and Mrs. Peters came in from the kitchen with coffee, but everything was wearisome and queer; Mary Kate felt as if she were in a nightmare, of which this unfamiliar Spanish furniture, these daintly distempered plaster walls, this hideous twisted stairway with the thick loops of red cord for balustrade, were forming a background never to be eradicated from her eyes.

She had been looking at it forever; a wood fire started on a base of hardly-cool ashes, a room still in its evening disorder of cigarette stubs and scattered books and papers. Chris Steynes, in his pajamas and dressing gown was the bizarre—the least believable detail of it all. His yellow hair was rumpled; he still—after this insufferable hour—looked flushed and drowsy with sleep.

The clock's hands stood at ten minutes past four. But to Mary Kate it seemed days—weeks since she had said goodnight to Chris and Don Archibald in this room, not much more than two hours ago. She had felt humiliated and affronted then, but that was nothing to what had developed now. Now she was no longer occupied with young pride and superficial social niceties; she was a witness in a murder case, she was being held by the police!

And if it had been a girl who had talked with the two men in this very room, so short a while ago, it was a woman who sat here now, drinking her coffee, listening to Chris with her wearied, patient blue eyes fixed on his face, her answeres or suggestions made quietly, apathetically, without any of the flash and vitality that had always been a part of Mary Kate.

She still wore the heavy big dressing-gown he had given her in the first alarm; a soft, furry checked brown-and-cream dressing-gown, tied firmly about her with a tasselled silk cord. Its bigness made Mary Kate seem little, somehow, seem very slim and helpless and young, as she sat in the big chair and the whiteness of her face, the strained look in the blue eyes that were set in deep rings of violet pallor, somehow accentuated the impression of youth and desolation afresh. In this unnatural, unearthly night hour, she looked crushed and broken; the moth that had ventured once too often toward the flame.

Her bright hair was disordered and flattened, her own feverish hands had pushed it carelessly from her forehead more than once; she neither knew nor cared how she looked. The world, the future, were utterly black before her.

"Now, listen, it's only four o'clock," Chris was presently saying briskly. "You've got to get some sleep—they won't be 'round here until ten or so in the morning—"

"Mr. Steynes what can they do?"

"What can who do?"

"The police?"

"Why, my child, you're not worrying about the police?"

Her eyes, tear-marked already, filled with fresh tears. She could not speak. She nodded her head.

"Why, listen," he said. "All they want is to clear up the case for their records."

"Oh, my God!" Mary Kate whispered. She put her hand over her eyes.

"They're not going to mug you for the criminals' gallery!" Chris assured her, amused and kindly. "It's a clear case of house-breaking, and the fellow was armed—Browning said constable, 'remember?—Browning said he could get twenty years. Well, he won't, he'll get about five, if he lives."

"Did he fire?"

"No, he didn't have his gun out, then."

"And he was hit—?"

"I shot him through the lung. He'll never get out of the hospital, probably. And all they want to do is clear it up, be sure he wasn't in conspiracy with Peters, or what not—"

He saw she was not listening. Her anxious eyes were fixed on space. The hopeless, tragic apathy of her manner did not change.

"Will the papers have it, Chris?"

"Sure they will. But that doesn't have to worry you."

Her somber eyes moved to him trustingly; she did not speak again for a long time.

But she knew now what might have changed the whole course of her life had she known it a dozen hours before. She knew that she must depend only on herself, in this crisis, that she could find no help from Chris, or from anyone else. He might be sympathetic, he might want to be helpful. But his standards were not her standards, nor his code her code.

There was one code, indeed, for a rich young man, and another for a penniless girl. Perhaps he had not betrayed his code, in this adventure, but how she had demolished he own!

"I suppose I'm thinking of Mother," she said simply, after a while.

Chris regarded her for a few seconds, uneasily.

"You can explain it. She'll believe you," he said then, without much assurance.

"Oh maybe!" Mary Kate said wearily, with a shrug. Her lip trembled, and her eyes filled again.

"Drink your coffee!"

"I am."

"It's just one of those damn' things—" Chris mused, unhappily. "It's too bad. I'm awfully sorry!"

Yes, she reflected bitterly, he might be awfully sorry, and it was becoming and generous in him to be so. But that didn't involve him in anything shameful, that didn't mean that he could take any share of her punishment.

"I don't think there's any question that we can keep your name out of the papers," Chris said, pondering. "Gordy surely can do that."

Gordon Rountree. She had forgotten her nervously laughing, old, employer, the man of whom she had sometimes thought as a spoiled baby, unwilling to take responsibility, anxious only to escape from every situation with his own skin safe. Well, it was he who had gotten her into this, and he was once more to be let off scot free.

But no, she had to interrupt herself honestly. Nobody ever got a girl of twenty into trouble except the girl herself. And here she was, "in trouble," just as surely in trouble as any poor little loving fool who ever found herself robbed of a reputation overnight.

Hundreds of girls got away with breaches of the moral law that bind a woman so tightly, and exist not at all for men. But she, Mary Kate O'Hara, who had always held her head so high, who had always been above suspicion, much less reproach—she before whom the other girls in the office wouldn't even tell a shady story, or use a coarse word—she was going to be known, from now on, as the girl who was down in a country house with a young wealthy bachelor from New York, on the night a burglar was shot.

"You look all in," Chris said, watching her.

"I'm merely—I" She gave a forlorn little laugh. "I'm merely wishing I was the one who was shot!" she said.

"Ah, no, no, you'll see it all differently in the morning!" he promised her.

But she did not brighten, she did not smile. Putting aside the half-emptied cup, she slipped down into her chair again. Her slim wrists, emerging from the generous sleeves of the dressing-gown, looked thin and childish, her slim, childish fingers were tightly locked. She stared dully into the dead fire.

"What'll they do in the morning?"

"Oh, they'll poke around for fingerprints, and ask questions. They ought all to be out of here in an hour, and after that we have nothing to do but wait until it's time in the afternoon, to run you home.

We don't want to rouse your mother's suspicions by having you get home too early. We'll call off the luncheon—may be we could go over to the club, for lunch, but there's apt to be a mob of people there, Saturdays and it'd be one long razz about the burglar!"

"I simply—can't—face my mother!" Mary Kate whispered.

"I'd tell her the whole thing, straight out. She'll know you're not lying."

"I lied to her—when was it? Was it only yesterday," the girl mused, her eyes brimming again.

"What I thought," Chris began, putting down his own cup, "was, that since there are several hours of night left, I'd ask Mrs. Peters to sleep in the other bed, in your room. And my advice to you is to turn in and read a book or something until you get sleepy and forget it!"

Her eyes went about the sittingroom. Would she never, in all her life, escape from these distempered walls, this Spanish furniture with the rich brocade upholstery, this rising twisted stairway with its rail of heavy red cord? She was so sick of it—so deathly sick of it.

What To-day Means To You

"GEMINI."

If May 31st is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8, a.m. to 10 a.m., from 1 p.m. to 2 p.m. and from 8 p.m. to 9 p.m. The danger periods are from 6 a.m. to 7:30 a.m., and from 4 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Astrological influences on this date are not very favorable, and things are apt to get on your "nerve". Do today's duty, and fight to-day's temptations, and all will be well! There is sunshine around the corner.

The child born on this May 31st will have a pleasant temperament, and will seldom be worried or out of temper. It will have one of the strongest virtues, courage—physical, moral and mental. It will have a number of small talents.

You do not possess an even temperament, and although you at times laughingly ride the crest of the waves, there are other times when you are sunk in the depths of self-pity and the "blues." It is easy and comforting for you to think that you are a misunderstood creature, battling with an adverse world. You suffer the pains of a martyr, without receiving any of their glory. There are no ills or evils in life without their joyous and joyful antidotes, it only takes a willing heart to find them. Turn your thoughts outward, broaden your horizon, and you will be carried away from self.

A love for outward show and social ambition is shown in your horoscope. You love fine surroundings, whether in your home, locality or scenery. You possess higher ambitions than are attainable, and you fail to realize apparent possibilities. You give a free rein to your sensations, feelings and passions. You carry your heart on your sleeve, and your thoughts on your face. You are rather slow to anger, and equally hard to appease, and you probably never truly forgive or forget a real injury. You will marry twice, or have more than one very ardent love affair. Treachery is indicated from one of your own sex. You are very demonstrative in your affections.

"GEMINI."

If June 1st is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:30 a.m. to 11 a.m., from 3 p.m. to 4:30 p.m., and from 10 p.m. to 11 p.m. The danger period is from 1 p.m. to 2:30 p.m.

The pleasures augured for this date will be unanticipated ones. An inkling of a probable change in your life, and a new outlook and viewpoint. Beneficient health conditions.

The child born on this June 1st will be mentally quick and rapid in thought. It will be changeable in purpose, however, and its enthusiasms will be short lived. If it will stick to its guns, it can easily scale the ladder of success.

You are a self-reliant ,independent person. If there is any thinking to be done, you prefer to do it yourself. You will not believe a thing is right or wrong, just because you are told it is so. You want to understand and to reason things out for yourself. As a child, it was difficult for you to do as you were told without an argument about it. Hand-me-down experiences do not interest you. You are after first hand knowledge and self-earned adventures. You refuse to be a shadow or an echo of any one else, whether it be your father or mother, your teacher or preacher.

You are not incapable of changing your views, however, and you try to keep up to date in most things. You are strong-minded enough to be old fashioned, when it is the part of common sense to be,so—you are not afraid to run away from the herd. You are willing to sacrifice and to fight for the fulfilment of your ambitions, and you have the patience to wait for their development. You have a desire to be somebody, and to do things worth-while. You take a charitable interest in people, and you are a good student of human nature. It is not often that people fool you, and when they do, you do not lose faith in others. When you have the right kind of an audience, you are a brilliant conversationalist.

FINANCIAL NEWS

FINANCIAL NEWS AND BRIEFS

A SPECIAL SERVICE TO THE EXAMINER

As anticipated, the results of the first quarter of 1930 have shown a marked decline. While the forecasts for the second quarter is not bright, it is felt that the last six months will show a decided improvement. The depression therefore, but naturally following such a prenomenal year as 1929, is only temporary and the future can be looked forward to with confidence, most particularly in regard to Canada and United States.

F. B. Housser in the current "Investigate Analysis," put out by Housser, Wood and Company, members Toronto Exchange, speaking of the Canadian stock markets, he states technically the Canadian market is in a very sound condition as regards price levels. A decidedly stronger market next fall is predicted. Meanwhile a careful selection and diversification should be made in Canadian stocks which at present levels are considered safe and subsequently will prove profitable.

To-day the stock markets in the principal Canadian and American financial centres are closed. The squirming, wriggling ticker tape with its queer hieroglyphics droops barren, lifeless. Brokers' offices are closed and only clerks busy on the month-end statements are at work. It has not been at all unusual in other years for the exchanges to recess on Saturdays during the extremely hot weather when market operations are at a minimum, but the decline in activity has come earlier this year even before the typical holiday weather. The week has been a short one in New York, with operations suspended both Friday and to-day. Canadian markets suspended only to-day. They reopen Monday, but are closed on Tuesday.

A noticeable increase in the amount of bond financing in practically all groups of securities has taken place this year in comparison with last year. The market became very strong in March but lately has been quieter and just holding its own. With prospects of continued ease in money rates, a gradual firming in prices is expected. Total sales for the first five months of the current year are stimulated by Dominion Securities at $280,207,848, which compares with $209,290,525 over a similar period last year. Of this year's total, provincial bonds accounted for $71,900,000, municipals for $66,826,848; public utilities for $71,900,000; railways for $43,150,000 and industrial and miscellaneous for $27,240,000. Total sales for the month of May were in the neighborhood of $90,000,000.

A great bit of work has been done by National City Company in a booklet recently published entitled "Canada, a Record of Progress." Containing some 69 pages of authoritative information, taken from official reports of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, from Dominion and Provincial Budget statements, from information supplied by the Natural Resources Intelligence Service of Canada and from fiscal reports of the province and from statements by provincial premiers, it is a useful guide to the investor, the study dealing with the facts chiefly in relation to their bearing upon government and municipal bonds. The provinces are dealt with separately, with respect to area, population, chief industries and financial position. The most important cities are also treated. The booklet is profusely illustrated and contains a foreword by Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of the Interior, in which the Minister speaks of the diversity of Canadian progress.

ARTICLE XXXVI

Q.—What are the purposes and advantages of issuing short term notes?

A.—When interest rates become unusually high and when corporations feel that they are due to drop in the near future at which time they will be able to raise money at a lower rate of interest, they will usually resort to short term notes as a medium of financing. In this way they avoid paying high interest rates over a great period of years.

When money rates are high new long term issues are often hard to dispose of. It is for these reasons chiefly that a corporation issues short term notes.

When money rates drop the corporation can take advantage of this fact and issue long term bonds at lower rates. Of course there is always the danger of the notes maturing at an unfavorable time—perhaps less favorable than when they were issued. And moreover the assets behind the notes may have diminished. The renewing of notes is usually an expensive proposition if money rates fail to drop. Therefore great care must be given to see that the notes mature at a proper time.

Sponsors of Canadian Songs Hiking to Hollywood.

The photographs show two young Montreal sponsors of Canadian song, Paul E. Bray (1), publisher, composer and pianist, and Henry Duckett (3), singer, who are blazing a 6,000-mile trail across the Dominion from Montreal to Hollywood with the purpose of enabling Canadian song-writers to break into the world song market and particularly to introduce Canadian music to the American movie producers. (2) is Bresco von Creaping, splendid German police dog, who accompanied the two musical missionaries to Prescott, but got lost on the way.

VENTURES ACTIVE IN LINDSLEY STOCKS

Understood Company is to Provide Large Smelter For Great Slave Lake Area.

TORONTO, May 31 (Special to The Examiner).—Improvement among the Lindsley stocks has been noticeable for the last day or so, with Ventures more in the limelight of news than it has been for some time. Following closely on the announcement of encouraging diamond drill results in Opemiska Lake district of Quebec, word comes from Edmonton that the company is involved in a proposition to provide a large smelter for the Great Slave Lake area. J. Gordon Hardy, consulting engineer, is making an examination of the Opemiska Lake holdings, and an announcement is believed to be pending.

Attention secured by Merland Oil of late is attributed to improving conditions at the company's well. The bit, which was stuck in the hole about 100 feet above the lime has now been removed and drilling should be resumed in the very near future, according to reliable reports. The well is nearing the production horizon and it is expected this formation will have to be penetrated some 250-300 feet before it is finished. Imperial Oil is said to be completing the hole, and it is believed they will spend some $40,000 on the work, receiving in return 4 per cent of any production secured.

April production at Central Manitoba Mines is stated to have amounted to $38,404 from 4,982 tons of ore treated. These figures show little change from other more recent periods, although late last year monthly output fell to around $26,000. The situation at the mine is somewhat uncertain as it was understood earlier in the month the mill would be shut down and efforts concentrated on a drilling program. Official of the company states, however, the mill will continue operations until the matter is decided upon.

MONTREAL POLICE TO HOLD INQUEST

Investigating Circumstances Surrounding Death of Philip Lafontaine.

MONTREAL, Que., May 31. (C.P.) Provincial police announced last night that an inquest would be held June 4 on the dismembered body found near Varennes island in the St. Lawrence river near Montreal. The first discovery of the body, wrapped in newspapers, was made May 10. Since then additional parts have been discovered in the vicinity until now only the head is missing.

Police are acting on the theory that the body is that of Philip Lafontaine, seventeen year old youth who has been missing from his home since May first. Lafontaine was a companion of Adam Forbes, 35, and frequently visited the latter's apartment. Forbes is being held by police and the authorities claim that bloodstains were found in his apartment on a bed and other furniture, on the floors and walls.

DRAMATIST TO DO MOVIES.

BERLIN (U.P.)— Jesse L. Laskey, American movie man, will invite the Italian poet and playwright, Luigi Pirandello, to Hollywood to write especially for Paramount. Lasky, during his stay in Berlin, conferred with Pirandello and secured an option on the movie rights of four of the best known works of the famous Italian dramatist.

Small Green Plants In Plentiful Supply

Main Article of Purchase On Local Farmers' Market This Morning.

Rumors of a killing frost last night that ruined prospects of many a tomato bed, were rife at the farmers' market this morning. One gardener had set out 2,000 plants, it was said, the majority of which would be very greatly retarded by the hard weather of last evening.

Butter sold at 35 cents a pound this morning, and eggs were 27 to 30 cents a dozen. Hens were 30 cents a pound. One woman who had Black Minorcas asked the same price, but the full coloring of the flesh of the big birds was not liked by her patrons, who demand yellow meat on their dinner fowl.

Potatoes were $2.25 a bag. Little pigs were $15 a pair. Hay sold at $16 a load.

The main article of purchase was green plants in boxes. Vegetables and flowers sprout out in this way in the early springtime, at the usual price of 20 cents a box. The flower list includes forget-me-nots, wallflowers, gaillardias, asters, stock and pansies.

A woman all the way from Cornwill Island, Quebec, offered fine-looking baskets for sale. A large, handsome brown reed flower basket was a dollar, while shopping and sewing baskets were much less.

CHICAGO KILLER SLAIN IN RUNNING PISTOL BATTLE

Machine Gun, Shot Gun and Revolvers Used When West Side Gangs Meet.

14 YEAR BOY STRUCK.

Gnolfo Forced to Drive Car Over Curb—Two Companions Escape Wounded.

CHICAGO, Ill., May 31. —(Canadian Press). — Philip Gnolfo, known as a professional killer, was slain, two companions were wounded and a 14-year-old boy was struck by a stray bullet in a gang attack on the West Side to-day. Gnolfo's wounded companions were William Carnodo, Toledo, O., and Joseph Fiannca Rochester.

A machine gun, shotgun and revolvers were used in the attack

Gnolfo was forced by the attackers who trailed him in an automobile to drive his own auto over a curb. Nineteen bullet holes were found in his car.

Fiannca and Carnodo leaped from the wrecked car and fled. They were found hiding a short distance away.

The wounded boy was caught in the fusilade of shots as he walked with his twin brother on the sidewalk. He was rushed to a hospital and his name was not at first obtained. He was shot in the legs.

Had Long Record.

Gnolfo, the slain man, had a police record as an alleged "muscle man," professional extortionist and killer.

The attack took place in the canal port district, an Italian section on the fringe of the stock yards district.

Gnolfo, police said, was a former member of the Genna Gang, West Side alcohol venders. He was known as a pal of Orazio De Tropea, who throughout the west side was termed "the scourage". He was a close friend of Philip Ababa, another notorious hoodlum. Both Ababa and De Tropea have been slain in gang feuds.

Revision Court.

The Council met as a Court of Revision and after being sworn in the Reeve took the chair when the following appeals were disposed of:

Mrs. Margaret O'Leary appealed on assessment of west ½ Lot 31, Con. 5. Moved by McIntyre, seconded by Burns, that she be reduced $100 on land and $100 on buildings. Carried.

W. D. Sargent appealed on assessment of Lot 19, Con. 14. Moved by Huston, seconded by Burns, that he be reduced $200. Carried.

J. H. Fletcher appealed on assessment of Lot 13, Con. 7. Moved by Bolin, seconded by Davidson, assessment confirmed. Carried.

Michael Heffernan appealed on assessment of Lot 20, Con. 10. Moved by Burns, seconded by Huston, that he be reduced $100 on land and $100 on buildings. Carried.

Mrs. Jean Campbell asked to have the Soldiers' Settlement Board assessed for part of Lot 14, Con. 6. On motion by Bolin and seconded by Davidson, her request was granted. Carried.

Harry Drummond appealed on assessment of Lot 29, Con. 7. Moved by Davidson, seconded by Bolin, assessment be confirmed. Carried.

Richard Hope appealed on assessment of Lot 26, Con. 6. Moved by Huston, seconded by Bolin, that he be reduced $200. Carried.

David Thompson appealed on assessment of Lot 18, Con. 16, owing to the Hydro towers that have been erected across said lot. After lengthy discussion, Council decided they would not take any action, as it would involve a number of lots across Otonabee, and although they thought these ratepayers had a real grievance yet under the circumstances they could take no action.

The Court of Revision was closed for 1930.

Wheat Gains Following Crop Damage Reports

CHICAGO, Ills. May 31.—(C.P.)—Reports of severe crop damage from dust storms in Saskatchewan province, Canada, gave a brisk early upturn to wheat prices to-day. An official estimate that the 1930 wheat crop of India is 71,000,000 bushels larger than last year's total was virtually ignored. Starting unchanged to 1 3-8 higher, wheat later showed an all-around advance. Corn, oats and provisions developed firmness, too, with corn opening ¼-⅜ up and subsequently going a little higher but then reacting somewhat.

ENGLAND HAS AUTO RACES

LONDON, — Speedway dirt track racing is now under way in England. A few preliminary races were staged shortly after Easter. League competitions started in the middle of May.

League competition had its tyro last year in the north of England and proved so popular that a similar league has been formed in southern England. Teams of six riders represent league members.

The policy of rigorously barring betting will again be followed this season. Dirt track racing is one of the few sports in Great Britain where the "bookie" isn't a leading figure.

BRIDGENORTH

Rev. Mr. Totten of Bridgenorth United Church, who attended the conference which was held at Cobourg, was called home, owing to the death of the late Mr. George Cockburn, of Smith.

Miss Lucy Styles of Toronto, spent the holiday, with her Aunt, Mrs. Charles Robinson of Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hunter, and Mr. and Mrs. Max Archer, of 4th line of Smith, left on Thursday, for a motor trip through the northern west, where will visit a number of friends.

Miss Osborne of Lakefield, was in the village on Saturday night.

The many friends of Mrs. George Deyell, are sorry to hear that she is confined to her bed. Mr. and Mrs. Deyell had planned on taking a trip out West, but owing to Mrs. Deyell's illness, they were compelled to stay at home.

Mr. and Mrs. Melville McWilliams, of Bridgenorth were visitors in Buckhorn, on Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jackson of Orange Corners, were recent guests in this vicinity.

Mr. Harry Mann of Ottawa, attended the funeral of the late Mr. George Cockburn of Smith.

Mr. Dave Hunter, Ayrshire Field man of Ontario, was at the home of Mr. J. G Mann and son, of Smith.

TWO LOG DRIVES ROLLING TO MILL

Mississauga and Eel's Creek Cuts Now in Kawarthas and Stoney Lake.

BRIGHT BUILDING OUTLOOK.

Rapid progress has been made with the two drives of logs that are fast rolling to the mills of The Peterborough Lumber Company, Ltd., in this city. The Mississauga drive, the first drive of logs on the Kawartha system to reach deep water this season, is already nearing Burleigh Falls and Eel's Creek drive is all in Stoney Lake, and, with the aid of "The Islanda" steamboat, is working down to Young's Point, where both outfits will join, and it is anticipated that it will be possible to open the sawmill about the middle of June. Peterborough's oldest established and well-known lumber company will again operate its mill with two shifts and run at night as well as during the day. As usual, it will have the largest cut of logs of any lumber mill in this section of the province.

Millwrights have been busy for the past few weeks putting the mill in shape for the reception of the logs on arrival at the jack-ladder, when about fifty additional men, who have been looking forward to this event, will be given employment.

Interviewed by The Examiner, the officials of the company, satisfied with the continued stability of the building industry in this city, feel that local conditions justify the increased output which has characterized their operations during the past few years, and look forward to a continuance of healthy business for the balance of the present year.

ANNUAL MEETING OF LOCAL BRANCH OF THE W. C. T. U.

Mrs. S. D. Carver Gives Interesting Talk on "The Loyal Temperance Legion."

PLAN STRAWBERRY SOCIAL.

The annual meeting of the local W. C.T.U. was held on Wednesday last in the Y.W.C.A. green room with 22 members present. The president, Mrs. C. H. Edwards, was in the chair and a fine program was presented, opening with singing and prayer.

The minutes of the last annual meeting were read and a report given by the treasurer. The "clip sheet" was conducted by Mrs. A. B. Cunningham in the absence of Mrs. Plunkett, and the question under discussion was "Does Prohbition Prohibit?" Interesting papers were given by several members, all showing that prohibition does, or will, prohibit.

Mrs. Rowe led the devotional period, reading fifteen verses of the 10th chapter of Corinthians, and Mrs. Dr. Brown offered prayer.

A very interesting and comprehensive talk on "The Loyal Temperance Legion" was given by Mrs. S. D. Carver. The annual report of the Legion showed that the encouragements far outnumber the discouragements met during the year. This work is essentially one dealing with the child of to-day.

Enlarged vision is necessary if you would have successful leaders in this branch of the W.C.T.U. endeavor.

The home the church the school and the W.C.T.U. owe a debt eternal to the rising generation.

The boys and girls of to-day are men and women in the making. They are the voters and the lawmakers the social educational and philanthropic leaders of to-morrow. The W.C.T.U. dare not evade its responsibility to the young life. Every child has the right to be well born; every child has the right to a good education and to be safe-guarded morally and the welfare of the child is the basic reason for the total abstinence of the parents.

Herbert Hoover president of the United States was a "Band of Hope" boy. The greatest asset to Canada is her children. It is these children who will give us a "dry" country if we but give them the proper instruction now. "Education holds the key which unlocks the golden treasures of youth," said Mrs. Carver, in closing her splendid address, with a strong appeal for more earnest efforts in behalf of the children.

The following list of officers for the coming year was presented by the Nominating Committee and approved.

A novel way in which to increase the funds of the society was a "Dollar Day, moved by Mrs. T. H. Graham, and seconded by Mrs. Barrie, the date to be arranged later.

A strawberry social is another festive affair in the offing and Mrs. S. D. Carver graciously offered her home and grounds for the occasion, which will be in the early part of July.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered the press for their kindly assistance throughout the past year.

Thanks were also expressed for the use of the Mark street United Church for the presentation of prizes won during the recent Sunday school contest. The meeting was closed with prayer, led by the president, Mrs. Edwards.

The following officers were elected for year 1930-31:

Honorary presidents— Mrs. A. E. Micks, Mrs. A. G. Choate, Mrs. M. A. Morrison.

President—Mrs. E. H. Edwards.

Vice-presidents—Mrs. A. B. Cunningham, Mrs. S. D. Carver and Mrs. T. H. Graham.

Secretary—Miss E. Might.

Correspondence secretary— Mrs. G. H. Rowe.

Tresaurer—Mrs. E. Wande.

Nominating Committee—Mrs. H. T. Waters, Mrs. J. Stencer, Mrs. E. Walton and Mrs. G. Manning.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

When the easiest way is the best way...

There are no two ways about it! Certainly the easiest way to get the most for every dollar you spend is to buy products that you know about through the advertisements in your daily paper. You don't have to go out and look for buying opportunities. The advertisements bring them to you. And all you need do is consider the facts, compare values and decide on the soap or the sedan that best fits your judgment and your pocketbook.

Certainly the best way of making your money go farthest is to buy merchandise of proved value. Advertised merchandise. Merchandise that is bought and used by many people. Merchandise that must be superlatively good enough for its maker to keep calling it to the attention of people day after day and year after year.

This is the service—of convenience and profit—that the advertisements offer you every day. It will pay you to read them regularly and take advantage of everything they can do for you.

DESCENDANTS OF KERR FAMILY LIVING IN LINDSAY DISTRICT

Life of Original Occupants of Old Log House Recalled By Members of Family.

MANY DESCENDANTS.

BETHANY, May 31.—In several recent issues of the Post much comment has been made over an old log house unearthed while digging sewers at the court house, and effort to trace former owners of any has been published.

The land, as has been stated, was taken from the Crown by one Samuel Kerr. He took five acres of land where the court house and jail now stand from the Crown in the year 1845. That same year he also married a young Irish lady, Elizabeth Blackwell, who was on a visit to her brother, Edward Blackwell, at a small village near Lindsay, called Cottingham's village, but was later named Omemee.

Samuel Kerr and his bride set up house in the small log structure now causing so much comment. About a year later Mr. Kerr opened a general store on William street where everything needful to the settlers could be purchased. In connection with store he conducted a bakery business and at that time it was called the Lindsay bakery.

To Samuel Kerr and his wife were born 12 children and as the family grew Mr Kerr decided that a farm was the best place to raise a family, so he sold out his business and bought a farm in the township of Emily, near what was then known as Downey's Cross, but latter named Downeyville. This farm is still in the Kerr name although it is not cultivated but used for ranching purposes.

History of Family.

Six of the Kerr children reached maturity and the eldest son, Edward, passed away on New Year's Day 1929 at his home near Lorneville from pneumonia. Another son, Samuel, died a few years previous at his home near Argyle; both had large families all of which are living.

Three daughters went ot live in the U.S.A., Elizabeth (Mrs. A. Baltimore) and Sarah (Mrs. James O'Dell of Rochester, N.Y., have passed on. Just a few years ago, while the youngest son, William Blackwell Kerr, is still living at 157 Harvard street, Rochester, N.Y. and the youngest daughter, Susan (Mrs. Wallace Martin) is living at 8146 Bryden Ave., Detroit, Michigan.

Samuel Kerr's descendants were 29 grandchildren, 38 great grandchildren, the majority of whom are living in and around Lindsay and make it their shopping centre. Samuel Kerr's sister, Abigail, was the wife of William Corley who owned the property where the Lindsay Golf Links are now situated and whose only surviving child is Miss Abigail Corley, Kent street west.

Last September the Kerr family held a re-union on the Memorial Park, Lindsay, where the descendants of the Samuel Kerr in question with uncles, aunts and cousins to the number of almost a hundred gathered from all parts to renew acquaintances and where if all is well they expect to meet again this year.

FARMERS ENTERTAIN TWO SERVICE CLUBS

March of this year we had on hand 10,000,000 bushels less wheat than we had a year ago."

"Because of Ontario's location, soil and climate it has a place second to none on the North American continent. The men engaged in agriculture in this province have an ancestry of which they might well be proud. They have British traditions and I have the utmost confidence that they are able to overcome the problems that arise from time to time."

Continuing, he said: "We in Ontario have a lot to be thankful for. There are many things found in rural Ontario that are found nowhere else in the world."

He stressed the need for more agricultural education, stating his belief that Ontario had been slow in this regard. There was an important place for the agricultural vocational school, and the importance of this branch of training was impressing itself upon farmers. He pointed out that nearly all the European countries had for many years given close attention to elementary agricultural education and the governments gave considerable assistance to this work.

Last year he stated that 1,800 boys and girls attended the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph, and drew attention to the work carried on at the Kemptville School and at the five demonstration farms in the province. The work of education was also being carried on by the Fruit Branch, Women's Institute, and the Agricultural Representatives, which now number 61. The Colonization and Immmigration Branch last year looked after 1,600 and 1,700 boys, seeing to their health and to their establishment on farms.

"It is not enough to teach better ways and methods and give better education, but we must impress upon the boys and girls higher ideals and higher motives," he said. "They must learn to live better and enjoy fuller lives."

Irish Market.

Touching on some of the markets that Ontario should seek for its products, he stated that at present in the north of Ireland there was a market for as much pure flaxseed as could be produced on 10,000 acres of land. In the Scandinavian countries there was a market for 10,000 barrels of first grade apples.

The Deputy Minister referred pointedly to the fact that Ontario had lost its market for barley in the west of England because of the weeds. The barley entering that part of England is now being shipped from San Francisco, he said.

"I doubt whether we know so much of business as we think we do," Mr. Fairburn said, explaining that Denmark buys low-grade grain from Ontario for feed for pigs and then turns around and beats Ontario's bacon on the British market.

"The end of education is character, and the test of character is service," he stated, in addressing a few words of appreciation to the work being carried on by the service clubs.

In closing, he made an earnest appeal for urban dwellers to purchase Ontario farm products. "The products grown in Ontario are second to none; I care not from where they come," he said, "and as you help us by buying our products we will help you."

He intimated that his Department is going to make an effort to devise some method by which the activity on the farms in the winter may be increased. This was aimed at trying to relieve some of the winter unemployment in the cities.

Tom McIndoo introduced Mr. Fairburn and James Hawthorne, Warden of the County, and S. S. Staples moved the vote of thanks.

Splendid musical numbers and readings enriched the program. Those contributing this entertainment were: Miss Phyllis Moore, Stewart Dawson, Miss Helen Staples and Mrs. Harold Dawson.

SUNDAY SERVICES ST. PAUL'S CHURCH

Sermon Subjects Promise To Be Unusually Interesting Nature to Members of Congregation.

The sermon subjects at St. Paul's Church on Sunday promise to be of an unusually interesting nature, particularly to the members of this church. As announced in another part of the paper, the morning subject is: "A Crisis" with the following panel added: "This will be the most important message of my five years' ministry at St. Paul's. Much depends upon the attitude of the congregation to it. Every member is urged to attend."

On making inquiries of some of the congregation as to what it all meant, we were informed that they were at a loss to know. "Certainly it cannot be a question of trouble within the congregation, as the utmost harmony prevails," was the remark of one member of the congregation.

At the evening hour the subject is announced as "Sparrows in the Organ" with this additional note: "When the music is not all you would like it to be, do you think a fault-finding-critical spirit is likely to help matters? Hear the sermon before you give your answer."

HOME TOWNERS

Tidbits, Interesting and Humorous
CAMPBELLFORD

Despite the heavy rain during the past two weeks, the crops in the district are in good condition, and there is every prospect that this year's crop will be a good one. All that is needed now is a spell of warm weather.

Mrs. H. J. Johnston, who met her death recently in the level crossing accident at Cobourg, was a cousin of a resident of Campbellford, Mrs. Charles Hay.

Summer tourists have started to arrive at the resorts around Campbellford. Mr. Fred Smith, at Cedar Villa, has several registered at that point, some being from Buffalo, N.Y.

The Messrs. J. R. Battisby, Morgan and T. McCook, were business visitors to Peterborough on Wednesday.

Major J. F. B. Belfort, was a visitor to town on Friday.

Mr. H. Lapp, of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, has purchased a new Durant car from Morgan and Battisby, local dealers.

In addition to the cup, presented for the past three years by the Royal Bank, to the cheese makers of the district, H. Lapp, manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, had announced that that institution will give a competition trophy for 1930.

Mr. Ruddick, Canada's Dairy Commissioner, is expected to inspect the grading stations of Central Ontario, early in the season. He will be accompanied by J. L. Irwin.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dunk and family, left Thursday evening by car, for Chicago.

Carl Haig, son of Mrs. J. P. Haig, Sebastppol street, has passed his finals in medicine at Queens University, and has been awarded his M.D. It is expected that he will shortly take a position in a Boston hospital....

Mr. and Mrs. William Lucy, of Peterborough, spent the holiday with their son, Mr. G. Lucy, and Mrs. Lucy.

Miss Leah Watering has completed her second year's examinations in the Hamilton Hospital, where she is a nurse-in-training.

Mrs. G. T. Dickson is in Bowmanville attenting the Peterborough Presbyterial W.M.S., of the Presbyterian Church.

Mr. Ted Hubble and Miss Nellie Haig, spent the holidays with their mother, Mrs. J. Haig.

Mrs. H. T. Free, and her son Mr. Harry B. Free, have returned from their trip to Great Britain.

FINAL MEETING OF W. A..

Presentation Featured at Last Meeting of Ladies of Christ Church, Campbellford.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 31. (By Examiner Staff Correspondent.)—Concluding the winter's activities, the W.A. of Christ Church held their final meeting at the home of Mrs. G. C. Bromley on Thursday, when a full attendance was registered.

A feature of the meeting, which was of a social nature, was the presentation by little Shirley Bromley, of a miniature birthday cake, to Mrs. Jack Linton, who was celebrating that event. Mrs. Linton also received a bouquet of tulips from Laurel Bromley, and replied in a pleasing manner to both the gifts.

The W. A. have had a very successful years work, and are closing for the summer with the past accomplishments to their credit.

A very dainty afternoon tea was served by the ladies before the conclusion of the meeting.

Medical inspection of schools is just being put into force in Ireland.

CLYDESDALE HOME IS DESTROYED BY FIRE

Dennis O'Brien Suffers Heavy Property Loss—Apsley Township News.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

APSLEY, May 31. — A house occupied by Dennis O'Brien of Clydesdale, was destroyed by fire with nearly all the contents on Tuesday afternoon. A passer-by saw one end of the house in flames, and rushing to the scene found Mrs. O'Brien in another part of the house utterly unaware of her dwelling being on fire. The men of the house were at work in the woods, and knew nothing of their misfortune until returning to supper they found only the smoking ashes of their home to greet them.

Work on the Burleigh Road will commence immediately, starting from the Depot Bridge northward. T. P. Lancaster, M.P.P., was in the village on Wednesday in connection with the laying out of the grant of $8000.

Wednesday was "settling up" day with the Peterborough Lumber Company, and Messrs. Dickson Davidson and Fred Overend were in the village for that purpose. The business was completed expeditiously and to the complete satisfaction of all concerned, there being no question as to the accuracy of the accounts, the total reaching a considerable figure. The drive of about 45,000 logs has now reached Stoney Lake, having made good time.

During service on Tuesday evening at St. Paul's Anglican church, Lasswade, the congregation's attention was drawn to an unusual sight. A large black bear was seen in an adjoining field that had just been sown with oats, ostensibly hunting for his supper. It is a moot question whether the preacher or the bear held the greater attention of the worshippers.

The Fire Rangers' Department has eased up a little during the last two weeks, after a strenuous time combatting bush fires. Chief Ranger Hass states that from April 16 to May 16, no less than sixty two fires had been fought in his district, none of which fortunately attained very serious proportions.

Women's Association Meeting At Warsaw

Results of Copper Contest Announced—Pleasing Program Provided By Members.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

WARSAW, May 31. — The regular meeting of the United Church Women's Association, was entertained by Mrs. Gordon Payne at her home, on Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Herrington was in the chair. None of the ladies were present to give a report from the trustees about painting the outside wood work on the church.

It was decided to hold a Mothers' and Babies' Day at the June meeting and a committee was appointed to arrange it. Mrs. David Taylor will have charge. The executive was authorized to take action regarding the play.

The results of the copper contest showed that Mrs. McCauley's side with coppers dated 1920 and 1921 was ahead of Mrs Digweed's with coppers dated 1912 and 1913, by 93 cents.

Mrs. Herrington sang "Into a Tent" and accompanied herself on the autoharp.

Mrs. R. Matthews read the parable of the Ten Virgins, Matthew xx, vs. 1-13.

Mrs. Herrington, on the words "the door was shut," then led in prayer. She afterwards spoke of the wonderful faith and trust shown by Mrs. George Garbutt, through all her long illness, and then played "Nearer my God to Thee" on the autoharp.

Lunch was served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Anderson, Mrs. R. Matthews and Mrs. W. Cooper. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Payne for her kind hospitality.

TARIFF CHANGES OUTSTANDING IN SESSION REVIEW

Budget Brought Down By Dunning Most Sweeping in Years.

LIQUOR ACT BIG STEP.

Divorce Bill Was Most Hotly Contested Measure in House.

Parliametnary review:

OTTAWA, Ont., May 31.—(C.P.) — The more important legislation passed during the session of Parliament which closed last night, includes:

Tariff changes brought in by the budget.

Provision for bounty on Canadian coal used as coke for smelting purposes.

Reduction in the sales tax.

Reduction in the tax on sales of shares of stock.

Changes in the income tax.

Return of the natural resources to Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

Return of certain Crown lands to British Columbia.

Refusal of clearances on liquor from Canada destined to the United States.

Pension Changes.

Changes in the pensions of war veterans.

War Veterans' Allowance Act.

Transfer of Ontario divorce applications from Parliament to the Courts of the Province.

Ratification of the Naval Treaty.

Approval of the recommendations made by conference in London on Dominion legislation and merchant shipping legislation.

Ratification of the protocols of the Permanent Court of International Justice one for revision of the statute and one respecting the accession of the United States.

Rewriting of the Canada Grain Act, including many amendments.

Fair wage provisions in Government contracts.

Extensive amendments to the Companies Act.

Amendments to the Dominion Elections Act.

Changes in the Criminal Code.

Most Sweeping Budget.

The budget brought down by Hon. C. A. Dunning on May 1 was the most sweeping of recent years. It made three hundred changes in the tariff. There were a great number of increases in the iron and steel schedules in the intermediate and general classifications. A large number of reductions under the British preference were provided for. A composite tariff which provided for an ad valorem duty when prices were high and a seasonal specific duty when the prices were low, was instituted in the case of an important list of fruits and vegetables. Another type of duty that was to some extent an innovation was termed a "countervailing tariff. It fixed the same rates on a number of products coming from a foreign country as that country levied against the same class of Canadian goods.

Sales Tax Lowered

The lowering of the sales tax from two percent to one percent and the reduction in the tax on the sale and transfer of shares of stock instituted a year ago, were other important features of the budget.

A number of changes were made in the Income War Tax Act the most discussed being one that exempted to one tenth of a taxpayer's income, donations to charitable purposes.

A bounty of 49½ cents a ton on Canadian coal, converted into coke to be used in smelting iron and steel was also provided for. This particularly applies to the steel and iron industry in Nova Scotia and off-sets the draw-back of duty allowed the steel industry on bituminous coal imported for similar purposes.

The transfer of the natural resources to the Western Provinces follows years of negotiations and much accounting.

One of the most discussed measures passed by the session just concluded was that which forbids the clearance of liquor from this country destined to the United States. It is in effect to-day and follows requests from the United States Government that Canada assist in this way the enforcement of the Volstead Act.

The bill which transfers divorce jurisdiction in Ontario from Parliament to the courts of that Province was the most hotly contested of any before the House of Commons this session. It gave rise to a whole series of divisions and many of them were close.

The debate on the recommendations of the sub-committee of the imperial conference with respect to bringing existing laws and usages into conformity with the equality of status now enjoyed by the various states of the British Emire, brought up again the old difference of opinion as to whether Canada has equal status with Great Britain.

Pensions Act Amended

The amendments to the Pensions Act, together with the way Veterans Allowance Act, constituted the major legislation of the session respecting returned soldiers. Far-reaching in their scope, the amendments have the effect of completely revising the whole system under which pensions are administered.

With the decision for a speedy appeal to the people, a number of intended measures went by the board. The chief of these was the consideration of the radio broadcasting report which was to have been submitted to a committee but the committee never met.

An amendment to the Criminal Code to prevent the publication of tips and odds on horse races was passed by the House of Commons but defeated in the Senate.

HOUSE WINS RACE AGAINST TIME

Act, if the writs were not issued yesterday, the former date was impossible.

Crowded galleries attended the Commons all day. During the evening, when prorogation and dissolution took place, there were practically no seats available. Under an agreement between all parties, when the House opened for the afternoon sitting, it remained in session until all the business was completed. Even through the usual dinner adjournment, the galleries remained crowded.

Last Item Passes at 9.30.

At 9.30 o'clock the last item in supply was passed, the bills introduced and given three readings and the House prorogued by the Speaker. A delay then was caused through the necessary formality of the Senate approving the bills. Under the constitution, the Upper Chamber had no license to amend or change the bills but the approval of that body was necessary.

Consequently it was almost 11 o'clock before His Excellency the Governor-General dissolved Parliament. The election writs then were issued, and by a scant margin of about 60 minutes, the election date of July 28 was assured.

In the Commons, while the members awaited summons to the Senate Chamber for the dissolution ceremonies to take place, the time was whiled away by the usual singing of old-time songs. But it was very noticeable that an election was pending. The ceremonies lacked the boisterousness and the hilarity of mid-session prorogations. It was easy to see that some members realized they might be sitting in the House of Commons for the last time.

In the Senate, the ceremonies lacked the dash and color of opening day. His Excellency, seated on the raised rostrum, surrounded by his aides-de-camp in their brilliant uniforms, delivered the speech from the Throne. Stress was laid on the legislation enacted during the session and of the importance of holding an election this summer. Announcement was made of conferences to be held on unemployment and on immigration.

To Help You Choose!

FOR everyone who plans to build a home, the question of roofing looms large in importance. If you choose haphazardly you may pay a heavy penalty in leaks, weather disfigurement, fire. If you choose with care and exercise good taste your reward will be a Brantford Roof of unique charm—a roof that combines rich, vibrant colour harmonies with the last word in protection.

To help you make the right choice the Brantford Roofing Company has prepared a fascinating series of cards, depicting in actual colours the popular designs obtainable in Brantford Asphalt Slates.

Blue black and tile red are the dominating colours of "Singapore" which is laid in a staggered design. "Trinidad" in ripe, rich hues borrowed from the West Indies is the result of combining red and tile red in equal proportions.

The harmony of buff, bronze and olive in the "Vienna" treatment will bring warmth and personality to your home.

Old-world charm and colour warmth mingle in the red, tile red and purple design of "Mosque" a thatched treatment that has been popular since its introduction.

"Mandalay" has the ringing colour tones of Kipling's song, but massive in design, it presents an aspect of substantial dignity.

"Cairo" with its colour harmonies is like a memory of Egyptian bazaars. "Barcelona" and "Madrid" recall to mind the sunny gardens of old Spain.

And all these Brantford Asphalt Slate designs are permanently fire and weather resistant.

Write for this colourful series of cards portraying the many style effects of Brantford Roofs for your home.

Mr. and Mrs. Firm Haig of Toronto were week-end visitors with Mrs. Haig's sister, Mrs. Joseph Kiernan. They were accompanied back to the city by the latter, who will spend a few days in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gray of Trenton were also holiday visitors with Mrs. Kiernan.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Haig and Miss Olive, all of Toronto, were visitors with Mr. Haig's father, Mr. Firm Haig.

Mr. George Rorke of Toronto spent the holiday at his home here.

Mrs. (Dr.) Cawley of Chapleau is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Armstrong.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Jackson and little daughter, Mary, all of Willowdale, spent the holiday and week-end with Mrs. Jackson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Hogg.

Mrs. Kindred and daughter, Vivian, of Tweed, were holiday visitors with Mr. and Mrs. James Craighead.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Roche and Miss Marguerite Roche motored to Kingston, and spent the holiday and week end with friends there.

While fishing in Plateau Creek, about two miles east of Havelock, Little Frank Ellis had the good fortune to catch a three-pound speckled trout, measuring nineteen inches from nose to tail. This was really a beauty, and it is understood the fish is to be mounted.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Joyce and little daughter of Toronto spent the holiday and week end the guests of Mr. Harry Joyce.

Miss Mabel Breckenridge spent the holiday and week end with her parents at Round Lake.

Messrs. Harry and Will Sexsmith spent the holiday with friends at Smith Falls.

Mr. William Vandervoort of Smith Falls spent Saturday at his home here.

Mrs. Archie Laing and baby daughter of Toronto were holiday visitors with Mrs. J. Laing.

Mr. and Mrs. Griffen and small son of Peterborough were recent visitors with Mrs. G. Griffen's mother, Mrs. Abe. Fillion.

Mr. and Mrs. Abe. Fillion visited Mr. and Mrs. William Hamilton at Cordova last week.

Born—At Cordova on May 18, to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Edwards, a daughter.

Mr. Isaac Barlow has returned from Toronto where he visited relatives and friends.

Rev. and Mrs. P. C. Howard were in Toronto last week, attending the Anglican Synod.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Aunger and two sons were in the village last week attending the funeral of the late Allie Rylott.

The regular meeting of Havelock Women's Institute will be held in the council chamber on Wednesday, June 4, at 2 p.m. The summer speaker, Miss Aletta Smith, of Clanford Station, will address the meeting. All ladies are invited to attend this meeting.

Mr. Arthur Bannon of Toronto was a recent visitor with Havelock relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Bryans and little daughter spent the holiday the guest of Mr. Bryans' parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Bryans.

Miss Edith Greenley of Toronto spent the holiday and Sunday with her mother here.

Miss Sara Leonard spent the holiday at her home in Marmora.

NORHAM

The special meeting of the Percy Women's Institute of the 1930 summer series was held at the home of Mrs. Lorne Evans on Tuesday, May 27. There were eighty ladies present.

Mrs. J. Greenley, first vice-president, presided at the meeting.

The meeting was opened by singing the Institute Ode and repeating the Lord's Prayer. The minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. Black.

Mrs. Harper reported regarding the box that was ready to be sent to Bancroft Hospital.

Mrs. Frank Bowen sang very sweetly, 'Land of My Golden Dreams.

After the roll call, the secretary gave the annual report for last year which reported 72 members, 12 meetings held, $619 raised, and a balance of about $500 on hand. A synopsis of the programs and special work of the past year was given.

Mrs. E. A. Wright of Odessa, the special speaker for the East Northumberland summer series gave the address of the afternoon.

She commenced by speaking of the responsibility of mothers toward the young people of the day, along the line of recreation and pleasures. She said: "Don't think for the young people, think with them." Her address was ideas for Institute work and meetings.

She spoke of the courses that were available for Institute members. Two new ones are, needlecraft course, and home handycraft. Then the coaching classes for girls. The girls are three years behind the boys, but any class of 10 may enter the coaching classes, and trips are being offered as awards.

A suggestion for flowers for the sick is to buy bulbs and send a flowering plant to the sick of the neighborhood.

She suggested that at the election of officers, the vice-president rotate, and step up each year, also that at least once a quarter a vice-president be given the opportunity of presiding at a meeting.

The Institute should know the laws of the land, especially relating to women and children. These should have a place on the program.

A convener of current events could make a splendid addition to each program.

Also a suggestion box, often drew out those timid ladies who were afraid to hear themselves talk.

Christmas gifts exchanged at Christmas time makes an interesting meeting. Also mock trials, debates, Institute moving pictures were all suggestions.

The W.I. Commandments

The Institute Ten Commandments are:

(1) Thou shalt not make dress thy chief thought;

(2) Thou shalt cultivate the habit of promptness;

(3) Thou shault not make fun of the Institutes;

(4) Remember the first Wednesday of the month as Institute Day;

(5) Honor thy Institute membership;

(6) Do not use slang;

(7) Thou shalt think good thoughts.

(8) Thou shalt not waste time;

(9 Thou shalt not gossip;

(1) Thou shalt not covet anything that is thy neighbors.

The speaker urged the use of demonstrations. She spoke of the good cook who would not pass on her recipes but said teamwork and co-operation was what was needed.

All the cases of Bovine T.B. in the Sick Children's Hospital come from rural Ontario because the cities use pasteurized milk. The value of pasteurized milk and how to do it was given. Community picnics, field days and publicity were other subjects touched on. Mrs. Wright closed with a poem, "Greatness," by Edgar Guest.

Samples of Canadian-made fabrics were passed around. A report of the cemetery fence committee was given by Mrs. Walker. Mrs. Smale gave a humorous reading, "Mrs. Smart Learns to Skate." After the singing of the National Anthem a very dainty lunch was served.

FENELLA

Harold Beswetherick of Montreal, Quebec, paid a short visit to friends in the community on Sunday and was guest of his aunt, Mrs. S. Leach.

Andrew Macklin visited his sister, Mrs. Kellogg, Welcome, on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Leach and children, Lenore and Don, were recent visitors at Mr. Harry Beswetherick's, Warkworth.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Sherwin and family of Cobourg spent May 24 with their relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Phoenix Warner.

Messrs. S. and N. C. Leach were among the many who attended the annual church service of Percy Lodge A.F. and A.M. held in Morganston United church on Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Howard Maclin's many friends will be pleased to know she is recovering from a recent illness.

The Misses Ruth Knox, Ruth McFiggin, Donna Falling and Iva Rogers of Cobourg C.I. spent the holiday and week end at their respective homes here.

Jack Macklin is improving his property by erecting a new barn, the cement foundation is about completed.

EAST EMILY.

Miss Hazel Hunter, R.N., of Toronto, was the guest of her sister, Mrs. Vincent Fee, this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwood Harrison were visitors to Peterborough on Friday evening.

Mr. David McAdam and son Bob, made a business trip to Oshawa on Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. George Lowes and son, Vernon, spent the holiday with their daughter, Miss Gladys Lowes at Kinmount.

The Bethel United Sunday school will hold their annual picnic on Wednesday afternoon, June 11.

Mrs. Irene Burley was a visitor to Lindsay on Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Fry and family of Lindsay were guests at the home of Mr. Joseph McCarrell on Sunday evening.

The many friends of Mrs. T. Shannon are sorry to learn of her being confined to her bed through illness.

Mr. Clarence Harrison and friend, of Peterborough, spent the holiday visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Harrison.

Mrs. Samuel Fee is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Madill, in Toronto, this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hunter left on Thursday morning on a motor trip as far as Alberta and expect to be away all the month of June. Their trip one way will be about twenty-five hundred miles.

Mr. and Mrs. Allie Fee, and daughter, Miss Mildred, spent Sunday visiting with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Widdiss of Victoria Road.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Hunter of Cavanville, attended the funeral of the late Mr. Samuel Fee on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bell of Peterborough, were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Allie Fee on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Basil Richards and children, with the former's mother, Mrs. Chas. Richards of Millbrook, were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Casey, last week.

Mr. George Newman was a visitor to Lindsay on Monday.

Miss Irene Fee of Toronto was called home on Saturday owing to the death of her father, Mr. Samuel Fee.

Messrs Roy and Victor Fee of Detroit, were called home on Saturday, owing to the death of their father, Mr. Samuel Fee.

STURDY CHILDHOOD

The sturdy child—the bright, active little chap is the one everybody loves. It is only the sickly, fretful child who is not attractive. It is the birthright of every child to be sturdy and well—to be able to make everyone admire him. Therefore, mothers, if yours is not attractive it's your fault, not his. He must be ailing and it is up to you to see that he gets relief—that he is given a medicine that will quickly make him well and keep him well.

Baby's Own Tablets are especially designed for infants and young children. There is nothing to equal them for correcting the irregularities of the stomach and bowels—the cause of most of the ills from which little ones suffer. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

OBITUARY

KENNETH ALVIN SCOTT.

FENELON FALLS, May 31. — Kenneth Alvin Scott, only son of Mr. J. E. Scott, of Moore and Scott, General Merchants, Fenelon Falls, died at his home, Queen street, on Friday, May 23rd, at the age of seven years. Kenneth was born at Peterborough, but came when an infant to reside at Fenelon Falls, and was ill only about a week. The deepest sympathy is extended to his bereaved and sorrowing parents, and to his little sister, Audrey, who feels his loss so keenly. The funeral was held from the family residence, on Sunday, May 25th, at 4 o'clock p.m.; service at the house half an hour earlier was conducted by the Rev. G. C. Washington of the United Church. Interment was made in the Fenelon Falls cemetery and the pall bearers were four small boys namely, George Black, Harry Isaac, Will Welsh and Fred Brandon.

MRS. TIMOTHY CROUGH.

The death occurred on Friday, May 23, after a brief illness, of Catherine A. Gorman, wife of Timothy G. Crough, at their home, lot 8, concession 3, Ennismore.

She is survived by her husband and four children: William, at home, Jas., of Ennismore; Mrs. Peter S. Moloney of Nassau, Mrs. Loyola Moloney of Nassau; also one sister, Mrs. D. H. Quinlan, of Ennismore.

Interment took place in St. Martin's cemetery on Monday, May 26, after solemn High Mass, sung by Rev. P. J. McCauley, who also officiated at the grave.

Pall bearers were James Killen, James Gifford, Joseph Quinlan, Joseph Holland, Edward Sullivan and P. G. Sullivan.

She Suffered with Painful Lame Back

Nova Scotia Lady Used Dodd's Kidney Pills

"I have used Dodd's Kidney Pills on several occasions" writes Mrs. Amos J. Wentzell, a resident of Barss' Corners, N.S. "Last summer I used three boxes, my back was lame and very painful at times. Thinking it was caused through my kidneys I took some Dodd's Kidney Pills and found they did me a whole lot of good."

Backache is generally Kidney Ache. This pain usually indicates some disorder of the kidneys. Dodd's Kidney Pills relieve Backache by toning up the kidneys to do their work of straining all the impurities, all the poisons, out of the blood. Pure blood means good health.

First Canadian Air Flight Took Place 51 Years Ago

TWO MONTREAL INVENTORS WERE THE FIRST MEN ABLE TO STEER BALLOON IN AIR

R. W. Cowan, Retired Merchant, and Father of H. B. Cowan, of Peterborough, Along With Charles Page Accomplished First Air Flight 51 Years Ago This Summer.

MONTREAL WITNESS THEN LEADING CANADIAN DAILY SPONSORED THE FIRST AIR FLIGHT IN CANADA

(By William Edgar.)

MONTREAL, May 31. — The prospective journey from England of the mammoth R-100 is a reminder of the fact that two Canadians, one of whom was the father of H. B. Cowan, Peterborough's well-known citizen, played an important part which has never received due recognition in the evolution of air travel. Fifty-one years ago this summer, took place the first air flight in Canada, sponsored by the Montreal Witness, then a leading Canadian daily newspaper, in a balloon car invented by a Charles Page, an ingenious and skilful mechanic, and R. W. Cowan, a retired merchant, both of the city of Montreal.

The invention had its origin during the Franco-Prussian War, when balloons were used for communication between the besieged city of Paris and the outside world. It was the ill-success of these balloons to serve the purpose for which they were employed — some of them went far astray from their destinations, while others were destroyed by the enemy —which led to thought and calculation to devise some means for controlling and directing the course of a balloon. Messrs. Page and Cowan worked long and earnestly on the problem, and in 1871 had made such progress that Mr. Page was about to leave for France with the model of the invention to introduce it to the military authorities of that country when the enterprise was nipped in the bud by the treaty of peace between France and Germany. For nine years the invention remained untested until in June, 1879, captive ascensions were made by Messrs. Cowan and Page, accompanied by a Mr. Moulton, of the Witness staff, James Creelman, of the New York Herald, and an aeronaut, "Professor" Grimley, the title possibly having been bestowed, as was not infrequent then, by virtue of skill in an unusual art.

First Attempt a Failure.

The first attempt was a failure, as a high wind in the earlier part of the day led Mr. Cowan and Professor Grimley to postpone the experiment for a few hours. By the time the weather had calmed, it was found that the balloon could not be fully inflated and that its lifting capacity was considerably less than had been expected of it. Some extensions attached to the car were then removed, all ballast and provisions were taken out, and two of the party made ascensions in the balloon to a height of 200 feet.

A few days later another trial under more favorable circumstances took place when the balloon reached an altitude of two miles and was successfully steered across the St. Lawrence to St. Jude, a tiny village some forty-five miles from Montreal.

Shortly after leaving the city the sun set and the sky became cloudy. As the balloon climbed upwards, the aeronauts again caught sight of the sun, a great red ball in the west, which disappeared in a few minutes, giving the adventurers the curious experience of witnessing two sunsets in the same evening.

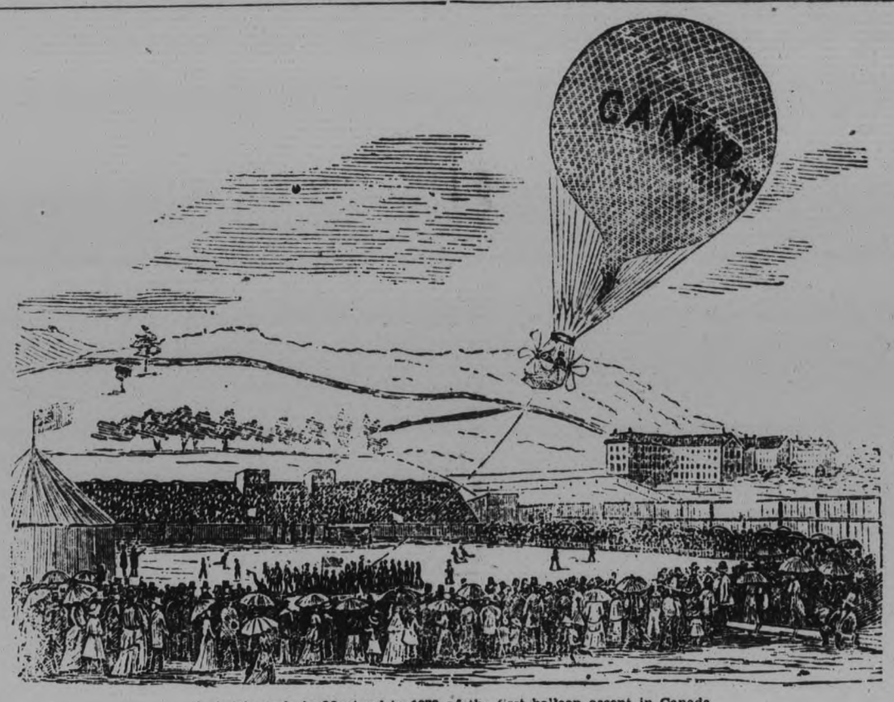
At the highest altitude, the balloon was travelling at a speed estimated at about a mile a minute. With the balloon travelling at this great rate, the bag became distended and began to discharge the gas, the fumes bevery nauseous and adding to the intense discomfort of the men who were suffering from the extreme cold. Near nine o'clock in the semi-darkness of gathering night preparations were made for a descent. In a large clearing the balloon came down with tremendous force, the impact sending it up into the air again, almost throwing out the anxious crew. Then commenced a furious race across the fields, the great weight of the car breaking down fences and smashing everything in its way. The fabric dashed into the forest and plowed through its entire length, mowing off the tops of the trees, and then, clear of the forest, continued its wild career through plowed fields, the car now touching earth and leaving a trace twelve inches deep in the soft soil and alternate ridges and furrows being levelled. After great labor, still hampered by the discharging gas, the men succeeded in weighting down the car and stopping its progress. Grimley became unconscious from inhaling enormous quantities of gas and after being partially brought round by his companion was carried to the home of a French-Canadian settler, who had seen the descent and was unable to speak English and understand their explanation, was firmly convinced that they were supernatural beings.

Alteration Planned.

This flight was valuable in affording data for future development. Difficulties experienced in tacking, altering the course of the airship, and taking advantage of the various currents by leaving an unfavorable one to enter another, either by change of latitude or altitude, induced Messrs. Page and Cowan to devise an airship with a special cigar-shaped navigating car equipped with hand-turned propellers, replacing the customary basket used on the balloons of those days. One needs only to glance at the shape of the envelope and compare it with the air leviathans of the present day to realize that the Montreal pair had contributed a very important idea in the evolution of the airship to its present external shape. It was found, however, that manual power was insufficient and too awkward to operate the machine with advantage, especially in a rough wind. A gas motor to furnish the propelling power was offered for sale to Messrs. Cowan and Page by a Swiss engineer, but apparently nothing came of the negotiations and public interest in the project appears to have become lukewarm, for no further aid was forthcoming. For many years this precursor of the giant airships of the present day lay in the yard of the printing plant of the Montreal Witness, the skeleton of a notable achievement, and it is only within the memory of people now living that lighter than air machines have become an accomplished fact.

Further Flights Made.

Between five and six weeks after the first ascension without the navigating gear, when the balloon was carried by the wind only, a successful flight was made, using the car for the steering and propelling purposes for which it had been designed. Representatives of all three Montreal newspapers took part in the flight, and this test was pronounced a success by all, as it was found possible to cause the balloon to ascend, to descend, and even to go against the wind by means of the mechanism used and the rudder. The Montreal newspapers pronounced this to have been the first successful effort made in the world to navigate a balloon in the air.



A sketch made in Montreal in 1879 of the first balloon ascent in Canada.

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL.

TORONTO, Ont., May 30 (C.P.).—Morris Silverstone, charged with manslaughter during a brawl in Riverdale Park, when James Elson lost his life, was formally committed for trial before the grand jury, in Police Court to-day. The same charge against Norman Ryckman, George Price and Frank Thomson was withdrawn, but may be laid against Thomson when the facts come before the grand jury.

BALLOONS WERE PREVIOUSLY USED IN FRANCO-RUSSIAN WAR IN 1870 BUT THEIR VALUE WAS DOUBTFUL

Valuable Ideas Goined From First Flight Aided Aviation.

FINANCED BY COWAN.

Men Invented Car During the Great Struggle Then in Europe.

Aviation is admitted to be one of the most daring and perilous fields of human endeavor and its pioneers naturally deserve special honors because of the dangers they encountered in making those first flights in flimsy machines.

The first flight made in Canada was accomplished fifty-one years ago this summer in Montreal. The flight and the valuable ideas gained from it, which helped aviation was made possible through the financial backing of R. W. Cowan, father of H. B. Cowan of this city. Mr. Cowan was a wealthy retired merchant and he financed Charles Page, who was known as "a very ingenious and skilful mechanic."

Had Field in Franco-Prussian War

"Aeronatics", to use the term then in vogue, was in its infancy when Page and Cowan made their daring attempt to bring an entirely new feature into flying. Balloons had been used in Europe to some extent during the Franco-Prussian war of 1870, and had proved of somewhat doubtful value as an arial method of escape to the beleaguered citizens, just as captive balloons, commonly nicknamed sausages, proved only partially successful as observation posts in the Great War.

Yet the possibility of using the air for travel and the balloon as the means of travel had seized the imagination of these two men, Page and Cowan. These men's names were on the lips of all the citizens of Montreal who keenly watched their attempts to fly.

Page, financed by Mr. Cowan, designed a special "cigar-shaped" navigating car, equipped with hand-turned propellers, which was intended to substitute the customary basket used on the balloons of those days.

Messrs. Page and Cowan were conscious that the spherical-shaped balloon was not ideally adapted to propelled and directed flight. There is no record that these men ever constructed the cigar-shaped balloon, however. The "aeronaut" in charge of the flight was Professor Grimley, the title possibly having been bestowed, as was not infrequent then, by virtue of his skill at an unusual art.

Took Advantage of Air Currents.

These men were directly concerned in the problem of tacking, that is altering the course of the airship and taking advantage of the various currents by leaving an unfavorable one to enter a favorable one, either by change of altitude or of latitude. They aimed at propelling their crafts into the currents desired. They knew that their balloon should be cigar-shaped and if their first flight proved successful enough to warrant it they planned to build one. Also they were aware that it would likely be found necessary to have the car firmly attached to the balloon so as two make the two more like an integral, instead of being attached by ropes merely, which allowed it to twist about more or less and thus impede navigation. These improvements have since been made in the modern zepplin.

Offered Gas Engine.

Even at that early date, it was feared that manual power would be insufficient, or too awkward, to operate the machine with advantage, especially when the atmosphere was agitated. In fact a gentleman of Switzerland, offered Messrs. Cowan and Page a gas engine for use in their craft.

These men invented their car during the Franco-Prussian War, when balloons were used for communication between the besieged city of Paris and the outside world. It was the ill-success of these balloons to serve the purpose for which they were employed—some of them went far astray from their destination, while others were destroyed by the enemy—that led to thought and calculation to devise some means for controlling and directing the course of a balloon, and it was from these needs that Messrs. Cowan and Page constructed their balloon.

The invention remained in statuo quo until the summer of 1878, then Professor Grimley having approved of it, the inventors set about constructing a car. Patents were secured in Canada, the United States, Great Britain, France and Germany.

Those who remember how a "bell" had to be used to collect the soot which formed when coal gas was burned in the early days of its use will realize that its employment as a lifting agent in the balloon was a decided handicap, but no hydrogen seems to have been available. There was a high wind and this further hampered the inflation of the balloon. It was found that the balloon could not ascend that day.

A few days later the balloon did ascend with its passengers, attaining an altitude of over two miles and it flew for many miles, finally landing near a great forest.

It is knot known whether Messrs. Cowan and Page continued their experiments but it is known that they were working fifty years ago on plans which have since succeeded in making transoceanic flights possible in such aircraft as the Graf Zepplin and the R-100.

HOLIDAY VESSEL SINKS IN SQUALL SEVERAL DROWN

Disaster Caused as Passengers Rush to One Side of Fishing Craft.

49 ARE RESCUED

Bodies of Three of Santa Monica Victims Found—Several Missing.

SANTA MONICA, Calif., May 31 (Canadian Press). — Various estimates to-day indicated that from three to ten persons lost their lives late yesterday in the capsizing during a sudden squall of the fishing boat Ameca, heavily loaded with a Memorial Day holiday crowd.

Three bodies, those of a young woman, a boy and a man, have been recovered and forty-nine survivors were rescued. Captain William Lightfoot, master of the 45-foot boat, Mrs. C. A. Morris, its owner, and city and county authorities, however disagreed on the total number aboard the vessel. Estimates of total passengers varied from 52 to 59.

An investigation of the disaster was ordered by Captain S. A. Kennedy of the United States Steamboat Inspection Service.

In his account of the tragedy Captain William Lightfoot of the Ameca said, "We were under power returning to the docks when suddenly some very big swells were blown up by a strong wind and broke over our bows. Everyone rushed to the port side. The effect of the waves and the shift in passengers caused the boat to keel over and sink almost immediately."

Smothering Spells Couldn't Walk Far Gasped For Breath

Examiner's Photograph Contest for Amateurs

CONTESTS WILL RUN FOR 4 WEEKS WITH PRIZES AWARDED EVERY WEEK FIRST CONTEST ENDS ON JUNE 10TH

All Amateurs in Five Counties Are Eligible.

WINNERS TO BE PRINTED.

First Contest is For Best Street, Boulevard or Road Scene.

With a further desire to assist in beautifying the city and district and so that the direct results of the "Beautify Peterborough" Campaign may be more generally recognized by citizens The Examiner is putting on an Amateur Photo Contest, open to every amateur in Peterborough City and County, Hastings, Durham and Northumberland and Victoria Counties.

The contest will run four weeks. The first contest will end on Saturday, June 7 and the prints must be in our hands not later than June 10. The subject for the first contest is: Street scenes, boulevards, thoroughfares, highways or any street scene depicting beautiful trees, beautiful houses or gardens showing portion of the street.

The second contest will end on Saturday, June 14 and prints must be in our hands by June 17. The subject this week is: Outdoor scenes of Rural Life.

Beautiful Home Contest

The third contest will end on Saturday, June 21st and prints must be in our hands by June 24. The subject is—beautiful homes — not necessarily your own home, but pictures of any home showing beautiful trees or gardens or flowers. All or part of house outside.

The fourth and last contest will close on Saturday June 28 and prints must be in our office by June 24. Flower gardens—home and private gardens or those in parks or inclusive of beautiful lawns.

Each week The Examiner will pay in prizes as follows:

First Prize	$5 cash
Second Prize	$3 cash
Third Prize	$2 cash

The decision of the judges to be final.

REMEMBER—This contest is for amateurs only. No one in any way connected with the newspaper or any photographic or photo-finishing establishment is eligible. Contest may include snapshots or enlargements or portions of same.

You may be a beginner in photography but your chance is as good as the rest. What we want is your idea of the beautiful.

THE BROTHERS

God save me from a girl like Bliss
Who says it isn't right to kiss
Unless you really are in love—
'Cause I don't want a spotless dove.

I shudder at a girl like Minx.
Good Lord, how much that woman drinks!
She'll spot you three and when you're out,
She'll down ten more without a doubt.

I'd never think of bringing May
Although she's oke and loves to play;
Some other guy would make a kill
And what I'd get'd be less than nil.

And then again I could bring Dot
But after all I guess I'll not.
Last time she gave us all a shock—
She looked for eggs in the cuckoo clock.

Oh, well, I guess I'm out of luck;
My ready cash would starve a duck.
I'll sit around the house and wait
Until I make some brother's date.
And since all the brothers figured the same way, there was no housparty.

Lumberjacks doing their strenuous and hazardous work on the drives which are now being brought down in Peterborough. Riding a log is one of the world's greatest sports. Pictures of this kind will go over big in The Examiner's photograph contest. Be sure they are plain and the northehrn woods to the saw-mills show plenty of action.

LET PICTURES TELL A STORY

A Few Pointers to Those Who Would Enter The Examiner Contest.

WORDS OF CAUTION.

Now that the amateur photographer is again abroad in the land will the gentleman or lady of the camera permit a follower of the art to add a few words of caution?

Let your pictures tell a story. If they fail in this respect your work will not appeal to the lovers of this delightful side issue to a summertime in the open. Still life of itself held nothing. A basket of fish, a fishing rod, will tell the story if the boy in the tow-string trousers, torn chip hat, bare feet and the regulation grin is present. The story that the picture tells is the highlight and should not be overlooked. Without the story, the work, no matter how successful viewed from the artistic point, will fall flat as a dud and fizzle out.

Be Sure To Tell A Story

A gnarled, ancient oak of itself might or might not tell a story. Put a kiddie in the crotch of the venerable tree, another at the foot of the tree and looking up at the crotched kiddie and you have succeeded in telling a story. A laddie dressed in his new baseball uniform and leaning upon a bat might look like business—but it isn't. Pose him as you have many times seen how Babe Ruth stands up to the plate with the familiar look of determination on his face and—there you have a story of action that will go far towards winning a prize.

A land-locked lake looks pretty surrounded with its curving shores of little bays and inlets. So does a chromo of the same. Put a boat, no matter what kind of a boat, on the shore, half out and half in, and two or three people trying to get the craft afloat and—there you have a story that tells itself without words of description.

A tent without a bunch of fellows cooking their dinner is nothing to brag about. Put the tent on the shore of the lake, if one is handy, with the flap open to show the cots and—well, you have got something worth while. You can picture tent life in the open in your back yard and win a prize. But make it tell its own story. The story is the thing to catch the fancy—of not the King, but the judge who knows the real ins and outs of amateur photography, from A to Z. Go to it. Go tell a story.

HINTS FOR FANS IN BIG CONTEST

Ordinary Sunlight is Correct Setting For Taking Pictures.

READ INSTRUCTION.

If you are not having uniformly good luck in taking snapshots, perhaps the following suggestion which is made especially to those who plan to enter The Examiner Photo Contest, will be of value.

The correct setting for a folding camera, when taking pictures in ordinary sunlight, is 1-25th of a second with the lens out at f. 11.

Set the dial above the lens at 1 or 25, set the dial below the lens at 11. Using this as a guide, it is comparatively simple to judge when to open the diaphram wider for poorer light or to close it more in brilliant light such as beach scenes and distant views in glaring sunlight.

Read carefully the instruction book that came with your camera, for it contains much valuable information for the one who would take good snapshots.

Rules for All Photo Contestants

1. There will be four contests, ONE each week, the first ending June 7.
2. Entries for each contest must be in the office of The Examiner three days after close of each weekly contest.
3. Contestants may enter as many contests and as many pictures in each contest, as they desire.
4. Contestants may win prizes in more than one contest, but only one prize in each contest.
5. Entries must be submitted by amateur photographers only. Professional photographers permitted to do the developing.
6. Submit prints of pictures only.
7. Each photo submitted must contain the following information plainly written or printed on the back: Name and full address of sender—name of any persons distinguishable in the picture.
8. Send prints, first class mail, to the Amateur Photographer Editor, care of The Examiner, Peterborough, Ont.
9. All prints submitted become the property of The Examiner.
10. Winners of each contest will be announced in The Examiner.
11. The selections and awards of the judges will be final.
12. Pictures taken prior to January 1st, 1930, not eligible.

INSPECTION WILL BE HELD JUNE 17

Lieut.-Col. M. H. Park, O.C., Rapidly Getting Local Battalion Into Shape.

The high standard of efficiency demanded by the inspecting officer is calling forth intensive training on the part of the Peterborough Rangers' Regiment, who will have their annual inspection on June 17 this year, by the District Officer Commanding M.D. 3.

Lieut.-Col. M. H. Park, V.D., O.C. Peterborough Rangers, is rapidly getting his battalion into shape. A splendid parade was held on Confederation Square last evening and battalion ceremonial drill was performed including marching in line, and close formation, fixing and unfixing of bayonets, the general salute, etc.

On Sunday, the battalion will provide a guard of honor and buglers for the unveiling of the Lakefield War Memorial by Colonel Anderson, D.S.O. Officer Commanding Military District No. 3.

GREAT FALLS, Mont., (U.P.)—Stunting airplanes—one in particular whose pilot tried to see how close he could miss a church spire—have impelled city authorities to introduce an ordinance providing a $300 fine and a 30-day jail sentence for any aviator caught flying over the city under 1000 feet elevation.

CAMERA ADDS TO PLEASURE OF HOLIDAY TRIP

Kodak Considered as Important as Fishing Rod or Swimming Suit.

ALLY OF ALL SPORTS.

Graphic Illustration Much Better and More Satisfactory Than Your Story.

Nowadays no one would think of going on any real outing without a camera. The Kodak is considered as important as the fishing rod or the swimming suit or the football ticket on any late summer or early autumn trip. We have learned, from experience, that the camera adds much to the pleasure of an outing, not only at the time, during the fun of making pictures, but also when we get the prints, and later on—months, yes years, afterwards.

Along with swimming, canoeing, fishing, hiking and kindred sports, photography has its acknowledged place. Picture making is not only a pastime in itself, but is the natural ally of all sports, and it alone can instantly record the others in lasting mementos.

Great is the satisfaction in telling about the size of the fish that was caught before breakfast and then exhibiting a photograph that proves the statement. No one seems to believe a fish story without graphic illustration.

REV. G. H. JOHNSON ATTENDS MEETING

Annual Council of Christian and Missinary Alliance Held in Ottawa

The annual council of the Christion and Missionary Alliance recently held in Ottawa was presided over at the day sessions by the president, Rev. H. M. Schuman and in the evening there were special speakers and the public was invited. Each night the building was practically full. The tabernacle at Ottawa accommodates about 2,000 people, and on the last Sunday there were many standing in the lobbies and corridors who were unable to obtain seats in the main auditorium.

Rev. G. H. Johnson of Bethany Tabernacle was the delegate from Peterborough and he reports that the 33rd annual report of the work of the Alliance was most comprehensive. Delegates, he said, came from all parts of the United States and Canada and there were missionaries present from twelve different countries. Among the evening speakers were Rev. A. W. Rolfe of Canada, Rev. R. A. Forrest, Georgia; Rev. E. J. Richards of New York City.

Hon. Mr. Carmichael, who is interested in the Ottawa work, arranged for a most pleasant trip through the Houses of Parliament.

The president's report disclosed a year of real progress. The missionary program so much so, that it was stated work had commenced for the first time in Borneo, Siam, Baluchi-Afghan Border and in Venezuela. Over three thousand converts were won in 1929. There was a marked advance also in the home field. Many new centres having been opened up, while the missionary receipts last year were the greatest on record, over $633,000 having been contributed.

The Training Institute at Nyack, N.Y., which is the oldest Bible School in America, had a most prosperous year under leadership of Rev. J. H. Cable Dean, possibly more missionaries have actually entered foreign service from this school than from any other similar institution. During the past year 38 new misisonaries were sent forth into the regions beyond.

There are now about 500 missionaries, 1,100 native workers, working in twenty mission fields, responsible for the evangelization of 65,000,000 people.

The new officers of the society are as follows: President, Rev. H. M. Shuman; Vice-President, Rev. William Christie; General Secretary, Rev. E. J. Richards; Treasurer, Rev. William Christie. There were also eight members elected to the New York Board of Managers. This is the executive body of the Alliance composed of 24 members.

The Alliance was founded by Rev. Dr. A. B. Simpson whose name is widely known throughout the world, especially in connection with world-wide missions. He was born and raised in Canada and also served a large Presbyterian church in Hamilton, Ont., before he entered upon his larger ministry of which this wonderful movement is the result.

The Alliance also mourns the loss of its Vice-President up to this year of Dr. W. M. Turnbull, who had become a world figure in the propagation of the Gospel. Dr. Turnbull was born in Peterborough and was one of many who have gone out from Bethany Tabernacle as preachers and missionaries.

Police Find Body Of Pickering Farmer

PICKERING, Ont., May 31 (Canadian Press.) — The body of Laurie Stark, farmer, was found here this morning. Provincial Police are investigating. It is said that trouble of a nature not stated has involved Stark recently.

The body was discovered behind the barn, and Provincial Police were called. They inspected the scene and put in a call for the coroner.

PLANE PILOT KILLED

SYDNEY, N.S.W., May 31. (C.P.)—A pilot and his passenger were killed to-day when the propellor snapped off his plane as it was stunting at 500 feet and crashed into the middle of the main street of Tamworth.

The pilot was Frank Mitchell, one of the most widely known airmen in Australia, and the man who, with Captain Holden, discovered Captain Charles Kingsford-Smith and his lost plane, the Southern Cross, near Wyndham about a year ago.

COMBINE MILKER IS IMPROVEMENT TO DE LAVAL LINE

New Machine Will Fit Needs of Any Dairyman.

DEMAND JUMPS IN 1929.

With This System Milk Never Comes in Contact With Hands or Air.

The addition of the DeLaval Magnetic "Con.bine" to the line of De-Laval Milkers, provides a revolution in milking machine construction and makes it possible for the company to provide a line of machine to fit the needs of any dairyman, whether he may have one or 1000 cows, regardless of the conditions under which he may operate or the kind of milk he may produce.

With the introduction of the De-Laval Magnetic Milker in January, 1929, the use of milkers was greatly accelerated. In recognition of the needs of a certain class of dairymen, particularly those with large herds engaged in the production of milk, such as Certified, Grade A, Special Baby Milk, etc., it was felt that with the DeLaval Magnetic as a basis and a combination of other features, the ideal system could also be developed for such producers.

The expectations of DeLaval engineers who designed the Magnetic Combine Milker in co-operation with R. R. Graves of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, have been fully justified by tests recently concluded at Purity Farm, one of the Sheffield Farms Company's big certified dairies situated in the beautiful sweep of country bordering the Delaware River between Trenton and Pennington, N. J., and at the U. S. Government Experimental Farm at Beltsville.

Methods Similar

The method of milking, or of drawing the milk from the cow, which is, of course, the most important part of any milker, is exactly the same on the Magnetic Milker—the same teat-cups, udder pulsator and magnetic pulsation control being used.

The De Laval method of magnetically controlled and uniform pulsations, insuring uniform milking of every cow, every day, every year, gives better milking results than can be obtained in any other way. A great mass of evidence has accumulated and is coming in almost daily showing that cows do their best, from a production standpoint, with De Laval milking.

Hence it can be seen that regardless of whether cows are milked with the Magnetic "Combine" or standard De Laval Magnetic Milker they will be milked in the same way and with the same uniformly superior results. The question of which milker is to be used is governed entirely by size of herd and other conditions.

Special Cow Milking Room

With the De Laval Magnetic "Combine" Milking System a special room for milking the cows is required in which milking stalls are placed which will hold four, six, eight, ten or more cows in multiples of two, depending on the total number of cows to be milked and the speed at which it is desired to milk them. This room may be in a special building adjoining the main barn, or the stalls can be set in a part of the main barn itself. The dairy room where the milk is handled should adjoin or be near the milking room.

With the "Combine" System the cows are not milked in the same barn in which they are kept. Hence they do not need to be maintained under milking conditions.

The milking room may be made in the most sanitary manner imaginable—as sanitary as a hospital operating room, if desired.

With the De Laval "Combine" System it is not necessary to have an expensive cow barn or constantly care for the cows in order to produce milk of the finest quality.

How the Cows Are Handled

After the cows have been prepared for milking they walk into the milking stalls in the milking room. One milker unit is required for each two cows, so that half the cows in the milking room are being milked at one time.

When the teat-cups are attached to a cow the milk is drawn into a Pyrex glass milk holder which is suspended on a scale. The milk flowing into the Pyrex holder is visible to the operator. He can see when the cow is milked out, and in case she does not milk out quickly he can assist her in doing so by a little manipulation of the udder with his hands. In this way practically all cows can be milked out clean, without stripping.

The operator then records the weight of the milk drawn from the cow, turns a cock, and the milk is conveyed from the glass holder under vacuum, through a sanitary pipe to the dairy room.

The operator then places the units on the next cow, pulls a rope which raises a gate in front of the cow which has just been milked, and she in turn walks out of the stall back into the barn and her place is taken by another cow waiting to be milked.

In this manner the cows are relayed to the milker units until the entire herd is milked.

The cows quickly fall into this routine and readily take their places.

Rate of Milking

With one man to bring up the cows to the milking room and to clean and prepare them for milking, one operator can handle three to four units and milk 30 to 40 cows an hour, and record the weight of the milk from each cow. Two operators with double the number of units can milk 60 to 80 cows an hour, and each operator and equipment added will increase the milking proportionately.

When it is desired to obtain samples of an individual cow's milk for testing, this can be done by drawing it directly from the Pyrex glass holder. The milk is thoroughly mixed by air.

After the operator records the weight of the milk from a cow, which is held in the Pyrex glass milk holder, he turns a valve and the milk is automatically conveyed through a sanitary pipe under vacuum, into the dairy room where the milk may be handled in a variety of ways.

At the Government Experimental Farm at Beltsville, a large vacuum holding tank is used and the milk enters it directly from the cows. The tank is large enough to hold all the milk of one milking.

The tank is jacketed so that cold water or steam can be circulated around in the tank containing the milk. In this way the milk is subjected to immediate cooling or it can be pasteurized after the milking is completed, if desired.

With this system the milk never comes in contact with hands, air or any contaminating agencies.

Feed Stuff Prices Drop Considerably; Demand Likely to Slacken This Month

TORONTO, Ont., May 31.—During the past month feeding stuff prices have declined considerably. Mixed barley and oat scalpings have come into Western Ontario in quantity from Bay ports this season, selling at about $22 per ton which is comparable with the price asked for No. 5 C.W. barley. There is expected to be a seasonl reduction in demand for feeds at the end of this month. Perhaps 50 per cent of the farmers of this district have fed all their home-grown grain and may need to purchase more or less grain and feed in the next few months

Wholesale prices, ex-warehouse Toronto are:—Fall wheat, $1.20 per bushel; wheat, No. 5, $1.06½; No. 6, 86 5-8 cents; feed 79½ cents; oats, No. 3 C.W., 59½ cents; No. 1 feed, 57¾ cents; oat scalpings, 38½ cents; barley, No. 3 C. W. 58 5-8 cents; feed 52 3-8 cents; local barley, 58 5-8 cents; buckwheat, 90 cents; local rye, 78½c; corn, American yellow, No. 2, 94 5-8c; Argentine, 94 5-8c; standard recleaned screenings, $26.10 per ton; bran $33; shorts, $34; middlings $36; ground oat scalpings, $27.50; linseed oil cake meal, $58; cottonseed meal, $46; digester tankage, $65; meat scrap, $80; bone meal, $65; fish meal, 70 per cent protein, $90; alfalfa meal, $40.

COMMENCE NEW BEE COLONIES IN FIRST WEEK OF HONEY FLOW

Where Maximum Crop is Expected Make Only One Increase From Each Colony.

INTRODUCE LAYING QUEEN.

The bees' way of making increase is to first increase the strength of the colony through the production of young bees and then to divide the force of the colony by swarming. This method is not at all satisfactory to the modern beekeeper because it usually occurs just prior to or during the main honey flow and as the swarm that leaves the hive consists of practically the entire working force of the colony the prospect of a crop from the colony that swarms is shattered. Futhermore, there is also the danger of the swarm absconding for parts unknown, thus adding to the loss of the beekeeper. Natural swarming can be prevented and increase made without loss of bees or honey.

Wait Till Flow Starts

In Eastern Canada and British Columbia it is not wise to make an increase of colonies before the main honey flow has well started except in localities where the main honey flow comes late in the season or where increase is of first importance. In the Prairie Provinces where the main flow comes during late July and August it is quite safe to divide strong colonies prior to the flow. Where a faximum crop of honey is desired only one increase should be made from each colony, to make more will be at the expense of the crop.

To make increase in localities where the main flow comes early, remove from the colony two or three frames of emerging brood with the adhering bees and place them in a new hive on a new stand and introduce to the new hive a laying queen. Do this during the first week of the main honey flow. The field bees will return to the parent colony while the new one will build up in time for the winter. When the flow is late and strong colonies are divided early make the division more equal.

So great has become the fad of bird collecting in England that some pets are being sold at $50 each.

Good Time to Grow Anything But Wheat

The Canadian Seed Trade Association makes the following timely comment, which will offer farmer producers of livestock ideas by which to profit:

"It looks very probable now that for some time to come there is going to be more than enough wheat to go round, whereas there is always a place for homegrown grains, such as barley, as this sort of feed is never in excess of the live stock requirements of the farm. In proof of this is noted the heavy annual imports of corn into Ontario, which, according to the Director of the Crops Branch of the Provincial Department of Agriculture, amounted last year to the somewhat staggering total of 7,000,000 bushels. While it would not be feasible to replace this entire quantity of corn with homegrown feeds, it seems altogether desirable that this should be accomplished to some extent. Such a course would work to the advantage of all concerned, and particularly to producers and packers of swine and cattle products."

WILL ELIMINATE BUCK LAMB EVIL

Prices Starting June 2 Will Drop 2 Cents Per Pound Over Canada.

LOWER AFTER SEPTEMBER.

Six or seven years ago it was agreed by lamb buyers that the buck lamb must disappear from the commercial lamb markets. Its meat affected the lamb market unfavorably and decreased the general popularity of lamb as a food. Furthermore, there was no reason from the production standpoint why buck lambs should be tolerated.

Therefore, to give effect to the educational work that had been done over a number of years, lamb buyers adopted a system of price-cuts on buck lambs. These have been successful in greatly reducing the numbers of this poor class of lamb coming to market, have resulted in improving the demand for lamb by the consuming public and helped to maintain strong prices for live lambs.

But, as always neglecting to castrate their male lambs at the proper time and this neglect has resulted in a lot of poor qaulity lambs being rushed on to the market immediately before the dates that the price-cuts on bucks became effective.

To overcome this, the dates at which the price cuts begin have been advanced and made uniform throughout Canada.

Effective on June 30 the price of all buck lambs of this year's lamb crop at all markets will be cut 2 cents per pound, and, effective on September 29, the cut will be increased to 3 cents per pound.

The objective is to have all male lambs for market castrated so that no producer shall suffer loss and to maintain and increase the demand for lamb meat, thus helping to support lamb markets in as strong a position as possible.

CLUB ROOT CAUSE OCCURS IN SOIL NEVER ON SEED

Seed Bed Should Be Located on High Piece of Ground.

USE GREAT CARE.

Soil May Be Sterilized By Being Heated to Boiling Point For Hour.

Unlike most other diseases of cabbage, turnips and cauliflower, the organism causing club root is not carried on the seed but occurs in the soil. Therefore, greatest precautions are necessary in the preparation of the seedbed. The bed should always be located on an elevated place to ensure that it is free from any club root material that may have been washed about by flood wafers or one soil where plants having club root have never been grown. Commercial fertilizer is safer to apply if it is not certain that the manure used is free from the club root organism. It is not necessary to apply lime to the seedbed if it is free from the disease.

The soil for the seedbed can be sterilized by heating the same to a boiling temperature for an hour in a feed boiler or some such container to which heat can easily be applied. The soil should be quite wet during this operation to avoid burning the same. If the seedbed shows the disease, the seedlings should not be transplanted for it is quite certain that there are many more plants which show no evidence of the disease until they are set out in the field.

Keep Free of Weeds

Land used for cabbages, turnips, and cauliflowers should be kept free from such weeds as mustard, penny cress, shepherds purse and false flax, because these carry the disease and are thus capable of contaminating a soil with the same. When a soil becomes infested with club root it is better to use the field for other crops not related to cabbages and turnips.

A six-year rotation with no club root bearing weeds present will materially rid a soil of the organism causing the disease. If soil infested with club root must be used a very liberal application of lime applied three to six months before planting is recommended. The amount of lime required will vary with different fields depending on the acidity present.

If a sample of soil is sent to the Dominion Chemist, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, full information regarding the amount of lime necessary will be sent free of charge. The best method for controlling club root is the use of varieties resistant to the disease. The Division of Botany of the Dominion Department of Agriculture are carrying on extensive experiments at the present time to develop strains of turnips resistant to this destructive disease.

BODY OF WOMAN FOUND ON BEACH.

OSHAWA Ont., May 31 (Canadian Press). — The body of Mrs. Elsie D. Poole, wife of Arthuh R. Poole, 99 Clinton Road, Toronto, was discovered this morning on the beach of Lake Ontario, south of Pickering. Mrs. Poole had been missing from her home since Wednesday, when she was seen to drive away in her car. She is reported to have been in ill-health for some time, and it is thought she deliberately drowned herself.

Victoria County is Planning to Hold Holstein Field Day, Monday, June 16

At a meeting of the Executive of the Holstein Club held last Saturday, Monday June 16th was selected for holding a Field Day at the Farm of Wm. J. Murphy (Formerly the Hora Farm).

Last year the local Club co-operated with Peterborough in a very successful event held in that County and this year the Peterborough Club is coming here.

The idea of the Field Day is to get all who are interested in better Live Stock together to take part in a program that is both enjoyable and educational Boys wishing to join the Heifer Club that is being formed this fall are requested to hand in their names to M. H. Winter, or W. J. Murphy at an early date. At the Field Day the members for the Club will be selected and arrangements made for buying the heifers.

It is hoped to secure Dr. Christie to address the Field Day. Watch for publication of program which will interest everyone no matter whether you live in town on country.

MINERAL MIXTURES MAY BE USED TO SPEED CONDITIONIN OF HOGS

Oat sand Barley Alone Do Not Contain Enough Minerals For Growing Pigs.

THREE YEAR TEST TAKEN.

A problem in the mineral supply of feed to hogs in certain parts of the Western provinces has been investigated by the livestock department of the University of Alberta and in view of the unusual condition of the crops there the conclusions drawn from many experiments carried out at the university are of special interest. The problem is caused by the low ash content of some of the locally grown grains and a scarcity of dairy by-products. Oats and barley do not appear to contain sufficient mineral matter for growing pigs and probably 50 per cent. of the pigs raised in Alberta do not get any skim-milk or buttermilk. The main conclusions which may be drawn from mineral feeding experiments conducted at the University are:

1. Simple mineral mixtures may be used to advantage in reducing the time required to put pigs on the market, and in reducing feed costs when combined protein and mineral supplements (skim-milk and tankage, etc.) are not being fed.

2. It would appear that when the protein requirement of pigs which have been properly carried over the critical weaning period and weigh around 50 pounds, is taken care of by a pasture crop, the most serious impediment to normal growth is likely to be mineral deficiency in the ordinary grain ration.

The following two mineral mixtures have given good results during recent years:

Mixture No. 1

Slacked coal	76.5 lbs.
Air slacked lime	2.5 lbs.
Salt	20.0 lbs.
Sulphur	1.0 lbs.

Mixture No. 2

Slacked coal	98 lbs.
Bone meal	60 lbs.
Salt	40 lbs.
Sulphur	2 lbs.
Potassium Iodide	1 ounce

The results of a comparison of these two mineral mixtures as well as a comparison of "mineral feeding" and "no mineral feeding" with pigs on pasture not receiving skim-milk, buttermilk or tankage is shown in the folowing table:

Three year average result, 1925-26-27.

Meat Packing Tops Single Industries

A compilation just made from the last census of manufactures shows meat packing to be, judged by the value of products, the largest single industry in the United States. It is not only the largest, but the only industry whose total value exceeds three billion dollars yearly. The actual value for 1927, the last year of the census of manufactures, was $3,057,215,718. Meat packing is followed by motor vehicles, as enumerated, with a value of $2,-848,442,843 and steel works and rolling mills with a value of $2,-779,840,238. Flour, feed and grain milling products had a value of $1,148,760,360 and the butter, cheese, condensed and evaporated milk industry of $1,057,544,724.

MILITARY EQUIPMENT IN TRAINING OF CADETS OPPOSED BY DELEGATES

is not a day for glorifying military power, but a day of remembrance of our dead and the cause of peace for which they died therefore, this Conference memorialize the General Council to draw up and circulate an appropriate Armistice Day service with definite emphasis upon World Peace and Fellowship.

(4)—That this Conference memorialize the General Council to endorse the movement to place the Paris Peace Pact in copy in all the Public schools of Canada, and also that copies of the Pact be provided for the Sunday schools of the United Church.

(5) That this Conference memorialize the General Council to endorse the abandonment of rifles and military uniforms in connection with cadet training.

This final section of the report was originally concluded by the following illustrative clause: "as has been successfully done by the Board of Education at Windsor, Ontario."

It was deleted upon the criticism of Rev. James Rollins that the Windsor experiment was too new and untried to deserve general acceptance as a success.

Two Clauses Questioned.

Only two clauses encountered opposition the first one disapproving war as an instrument of settling international disputes, and the last one proposing the disuse of military equipment in school cadet training.

This last clause, it was explained, did not attack the cadet movement in the schools, but rather its military aspects.

W. S. Gordon of Tweed said: "When I saw the recent parade of 15,000 Toronto boys and girls, with the older boys of the technical and other schools carrying rifles and other equipment it didn't look much like peace, and I think we ought to pass this clause."

Rev. James Rollins, Renfrew: "I'd like to know how long it is since the Board of Education of Windsor made the change doing away with uniforms and rifles, and also whether it has been long enough to entitle this to be regarded as successful or not. I don't think we should make a statement of that kind unless the change has been in effect at least two or three years."

Rev. [illegible]es Taylor, Eganville: "I can't vote on this. I am a pacifist, but I know that boys like to learn to use a rifle. I'd have them learn to shoot (laughter), but I'd teach them never to turn a rifle on a fellow man."

A voice in the assembly: "Or on a fellow beast."

Rev. Mr. Taylor: "Nor to use them in a public parade. Therefore, I wish this thing were dropped. Let them have the uniform. There was a day when I gloried in militarism and the rifle."

Psychological Opinion.

Rev. Dr. Ernest Thomas explained how the cadet question had been brought before the General Council of the church two years ago, and what course the enquiry had taken.

On one point he said, "Psychologists have told us that the uniform exercises a certain sex appeal rather than a military appeal upon boys a certain stage of adolescence. They like to strut around before the girls."

Col. O'Dell's Approval.

Col. J. W. O'Dell, Public School Inspector, Cobourg, said in part: "What we hear against Cadet Corps work is more fiction than truth. Much of what we hear is made up of imagination. Thirty-four years ago I started the first Cadet Corps in Cobourg and carried it on until 1914. That war on our part was a Christian war. From 1895 until 1914 not one of our Cadets became a professional soldier. Not one became connected with the permanent Militia force. If there is one thing a military uniform does it inspires a boy to look clean and respectable, and to give his superiors due recognition in a proper way."

Rev. Mr. Mackinnon (formerly of Knox Church, Peterborough): "I know a minister in this Conference who has a son who must get out of the Collegiate Institute if he does not wear a uniform and carry a rifle. It is a serious thing if, no matter what the conscience of a parent may be, his boy must wear a uniform and carry a rifle as a condition of his remaining at school. We are objecting to this feature of it, and not to the Cadet movement itself."

Col. O'Dell: The Cadet movement is absolutely voluntary.

Rev. Mr. Mackinnon: It is a fact that more than one principal of Collegiate Institutes, and that no one hundred miles away from Cobourg, makes it obligatory for students to carry a gun and wear a uniform.

Col. O'Dell: If you report those cases to the Minister of Education, the principals will be fired as quick as Jerry wrote the note.

Rev. Mr. Mackinnon: We wish to make it more impossible that any principal could do such a thing.

The Rollins Resolution.

The Cadet clause was finally adopted. When the adoption of the committee's report was then proposed, Rev. Mr. Rollins suggested the inclusion of the following clause: "Nothing in this report is to be interpreted as pledging the church as being opposed to the Government of the day in the prosecution of resistance against an unjust and unprovoked attack."

Some members remarked that this whole matter was left to the individual conscience.

Rev. Mr. Rollins: "The first clause of this report puts us on record as saying that you are not at liberty to enlist in a military force even when your country might be unjustly attacked. I am as much as any man in favor of trying to settle disputes without war, but I don't want to be put in a false position. And this court of the church by that clause is taking a position that would lessen the influence of the church in the councils of the nation and in the eyes of the citizens of this country."

Rev. Mr. Mackinnon: I hold the time for Mr. Rollins' motion was when this clause was under discussion.

More Than Point of Order.

Rev. Dr. W. T. G. Brown, Kingston: It seems to me that when the report is accepted clause by clause it is within the authority of the Conference to make a statement as to the interpretation that should be put upon any part of it. We are not seeking points of order, but the best expression of the minds of this Conference.

Elmer Davis, Kingston: And the impression we make elsewhere is of no small importance to this church. I yield to no man in my desire for peace, but sometimes we fail to achieve our ends in too hastily pushing toward them.

Rev. G. A. Sisco, Port Hope, pointed out that under the Kellogg Treaty it is an inherent right for any nation to protect itself against an unprovoked attack.

"I think this question is largely academic," he continued, "but we have propert guarantees by our own Government in this matter, and if Mr. Rollins would alter his motion to incorporate the Kellogg provision that should cover the point he has in mind."

Only Rev. Dr. Taylor voted against the adoption of the report, and but four or five against Rev. Mr. Rollins' resolution.

To General Council.

The complete list of the commissioners to the General Council, appointed from Presbyteries and from Conference, follows:

Ministers—W. D. Harrison, Deseronto; G. C. R. McQuade, Odessa; D. R. Clare, Norham; W. T. G. Brown, Kingston; T. P. Perry, Gananoque; C. D. McLellan, Beaverton; J. R. Bick, Hampton; David Wren, Peterborough; James Semple, Smith's Falls; T. H. P. Anderson, Newburg; H. W. Foley, Selby; R. R. Nicholson, Cannington; P. L. Jull, Brooklin; J. M. White; A. J. Wilson, Napanee; Robert Laid, Toronto; J. U. Robins, Bowmanville.

Rev. W. R. Tanton of Cobourg was one of those appointed, but withdrew. Rev. R. R. Nicholson advancing to his place.

Laymen — W. S. Martin, Stirling; W. N. Gilroy; F. W. Galbraith, Port Hope; C. A. Winters, Brockville; J. A. Jackson, Gananoque; William Newman, M.P.P., Lorneville; J. C. Young, Oshawa; Dr. J. E. Middleton, Peterborough; J. C. Spence, Carleton Place; Frank A. Dorland, Codrington; Mrs. W. L. Smyth, president of the W.M.S. of the Conference; Elmer Davis, Kingston; W. S. Gordon, Tweed; A. C. Denike, Havelock; C. W. Burr, Bloomfield; Ross Strike, Bowmanville; S. T. Chown, Renfrew.

Lay Association Report

W. R. Strike of Bowmanville presented the report of the Laymen's Association as follows:—

That every congregation consider very carefully the matter of the duplex envelope offering. We consider it to be the best method of receiving the contributions of our members, and strongly recommend its use.

We urge upon every congregation the more effective dissemination of information regarding the work of our church at home and abroad. In this connection we suggest that more information be given from the pulpit, preferably in a series of sermons and occasionally by special speakers.

That in every pastoral charge a laymen's association or group be formed that will not only link up the work of the church with the life of the community in which it stands; and that the official board be requested to further this object.

Realizing that in every Presbytery in this conference there are from five to twenty charges comprised of less than one hundred families, we urge our lay associations to assist wherever possible in making rearrangements that relieve this situation and make possible the payment of adequate salaries.

We commend those congregations and ministers who have maintained their buildings and grounds in well-painted and cared for condition as befits a place of worship, and to those who have reclaimed many of our former burying grounds from their neglected condition and we commend their example to all congregations.

That there are a number of our church organizations using other publications than those from our Publishing House, and believing that our own publications are more suitable, we urge their use by all congregations.

That under existing regulations regarding the settlement of ministers, we urge both congregations and ministers to co-operate to the fullest extent when a change is contemplated, so that both minister and congregation will be in the full and complete confidence of the other.

A. C. Denike is chairman of the Lay Association of the Conference.

By-law Aproved By Substantial Majority

Norwood Ratepayers Vote Approval to Fixed Assessment of Field Farms Milling Company.

NORWOOD, May 31.—Norwood ratepayers on Monday voted on the by-law submitted for approval by the village council to grant a fixed assessment to The Field Farms Milling Company. The by-law was carried with almost unanimous approval by the ratepayers—only five voting against the measure.

The count was as follows:

	For	Against
Polling Sub.-Div. No. 1..	66	3
Polling Sub.-Div. No. 2..	67	2
Total	133	5

The by-law gives the company a fixed assessment of $3000 00 for ten years on their property.

The company recently acquired the mill property from Messrs. C. E. Pakenham & Son. They are remodelling the whole plant, adding to the buildings and installing the very latest type of machinery. They purpose manufacturing cattle, hog and poultry rations, flour, sausage and smoked meats, also to operate a cold storage plant.

The millwrights have been at work for the past few weeks installing the new equipment and the feed plant is expected to be ready for operation very shortly.

NEW GILLETTE BLADE and RAZOR

SHORTEN your daily shaving time, no more wiping—no more cut towels

YOUR work ends when your shave ends, with this New Gillette Blade and Razor. Simply turn guard at right angles, retighten, rinse under hot running water and shake dry.

This one improvement alone is worth the price of the New Gillette. Yet it is only one of many pleasing changes that you'll find in this new razor and blade.

"Razor pull," for instance, won't bother you any more. The New Gillette prevents it for two reasons: First, the corners of the razor are reinforced with sturdy lugs of extra metal that stand a lot of abuse. Second, even if you should dent these lugs the blade is no longer held at the corners, so no harm results from dropping. Look at the new blade, and note how the corners are cut out.

Note too that the new blade ends are square, not round, for safer handling with wet fingers and easier shaving around mouth, nose and ears.

QUICK FACTS

1. New blade can be used in your old Gillette
2. New processed steel; new blade resists rust
3. Cut-out corners of blade prevent "razor pull"
4. To clean, turn guard at right angles . . . then re-tighten . . . rinse . . . shake dry
5. New shape guard channel gives full shaving clearance
6. New shape guard teeth shave thin smoothly, naturally
7. No projecting parts to dull blade edges
8. Reinforced razor corners prevent damage if dropped
9. Square blade ends safer to handle
10. Shaves easier around mouth, nose, ears
11. New blades same price as old
12. New razor, gold-plated, with one new blade, in case, $1.00

The price of the New Gillette Razor, gold-plated, cased in a beautiful box, and equipped with New Gillette Blade is one dollar. The New Gillette Blade is one dollar for ten and 50c for five.

Visit the nearest Gillette dealer today. If his stock of new razors is temporarily exhausted, you can use the new blade in your old Gillette.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE WEEKLY COLUMN

A goodly thing it is to meet
In Friendship's circle bright
Where nothing stains the pleasure sweet
Or dims the radiant light
No unkind word our lips shall pass,
No envy sour the mind,
But each shall seek the common weal
The good of all mankind

CAVAN

The children of the various schools have received their seeds to plant their plots, to raise exhibits for the rural school fairs, which are held annually after school re-opens for the fall term. The plots, to be worked and kept free of weeds, the domestic science exhibits which must be prepared as well as the manual training exhibits, all give the children a wonderful opportunity to learn to do things well, finding out that if they expend time and labor, the rewards are greater.

The aim of the fair is to teach the children to take an interest in their home and garden, and to become capable and self-reliant. It will be much better for the children if they have to take the entire care of the plot, with a judicious supervision by some of the older members of the family. The same might be said concerning the domestic science exhibits. They should be the work of the small exhibitor. Some children are more highly favored in having more help around them at the time the exhibits are prepared. At some rural fairs good cooks among the older people have marvelled at the wonderful exhibits of culinary skill displayed by mere children. The elaborate icing of cakes, done in a way worthy of any older and more experienced person, has often occasioned speculation as to whether or not it was the entire work of the exhibitor.

The giving of too much help spoils the object of the fair. The practice on this work should be done before the date of the fair and when that time comes the child should do the actual work of his or her exhibit.

Plainer articles are called for now, and even in some instances the recipe of the cake to be shown, is given on the school fair program. This makes it much fairer for all.

The Women's Institutes offer many prizes at the different fairs and take a keen interest in the exhibits and sports.

WARSAW

District annual meetings of Institutes will be held during the month of June. The branch annuals should all be over before the end of May.

The District Annual for Peterborough will be held in Havelock on Tuesday, June 10. There district annuals very helpful for any woman at all interested, as every woman should be, in community work, especially the afternoon sessions. The morning session is at 10 a.m. District reports as well as branch reports are read and discussed.

These reports are intended to be and are of great aid to various branches. If a branch secretary cannot attend, her report should be sent to the district secretary or with one of the other delegates.

After the reports are dealt with, the election of officers takes place. While any one may attend these meetings only those duly appointed to represent each branch may vote. Each branch should appoint at its annual meeting three representatives for a membership of up to twenty-five; and one extra for each additional twenty-five or part of twenty-five. The newly elected president and district director are by virtue of their office two of the delegates. After the election this district adjourns for lunch, which the ladies of Havelock are kindly providing.

At the afternoon session in Havelock the president will give her address, the convenors of the various committees will give their reports. Mrs. Eades, who is attending most of the district annuals in the division, will speak. Miss Hopkins will present the claims of the coaching classes in domestic science, good taste in dressing and household furnishings, also the need of garment-making clubs.

The Red Cross nurse from Apsley Hospital is expected to give a talk on the work there. The branches are expected each to give some one item of music.

Many feel that the Red Cross Hospital at Apsley should have more assistance from the Institutes throughout the district. True, each branch has done some relief work, and some have done a good deal, but the need back there is great, and some more aid might be given. Some branches have given donations, others have given showers. The work done there is wonderful, and the red cross nurse and housekeeper are generally adepts at making the most of things. The people at Apsley too have done well and the Institute there has helped greatly.

Garment-making clubs are great aids to girls whose mothers either cannot, or have not the time to teach them to sew properly. The great trouble is to get a woman with time as well as inclination to give one Saturday afternoon a fortnight or a week as Mrs. Sexsmith was once able to do, to lead the work.

The coaching classes are a stimulus to encourage the girls to take notice and to do, and Miss Hopkins is heart and soul in the work.

It will be a great aid to the district secretary in this district and in this whole division if the reports can all be ready in good time, if the federation fees if to be sent at all are sent to the district secretary a few days prior to the annual meeting, also the items the branches are to contribute towards the music of the programs. It is well, too, to remember out of town cheques require an exchange. Mrs. McGowan, provincial treasurer, reported quite a heavy loss through cheques sent without the addition of exchange. Postal notes or money orders are better. Then it is well for each branch to let those who provide lunch know how many may be expected, so that adequate, but not far too much provision can be made.

GENERAL HEALTH

Saliva has a big work to do, especially on the carbohydrates or starchy foods. One should remember that most indigestion is caused in our mouths, and not in the stomach or intestines, as generally thought, these organs get and give the results of indigestion caused by not chewing the foods sufficiently. We can regulate, and we do govern digestion at this stage, but not after swallowing. Next comes our next suggestion, and one much abused especially in feeding children, not infants only but particularly children eating solid foods, that is eating too often.

It takes approximately four hours for the process of gastric digestion, that is the food remains in the stomach about four hours, before it is formed into a substance called chyme and ready for intestinal digestion and absorption. Like anything else the stomach needs a rest. It must work four hours after each meal, therefore if an hour, or two, or three after meals, a piece of cake or apple pie, etc., is taken, you can see how much rest the stomach will get, as it must go over all through the same process again, for the piece of cake or apple, as for a full meal. Thus we can see why a child or adult should eat a meal comprising all five food principles protein, fats, carbohydrates, mineral or inorganic salts and water. Then give the stomach time to do its work and rest, before starting all over again. So much for food. Now for cleanliness. We all know the necessity of cleanliness, but let me lay stress on teaching the child to pay particular attention to the care of the teeth, nails, and body surface. The teeth and nails offer such a hiding place for germs. The skin is covered with little openings, called pores. Through these nature forces much of the impurities of the body. If these pores are allowed to become clogged, more work is thrown on the kidneys, etc. For example in burn cases; where the burn is deep enough to destroy the pores and the natural function of the skin is impaired, so much extra work is thrown on the kidneys, that they are unable to take care of all the waste created. The blood must absorb the excess and in cases where two-thirds of the body surface is affected, death follows, due usually to uraemic poisoning.

This will show how important it is to keep the skin clean, and the pores open. We must mention elimination. Under this comes the flushing of the kidneys with sufficient water. Adults four pints daily, and keeping the bowels open. These in conjunction with perspiration, are nature's ways of ridding the body of its wastes.

We will combine the rest. Exercise, sleep, rest and relaxation. We know that children, old people and invalids, anyone with a large amount of nerve strain, need more sleep than healthy middle-aged people. It is while we sleep that nature does its repair work, unharrassed. The average amount of sleep required by an adult is eight hours, and do not forget fresh air at this time. In relaxation do not forget that we need mental as well as physical relaxation, and exercise also. We need new and varied thoughts and interests to keep our minds alert and active. I heard a physician in an address at a medical convention at Atlantic City say that seventy-five per cent of insanity was found in women at the menopause, especially of those being in rural districts, where neighbors are scarce. He said that Henry Ford had done more to relieve this condition than anyone who had ever lived.

He meant by this, that through the medium of the low-priced car, many have an automobile, who would not dream of buying a more expensive one. In this way, women living in rural parts of the country, could get away from home much more often, thus meeting new friends, seeing new things, finding new thoughts and interests, keeping their minds active and healthful. This physician cited the cases of pioneer women and men of much more recent years, who maybe for months at a time or even years, would not be away from home to see anyone but their immediate family. Life offered very little variation. No new thoughts are found. Before this the mind became such a repetition year after year, that the mind became inactive, and finally ceased to function. I hope I may have interested you. I trust that I have helped some one in some way. My time is up. I thank you.

MILLBROO.

"The passing generation of 'master homemakers' should, and must, be succeeded by other equally good," writes a W.I. official, "and the Institute has a grave responsibility in helping to train the girls of to-day to worthily fill their places. Often, one has noticed the great and good housekeepers are not good homemakers, perhaps because they are such fine managers that no one else in the household has a chance to use their brains at all; or sons and daughters grow up easy going because 'mother would rather do the work herself and not be bothered with us butting in.'"

"Some mothers want to be too kind, having had to work hard all their own lives, so their daughters occupy the chesterfield and do fine fancy work, or trip about as they are inclined; and their sons let mothers milk, and perhaps feed the pigs, to give them time to run off to town in the car several nights in the week, and attend the movies. Some mothers have no patience with amateur efforts to help; and in their mistaken pride do not wish their daughters hands to 'be all tanned up', so we have great housekeeper's daughter's homes in which I would not care to eat a meal, and sons who waste away the old homestead."

"What I think we require is more of the old time spirit of pride, that used to be common (?) among those who had far more to contend with than the present generation can ever know—the pride of the thoroughbred, that will not let one give up; that does not want pity, and always instilled the refusal of anything that even looked dishonorable, or would hurt the family name, firmly instilled into the daily family life, they cannot help but grow up honorable. Let them know that everyone must work every day, and that there must be no dilly-dallying about it either, and let the family motto be: 'All for one, and one for all', and the trait of loyalty will be ingrained."

A quotation from John Ruskin has been suggested as a good topic for a paper, and discussion, at an Institute meeting: "In fact it may be discovered that the true veins of wealth are purple, and not in rock, but in flesh—perhaps even that the final outcome and consummation of all wealth is in producing as many as possible full-breathed, bright-eyed, and happy-hearted human creatures."

The juniors of Churchill are a progressive lot of young folk, among their programs being one featured by a 'darning contest' in which each girl must darn a hole the size of a ten-cent piece, in a sock; at the next meeting one senior member spoke on "The Engagement Ring—the Joy, Work, and Responsibility of Setting Up a Home"; with this an exhibit for a 'hope chest' suitable for the rural girl; latter, making articles from a one-hundred pound flour sack, and ten cents, brought a surprising exhibit of such things as: aprons, dresser scarves, cushion covers, laundry bags, a dress slip, dish cloths, and pillow cases for the kitchen couch.

A shower of letters to sick members, and flowers to those ill, or bereaved, featured the year's activities, and the season closed with an oyster supper to members, and their escorts, 'with enough seniors present to see that we were all properly chaperoned.'

FASHION SERVICE

The Paris conturiers predict a big suit season. The shops are already displaying many interesting models that show smart variation of blouses.

Three favorites are illustrated that are delightfully versatile and practical.

Style No. 3294 has intriguing scarf neckline with loose flying ends at the back. It is decidedly feminine with shirred hipline that creates a soft swather movement across the front. Interpreted in printed crepe silk, it is especially nice to wear with plain woolen or silk crepe jacket suit or ensemble. Chiffon in Paquin red, eggshell crepe silk, asparagus crepe satin and violet-blue canton crepe are lovely for this becoming model.

Style No. 2912 combines printed and plain crepe silk. It is youthfully versatile with its capelet colar. It may be worn as an over blouse or as a tuck-in by omitting the bow at hipline. It is very, very effective made sleeveless, for the cape collar falls so prettily over the arms. Eggshell crepe satin, pale blue silk crepe, Lanvin green canton crepe and flowered chiffon in orangey-red colouring are ideally suited to this exclusive type.

Style No. 3246 has the jabot neckline that is so essentially smart with tailored suits. It lends chic femininity. This jaunty model of powder-pink crepe silk may be worn as tuck-in if desired. Other suitable suggestions are shantung, crepe satin, linen, silk pique, dotted swiss, batiste and canton crepe.

Each of these models come in sizes 16, 18 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust. Each pattern costa 15 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred).

Our Summer Fashion Magazine is 15 cents, but you may order a pattern and a Fashion Magazine together for 25 cents.

WHY THEY CONSULT THE SPECIALIST.

In many hospitals now there is a social worker on the staff.

She visits the patient and tries to find out if there is anything on his or her mind; anything about the home or family that is causing anxiety.

And you can understand how a patient away from home, amid hospital surroundings and strange faces, is going to be so upset mentally that she will be unable to eat and sleep properly and so have recovery delayed.

And now another step forward may soon be undertaken by our garden hospitals.

Dr. Geo. S. Stevenson of the National Committee of Mental Hygiene reports a study of 150 cases whom he interviewed, as to why they consulted the specialist in stomach and intestinal ailments.

He tells us that the interview has four stages.

1st stage: The patient is requested to state the trouble that brings him to the clinic, and given "all" the time he wants to tell about his complaints.

2nd stage: He is asked when did the trouble begin; how trouble started, a home or at work; does he blame anything for his trouble?

3rd stage: Why did he come to this physician, what did he find out from other physicians?

4th stage: How does he feel about his ailments? Is he afraid of cancer, ulcer, or other particular trouble?

You can thus see that the nerve specialist is trying to find out whether the patient's mind has anything to do with his ailment and his coming to see the stomach and intestinal specialist.

Now what did he find out in these 150 cases?

That three out of every four had some emotional problem—fear, anxiety, discomfort of some kind.

What does this mean to the specialist in stomach and intestines?

That before he even begins treating the case, he will have this information available, and will begin to treat the patient's mind before he begins on the stomach and intestine.

He gets the patient's point of view, and learns some of his 'hidden' and unexpressed feelings.

You can readily see how he will get the patient's confidence and the patient will do everything to help the physician to cure him.

This lesson can apply to all kinds of ailments.

At an international barbers' contest held recently at Budapest, Hungary, the victor, who was awarded the title of "World's Champion Barber" shaved his "victim" in 45 seconds, breaking the previous world's record by two seconds.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Alice Michaelis

WHEN YOU LOOK BACK

When you look back, do you recall the grief, the care that sometimes came; those things were but as shadows, flitting, brief, but joy is steadfast flame. When you look back, forget the loss and pain that dogged the weary years; instead, let memory bring to you again the bliss that banished tears. So much of life is wrought of memory that it is well to keep the glad past's beauty while the hours fly and let sad thoughts sleep. Far better, with dim eyes and hair grown gray to cherish lovely things, though it is long since they have passed away on time's untiring wings, than welcome any phantom of regret that would invade the hours. When you look back be sure that you forget all save the sun and flowers!

A SIMPLE STEP TOWARDS HEALTH

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is a Daily Essential and Millions Know Its Effectiveness in Relief of Constipation

Perhaps the one simple thing you are not doing to guarantee permanent health is having sufficient roughage in your food. Absence of this roughage is the direct cause of constipation which results in so many other ills—headaches, listlessness, general depression, indigestion and, sometimes, serious disease.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is roughage. It is positively guaranteed to relieve both temporary and recurring constipation or the purchase price will be refunded. Two tablespoons daily (in serious cases, with each meal) is the proper amount.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN also helps you to health in other ways. It is rich in iron, practically all of which goes into the blood, bringing red, healthy color to the complexion. It helps prevent anemia. Be sure to include it in reducing diets.

Many eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN with cream or milk added. It is a delicious addition to cereals, fruits and soups. In cooked foods, such as bran muffins, it is just as effective in the relief of constipation. Recommended by doctors. Ask your grocer for Kellogg's ALL-BRAN in the red-and-green package. Served everywhere. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

"What an Appetite You Have"

"Well you know what you said would happen if I used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and I must admit that you were right as usual."

"Why that 'as usual' "?

"I should have remembered your experience with Dr. Chase's Nerve Food but I hear you women talking so much about it that I had an idea it was for women only.

"How silly, don't men have blood and nerves the same as women, and I am sure they have far more real worries than women have, especially these times.

"One thing certain I was all in. You know, too well, how irritable and nervous and sleepless I was. I certainly was getting downhearted.

"But the nerve food has given me a good appetite, I can sleep like a top now and I know that I will soon be all right again.

"That's fine, now you realize why Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is so popular.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

soothes the tired, excited nerves, restores nervous energy and makes you feel well and look well.

MOTHERS now learn value of MAGNESIA

Because it is so helpful in keeping babies and children healthy and happy, every mother should know about Phillips Milk of Magnesia.

This harmless, almost tasteless preparation is most effective in relieving those symptoms of babies and children generally caused by souring food in the little digestive tract, such as sour-belching, frequent vomiting, feverishness, colic. As a mild laxative, it acts gently, but certainly, to open the little bowels in constipation, colds, children's diseases.

A teaspoonful of Phillips Milk of Magnesia does the work of half a pint of lime water in neutralizing cow's milk for infant feeding, and preventing hard curds. Its many uses for mother and child are fully explained in the interesting book, "Useful Information." It will be sent you, FREE. Write The Chas. H. Phillips Chemical Co., Windsor, Ont.

In buying, be sure to get genuine Phillips Milk of Magnesia. Doctors have prescribed it for over 50 years.

An interesting picture postcard which illustrates the group of St. John's Boys' Choir which recently won the first prize shield at the Stratford Musical Festival, will shortly be in circulation, five hundred of these having been ordered, the proceeds to be used for the purchase of new vestments for the boys. There is a unique atmosphere to the group, because of the many prizes won by these boys, collectively and individually. They were first prize winners this year at Stratford; first prize winners at the Kiwanis Music Festivals in 1928 and also second prize winners in Class C of the same year. One of the members, Roy Pitchford, has three medals from the Canadian National Exhibition and the Kiwanis Festivals of different years; another, Griffen Young, possesses two medals, one from the C.N.E. and another from Stratford, while a third, Alfred Pink, was first prize winner at the Kiwanis Festival of 1927. The director of the Boys' Choir, Mr. F. G. Mann, L.Mus., has just received the gold medal given to the conductor of the prize-winning choir at the Stratford Festival.

The social season of the Caledonian Club was brought to an end last night with a very jolly concert and dance held in the Woodmen of the World Hall. A large turnout of members were present, and an especially enjoyable evening proved a fitting climax to the many pleasant gatherings which the Club has had this last season. Mr. Robert Veitch, the president, was in the chair, and voiced his appreciation of the splendid gathering, and hoped when the season opened again they would renew their activities with the Club, and bring in more new members. Mr. A. D. Clark arranged the program, which was of a very appropriate order, and consisted of vocal solos, "Just a-wearying for you" and "Sweet Mystery of Love," by Miss Jessie Pattison; pianoforte selections by Miss Pearl Smith; readings by Mr. W. Crisp; vocal duet, "Life's Dream is O'er," by Miss Jessie Pattison and Miss Jennie Clark. Community singing was also heartily responded to. Mr. W. Dougal made a splendid accompanist on the piano for all the numbers. Refreshments, consisting of pie and ice cream, were served by the executive. Afterwards dancing was engaged in to music supplied by W. Dougal, and at eleven-thirty the company joined hands and sang "Auld Lang Syne" before dispersing. Next week the monthly business meeting will be held.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

YEARS AGO IT was a common thing to see cosy corners in the home and even yet housewives insist on having them but this idea has given place to cosy garden spots.

• • • • • • •

If the grounds about a house are large enough they are divided and subdivided into various garden plots and a landscape gardener does this dividing with such skill that one plot opens into another, supplying charming vistas yet permitting each division to have an entity of its own.

• • • • • • •

For example let me tell you of a terraced estate that slopes from the residence down to an arm of Cape Cod Bay and which starts with a rose garden close to the house.

• • • • • • •

The next terrace is an old fashioned garden with a central fountain. A sundial and a bird bath are at some distance on either side. This garden is a-bloom all the time being so planted that there always is a profusion of flowers.

• • • • • • •

The third terrace is the kitchen garden while a fourth sheltered by rocks has grape arbors and well pruned vines. The effect is satisfying for the beautiful spots are close to the house gradually descending in attractiveness and altitude to the least attractive on the lowest level beyond which the grounds slope gradually to the beach.

• • • • • • •

I suppose you say it is no use reading about such things because you will never have such an estate, but you CAN make an attractive place out of your own little back or even front lawn.

• • • • • • •

Where grounds are small, it may take the entire space for one garden, but this can be made as beautiful in its way as any of the terraces I described.

• • • • • • •

It is wise to have it planted with constantly blooming plants. These must be suited to the exposure of the grounds. But if you have not planted there is very little time left.

• • • • • • •

I am sure you have often noticed how garden furniture lends enchantment. I am told that just now wrought iron furniture is the vogue and such furniture is permanent.

• • • • • • •

Whenever you think a storm is coming, you need not run out and bring in such furniture—the rain will not harm it in the least—it will wash the metal and freshen it up.

• • • • • • •

A table with four chairs conveniently placed, not at the table, but nearby is inviting, especially if they are in the shade and the day is hot and sultry.

• • • • • • •

Another cosy effect can be gained with cement furniture. One curved bench with a back, a round table before it, but not too close and one bench without a back opposite is an attractive arrangement.

• • • • • • •

Gay cushions should be on the curved bench. These are to sit on as well as to tuck behind one's back. They are the only things that have to be taken indoors when the dew is too heavy or a storm comes up.

• • • • • • •

Portable furniture is least expensive and everyone who has a garden can dress it up with such pieces. Folding furniture is recommended such as a table with a waterproof textile cover, a steamer or beach lounging chair covered with pretty canvas and two or three folding arm chairs.

• • • • • • •

The furniture should be put in a shady spot, either where some building casts a shadow most of the day, or better still where some tree is a shelter from the sun and where the light is softened.

OUR CHILDREN

By Angelo Patri

SUMMER VACATIONS.

The vacation months ought not to be empty ones. Children are active creatures because they are still growing rapidly. Their growth is based on action. To allow that to flag for two precious growing months is great waste. The children must have useful, pleasant, valuable occupation. But what?

It is not wise to ask a child to study work in vacation time. He has had enough of that sort of work for a time. He needs variety of experiences and as most schools offer only book experiences it is better to let the child do some sort of work during vacation, or follow some other course of study.

Those children who are fortunate enough to go to a summer camp, a good summer camp, need no other help. But the great mass of children who are at home, on the streets, loose. They have no motive for their days and so get into mischief. They must be directed and given opportunity for gathering useful experiences.

Those who have certain work selected for their vacation time are safe. Some children go to the berry fields, some to the fruit orchards. It seems to me that that is a fine solution for those children, especially if they go with their parents and are carefully protected against exploitation. Children under fifteen years of age need free play with a little work thrown in to steady them and give them habits of industry and knowledge of business. Wherever children gather for work, there the school should raise its flag. I believe that the school should have the first and last word about the employment of children. The health board, the employers, and the school, with the school first, should be gravely concerned about this problem.

It won't do to turn children loose for two months. Nor will it do to allow them to work without enlightened supervision. Children need to be trained to a habit of work in their chosen fields. The schools can offer little in that direction. I hope that the day is coming when schools shall function all day long, all year round. For school is a phase of life. Children live in school and it is clear that they ought not to live artificially in one part of their day and normally another part. Normal living all the time is what they are entitled to have. Let us hope that our education will catch up to this idea before another generation goes by.

But now what about this summer? Summer camp? That is good IF the camp is good. A job? Fine, if the job is intelligently selected, not just for the money in question, though that is of importance, but for the education it offers, which is of prime importance.

A good job is educative. Don't imagine a child is educated because he goes through school. Not until his knowledge functions in action can you measure his education. Work is a great help toward that end. Only make certain that the work is truly educative.

Summer school to make up back lessons? Not if you can possibly help it. A child does not profit by a repetition of the old story. It is better to change the work so as to give the child a new and fresh point of view. A quickened intelligence will soon make up back work but a deadened, routined, fatigued mind can make no progress. Fill the vacation period with profitable days.

START LIGHT VOTE PROBLEM.

CLEVELAND, O., (U.P.)—Reason why 74 per cent of this city's eligible voters decline to go to the poles, is to be sought in a house-to-house canvass here under the direction of Edward J. Denson, attorney. A group of young business and professional men have agreed to undertake the task.

HIGHWAY NEAR COMPLETION

GLACIER NATIONAL PARK, (U.P.).—Barring, of course, unforseen delays, the Roosevelt highway will be completed several weeks before the official opening and celebration in July, according to highway officials. Work has been resumed on the Summit-Lubec section, the last uncompleted gap of the scenic thoroughfare.

A June Lake Trip Is Delightful

FIVE DAY CRUISE
Georgian Bay
Manitoulin Island
Sault Ste. Marie
via S. S. Manitoulin

ROUND TRIP $32 Meals and Berth Included.

There's no more delightful time for a lake trip than the glorious month of June—the scenery is at its best and there's not a great crowd.

The best trip of all is a five days cruise to Manitoulin Island points and Sault Ste. Marie on the splendid steel Steamship "Manitoulin." Brief stops at all the interesting ports — Killarney, Manitowaning, Kagawong, Gore Bay, Thessalon, Bruce Mines and many other interesting places on the Manitoulin Island and North Shore. Then up the St. Mary's River and a full day at the Soo, where the steamer is your hotel.

The S.S. Manitoulin is the largest and most modern ship on the route. Large comfortable staterooms, all with hot and cold running water. Observation saloon on the hurricane deck. Steam heating throughout.

Round trip from Owen Sound to Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., and return, including meals and berth while on the trip and while steamer is at the Soo, only $32.00

Steamer leaves Owen Sound every Thursday evening during June at 11.15, arriving back early Tuesday. Stop over at any port, if you wish. Same first-class service as during tourist season.

During July and August steamer schedules are changed and include Mackinac Island, round trip fare, $45.

For reservations and further information ask railway or steamship agents, or write

GOOD PROGRAM IN S. S. CONCERT

Figures of Story Land Revived in Salvation Army Presentation.

MUSICAL NUMBERS.

An annual feature, the Band of Love concert, was held recently at the Salvation Army, when a large audience gathered to see the youngsters who form this section of the Sunday School in their drills, action songs and specialties. Dressed in tasty dresses of yellow, the opening march and drill was a delight to watch even though the tail of the parade a little three-year-old tot whose efforts to keep step and do her part, provided real juvenile comedy. A piano solo, recitations and vocal items were all very finely rendered, while the afternoon session in the village schoolhouse with the reading of the original compositions of the boys and girls with the persistent demands of the bad boy for a drink of water took our minds back to those happy days. The old folks at home in which the quaint dresses of yore and the picture hats of the youngsters and their serious comments of their young days, and the sea story of a 5-year-old "old salt" was a very clever item.

The finale, a rhyme pageant in which all the famous characters of childhood were introduced by Miss Canada after the fairies had magically put to sleep the little girl as she read her story book, and there did not appear to be an absentee, even the toy soldiers took life and followed Little Boy Blue's call and the Pretty Maid scorned the attention of the gentleman, while Contrary Mary was unperturbed by the fall of Humpty Dumpty. To complete the review the Old Lady who lived in a shoe let loose her family, and with their story book friends joined in a final song. To the leaders of the Band of Love, Miss M. Robinson and Miss K. Winslade, a vote of thanks was tendered by Adjutant W. Jones, who had acted in the capacity of chairman at this happy evening's entertainment.

-- How Far Is This New Pontiac Going To Run?

This is the Pontiac DeLuxe Sedan which the Rotary Club is presenting as a prize to the one estimating the nearest to the number of miles which the speedometer will register on the night of June 18th. When operating the speedometer will turn under electric power on the platform at the Street Fair headquarters, corner George and Charlotte streets for approximately 115 hours. Car will make round trip to Belleville by way of Norwood and Hastings, and return via Cobourg and Port Hope.

There will be made one trip to and from Lakefield and Lindsay. It will also operate on the streets of Peterborough approximately eight hours a day for several days.

Here is a real chance. Tickets only 25 cents. Why not make at least four estimates. Keep in mind the fact that every cent the Rotary Club realizes on this and other activities goes to their work among Crippled Children, etc. It is your opportunity to help in this great work.

Don't forget the BIG STREET FAIR on night of June 18th.

BANDITS DEPORTED TO CANADA

WINDSOR, Ont., May 30. (C.P.)—William McCrea and Thomas Sinclair were deported from Detroit last night and are now in jail here facing charges of robbery armed. It is charged that they held up the staff of the brewers' warehouse on London street, and secured about $4000, about a month ago. They were shortly afterwards arrested in Detroit and became the pivot of a legal battle between the civic and federal authorities as to their custody.

Four Indian Memories

"To the actual work of commanding men B. P. took to it like a duck to water. At the first parade which fell to his lot to inspect about three days after joining his regiment in India, he showed himself to be less "green" than was perhaps hoped. It was the rule that every man should wear a cholera belt—a thick piece of flannel round his waist—and many were the efforts to evade this hot, prickly and unpopular article of attire. The men were drawn up in two ranks, and when B. P. had walked round the rear rank, and seen every man open his shirt and display a belt, he saw, out of some eye at the back of his head, a man step hastily out of the front rank into the rear rank. The new subaltern said nothing until he had inspected and passed the front rank, and then remarked cooly and pleasantly, "Now, Hardcastle" (the man happened to be the only one known to him by name). We should all like to see the color of your belt. Stand out." The discomfited Hardcastle stepped forward and revealed the fact that he had no belt, and amidst the laughter of his comrades, was awarded the punishment of wearing two belts until further notice. Two years of hard toil in India, together with his "swotting" for a garrison examination, and the many demands made upon him socially, began to tell a tale. Despite a sharp attack of fever, he passed first class in his examination, and secured an extra certificate for surveying.

But the heat had taken it out of him to such a degree that when the cold weather came, he did not revive as he had hoped, and on the doctor's advice he applied for a medical board, which passed him as ill and needing leave for England. The news came as an intense relief and, after hurried preparations he started for home by the first boat."

After eighteen months in England, B. P. returned to India and work once more. Two sports that B.P. took up were polo and pig sticking. The latter, which consists of hunting wild pigs in the jungle, and is an extremely dangerous pastime, was one of his favorites, and one at which he excelled.

Amateur theatricals, too, occupied a considerable portion of his time. The story of B. P. impersonating a general and fooling his commanding officer, makes good reading.

At the end of '84, the 13th Hussars were ordered to Natal, to act in conjunction if necessary with Sir Charles Warren's expedition in Bechuanaland. So after much packing up, selling of horses and property, amassing of new outfits, etc., B. P. said goodbye to the delights of India, and entered with enthusiasm upon his new surroundings at the Cape, 'the very thing I have been hoping for'." The years that intervened between 1884, and 1896 were filled with stirring adventure for our Chief. Necessity compels us to skip over them briefly, merely quoting from "The Chief Scouts Ladder of Life", at the end of "The Piper of Pax."

1886—Regiment returned home to Berwick. Moved to Colchester. Resigned adjutancy.

1886—Regiment moved to Manchester, B. P.'s squadron to Liverpool (Seaforth).

1887—Appointed A.D.C., to G.O.C. South Africa, General H. A. Smyth.

1888 — Campaign in Zululand against Dinesulu. Acted as Military secretary and intelligence officer to flying column. Confirmed as Military Secretary, Brevet Major.

1889—Home on sick leave. Returned to South Africa and appointed Secretary to commission to Swaziland under Sir F. de Winton, jointly with Boer Commission.

1890—Transferred with Sir. H. A. Smyth, Governor of Malta as Military Secretary.

1891—Appointed Intelligence Officer for Mediterranean.

1893—Resigned Military Secretary Malta. Rejoined 13th Hussars in Ireland.

1895 — Commanded Squadron in Ashanti Expedition, West Africa. Commanded native bevy to Kumassi, Brevet Lieut. Colonel and medal.

This concludes the story of the first 38 years of B. P.'s life. Next week we will see how he was besieged in Mafeking with a handful of men, while the town was surrounded with Boers. It was this heroic defence that B. P.'s name rang throughout England and he was acclaimed a national hero.

APPRECIATIVE AUDIENCE HEARS FINE RECITAL AT CONSERVATORY

Violin and Piano Pupils Are Heard to Splendid Effect.

SELECTIONS WELL CHOSEN.

By Jeanette

It was an intensely appreciative audience that listened last evening in the hall of the Conservatory of Music to the violin recital given by pupils of Donald Heins, assisted by senior piano pupils from R. Gliddon's studio.

Mr. Heins' large class of pupils numbers very few of the feminine sex. The majority are boys, some of them very small children indeed, but all marked with the same degree of enthusiasm for their music, with a careful thoroughness in technique, a broad firmness in tone and a free, expert bowing that made their music, one and all, a real pleasure to listen to. Nearly all the numbers were played from memory and a careful selection appeared to have chosen for each pupil, music eminently suited to his or her particular temperament.

The smaller pupils made a tremendous hit with their hearers, because of the careful manipulation of their bows, the intense interest in their memorized pieces, and the likeable fashion with which they progressed in businesslike style from beginning to end of varied numbers.

Clever Child Musicians.

The two small Borland children were clever musicians who made a great impression. Bob, playing the violin, and Jack, the 'Cello, had two duet numbers, a Gavotte and Allegretto by Frank Bridge, while Jack played two 'cello selections, Bagatelle and a Little Waltz, and Bob, with the violin, earned much applause by his nonchalant, careful playing of two Melodies by Berthold Tours.

Max Glover played very pleasingly, two attractive numbers, Thome's Simple Aveu and Jarnefelt's Berceuse. Keith Wightman was heard to good advantage in Haydn's Minuet in D, and Neil Mackenzie played the lovely Adoration by Borowski. Max Warne displayed a great degree of skill in his rendition of the dainty Pierrot Serenade and a Serenade by Victor Herbert, while little Alex Carlisle performed admirably with the old favorite, La Cinquintaine.

A small brother and sister who made notable contributions to the program were the composed and very fine little players, Gertrude and Harry McDonnell. The former played a Playful Rondo just as it should be done, while her brother's rendition of a Country Dance, composed by Mr. Heins, was extraordinarily good. His second number, also well played, was Hauser's Cradle Song.

Little Kathleen Thackeray played very well, another descriptive and interesting composition by Mr. Heins, entitled The Dutch Family, while a third composition from his pen was Valse Gracieuse, which, with Elgar's Salut d'Amour, comprised Jack McKone's expertly done numbers.

With evidence of sound technical equipment that yet left each pupil's distinctive method unchanged, these junior pupils presented their numbers in interesting style.

Senior Pupils.

Three senior violin pupils were Miss Ted Connor, Miss Mary Westbye and Stanley Northrop. Miss Connor exhibited a great degree of skillful manipulation of swift composition in her attractive rendition of a Mazurka by Meynarski, a bright, buoyant number. Miss Westbye's selection was a temperamental thing, the Czardas of Monti, with the Hungarian atmosphere of the dance and an expert fingering that brought her much applause.

Stanley Northrop was the highlight of the evening, the appreciation that followed his trio of exacting numbers bringing the lone encore of the program. He played, with an outstanding quality of splendid, free tone and high technical ability, an enthralling love song by Schumann-Huer, and a Wieniawski Scherzo Tarantelle, with a flying bow dancing over vibrant strings.

Mr. Heins played accompaniments for all of his pupils.

The playing of four of the senior piano pupils of Mr. Gliddon was of a very high standard. Characterized by the graceful, flowing smoothness of tone that Mr. Gliddon imparts invariably to his students, with excellent powers of memorization that sent them triumphantly through difficult compositions, and a free, facile wrist movement that makes for a clear, brilliant touch, they played beautifully. Their selections were lovely.

Miss Musa Cox played very finely, a Liszt composition, Etude de Concert in D flat, bright, rippling, reposeful music with a glowing tone.

A picturesque thing that is seldom heard from the concert platform and that rivets the attention with its loveliness, was Kroeger's Egeria, played most beautifully by Miss Ann Donoghue, whose rendition of the graceful composition that carries the melody in a rich bass, embroidered by a constantly rippling treble, was heartily encored.

Miss Phyllis Stewart, of Lakefield, played very attractively, Schubert's Impromptu, opus 90, gay, inconsequent music in which a brilliant treble alternates whimsically with a lingering melodious bass.

And Russell Rowan had the fourth splendidly-played piano number, On Wings of Song, by Mendelssohn, its romantic, murmuring and pensive cadences flowing from this talented young musician's fingers in simple, unaffected fashion.

The stage was very prettily arranged for the recital, with a back screen of modernistic type, in black and grey, tall, lighted piano lamps with bright shades and bowls of lilacs and spring shrubs.

GARDENING HINTS

Gladiolus

After danger of frost is over it is time to plant the first of the Gladiolus. These flowers come into bloom from fifty to ninety days after the bulbs, or more correctly speaking, the corms are planted. If quick flowering sorts are used they may be grown almost anywhere in Canada, while the flowering season lasting a month or more is possible in most sections by successional plantings and the use of early, medium and late types. Gladiolus will grow in almost any soil, but they prefer rich, open loam properly drained. Plenty of moisture is essential and also a little lime if the soil is inclined to be sour. They should be located in a fairly open position where they will receive sunshine at all times during the day, except for an hour or so in the middle of the day, when it is best to have them in a sheltered position so that the sun at noon will be filtered through light tree growth. The bed should be changed from season to season to avoid injury from fungus diseases in the soil. Plant from two to three inches deep in clay and twice this depth in sandy loam. For decorative effect plant solid clumps of about a dozen of one variety and color. Space the corms about eight inches apart in this case or four inches apart if grown in rows. For indoor decoration it is best to grow the gladiolus in rows in the vegetable garden where they will get more cultivation and take up less space. Dig the soil to a good depth, plant the bulbs and cultivate freely until the foliage makes this impossible. In cool weather, water late in the day and in very warm weather, in the morning as well as in the evening. New corms will be formed during the growing season and these can be lifted and stored away after the foliage turns brown in the fall.

Dahlias

Dahlias are another bulb or tuber which should not go in until all danger of frost is over. Sandy, well drained, deeply cultivated and generously fertilized loam is the best soil. A little coal ashes or well-rotted humus, which is simply decayed vegetable material, will loosen up heavy clay and make it suitable. As dahlias grow to a height of from three to six feet, they will require staking and the stakes should be placed at the same time as the tubers so that the latter will not be injured. The tubers should be placed on their sides with the buds pointing upwards in holes about six inches deep. Of course, before planting separate the clumps of tubers taking care that each tuber contains a sprout. As the plant begins to grow, tie loosely to the stake. Nip off all but one or two side shoots and at least two-thirds of the buds if extra large flowers are desired. Order tubers early as the choicest varieties are soon sold out.

Tomatoes

This is about the right time to think about tomatoes, a plant which should not be set out in the open until all danger of frost is over. In all cases it is advisable to stake and while plants treated in this way require a little more care they take less room, will bear earlier and the fruit will be cleaner than if the vines are allowed to sprawl on the ground. Inch square, six foot stakes, should be used, driving them into the soil about ten or twelve inches, before the plants are set out. Place the stakes at two feet or twelve inches, before the plants are set out. Place the stakes at two feet intervals each way, although eighteen inches may be all right in a very small garden. Select stocky plants and set about a couple of inches away from the stake. Water and add a little Nitrogen fertilizer when transplanting. Nip off all side buds during the growing season, allowing only the main stem to grow, which should be tied loosely about every foot to the stake with soft twine or raffia. Pinch off the end of the main stem when it reaches the top of the stake. This will induce early ripening as will also partial pruning of the long leaves. Tomatoes prefer warm, open soil and need plenty of cultivation. Round, not too large, meaty varieties are the best to grow in the average garden.

VEGETABLES WORTH TRYING

The real vegetable garden consists of very much more than a few rows of carrots, beets and beans. There is room here for just as much variety and interest as we had in the growing of flowers. The Canadian climate almost everywhere lends itself admirably to the production of a great wealth of vegetables, and our seasons usually favor quick growth which is absolutely essential for the highest quality. Among the lesser known vegetables of the cabbage type we have red cabbage, chinese cabbage, brocolli, kale and Brussels Sprouts. Red Cabbage is far more desirable for pickles and salads than its white sister. Chinese Cabbage, a sort of cross between lettuce and cabbage, has a very delicate flavour. Brocco resembles cauliflower. Incidentally the latter vegetable might be grown more universally in this country also as it is among our highest class. Brussel Sprouts are sown early and harvested late in the fall. A little frost will not hurt them. They resemble tiny cabbages from forty to a hundred heads growing on each stalk. They have a very delicate flavor. Kale is also frost resistant and makes splendid greens or October, November and December consumption. Kholrabi is a sort of cross between the cabbage and turnip with the flavour somewhat similair to both parents. Swiss Chard is an easily grown vegetable, comes on quickly and can be used as a sort of late asparagus, when the stems are boiled, while the fleshy leaves are used as greens. Salsify, or Oyster Plant, is regarded very highly in most quarters. Among the unusual salad and flavouring material we have mustard, cress, endive, parsley, chervil and chickory. All these vegetables and directions for cooking are fully described in the seed catalogue. Broad Beans, which are quite easily grown if they are put in early and sprayed with Nicotine during flowering, are a most substantial vegetable, a few pods supplying a moderate sized family for a meal. They grow to a height of about three feet and are shelled like peas when the beans reach about the size of your thumb nail. Lima beans can be grown in a good many districts of Canada. Among the later sown vegetables that are recommended are the new table squash, which are very much preferable for both pies and a vegetable to the old pumpkins or large squash. In many places muskmelon and watermelon can be grown. By adding some of these newer vegetables to the old standbys and by using early, medium and late varieties, and by spreading the planting of the varieties over, say, three weeks, instead of chucking all the seed in at one time, one can develop a garden which will supply something new almost every day in the season and that season, moreover, may be extended from the first of July until Christmas.

IMPROVING REAL ESTATE

Often a well planted garden will mean the difference between a sale and no sale of a house as certainly the average person prefers a residence wit ha good lawn, trees, shrubbery, climbers and flowers about it. But even the owner of an apartment house or a string of modern residences to rent, or summer cottages will find it profitable to make some attempt at decoration of this kind. Shrubbery at the corner of the apartment house and rows of brilliant annuals alongside with, perhaps, window boxes at the living room windows at least will do much to beautify the building and attract tenants. Not very much care is needed, the janitor who must be around the building any way, being able to look after the whole thing. In the more settled summer resort districts of this country owners are turning more and more to flowers and even vegetable gardens to attract visitors. Two or three beds of flowers in a group of half a dozen cottages will supply all the summer tenants with daily bouquets for the table.

WINDOW BOXES

It is now time to think about the window boxes which can be set out after danger of frost is over. One must remember that a window box is simply a very intensive form of gardening, producing about ten times the amount of growth for the same area in the ordinary garden. On this account it is essential that the soil used in the box be very rich, containing plenty of fertilizer, and that it be kept damp by daily waterings. As they are exposed to the sun and wind on nearly all sides evaporation is very rapid, hence artificial moisture every day is imperative. Window boxes should be as long as the sill, about eight inches deep, all inside measurements. Reinforce the corners on the inside with iron straps and make sure the box is strongly attached to the window-frame. It is usually stained green or brown but may be painted to match the other woodwork. Holes must be made in the bottom and also a thin layer of broken crockery or cinders to provide drainage. If possible, put in a layer of well rotted manure before filling up with rich soil. Plant trailing vines such as nasturtions and German Ivy along the front and also edging material, with geraniums and larger plants at the back. Protect from sun and wind with newspapers for a few days after material is transplanted to box.

LAWNS

Lime should be used sparingly on the lawn as often an acid soil, which the lime tends to correct, actually discourages the growth of dandelions and plantain, two very objectionable and common weeds. A rich soil is necessary in order to have a good lawn and also good drainage and sunlight. Fertilizers relatively high in Nitrogen, which stimulate luxuriant growth, are the best. Liberal amount of phosphate and potash are also beneficial especially when a lawn is being started for the first time. Five pounds of commercial fertilizer for a hundred square feet is the maximum amout which should be used.

CHOOSING LAWNS

If the garden is a small one be satisfied with few varieties. It is much wiser to grow five plants each of ten varieties than one each of fifty. Plan for broad masses of color to create an impression of spaciousness. In other words, avoid making a botanical museum of the ordinary small garden. For the bulk of the planting one is well advised to stick to such old favorites as Coreopsis, Gaillardia, Delphinium, Hardy Perennial Aster, Hardy Phlox, Iris, Peonies and Dianthus in the perennial part, and Asters, Phlox Drummondi, Zinnias, Verbenas, Petunias, Cosmos, Nasturtiums and Marigolds for immediate returns. Avoid planting perennials that are unsightly when the bloom is gone, unless the space will allow for placing annuals to hide them. Tiger Lilies will soon outgrow their places but are not objectionable after blooming. Hollyhocks and Foxglove on the other hand, are a bit large for the very small garden.

PLANTS

Plants should be purchased from the nearest reliable source. There is nothing to be gained by sending across the continent for them and, in fact, there is a grave risk of loss as they may not be adapted to Canadian conditions. If your order arrives before the time to plant them, untie the bundle and heal in—that is, put them in a shallow trench, spread out the roots, water and leave covered with soil until ready for planting. Don't let the roots be exposed to sun or wind even for a minute.

CHURCHILL READY 1931 FOR GRAIN SHIPMENTS

OTTAWA, Ont., May 31 (C.P.).—Everything will be ready to permit the shipment of next year's grain crop from Churchill on Hudson Bay, Hon. T. H. Crerar, Minister of Railways and Canals, announced yesterday in the House of Commons.

The elevator at the northern port will be ready for use by September, 1931, said the Minister, and by that time the harbor facilities would be sufficiently advanced to handle grain shipment.

Cogs Are Beaten by C.G.E. Seven Runs to Four

ART PRIMEAU'S TEAM TAKES LEAD IN EAST PETERBOROUGH LEAGUE WITH TWO WINS IN SUCCESSION

Cold Weather Makes it Tough Job For the Ball Players.

SUPPORT ERRATIC.

Beavis With Triple and Two Singles Leads the C.G.E. Assault

(By F. D. C.)

Manager Art Primeau's C.G.E. team moved out in front of the East Peterborough League parade last night at Exhibition aPrk when they defeated the Cognawagas, last year's champions, 7 runs to 4, in a loosely-played game in which most of the runs were in the nature of gifts.

The Arctic weather, more appropriate to a gridiron battle than a ball game, made it a tough job for the players and the defence of both teams was more than usually shaky.

The winners, who won their initial start with young Jack Crary in the box on Monday night, trotted out another pair of pitchers in last night's mixup; the veteran "Bun" Frost working the first four innings in good style and the elongated Osterland, using a smoking fast ball very effectively in the last three frames. Vannest went the full distance for the Cogs, and he, like his rival gunners, suffered from erratic support while his own lack of control at several stages was costly.

The Cogs, after earning one run and having another presented to them in the first inning, took the field and kicked in a couple of counters for the C.G.E. to tie the score. The ultimate winners went ahead with another easy pair in the third and were never headed thereafter.

Leads C.G.E. Assault

Beavis, with a triple and two singles, led the C.G.E. assault, with Henderson, the Electrician's new first baseman, cashing in with a pair of safeties. For the losers, Wilson had three singles, and Cuthbertson a triple and a single.

Frost started off swimmingly by fanning both Williams and Billingsly, but Cuthbertson laced a long triple to deep centre and rode home on Rooke's clean smash to left for a base. Rooke started to steal second, going on to third when Hatton's throw was wide, and Johnston dropped the toss to the difficult corner. Red Hollingsworth muffed Corbett's high fly back of second and Rooke trotted in with a safe counter. Wilson singled to centre, but Baker ended the frame with a roller to Red Hollingsworth.

The Cogs proceeded to hand the lead back. H. Hollingsworth lifted high to Corbett for the first out. Johnston drew a pass. Rose flied to Wilson in right. Henderson singled past Cuthbertson and when Beavis hit safely in the same spot ,the bases were filled. Cuthbertson threw wide to first on Horner's roller and Johnston scored. Williams followed with a low toss on a rap from L. Hollingsworth, and Henderson registered. The sacks were still crowded when Hatton fanned.

No Scoring in the Second

There was no scoring in the second but the C.G.E. crew got another cushey pair of counters in their half of the third. Henderson singled to centre to start the frame, and stole second. Beavis was safe when Hartley's throw pulled Rooke off the bag. Henderson going to third. Beavis stole second. Williams mussed up Utronki's roller, Henderson trotting in. Len Hollingsworth struck out, but Hatton wacked to fill the bases and then Vannest, after whiffing Frost for the second out, hit Red Hollingsworth, forcing in Beavis. Cuthbertson saved further trouble by going over back of second to snare Johnston's good bid for a hit.

Osterland took over the pitching burden for the winners in the fifth and weathered a bad looking inning. He walked Vannest to start with and Red Hollingsworth gave Williams a life by fumbling his roller. Billingsley struck out but Cuthbertson cracked a torrid single to centre, fast fielding by Beavis keeping Vannest from scoring. With the bases full Rooke hit a bounder into Osterland's hands and a fast double play to the plate and then to third killed off the Cogs' big chance.

The C.G.E. increased their lead in their end of the frame, when Kimmins, replacing Len Hollingsworth, doubled to left, went to third on a wild pitch, and scored while Cuthbertson was tossing out Hatton. Osterland fanned, and H. Hollingsworth rolled to Cuthbertson.

The winners made it sure by scoring two more runs in the sixth. With one out, Rose singled sharply to right, stole second and after Henderson had fanned, dashed home on a slashing triple to centre by Beavis. The latter scored when Cuthbertson lost Utronki's rap.

The Cogs staged a belated rally in the seventh and final session. Williams dropped a double down the right field foul line. Grant, batting for Billingsley, fanned; and Cuthbertson also struck out. Red Hollingsworth let Rooke's hopper to short get away and Williams scored. Corbett's triple down the left field line scored Rooke but it was all over when Wilson fanned.

Marmora Is Fielding Strong Junior Team

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MARMORA, May 31. — The Deloro Junior Ball Team is coming ahead by leaps and bounds and when the best of the young blood of Marmora and Deloro is turned loose against the near-champions of Belleville on June 17, there should be a big surprise in store for that city.

The regular team has been picked, with the exception of one place in the infield, but this will be filled in another week. The manager is elated over the way the boys go through their work and says he would not trade the infield on the junior team for the infield on last year's senior team. However, he offers no comment on last year's senior team other than it had some good material in its line-up.

The management would like to state to those who are working for a place on this junior team, that even though it looks as if so and so is getting a certain position the thing is to go in and try to beat him out of it. Don't stand on one side and whine, "I'm a better ball player than he is." "Action is the only talk that is wanted on any ball team," is the advice being given. Uniforms are being handed out this coming week to those who will be catching a place on the team. Practices will be held on Tuesday and Friday evenings. A "carryall" will run from Marmora to Deloro on practice nights, leaving the Royal Hotel at 5.45 p.m. "Get aboard and try out for the ball team," is the call sounded to the youth of Marmora.

WILLY ARNOLD LEADS PACE IN SPEED CLASSIC

Chicago Youngster Averages 100.448 Miles an Hour to Finish Race 10 Miles in Lead.

COPS $52,150 PRIZE.

William Cantlon and Louie Schneider Were Second and Third Respectively.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 31. — (C.P.)—A boy just 23 years old, with determination written all over his youthful face, won the 500 mile automobile race at the Indianapolis motor speedway yesterday and a pot of gold worth $52,150.

With a record smashing crowd of 170,000 cheering him to victory, Willy Arnold, of Chicago, the triumphant youngster, leading all the way except the first two laps, and making only one stop, won the race with a lead of ten miles in 4.58.39.72, averaging 100.448 miles an hour.

William "Shorty" Cantlon, of Detroit, finished second, three laps behind the speeding Chicago youngster, Louie Schneieder of Indianapolis, was third, five laps behind the winner. Another Louie, Louie Meyer of South Gate, Calif., winner of the race in 1928, was fourth, with Wild Bill Cummings of Indianapolis, fifth.

Fourteen of the original 38 starters, survived to finish.

Inside Sportin' Dope—By A. Wise Cracker

Mister Sporting Editor:

Well, Mac, we been having some grea: hockey weather this baseball season, ain't we? Just when the boys start in tossing the old pill around in earnest along comes a cold snap that would discourage a Eskimo. Anyway the Woolworth League—nothing over 10 cents—as I call Mister Charlie Curtis' East Peterborough circuit, got under way since I last wrote, and last Sat. the Cogs lambasted Doc Hamilton's Bethany talent by a baker's dozen or so, while here Monnite Mister Art Primeaus Electricians tossed a few volts into Mister Brioux's Crescents. I was among the pneumonia-braving fans what seen the latter fracus, Mac, and I'm here to say it was a smart game, considering the cold fingers the boys was nursing out there on the diamond. Most of the lads in Mister Primeau's galaxy of talent was with the Petes in the Central loop last season, including the weather-beaten, ivy-covered Mister Johnston, who did nothing wrong in the field and nothing right with the stick, although in justice to Mister Johnston it should be noted that none of the birds out there did any fence-busting. Opposed to his old teammates was none other than Mister Jeff Hardill, who uncovered a mean curve ball that bothered the winners like nobody's business. Some of the leather-lungs in the grandstand give Mister Hardill the well-known raspberry for losing the ball game, but they was so busy yelling they forgot to notice that if Mister Collins and Mister Batten hadn't mussed up plays at the wrong moment the Electricians wouldn't crossed the plate at all at all. Mister Jack Crary, who stepped up from the jr. ranks this season, did the heaving for the C.G.E., and a right sweet job the youngster made of it, what I mean. Right off the reel he had a chance to cut his moorings and drift into the clouds when the opposition filled the bags with only 1 man down, but Mister Crary coolly whiffed the next two Brioux employees, and that was that.

It looks like they is going to be a lot of nice ball in this here E. P. tie-up, and just think, Mac, you can go all season for a dollar bill.

Up in Oshawa Sat. Mister Bill Kay's Silver Liners, the Rays, outscored the Oshawa crew in a 15 to 10 battle, which sounds like both teams tossed defences to the wind and swapped punches from bell to bell. Anyway, the Raybestos boys carried the most punch and they emerged well in front. And, as old John McGraw sez, the 1 you win in May you don't halfta win in July, so the Rays starts out on the crest of the wave.

The Mush or Softball League got away to a good start, too, this week, and just to show you how up-to-date this loop is they took up the collection the other nite in a straw hat, while the neighbors was tieing blankets round the rhubarb to keep it from getting frostbitten. They has been 2 big upsets already this week, the Sugar Bowlers, last year's Bridgenorth Wild Cats, took it on the chin from the C.G.E., and Mister Harrison's champs was taken for a ride by the Belmont Club in a game in which President Scates did everything from banging out 2 hits and spearing boo-coop flies to spraining his ankle. The Sugar Bowlers went so high in the air in their game that they wasn't even a chance to re-fuel up where they was.

Well, Mac, here's hoping for some warmer weather and hotter baseball during the coming week. Meanwhile I'll be seeing ya'.

Sportfully yours,

A. WISE CRACKER.

HARWOOD DEFEATS BAILIEBORO IN EAST NORTHUMBERLAND TILT

Winners Play Airtight Ball Behind Superior Hurling of King Young.

FINAL COUNT 6-3.

BAILIEBORO, May 31.—The second game of the East Northumberland Baseball League was held in Bailieboro's new ball park on Wednesday evening. Harwood was the visiting team and defeated the home team by a score of 6—3 in one of the fastest games of several seasons.

Harwood showed their experience in the tight places and played airtight ball behind excellent pitching of King Young. Bailieboro, the new teen age addition to the league, showed their ability to play ball and should measure up with the best before the season is over.

C. Buttars pitched the full game for Bailieboro.

First Inning

Harwood—Harvey flied to the pitcher; Burrson flied to Johnston; McLean walked, and Lea grounded to Harris.

Bailieboro—Barnard hit to right and was forced at second by Woods, who hit into a double play. Dowson struck out.

Second Inning

The game was won in the second when Harwood scored 4 runs. Hogg flied to Deyell; Wade reached first on error by Buttars. Harvey advanced him to second when Woods muffed the ball. Lawton was hit by pitcher. Wade scored on a passed ball. King struck out. Harvey hit to left, scoring Lawton, and himself scoring when Burrson hit a long one to left. Burrson was caught off second for the third out.

Bailieboro got one in their half, when after Johnston and Harris struck out, Deyell doubled to left, Watt walked. Bowman singled, scoring Deyell, and Buttars struck out.

Third Inning

McLean rolled to Harris. Lea struck out and Hogg died on second after a nice single.

Bailieboro added one more. Barnard reached first on an error by Wade, but was forced at second. Woods stole second and third and scored on Johnston's single. Dawson and Harris struck out.

In the next four innings both teams were retired almost in order and showed some high class ball.

In last of the seventh Buttars singled and was forced at second by Barnard. Woods walked and Barnard scored when Johnston sacrificed to deep centre.

Harwood added two more in the ninth. Young grounded out, Woods to Harris. Harvey fouled to the catcher. Burrson singled and stole second, scoring on McLean's double. McLean scored on a wild throw by the catcher. Lea flied to Deyell.

Line up:—

Harwood:—	Hits.	Runs.	Errors
Harvey, rf	1	1	0
Burrson, 1b	2	1	0
McLean, c	3	1	1

CAMPBELLFORD IS IN GOOD FORM FOR LEAGUE

Tennis Club Preparing For Home and Home Games in Series.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 31. (By Examiner Staff Correspondent.)—As a result of a meeting recently held in Port Hope, a Tennis league for this part of the Province has been formed, which has been divided into two sections. One group is composed of Campbellford, Peterborough, Oshawa, Bowmanville, Cobourg, and Port Hope. The other section will include: Kingston, Gananoque, Tweed and Belleville. Home and home games will be played between the teams, and the winners of each group will play off in the finals.

The Campbellford Club won the league in 1927, 1928, and last year were in the finals, but this event was not played off. This year there will be keen competition, as Campbellford, have a strong club, and are in good shape to give their opposition a stiff game.

The schedule for this series is now in course of preparation, and will be published later.

RATTLERS OUT AGAIN

BILLINGS, Mont. (U.P.)—Any doubt about the advent of spring was dispelled here the other day when Deputy County Auditor W. E. SHAKE-UP IN MAJOR STANDINGS FOLLOW MEMORIAL DAY CONTESTS

Two Double-headers Divided in Eight Pairs of Games Played Yesterday.

ATHLETICS ADVANCE.

In a pair of pennant races as close as those in the two major leagues have been through the early part of the season, the results of the double headers of Memorial Day came as something of a surprise in their decisiveness. Eight pairs of games were played yesterday, and only two were divided, while the rest figured to a considerable extent in shaking up the standings.

The Pittsburg Pirates, sadly weakened by sickness and injuries to their pitching staff, managed to get only an even break with the Cincinnati Reds and after the last few innings of the afternoon might feel lucky to do as well. The St. Louis Browns and Chicago White Sox, deadlocked in games for sixth place in the American League, figured in the other even break.

Cincinnati, with Red Lucas outpitching young Leon Chagnon, took the morning game from Pittsburgh 9 to 1. In the afternoon the Reds gave away a big lead then came strong at the finish and failed by only one run to tie the score. The final count was 7 to 6. The Chicago Americans had to go ten innings to win the first game 7 to 4, but they failed to give Ted Lyons proper support in the second, committing six errors, and the Browns pulled out a 4 to 3 victory.

Brooklyn's slugging Robins accomplished the most in two games, going from a tie for first place in the National League to a two game lead by beating the Phillies 11 to 1 and 11 to 9.

Hornsby Injured

They were aided in gaining the top place by the Chicago Cubs, who refused to let their troubles get the best of them and took two games from the St. Louis Cardinals. They won the first 2 to 0 behind Charley Root's fine pitching, but lost Rogers Hornsby, who fractured an ankle sliding into a base. But still Chicago kept on fighting and took a ten inning afternoon contest, 9 to 8, going into a tie in games with Pittsburgh for third place.

The Boston Braves brought about another change in the National League standing as they took two 6 to 5 decisions from the New York Giants on late rallies.

Every twin victory in the American League had important results where the standings were concerned. The Philadelphia Athletics clipped Washington's margin of leadership from three games to one by defeating the Senators 7 to 6 and 15 to 11. The first game went 13 innings before it was decided after the Athletics had ruined an apparent Washington victory by scoring three runs in the ninth. The double victory carried Philadelphia's latest string to six straight.

The New York Yankees moved into third place by a three-point margin by beating the Boston Red Sox 6 to 5 and 7 to 3.

Detroit's Tigers broke the three-way tie for the top of the second division and sent the Cleveland Indians down below the Yankees by winning a pair of games by scores of 5 to 2 and 9 to 6. The Tigers made the day's biggest total of hits, 26, to gain two comparatively easy triumphs.

GEORGE DORMER CONNECTS FOR 2 HOMERS IN TILT

Candymen Collect Eight Straight Hits in All From Club Nine.

ERRORS COSTLY.

Harold Dormer Pitches Smart Ball for the Winners.

Runs! Runs! Runs! 15 of them to 5 was the tune the Sugar Bowl outfit hammered out last night at the Central School stadium at the expense of the Belmont Club.

Max Swanston sure must have given that Bowl outfit of his an awful talking to for the licking they took from the C.G.E. on Monday, at any rate they piled in, battled from the first swing till they laid the hickory down with fifteen notches carved on it.

Harold Dormer made history for himself on the night's play. He wasn't putting over anything fancy or fast but they were placed just so that every time the old pill was laid out it dropped right into somebody's breadbasket—yes he certainly had good support, for the outfit only had three errors. For his own part he rolled in two runs out of two hits, and stacked up seven assists and one putout. Bud Weese was covering ground and stored away four putouts. Gillespie in centre field covered his territory in good form and held everything that came his way, which was three flies. On his corner of the lot at third Westbrooke put in a nice night with two putouts and five assists. He made one error in the third. George Dormer was swinging a wicked arm and probably set a record when he lifted out two circuit clouts to left and centre fields—or rather it should be said beyond left and centre, in fifth and sixth sessions. He also topped the run list with three for the night. Bradshaw on first had 13 putouts checked against 2 errors.

Holyman Is Good.

Tommy Holyman on the mound for the Belmonts worked hard but his team-mate Cy Haskil behind the rubber couldn't get the action out of him he wanted. Outside of pitching Holyman collard three nice line drives. Tommy walked six, despite the fact that he lobbed them over nice and slow to tantalize the Bowl Boys to take a wallop at it. And for strikeouts, well, Tommy just didn't have any last night. Next in the hard luck line-up to Holyman came Munroe. It seemed that almost every other ball went lapping his way, and for the evening's round he was the hardest worked man on the outfit. Two of his three errors were responsible for two runs—but on the other side of the sheet he had eight putouts and three assists, which isn't so bad either. And then comes Max Board with two errors, one in the fourth and one in the fifth, each letting a man to first, and both scored before they got through. He had three putouts and one assist. Mather, Craighead and Holyman each muffed one. Green, Scates, Mather and Galbraith each singled, the latter three tallying and Craighead counting twice off two free issues.

Take Early Lead.

The battle opened nicely with a three-two count for the Sugar Bowl, and then two sessions passed scoreless. In the fourth Holyman issued two walks, Connors got a single, and Westbrooke got on on Munroe's error and the whole four tallied. For the Belmonts, Galbraith got a single down first and counted. From then on to the seventh it was a series of pretty pop flies just into the field for the Club boys that sent them down as fast as they came to the plate. In the fifth Geo. Dormer made the circuit in one clout; Dallin and Forsythe both muffed on. Connor doubled and the trio counted. In the sixth Weese walked and counted on Dormer's homer. Gillespie singled but was trapped at second. Both Dormer boys scored in the eighth for the last marks. In the eighth it looked as if the Club crew were going to have a break when Craighead walked and Scates made first on a fumble by Bradshaw. Both scored before the session finished, but Scates had the honor of finishing the evening's scoring by bringing in the fifth and last run. The ninth was scoreless.

Line-ups:—

Belmont Club—Holyman p.; Haskill, c.; Mather, 1b.; Munroe, 2b.; Board, 3m.; Craighead ss.; Galbraith lf.; Scates, cf.; Green rf.

Sugar Bowl—H. Dormer, p.; Connors, c.; Bradshaw, 1b.; Weese, 2b.; Westbrooke, 3b.; G. Dormer, ss.; Dallin, lf.; Gillespie lf.; Forsythe rf.

Score by innings	R.	H.	E.
Belmont Club..200 100 020—	5	4	8
Sugar Bowl ...300 442 020—15	8	3

Two base hits: Connors, Weese, Dallin, Bradshaw; home runs, Geo. Dormer 2; walks, off H. Dormer 5, off Holyman 6; struck out by Dormer 2, by Holyman 0.

Umpires—Ted Lebarr, plate; W. Bennett, bases.

The League now stands with the Brintons sitting out in front with a win and no losses. Four outfits—Belmont Club, Sugar Bowl, Westclock and C.G.E.—all have a win and a loss, while Harrisons have a loss and no wins.

On Monday night the C.G.E. boys invade the Brinton lads on their own grounds for a little tangle to see if they can't set the leaders down a notch, and from the way things are going at present there should be lots of fun.

HERD MOVES TO SECOND PLACE

Toronto Drops Double Decision in Memorial Day Program at Buffalo.

STANDINGS SHAKE-UP.

The net result of Memorial Day's batch of double-headers in the International League completely re-arranges holders of the first five places in the league standing.

Baltimore, which was second twenty-four hours ago, advanced to the lead with a double win over Reading; Buffalo jumped from third to second place with two victories over Toronto; Rochester jumped into a tie for third place with two wins over Montreal which fell from first place to a tie for third place, while Toronto dropped from fourth to fifth. Baltimores lead over Buffalo stands at half a game with Montreal and Rochester a game and a half further back. Toronto, in fifth place, stands only half a game back of Montreal and Rochester.

Baltimore's double win over Reading 7 to 5 and 10 to 7, ran the Orioles' winning streak to seven in a row.

The scores at Buffalo were 10 to 2 and 3 to 2. Ollie Tucker led the Bisons in the first game with a homer, two doubles and a single while Fred Fussell held the Maple Leafs in hand, keeping ten opposing hits well scattered. The second contest was a tight pitching duel between Leverette and Cantrell, decided in the eighth inning when Miller, new outfielder obtained from Minneapolis, hit for Leverette with the bases filled and drove out a sacrifice fly, scoring the winning run.

Rochester's double win over Montreal was gained by scores of 1-0 and 6-4.

Jersey City and Newark divided a double bill, the Bears winning the first game 5-4, and dropping the second 3 to 2.

Tigers Trade Carroll, Rice, Wuestling To the Yankees for Koenig and Hoyt

NEW YORK, May 31. — The New York Yankees yesterday traded Pitcher Waite Hoyt and Shortstop Mark Koenig to Detroit for Pitcher Owen Carroll, Outfielder Harry Rice and Infielder George Wuestling.

Manager Bob Shawkey plans to use Harry Rice regularly in leftfield for the Yankees. Carroll, who is 27 and went to the Tigers from Holy Cross, will be used as a starting pitcher. He was with the Toronto Leafs in 1926. Wuestling is slated for the utility infielder role. The new players will report to the Yankees in Chicago Tuesday.

Carroll won 9 games and lost 17 for the Tigers last season, while Hoyt won 10 and lost 9 for the Yankees. Hoyt, who is 31, and has been with the Yankees for nine seasons, was the star of the Yankees' staff in 1927 and 1928 when he won 48 games while losing only 14, seven each year.

Koenig, who has been with the Yankees since 1925, batted .292 in 116 games last season. The late Miller Huggins tried to concert him into a third baseman, but he was a failure at that place and soon was shifted back to shortstop. Rice, who went to the Tigers from the St. Louis Browns in 1928, batted .304 in 130 games last season.

The Tigers bought Wuestling, who is 25, from the Portland Pacific League Club last season. He batted .200 in 54 games.

BUSH FIRE PREVALENT

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., May 31 (C.P.)—Bush fires in several adjacent townships are causing worry to the Forestry Patrol service and several men have been despatched, particularly to the townships of McGregor and Upsala.

From McGregor township huge billows of smoke can be seen by people of the Twin Cities. So far no serious damage has been done to buildings or valuable timber, but conditions are unfavorable and unless rain falls, spread of the flames is feared.

RED PHELPS WINS SCULLING HONORS

Londoner Wrests World Title From Bert Barry By Sixty-five Lengths.

MORTLAKE, England, May 31 (Canadian Press).— By the big margin of 35 lengths, a young Londoner, Ted Phelps, wrested the world's professional sculling championship from the holder, Bert Barry, likewise an Englishman, in a race over the Putney-to-Mortlake course of 4¼ miles today.

A son of "Bossy" Phelps, Putney riverside waterman who has much to do with the Oxford and Cambridge crews during their annual races, Ted Phelps has won several minor races and has recently been coaching in Argentina. He trained for the last three months at Putney with the assistance of the well-known scullers, D. H. L. Gollan, J. Beresford, Jr., and T. R. A. Cullett.

COGS PLAY BETHANY ON MONDAY NIGHT

Dr. Hamilton is Expected to Field His Strongest Team.

The postponed game between the Cognawagas and Bethany, which was to have been played at Exhibition Park last Wednesday, will be contested at the local park on Monday evening. The Mountain Village lads are bringing in their strongest team for this important game, and the Cogs will have their complete line-up on hand.

Billingsley will likely do the mound duty for Cogs, while Harold Ralph will pitch for Doc Hamilton's crew.

JONES WINNER BRITISH TITLE

American Golfer Has Won Ten Titles in Eight Years.

IN CLOSE BATTLE.

ST. ANDREW'S, Scotland, May 31 (C.P.)—Bobby Jones to-day added the British amateur championship to his long string of major golf titles by defeating Roger Wethered in the 36-hole final, seven and six.

Jones and Wethered fought a great battle through the first nine holes of the match, starting home for the first time all square, but in the second nine of the morning, Bobby drew away and went to luncheon four up.

Again a close battle developed in the first nine holes of the afternoon round, Wethered cutting away one of the American's holes with a sensational putt for a birdie three at the 24th hole.

The American open champion, however, regained his morning lead and added another by winning the 25th and 26th and halving the 27th, started on the last lap, five up.

Swimming Meet Held In the Y.W.A. Pool

The first swimming meet of the season was held at the Y.W.C.A. pool last evening, and a splendid program of races, diving and contests run off. The Friday swimming meets provide a great deal of fun for the swimmers and spectators and mean extra training for those taking part. The usual relay races were keenly contested and much enjoyed. Every girl who can swim is invited to take part each Friday.

Miss Hazel Bradley stood first and Miss Elene Bowler second in the senior speed races, and Hazel Bradley and Helen Cole held first and second place in the diving.

In the Babies' contests Lily Long captured first in the Diving and Speed.

A BEDTIME STORY

by Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY UNDERGROUND.

Uncle Wiggily was down on the bottom of a deep hole he had dug in the ground. And the rabbit gentleman was in trouble, for he did not know how to get out of the hole.

"I can't jump up," said Uncle Wiggily as he looked at the little round patch of light like a moon, over his head. That was the upper part of the hole where it entered the ground. "It is too far to jump," went on Mr. Longears.

"And I can't climb up the grape-vine rope, as I hoped to do, for the upper end that I fastened to a tree has fallen down here in the hole with me. And Uncle Butter has gone away I guess, for he doesn't answer when I call. What am I to do?"

When Mr. Longears started to dig his hole deeper he put Uncle Butter, the goat, at the top of the hole with a long piece of wild grape-vine for a rope to pull up pails of dirt and also so the goat would be there to help hold the rope and pull Unile Wiggily up when he wanted to Unile Wiggily up when he wanted to come out of the hole.

But when the time came that Uncle Wiggily wanted to climb the grape-vine rope and get out and when the rabbit jiggled the vine and called to Mr. Butter all that happened was the vine fell down on his head in the hole.

"Well, since Uncle Butter has gone, perhaps because the Fox chased him away from the top of the hole up there," thought Uncle Wiggily, "and since I can't climb up the grape-vine because there is nothing to hold it and since the ground is too soft for me to cut little steps in the sides of the hole as I did the steps in the sides of the hole as I didthe other day and get out in that way I had better start diggin an underground tunnel."

Being a rabbit 'ncle Wiggily was very good at digging holes, underground burrows or tunnels. And he now began to dig his way out of the hole, starting at one side. He dug with his front feet and kicked the dirt back with his hind paws, scattering it over the bottom of the upright hole he had already dug. The dirt soon covered the pail and the coils of grape-vine rope.

If you look at the big letter L you will see just how Uncle Wiggily was under ground. He had dug his hole down the standing up part of the letter L and now he started to dig along the lying down part of the L, hoping, in time, to get out so he could go home and find out what hape happened to make Uncle Butter run away.

Uncle Wiggily dug and dug and dug his way along the underground tunnel. Once as he was scattering the earth he heard a voice say:

"Hey! Please be careful what you are doing! You have made a big hole in the side of my house!"

"Who are you?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"I am Mrs. Angle Worm," was the answer. "I live down here underground and you have dug right into my house."

"Oh, I am so sorry!" exclaimed the rabbit. "I will dig a different way." So he did this and pretty soon another voice called:

"Hey, please look out where you are boring! You have come right into my house."

"Oh, I am so sorry! Who are you?" asked the rabbit.

"I am Mrs. Mole," was the answer, and Uncle Wiggily saw a little furry creature like a mouse. "Who are you?" asked the Mole.

"Why, can't you see I am Uncle Wiggily?" asked the rabbit.

"No, I can't see," was the answer. "We moles are blind, ro, rather, we never had any eyes. We don't need to see, for we always live down under the ground where it is always dark. But if you tell me you are Uncle Wiggily I shall believe you."

"Of course I am Uncle Wiggily," spoke the rabbit. "But excuse me for digging into your house. I'll turn about." So Unile Wiggily dug ano ther way, but all of a sudden a third voice called:

"Hey, there! You are breaking right into my cellar!"

"Who are you?" asked Uncle Wiggily, who was getting tired of being under the dark ground.

"I am Mr. Woodchuck," was the answer.

"Thank goodness!" cried the rabbit. "At last I can get out through your burrow, can't I? Mr. Woodchuck?"

"Why, certainly, Uncle Wiggily," answere Mr. Woodchuck. "Follow me this way," So the ground-hog, or woodchuck led the rabbit from the underground hole, out through his burrow to where the front door opened on a hillside of clover and Mr. Longears was once more out in the fresh air and sunshine. And then along cam leaping Uncle Butter.

"Oh, I'm so glad yod got out of the hole!" bleated the goat. "The Fox came and scared me and I dropped your grape-vine rope and ran. Are you all right?"

"Yes," the rabbit replied. "I am, thank you. Now I'm going to stop digging holes."

Uncommon Sense

By John Blake

HARVEST TIME.

Near me there lives a man who, through his own efforts, has attained international distinction.

He is now past seventy. He works no longer, though he still has the capacity to do better work in his own calling than can many men who follow in his footsteps.

The other day I asked him what he did to keep himself occupied, knowing that his mind was as good as ever, and his energy unimpaired by the years.

"I am reaping my harvest now," he said.

"All my life I have wanted to rest and reflect, and now there is time to do both.

"Always I have been in the thick of things before this. I have read, of course, and rather widely.

"But I have been in a little of a hurry.

"To-day, I take up Emerson or Montaigne and read them without thinking of some unfinished job I must attend to, some engagement I must meet, somebody I must see.

"Now I can look back on my life with some serenity, though it was not all as I have wished.

"But anyway I am not in a hurry. I am not pressed for time. I can think a little and read a great deal, and make a study of my fellow human beings without the prejudices and the bias that were indispensable when I was engaged in the most of the struggle to get on.

This man does not live pretentiously, though he might easily afford to. To his house come old friends, and new friends, for he is a man of that rare type which enjoys talking with younger men as much as he does with those of his own years.

He writes a little occasionally, and talks a great deal.

But much of his time is spent in thinking, and thinking deeply, and in going over in retrospect everything he has done and seen.

His is one of the most enviable existences that I know of.

He has the wisdom and the philosophy to see life as it is, to allow for human frailties, and to admire ability and energy.

The work that he has done himself interests him little.

But he is intensely interested in what others are doing to-day, and how they are doing it.

He lives not in the past, but in the present. He reads modern prose and poetry, as well as the prose and poetry which were current in his youth.

He can talk to youngsters as understanding as he can talk to his contemporaries.

Such a life as he has led is extremely enviable.

Never have his mental arties hardened, never has he become sour, or intolerant of modern ways, or critical of modern conduct.

Such a man is forever young, and forever growing.

He has labored hard in the past, and now in "the time of reaping" he is garnering his sheaves and taking a vast delight in a rich harvest.

When I hear elderly men complaining about the lack of opportunity there was in the old times, I tell them about this man. And I hope they will profit by his example.

WAS RUN DOWN NOW WELL AGAIN

Takes Pleasure in Recommending Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

To the woman in the home illness is almost a calamity. Many a woman keeps on with her household duties when she is feeling ready to drop. Her head aches, she is easily tired, is depressed and nervous and has no appetite. In a word she is anaemic and badly needs help—the health-help that only Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can give her. These pills make rich, red blood which brings new strength and energy to weak, despondent sufferers. Concerning them, Mrs. Paul Rail, Coin du Banc, Que., says: "I was badly run-down, slept poorly, and awoke as tired as when I went to bed. My appetite was poor and I felt miserable. I took six boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and they completely renewed my health."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Hill Receives Offer To Broadcast Trip

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., May 31.—(C.P.)—William "Red" Hill, who yesterday safely navigated the Niagara river from just below the falls to the Queenston docks is resting to-day. He is beginning to feel the effects of the buffeting he received in his barrel during his nearly five hours in the rapids. When he came out at Queenton last night he was so elated at his success that his bruised body was forgotten. To-day he admits that he is feeling pretty sore. "It's a tough trip," Red said to-day. He has no particular plans for the future and expects to be back operating his taxicab business again. He has received some good offers to appear at various places and also to broadcast, which are being considered.

HIGH PRAISE IS GIVEN TO CADETS BY INSPECTOR

applause from the huge gallery of spectators which possibly constituted one of the largest crowds seen on such an occasion.

"This is one of the best inspections I have ever been connected with," said Captain Edwards in complimenting the boys on their smartness," and I am satisfied that the discipline in the schools is of the highest order."

Speaking of discipline the officer defined the word as 'playing the game' or of doing our individual best. He thought that the training should receive reflection in the home civic and school life. The speaker urged the boys to always uphold the highest traditions of their school and to try and raise the standard—never to lower it.

In awarding the cup to Central School Cadet Company Captain Edwards said that the margin between the best company and the poorest was so close that he was afraid of some dissension. He wished it to be realized that while the winners take a very high standing the losers also deserve a great deal of credit.

Presents Trophy

Dr. J. J. Craig, in presenting the Denne Trophy to D Company Commander, J. Watson, congratulated the boys on their splendid performance and spoke of the pride and great spirit which had animated the afternoons' inspection as reflecting considerable credit on the company leaders and instructors.

The old aversion which many of the churches and ladies' organizations used to have towards the cadet movement, have now been almost entirely overcome, the speaker thought, adding, that the general public is beginning to realize the great worth which the boys are receiving out of such training.

Mrs. W. R. Morris of the Board of Education presented the Laura Secord medals for the best individual rifle shots to the following cadets: Corpl. M. Taylor; Platoon Leader J. Hunter; Platoon Leader G. Mints; Privates J. Hill and A. Ellis. Mrs. Morris announced that the battalion and company commanders' medals did not arrive, but will be presented at the first opportunity to the boys at their respective schools.

The following list gives the names of the instructor and company commander of each unit on parade: A Company (Prince of Wales'), F. E. Kerr. B. Weir; B. Company (King Edward) D. Crawford, G. L. Miller; C Company (Queen Mary) E. G. Wagar, L. Cassie; D. Company (Central) O. M. Steer, J. Watson; E. Company (Queen Alexandra) P. H. Dearborn, J. Morrow; F. Company (King George) T. Miller, D. Welch.

Collegiate Inspection

Marching on to the parade ground in column of half companies, the Peterborough Collegiate Institute Cadet Corps, under the command of Battalion Leader J. Dunkerley, presented a fine spectacle. Forming in line, the battalion gave the general salute and were then inspected by Capt. Edwards, who was accompanied by Lt.-Col. W. G. Hall, V.D., the battalion leader and Cadet Instructor Cummings, after which they marched past the saluting base headed by their own bugle band and in close column of half companies, previous to which the King's color was escorted off the parade ground with due respect and ceremony.

Several movements were executed by A Company, who carried rifles, with a precision and efficiency which drew favorable comment, while the younger boys in B Company performed platoon and section drill and physical exercises. Signallers, buglers and drummers were also called upon to act as individual units for the satisfaction of the inspecting officer, who was very liberal in his praise of the battalion as a whole. He spoke at some length on the object behind the training, of its usefulness in inculcating discipline and fostering an esprit de corps. He asked them to prove to him how much they thought of their school by raising a mighty school yell. Accordingly Howard Macdonald, acting as yell leader, brought forth a rousing and lusty yell from the entire battalion.

Captain Edwards tendered the regrets of the District Cadet Officer, who was unable to be present himself, and he said that he would have a good report to take back to Kingston. He was satisfied that good discipline and efficiency existed in the battalion.

In presenting the medals to the senior rifle team, Capt. Edwards drew special attention to the D.C.R.A. Special Medal won by Gordon Wainwright, captain of the team, and the first class D.C.R.A. medal won by T. Wagar, who was also the recipient of a Laura Secord Medal. The D.C.R.A. medals it was explained require a very high standard of efficiency in shooting and are won in Dominion competition. Laura Secord medals were also awarded to the following members of the team: Cadets Dennison, Walker, Brown, Clayton, Crossgrey, Sanderson, Stenton, Todd, Wheeler and Gaul.

Due to some misunderstanding all the members of the team did not receive their medals, but they are to be presented at a latter date.

"This splendid performance," said Dr. J. J. Craig, is worthy of a fitting recognition and on behalf of the Board I will declare a half holiday in the near future."

On the recommendation of Captain Edwards, the holiday was generously extended to one day.

Cadet Instructor Cummings voiced a few words of appreciation to Capt. Edwards and to Dr. J. J. Craig, after which H. R. H. Kenner, principal of the school was called upon for a speech, but said that he would reserve that for next Monday morning.

LACK OF COUNSEL BRINGS REMAND IN MURDER CASE

OSHAWA, Ont., May 30.—(C.P.)—William Morirson, charged with murdering his wife on April 29 last, appeared in police court here this morning for preliminary hearing, and was again remanded for a week. Morrison informed the court that he did not wish the hearing to go on until he was represented by counsel, and Magistrate Willis granted his request. Crown Attorney McGibbon, of Oshawa, stated that the Attorney-General's Department at Toronto did not consider it necessary to provide Morrson with counsel for the preliminary hearing, but the Magistrate said in order to avoid any possible criticism of the court it would be wiser to adjourn the hearing until the accused could be represented by counsel.

OBITUARY

JOHN H. GAINER.

In the death of Mr. John Henry Gainer on Wednesday morning, May 21, 1930, South Monaghan loses a highly esteemed resident, endeared to hundreds who lived in the community.

His demise coming with suddenness shocked the community in which he had lived for many years. Mr. Gainer had been a silent sufferer for some years, but his last hours were peaceful and he passed quietly away.

Mr. John H. Gainer was born in Hope township seventy-two years ago, later he lived in Keene, and finally became a resident of South Monaghan. Besides the bereaved wife, a family of four sons and one daughter survive, all well known in this district.

The funeral took place on Friday, May 23, commencing at high noon. A short service being held at the home previous to the public servcie held in Centreville Presbyterian church. His pastor, the Rev. John Riddle, conducted the service. The church was filled with his many bereaved relatives and friends.

ROBERT HOSKEN

The death occurred this morning of Robert Hosken at his late residence, 188 Park Hill road, after a short illness.

The late Mr. Hosken was born in Cobourg, and had lived in this city for a number of years, where he was employed as a millwright.

He leaves his widow, one brother William Henry, and one sister, Mrs. John Armstrong, all of this city.

The funeral will be held from the family residence on Monday at 2 p.m. with Rev. J. E. J. Milyard of George Street United Church officiating.

has resided in Peterborough since yesterday, the date of the issuing of the writ, is eligible to vote here.

By an act to amend the Dominion Elections Act, Parliament has made certain changes in the provisions relating to enumeration in urban polling divisions. The effect of these changes is to require the enumeration in each polling division to be made by a pair of enumerators acting together instead of by a single enumerator. One is to represent the successful candidate at the election and the other representing his principal opponent, these candidates or their representatives having the right to name persons for appointment at any time up to two days before the issue of the writs. If no such nominations are received, the returning officer will appoint persons in such a way that each pair of enumerators represents to different and opposed political interests.

The enumerators are to go about together and will both sign or initial the slip relating to every voter upon whose qualification as such they are agreed. Even when they disagree as to the qualification of any voter, his name will nevertheless be placed on the list, the enumerator who considers him to be qualified signing or initialling the slip and the dissenting enumerator indicating his dissent by writing upon the slip " I dissent" and initialling or signing this note.

Mr. Whatley requests the enumerators to call at his office before midnight to-day to take the oath of office.

Epping won by seven goals to six.

NEW LIQUOR LAWS IN EFFECT TO-DAY

Bill Refusing Export Clearance to United States Given Royal Assent.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 31 (C.P.).—The new Act prohibiting the granting of clearances to alcoholic liquors destined for export to the United States is in effect now, R. W. Breadner, Commissioner of Customs, announced this morning. Mr. Breadner declined to go into details as to how the ports were being notified and whether there might not be delays in advising Customs officials owing to the bill receiving Royal assent only late last night.

All the spirits manufactured in Canada goes into bond, and under the new provisions it will not be released if destined for the United States. With respect to beer, Dominion and Provincial authorities cooperate to see that no permits for its movement from the brewery will be issued if destined for export to the United States. In addition to this, Customs officers on the border are instructed to refuse clearances.

"Y. W." Prepares For Annual Garden Party

Members of the Y.W.C.A. Swimming Pool Committee met yesterday afternoon to arrange for the annual garden party and high tea.

This year's garden party will be held at the Y.W.C.A. on Friday afternoon and evening, June 27. The chief interest of the event will be the high tea, which will be served in the Gymnasium with the Social Committee of the "Y" supplemented by other members and friends, in charge.

New and novel ideas were suggested and preliminary plans made. Mrs. H. Wightman, Mrs. E. E. Harvey and Miss A. Wood were appointed general convenors of the garden party; Mrs. L. J. LeClair is convenor of the Social Committee and high tea arrangements.

IN POLICE COURT

A modern Jean Valjean appeared this morning in the city police court. He had stolen groceries to feed his family. His face lined with the ravages of disease brought on from service in the Great War and with tears in his eyes he stood before the Magistrate and pleaded guilty.

"This man has a wife and two small children," stated J. A. O'Brien, who made a stirring plea that the sentence be suspended. "I have known him for years and he has always borne the highest reputation for honesty and character. He is poor and starvation constantly stalks at his door."

He explained that owing to being gassed in the trenches, he is each winter beset with illness which prevents him from working.

Magistrate Langley suspeided sentence J. A. O'Brien going on the man's bond of good conduct for two years.

A local young man aged 20 also was given suspended sentence when he pleaded guilty to the theft of two auto tires. It was explained that the youth had taken the tires from a wrecked car as it lay in the ditch on the Lakefield road. Hon. E. N. Gordon K.C. appeared for him and made a strong plea for "another chance."

The Ill Effects

that arise from impingement of spinal nerves can hardly be overestimated. Pressure upon delicate nerve fibres as they emit from the spinal column can limit the transmission of energy to the tissues supplied by those impinged nerves. This weakens the tissues and leaves them susceptible to disease.

THE RELIEF AND CORRECTION

of nerve impingement can be accomplished by Chiropractic spinal manipulation. The nerves are then capable of supplying the weakened tissues with normal energy, which enables them to function properly. Your degree of health and immunity to disease is directly dependent upon your nervous system.

LAKEFIELD HONORS HER GREAT WAR DEAD

Forest Fires Are Sweeping Northern Woods

TIMBER LIMITS BEING HARD HIT BY RISING GALES

Dozen Fires Being Driven Through Sun-Parched Timber Limits.

FIGHTERS SUCCESSFUL.

Promise of Rain in Lowering Clouds Brings Hope to Forestry Men.

PORT ARTHUR, June 2 (C.P.).—Rising gales in north-west Ontario to-day drove a dozen forest fires through sun-parched timber limits. Frightened residents fled from Robinson, 50 miles east of Sioux Lookout, on the Canadian National Railways main line, while fire-fighters at other points stood their ground in the path of roaring flames. So many blazes broke out near Port Arthur over the week-end that all could not be given attention of forestry officials.

Advices to-day told of Robinson's residents returning from the nearby town of Smith and of fires, which swept up to the railway track, having been turned back by forestry men and favorable winds.

Feared Dam Would Break.

Nineteen miles from Port Arthur, the towering Onion Lake dam was fire-free to-day, but only after heavy week-end labor by a host of fire-fighters. It had been feared that the crib-work and sluice-way of the 45-foot water-head might have been gnawed away by the flames. Had such a calamity occurred, a six-mile wall of water would have rushed down the river-valley, causing untold damage, such as resulted when the Paquette dam went out in 1908, old-timers believe.

Promise of rain in lowering clouds brought hope to weary forestry men to-day. Meteorological advices indicated that fair and warm weather would be general in the Lake Superior zone, but that thunderstorms would occur to-night in local areas.

U. S. PILOT MAKES FORCED LANDING

Squadron of American Planes is Seen Over Belleville and Trenton.

GOING TO KINGSTON.

KITCHENER, Ont., June 2 (C.P.)—An unknown plane, believed to be one of 18 American army planes from Selfridge field bound for Kingston, crashed shortly before noon to-day between here and Petersburg. The pilot, who is as yet unknown, landed safely by parachute. His companions, after ascertaining he was safe, kept on their way.

Pass Over Belleville

BELLEVILLE, Ont., June 2 (C.P.)—A squadron of seventeen planes from Selfridge, Mich., passed over Belleville at one o'clock standard time to-day on their way to Kingston to take part in the air meet that is being held there to-morrow. The planes circled the City Hall tower in perfect formation, flying at a low altitude and then straightened for their destination. Many of the pilots waved to the pedestrians on the streets. The squadron also circled the new airport at Trenton, which will be the home of the Canadian Corps in the near future.

COMMUNISTS ATTEMPT TO PARADE IN CALGARY

CALGARY, Alta. June 2 (C.P.).—Police and unemployed, led by Communists, battled here Saturday for a short time as the jobless attempted to parade without a permit.

Two policemen were injured and eleven Communists, including Joseph L. Farby, their Provincial organizer, were arrested and held without bail on charges of unlawful assembly.

Police reserves were called to quell the disturbance.

MOB KILLS NEGRO.

CHICKASHA, Okla., June 2.—Investigation into mob activity which Saturday resulted in the fatal stabbing and shooting of Henry Argo, a negro, to-day brought a statement from Attorney General J. Berry King that he expected a number of arrests to follow an inquest, set for to-morrow.

More than 100 witnesses have been summoned for the hearing into the death of the negro, who was charged with attacking a white woman.

Three Fishermen Located by Rescuers After 44 hours Adrift on Lake Huron

GODERICH, Ont., June 2 (Canadian Press). — After having been missing on Lake Huron for 44 hours, three local fishermen, John McKay, Norman McKay, and Jeffery Peachey, were located shortly after midnight adrift off Point Clark, and were brought into Goderich early to-day by the fishing tug W. L. Forrest.

All Sunday afternoon and evening an intensive search was made by fishermen along a 65-mile front north of Goderich for the three missing men. Lake boats were also notified and joined in the search. When discovered off Point Clark it was found that the 35-foot gasoline tug had lost her propeller early on Saturday morning, and had been drifting helplessly ever since, with very little to eat.

The men left Kincardine early on Saturday morning to go out and set nets at a point five miles west. Searchers found that the nets had been set as planned, and this led them to suspect that the tug had met with a mishap on her way back. Five tugs from Goderich and the fishing tugs Donald Mac and Onward from Kincardine, kept up a continuous search throughout Sunday afternoon.

BALDWIN QUESTIONS BENEFITS OF THREE POWER NAVAL TREATY

Moves For Appointment of Special Committee to Investigate and Satisfy Country.

PREMIER STATES POSITION.

LONDON, June 3 (C.P.). — The statement that before signing the naval treaty, the country wanted to know more exactly to what it had committed itself was made by former Premier Baldwin in moving a resolution in the House of Commons to-day that a select committee be appointed to report on the treaty.

The former Premier said that the Americans had had their investigation and were satisfied, adding: "Why shouldn't we have the same thing here in order that we may satisfy ourselves as to the effect of the treaty on ourselves?"

Does Security Remain?

The country wanted to know before it was committed to the treaty, continued the former Premier, "whether our security in the first place remains, whether we shall be in a position in any circumstances to fulfil our own sacred obligations under the League of Nations. Thirdly—which is the most important—how we stand and how we shall stand in the future with regard to European standards of naval construction."

Replying to the Conservative leader, Prime Minister MacDonald said that if the proposal of a select committee were adopted, it would affect the future relations between the Government and the House of Commons.

Referring to the hearings on the Naval Treaty before a United States Senate committee in Washington, the Prime Minister said that this had been done in the United States because it was part and parcel of

Six Gangsters Die In Chicago's Wars

CHICAGO, Ills., June 2 (C.P.)—Six murders in 12 hours tied the score last night in the grim struggle of rival Chicago gansters for the metropolitan beer business, a million-dollar prize.

Three terrorist members of the notorious Joe Aiello gang fell in quick succession with revolver bullets in their bodies.

A few hours later three "Scarface Al" Capone henchmen dropped dead from their chairs in a suburban hotel dining room under the raking of machine gun fire. Another man and a woman with them were wounded critically.

The Weather

Leafy June! Renowned for roses and happy brides,—and perhaps the most beautiful month of the year—is here. Here is what J. B. Bowes, the sage of Chatsworth, says is in store for us:

June—Calm, cool and dry to about the 18th, then very strong persistent winds with very heavy rains that will fill in the balance of month. Probable frost about the 20th.

He was "out" in May forecast, and perhaps will be the same this month. Highest temperature last month, 87°, lowest 31°. The frost Saturday morning, I hear, did considerable damage.—W.P.

TOURIST TRADE TO CANADA IN 1929 HAS BEEN VALUED AT $299,188,000

Increase of Thirty Millions is Noted Over Previous Year.

CANADA'S 3RD INDUSTRY.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 2.—(By the Canadian Press.)—The tourist trade to Canada in 1929 is given an estimated value of $299,188,000 in a finally revised report issued to-day at the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. This is an increase of nearly thirty millions over the previous year's total expenditure by tourists of $266,693,000 and of more than sixty-nine millions over the 1927 total.

The report also deals with expenditures Canadians made while touring in other countries, estimating the total in this respect at $111,301,000 last year as compared with $100,646,000 in 1928 and $101,296,000 in 1927.

One of Canada's Big Industries.

The tourist trade has become one of Canada's major industries, ranking next to agriculture and manufacturing in importance. Canadian-American tourist traffic, is greater than that between any other two countries in the world, says the report. The high per capita in both countries entails leisure and wealth to travel while the close inter-locking of business interest necessitates many business trips across the frontier. The report further points out that as yet little advantage has been taken of the sales opportunity presented by the annual influx of millions of visitors, money expended for merchandise amounting to only a small fraction of the $100.00 worth of goods which United States' visitors are permitted to carry back home duty free.

Drag Whale Ashore With Car Wrecker

St. Augustine, Fla., June 2.—(C.P.)—Gilbert Phillips and Leon Canova went fishing for sea bass and caught a whale—the first ever landed here.

For 12 hours these disciples of Izaak Walton battled with the 3,000 pound mammal after it had become entangled in their surf lines. At low tide they succeeded in passing a cable around the whales tail and by use of an automobile wrecker they dragged it ashore.

UNEMPLOYED SEEK GOLD IN NEW SOUTH WALES

SYDNEY, N. S. W., June 2.—(A.P.)—Departure of 150 men to certain districts to search for gold marked inauguration today of the government's scheme to promote gold prospecting among unemployed prospectors.

The government supplied camping outfits and tools and appointed five Geological surveyors to visit the zones in which the men will be working and give technical advice. The men will get free railway transportation and an allowance of twenty shillings (about $5) weekly.

ATLANTA, June 2.—(C.)—Pointing to four lynchings in the south in as many weeks, the Commission of Inter-racial Co-operation in a statement yesterday placed responsibility for the mob violence on "official neglect and local religious indifferences."

EMPIRE UNITY DEPENDENT ON TARIFF CHANGE

President of the United Farmers States That Inter-Empire Preference Necessary.

PRICE NOT EVERYTHING.

Present Policy Allows Americans to Manufacture Here at Increased Profit.

SASKATOON, Sask., June 2.—(C.P.)—Present tariff schedules do not make for a united Dominion in the opinion of George H. Williams, President of United armers of Canada, Saskatchewan section. In an official statement, Mr. Williams states that he is, however, convinced there must be an element of preference for Empire trade in the future.

"Sale of products of each portion of the Empire faces such a highly-competitive field that Inter-Empire preferences will become absolutely necessary if Empire unity is to be maintained", Mr. Williams stated. "In my opinion, a Canadian government can no more afford to place Russian anthracite on the same level as Welsh coal than can Great Britain afford to import Russian wheat in preference to Canadian wheat because of low price tendency".

He expressed the opinion that the Canadian Tariff policy, though created to benefit the manufacturing industry by shutting out goods from outside manufacturers, and theoretically raising revenues from income derived from this tax and lowering the cost to the Canadian consumer by the larger amounts of goods sold, has really in practice had an opposite effect.

The policy he contemplated would supply Canadian factories to set up in Canada and sell at an increased price under the protection of the tariff with the Canadian manufacturers following suit. "Direction of trade, not revenue, should be the main object of the tariff", suggested Mr. Williams.

YOUTH SUCCUMBS FROM BAD BURNS

Clothes Aflame Midland Boy Rushes Into Open Field.

DIES IN HOSPITAL.

MIDLAND, Ont., June 2 (C.P.).—A blinding flash and flames enveloped Orton Crawford, 17, who was walking through the Midland Engine Works The lad, mad with pain, dashed through the fields, his clothes blazing, towards his home half a mile distant. Workmen immediately pursued him, in an endeavor to put out the flames, but he could not be overtaken, and he collapsed. He died six hours later in the hospital.

The accident, which occurred yesterday, is believed to have been caused by a lighted match which the young man, after lighting a cigarette, threw near a supposedly empty gasoline barrel where fumes had gathered. The building where the barrels were stored was destroyed by the explosion and fire which followed.

FENIAN RAIDS ARE RECALLED

W. J. Green Recalls Fenian Raids Which Took Place 64 Years Ago.

BOY THEN AT COLLEGE.

It is recalled by W. J. Green city tax collector, that it is just 64 years ago to the day that the Fenian Raids took place in the Niagara Peninsula.

Mr. Green remembers the stirring days of mobilization in Toronto, when he was a boy at college and his mind took him back over the years when he stood fascinated by the steady tramp, tramp of the men of his home town—the Peterborough Rangers—as they, along with other militia units from all over the district, came in to augment the Toronto garrison. It was a matter for some astonishment, Mr. Green declared, that in spite of the fact that Toronto had a battalion of regular troops these men were not called upon. The brunt of the fighting was left to the volunteers.

Among the gallant little band of veterans of the Fenian Raids who still survive is Colonel J. W. Miller of this city and John Edwards of Lakefield, who was present at the unveiling ceremony at Lakfield's cenotaph to her sons who made the supreme sacrifice, and who was the recipient of a few words of congratulation and a hearty handshake from Colonel Anderson, D.S.O., of Kingston.

REFUSE TO PAY TAXES.

Government Faced With Greater Problem as Ghandi Movement Grows.

BOMBAY, India, June 2.—(A.P.)—Official India today could cease to worry about Indian Nationalists' inraids on the government salt pans, but faced a problem of greater importance—non-payment of taxes, which is being instigated as the next step in the Nationalist campaign of civil disobedience.

A "final" salt raid was undertaken Sunday at Wadala by 15,000 Nationalist volunteers and spectators who had prepared for a week for the occasion One hundred fifty of their number were injured by the police with lathis, or bamboo clubs, but the remainder broke through the cordon and obtained handsful of salt.

Holding the salt aloft, and with their bodies covered with slime and mud up to their waistlines, the volunteers paraded the streets of Bombay.

Their usual, "We have broken the sale laws". The spirit of the crowd was subdued however, in comparison with recent raids, a development which authorities attributed to troops which were handy in the event of need.

The Nationalists have highly advertised the raid, and attendant raids on a smaller scale at Dharasana as "final", a decision taken with the approach of the summer monsoons which make the salt areas unapproachable.

The anti-tax campaign, which, it was said would replace the campaign against the salt laws, has alredy been initiated in the Barboli district where officials are arriving to post signs warning the peasants that their lands will be forfeited if they refuse to pay the taxes. They thus far have found the villages deserted.

The Government, Friday announced a new ordinance aimed at the no-tax campaign providing heavy prison and monetary penalties against instigators of this form of civil disobedience.

OFFICIALS PERPLEXED

LONDON, June 2.—(A.P.)—A Bombay dispatch to the Daily Herald today from its own correspondent there quoted a "High official" as saying that if by the end of the year the tax resistance campaign still is succeeding the Government will be faced with considerable embarrassment The dispatch added that hope pre-

Baby Girl is Born In An Automobile

WINDSOR, Ont., June 2.(C.P.).—When a small roadster drove an erratic course down Walker Road motorists called Walkerville police and a constable found Mrs. Lucinda Krueter, of Leamington, in need of immediate hospital attention. At the wheel was John Krueter, her husband, who had celebrated a little too soon. Before the woman could be taken to an hospital a baby girl was born in the car. Mother and daughter are doing well, and the father is facing a reckless driving charge.

GANGSTERS KILL SEVEN IN STATES

Deaths Are Reported in Chicago, Detroit and Boston Over Week-end.

TWO POLICEMEN DIE.

Gangster guns blazed on three widely separate fronts Sunday, killing seven, two of them were policemen, and wounding half a dozen others in Chicago, Detroit and Boston.

Chicago's outbreak, believed to signalize the opening of a new mob warfare, dealt death to three henchmen of Terry Druggan, beer baron, and perhaps fatal injuries to Druggan's brother, George, and his woman companion. All were machine-gunned by unidentified assailants as they dined in a suburb resort hotel. Three other men, identified with no particular gang, were shot down an hour later on North Clarke street by machine gunners in an automobile; one died. The body of an unidentified victim, supposedly of a gang "ride" was found in an alley.

In Detroit, two policemen were slain in Grosse Pointe park by rum runners when they stopped an automobile during a search for the driver of a machine which figured in a traffic accident.

Two alleged gangsters were shot by automobile machine gunners in Boston and one may not live.

THREE BUSINESS MEN FACE TARRING CHARGE

RED DEER, Alta, June 2.— Three Lacomb business men, Claude Rowe, Ralph Mowbray and Walter Butlin, charged with "forcibly seizing and confining" red Doberstein, were committed for trial at the Fall Assizes when they appeared before Magistrate H. G. Scott for preliminary hearing here Saturday. The charge against O. Boode was dimissed.

The men were arrested following the kidnapping of Doberstein, a blacksmith, who was taken from Lacombe, tarred and feathered, and warned to leave town.

The accused were released on bail of $1,000 each.

BEAUTIFUL MEMORIAL UNVEILED BY COL. ANDERSON OF KINGSTON TO LAKEFIELD'S HEROIC DEAD

Dignity and Simplicity Marks the Unveiling and Dedication Ceremony.

42 MEN ARE HONORED.

Prayers of Dedication Are Offered Up By Archdeacon Davidson.

LAKEFIELD, June 1 (By Staff Reporter). — Dignity and simplicity marked the unveiling and dedication on Sunday afternoon of the memorial erected by the people of Lakefield and district to perpetuate the memory of her sons who paid the supreme sacrifice in the service of their God and country during the Great War.

The unveiling ceremony was performed by Colonel Anderson, D.S.O., District Officer Commanding Military District No. 3, while the prayers of dedication were offered by Ven. Archdeacon J. C. Davidson, chaplain of the 93rd Battalion, in the presence of a very large and representative gathering of citizens of Lakefield and district, also from Peterborough, Comrades of the Canadian Legion, the clergy, Militia, Cadets, and school children.

The memorial, executed in Canadian grey granite, takes the form of a Celtic Cross or Cross of Sacrifice, and bears the names of forty-two of Lakefield's heroic dead. Facing west, the monument is erected on the Town Hall Square. Underneath the Cross of Sacrifice, which is chiselled in bold relief on the front of the cenotaph, is inscribed "To the Glory of God and in Memory of Those Who Made the Supreme Sacrifice. 1914-1918."

Prior to the commencement of the service, the three rows of seats placed on the north and west sides of the memorial were occupied by relatives of the men who answered their country's call and who did not come back. Most of the occupants of these specially reserved seats were in deep mourning, and many of the women proudly displayed the medals of husbands or sons.

Small boys of the Grove School—representatives of the young generation to whom the war is but history—were drawn up on the south side of hte memorial, while citizens stood

NEW ENGLAND COAST SWEPT BY BAD GALES

Small Shipping Damaged and Property Damages Are Heavy.

TWO ARE KILLED.

Glider Plunges to Earth Injuring Pilot—Planes Grounded.

BOSTON, Mass., June 2 (C.P.) — The month of June came to New England with gales of April strength which took the lives of two children, damaged small shipping, endangered aviation and caused extensive property losses.

The bulkhead of a skylight torn from a roof struck and fatally injured a three-year-old girl, Shirley Elwood, Cambridge, and Catherine Kelliher, 14, Boston, drown in a canoe upset caused by the high wind at Marlboro.

A glider piloted by Miss Maude Irving Taft, 22, Springfield, plunged 40 feet to the ground at the airport there, and she received three broken ribs and possible internal injuries. She was the only girl pilot on the recent New England air tour. Several planes were grounded because of the wind at the East Boston airport.

Buffeted by the gale, the liner Cleveland, inbound from Galway, put to sea for an hour from the quarantine station. The U.S.S. Milwaukee was reported in temporary difficulty at Rockland, Me.

Other smaller shipping was tossed about badly on the Massachusetts coast. Nancy Carroll, motion picture actress; her husband, Jack Kirkland, and a party of 13 were endangered by wind which disabled the motor yacht Katherine II off Minot's Light. A fishing schooner, the Jackson Arthur, towed them to port.

Vessels Grounded

The fisher boat Mayo went ashore off Nantasket and sprung a leak. Her crew of four being taken off by coastguardsmen. The 35-foot sloop Dorothy, with Robert F. Duncan of New York and a companion aboard, grounded off Gloucester.

Two Boston boys, Samuel Sarceno, 16, and Peter Cassro, 15, drowned in a canoe upset at Sharon, but a companion who swam to shore said the accident had been caused when the two tried to exchange places.

Wires were torn down, windows shattered and trees uprooted at Lawrence, Keene, N.H., and Waterville, Me. Telephone and lighting service was disrupted throughout Northern Maine.

Fallen trees delayed traffic on many highways.

DENY ANY SECRET PACTS AMONG NAVAL POWERS

LONDON, June 2.—(A.P.)—Premier Ramsey Macdonald today told the House of Commons that there is no understanding or undertaking between the British Government and Representatives of any other power or powers at the Naval Conference which is not set down in the Naval Disarmament Treaty.

The Premier made no reply to a question by Colonel John Gratton, Conservative Member, who asked him if he was aware that it was being stated in the United States there was an agreement between Great Britain and the United States as to modernization of the United States battle fleet.

GANGSTERS GET TWO MORE.

BOSTON, Mass., June 2.—Machine gun bullets from an automobile probably fatally wounded Guy Parelli, alleged gangster, and injured Joseph "Chick" Bruno, his companion, as they stepped from the Liberty Hotel here early to-day. The assailants escaped but a patrolman got the registration number of their automobile.

AMY JOHNSON IN HONOR LIST

King George Honors Famous British Aviatrix in His Birthday List.

NATIONAL HEROINE.

LONDON, June 2.—(C.P.) — Amy Johnson, attractive British girl flyer, who became a national heroine on the recent completion of her flight to Australia has been awarded the honor of Commander of the British Empire in the King's birthday honors list.

23 Years Old.

Miss Johnson, who is 23 years old, left England on May 5 on a solo flight to Australia, which she reached on May 24. Her departure attracted comparatively little notice but as she kept doggedly ahead day after day, interest in her venture grew until on her arrival in Australia she had become a heroine to the British public.

Among those who sent congratulations to her on her arrival in Australia were the King and Premier MacDonald.

Among the other honors were the following:

Sir Esme Howard, former ambassador to the United States, was made Baron and Sir John Simon, chairman of the commission which visited India, was made Grand Commander of the Star of India.

Frederick Royce, noted motor car manufacturer, was made a baronet.

The Order of Merit was given to Montague Rhodes James, Provost of Eton, and George Macaulay Trevelyan, noted historian.

Knighthood was given to Arthur Stanley Eddington, astronomer.

BRUELL HOLDS KILMARNOCKS.

CLEVELAND, June 2.—(C.P.) — The Bruell Insurance eleven, local professional soccer team, yesterday held the Kilmarnocks of Scotland to a 1-1 tie in a fast, clean game.

The visitors found the defense of the home team too strong and were unable to score until after 20 minutes of the second half.

Blackmailers Are Given Three Years

COLBORNE MAN IS BLACKMAILED BY TWO HIKERS

Week Ago Two Pleaded Guilty at Preliminary Hearing of Case.

TIME TO CONSIDER ACT.

Collected Nearly $1,000 in First Extortion—Return Second Time.

COBOURG, June 2—Charles O'Malley and James Farmer, Toronto hikers who blackmailed a prominent citizen of Colborne, were sentenced to three years in Kingston penitentiary by Judge L. V. O'Connor on Saturday afternoon.

A week ago they pleaded guilty to the charge at the preliminary hearing, and the disposal of the case on Saturday was just as brief.

These Toronto hikers, a euphemism for tramps, were given a "lift" on the highway about three months ago. The Colborne man not only drove them into the village but took them to his home, gave them supper and breakfast and also a bed overnight. Subsequently they returned, and under threat of exposing an alleged offense they extorted a sum of money.

This exaction proved so profitable that the Toronto pair repeated it until the total amount they collected was nearing $1,000. The Colborne man had yielded to the first demand because he feared the shadow of suspicion which might fall upon him from any publicity of the blackmail, but he was finally forced to take action, and O'Malley and Farmer were arrested a few weeks ago when they again returned to Colborne. The village constable turned them over to Provincial Constable Carey who succeeded in wringing a confession of the whole affair from them, and court proceedings followed.

Judge O'Connor remarked in sentencing them that they would have sufficient time to conside their offense and make up their minds to lead decent lives when they were freed.

CABINET SHUFFLE BEING RUMORED

Retirement is Expected of Hon. Dr. King and John E. Sinclair.

NEW SPEAKER CHOSEN.

OTTAWA, June 2—An impending Cabinet shuffle and a pre-election filling up of Senate vacancies will keep Cabinet members close to the Capital for the early part, at least, of the present week. The Cabinet will assemble for its first post-session council to-day, and some announcements are expected.

One seemingly certain impending change in the Cabinet is the retirement to the Senate of Hon. Dr. James H. King, Minister of Health and Pensions. He sits for Kootenay East in British Columbia. He entered the Federal Government in January, 1922., resigned from the British Columbia Legislature and Cabinet to become Minister of Public Works at Ottawa. He was appointed Minister of Health and Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment after the Mieghen Administration resigned, Sept. 25, 1926.

Maritimer's Retirement

The retirement of Hon. John Sinclair, of Queen's P.E.I., from the Commons to the Senate is also rumored. He was a member of the Liberal Government without portfolio from Dec. 30, 1921, to 1925. His retirement to the Senate would fill the existing Prince Edward Island Senatorship vacancy, and at the same time, it is said, make vacant a riding for the entry of the rumored new Minister of Fisheries, who would contest the Island seat as a Liberal. British Columbia was fighting for the Fisheries Ministry, but it seemed certain at the close of Parliament that the Maritimes would get it.

Speaker to Senate?

Pre-election rumor also has it that Speaker Rodolphe Lemieux will also receive a Senate appointment, filling one of the four Quebec vacancies. This expected removal from the Commons is one of the outstanding Canadian political figures of the last two decades may explain the novel rising of Opposition Leader and Premier on the last night of the session to pay him tribute. It is said that the name of Fred G. Sanderson, Ontario Liberal Whip, who represented Perth South in the last Parliament is being mentioned for the Speakership should the Liberal Government be sustained. In the event of a Conservative victory at the polls Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Wellington South, Conservative first lieutenant, is likely to be accorded Speakership honors. It is the turn of an English-speaking member to be Speaker.

WINNERS ON RACE

LIVERPOOL, (U.P.)—Winners on the Grand National included Mrs. Sarah Suet, a septuagenarian who drew $7,000 in her first sweepstake, and Henry Robinson, 53, unemployed laborer, who dropped dead while the race was being run. In his pocket was found a ticket backing the winner, Shaun Goilin, each way.

DAIRY BOARDS

PICTON, June 2—At the regular meeting of the Picton Cheese Board Satrday there were 350 cheese boarded and all sold at 16 5-16 to buyers Platt, Cook and Murphy.

CORNWALL, June 2.—On the Cornwall Cheese Board Saturday 50 white, 887 colored, total 937 boxes, were boarded, and all sold; the white at 16 cents and the colored at 16 cents.

BELLEVILLE, June 2—At Saturday's meeting of the Belleville Cheese Board there were 1,735 boxes white and 42 boxes colored cheese boarded and all sold at 16 cents. Buyers were Cook, Morgan and Murphy.

NAPANEE, June 2—At the meeting of the Napanee Cheese Board Saturday there were 233 white and 1,026 colored boarded and all sold at 16¼ cents to usual buyers.

DIVORCE LAW IS DISCRIMINATION BETWEEN SEXES

"Shocking Retrogression" Eminent Toronto Lawyer Claims of New Act.

GENERAL BUNGLING.

Provincial Legislation May Be Necessary to Bring Measure Up to Date.

TORONTO, Ont., June 2.—(C.P.)—An eminent legal authority of this city, after a close study of the Ontario Divorce Court Bill passed at the recent session of the House of Commons, has declared the law "a shocking retrogression that would be repugnant to the best sense of the people of Canada", says the Mail and Empire in a copyrighted featured story today.

According to the paper this authority stated the new divorce-court law preserves the "doublestandard", of morality, whereby a man can divorce his wife for adultery, but a wife, to divorce her husband, must prove both adultery and cruelty

Continuing the paper states that after all the discussion in the House of Commons and Senate advocating the Woodsworth Bill on the ground that senate had no power to make ruling regarding alimony, custody of children, property rights and damages—the new Ontario divorce law neglects to clothe Ontario courts with those very powers, and provincial legislation may be necessary.

The paper reports the legal authority said Ontario's divorce provisions are based only upon the law of England as it existed on July 15 1870—"When it was at its most chaotic point in history".

Examination of the bill indicates, it is stated, that the act incorporating the province of Manitoba was taken as a model, the words referring to territory struck out and the words relating to dissolution and annulment of marriage inserted.

Greatly Surprised

OWEN SOUND, Ont., June 2.—C.P.)—"This is the first I have heard of it, I am surprised such an obvious injustice could have passed the scrutiny of the legal experts in the House of Commons", said Miss Agnes MacPhail, member for Southeast Gray, when asked for her comment on a Tornto legal authority's opinion of the new Ontario Divorce Court Law.

"If this is true," said Miss MacPhail, "It means very few women are going to secure divorces in Ontario, of course, such a basis of inequality cannot exist very long."

ITALIAN FLIERS SET NEW RECORD

Exceed Endurance Mark Set By Germans By One Hour and 49 Minutes.

FOURTH ATTEMPT.

ROME, June 2 (C.P.)—The world's non-refueling flight endurance record was brought to Italy this morning by Major Umberto Maddalena, who in 1928 first sighted General Umberto Mobile and the Italia survivors on the ice north of Spitsbergen.

Landing at Montecello airdrome at fourteen minutes before one a.m. and his companion flier, Lieutenant Fausto Cecconi exceeded by one hour and 49 minutes the previous record of the Germans, Johann Risticz and Hans Zimmerman, who in 1928 remained aloft for 65 hours and 26 minutes.

The new record is 67 hours and 15 minutes, the flight having begun at 5.31 a.m. Friday morning at Montecello. It was the culmination of long efforts for the two airmen, and represented their fourth attempt at the world record, three other attempts having been made in the latter two months of 1929.

The flight commenced Friday and was beset almost from the start by poor visibility, bad weather, and unfavorable atmospheric conditions. The tenacity of the two aviators in the face of hardship, however, brought them the success which Major Maddalena regards as essentially preparation for a flight to New York later this year.

HOMES ARE NOT DETERIORATING REV. J. M. WHYTE TELLS CONFERENCE

Committee on Social Service and Evangelism Makes Its Report.

SETTLEMENTS ANNOUNCED.

(By A Staff Reporter)

COBOURG, June 2—The comment in the report of the committee on Evangelism and Social Service that in every country the standards of the home seem to be deteriorating elicited dissent from Rev. J. M. Whyte of Enniskillen during the closing business session of the Bay of Quinte Conference of the United Church Saturday afternoon.

"I am tired of hearing these expressions about the deterioration of our homes" Mr. White said, "and also that our young people are going to the bad all the time. I am now 61 and I have been in touch with many young people for years. I know that some things among them are not right, but I recall that as a young man I was regarded as a curiosity because I did not take tobacco and whiskey. Why, I used to see old women scratching matches and lighting clay pipes. Perhaps they have a more genteel way today, but apart from that I know of only one young person in my charge doing anything like that which we are criticising. I believe there are finer standards in the home to-day than at any other time. If the report said that homes are not all they ought to be I could agree with it."

The report was presented by Rev. Andrew McLaughlin of Grafton, who quoted a recent book as an authority for the committee's animadversion.

On the subject of temperance the committee paid tribute to the effort of Rev. R. A. Whattam, field secretary of the Ontario Prohibition Union, in seeking 400 000 homes that will be dedicated to total abstinence.

Text of Report

Rev. Mr. McLaughlin's report follows:

"We strongly urge that on Sunday, June 8, in all our congregations the fullest possible advantage be taken for bringing our people the significance of the 1900th anniversary of Pentecost.

"That arrangements be made by the standing committee of Conference on Evangelism and Social Service for a gathering of Ministers of the conference for four days to study the meaning and seek the realization of the Pentecostal experience at Oak Lake near Stirling July 15-18, that the expense of men attending be pooled, and that the committee to arrange for the retreat be Rev. G. W. Rivers, chairman, Rev. Andrew McLauchlin, secretary and Rev. C. S. Reddick.

$250,000 FIRE IN HAMILTON

Lumber Yards, Buildings and Equipment Totally Destroyed.

4 MILLION FEET.

HAMILTON, Ont., June 2 (C.P.).—Damage estimated at more than $250.000 was caused by fire that last nig... destroyed lumber, buildings and machinery of the Consumers' Lumber Company.

The blaze, one of the most spectacular to be seen here in years, threatened for a time to burn a large number of houses adjacent to the lumber yards. Only unusually quick and efficient work by the entire fire-fighting forces of the city saved the conflagration from speading into a holocaust.

Between 4,000.000 and 5,000.000 feet of dressed lumber was in the yard at the time of the outbreak, which was first noticed when a small puff of smoke emanated from near the offices.

LIQUOR EXPORT TO U. S. CEASES

Lakefield Resident Observes Anniversary

LAKEFIELD, June 2. — Andrew Fairbairn, aged resident of Lakefield, was the recipient of many good wishes from his friends yesterday on the occasion of the sixtieth anniversary of his marriage. The joyfulness of the day was tinctured with a feeling of sadness as his life partnes, Sarah McKee, passed away last November.

Sixty years ago the ceremony was performed in the little Presbyterian Church at Lakefield, a Methodist preacher performed the ceremony at the happy event.

Mr. Fairbairn was born in Smith township in the year 1843, just about a mile north of Lakefield in a log cabin. His parents were Mr. and Mrs. Fairbairn, who had come out from Scotland. The old gentleman is still hale and hearty and enjoying the vim of life to the full.

MEXICAN FLYER BELIEVED LOST

Colonel Fierro Still Missing After 18 Hours Out From Burbank.

ATTEMPTING NEW VENTURE.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, June 2 (Canadian Press). — Colonel Roberto Fierro, Mexican aviator, had not arrived at Kelly Field here to-day, more than 18 hours after his departure from Burbank, Cal., and officials expressed belief that he had been forced down and was unable to notify his representative in San Antonio of his plight.

The flyer left Burbank at 5.40 a.m. on Sunday, with San Antonio his destination for the first leg of a flight to New York. From New York he expected to attempt a non-stop flight to the City of Mexico. Later he planned to fly from Bahia, Brazil, to Dakar, Africa.

It was expected that Colonel Fierro would reach San Antonio in twelve hours, or by 7.40 a.m. yesterday.

SETTLERS FLEE BEFORE FLAMES

Forest Fires Are Sweeping Large Area in Northern Ontario.

HOMES DESTROYED.

DRYDEN, Ont., June 2 (C.P.).—Settlers in the Dyment, Ont., area, 33 miles east of Dryden, on the Canadian Pacific Railway, are abandoning their homes now in the path of forest fires, driven by strong, south winds.

A report received here late last night said the buildings and homes of several settlers had been destroyed, and homesteads in the path of the flames are being abandoned. No casualties have been reported.

Two hundred men, with fire-fighting equipment and a three-day supply of food, have been sent to the fire-swept area.

The men, employees of the Dryden Paper Company, will aid the settlers of the Dyment district and protect company timber-limits. Already, thousands of acres of timberlands have been burned over.

Fleeing before the flames, hundreds of forest animals have come out to open country, or sought safety in lakes and streams of the fire area.

A slight rain fell here last night, but the clouds moved northward away from the menaced forests.

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., June 2. — (C.P.).—Anxiety pervaded this area to-day as reports trickled through unofficial sources that forest fires north of here and near Sioux Lookout, Ont., had reached menacing proportions.

According to local forestry officials, the extent of the area threatened is not yet known, but they intimated that all fire-fighting personnel and equipment had been organized to battle the advancing flames.

Unconfirmed reports were received here that the fire already was eating its way into valuable timber stands, summer cottages are said to have been burned, but from other sources fear was expressed that farm homes had been destroyed, but it is not thought there has been any loss of life.

A heavy pall of smoke hung over the countryside all day, and the general feeling prevails that much damage will be wrought unless rain comes to the aid of the forest-fighting forces.

Five nurses of Tottenham, England, made 13,278 visits in the last year.

SEVEN KILLED IN TRAIN CRASH

Handcar is Placed Across Track in Front of Paris-Nice Express.

EIGHT ARE INJURED.

MONTEREAU, France, June 2. — Officials said the wrecking of the Paris-Nice Express, with death of seven persons last night, was caused by a handcar placed across the track with criminal intent. The dead included two men, two women and three children. Eight were seriously injured and a score hurt slightly.

Premier Tardieu had travelled over the same line four hours earlier but officials scouted the idea that the train was wrecked in an attempt against his life.

. . . Safeguard the investment you have in your Car—Now!

You'll be driving thousands of miles in the next few months — perhaps to your summer home going on picnics

or over to neighbouring towns and cities.

It isn't reasonable to expect the gear lubricant that has been doing duty in your car for hundreds of miles to keep on protecting the gears through all this hot, summer driving.

Change your grease now.

New lubricant is of the utmost importance and it must be good lubricant—not a cheap grease which, as often as not is thickened with harmful fillers. Be sure you get Whiz Gear Lubricant and you will be sure of gear protection—for Whiz Gear Lubricant contains nothing but the purest oils, blended to a smooth consistency which insures perfect lubrication. Whiz Gear Lubricant will cost you a few cents more than cheap greases but the difference is so small it wouldn't be worth saving even if you could be sure of the quality of the cheap grease. Don't expose your gears to expensive damage. Drive to one of the garages listed below.

Have your gears flushed out and refilled with Whiz Gear Lubricant now.

The Rev and Mrs. J. H. Dudgeon, who are leaving the city shortly, were presented on Friday evening by the Cheerful Workers' Bible Class of St. James' Sunday School, with a handsome mantel clock, the farewell gift of the members and given in appreciation of the assistance accorded the class by the Rev. and Mrs. Dudgeon during their sojourn in the city. The presentation took place at a banquet held in the auditorium of the Sunday School, where the tables were prettily decorated with flowers and the class colors. For the past few months, the class has been divided into two groups, the Blues and the Golds, which are the class colors, for a competition which was won by the Blue under the leadership of Mrs. C. Olaveson. The losers, led by Mrs. J. Pilley, entertained the winners at this very entertaining affair. The address to the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Dudgeon was read by Mrs. A. Brumwell, while Mrs. R. English, teacher of the class, made the presentation. The Rev. Mr. Dudgeon, replying on behalf of himself and his wife, said they would treasure the gift as the symbol of mutual friendship. The evening was spent in music and games.

BENEFITS ARE QUESTIONED

the ordinary procedure in the United States. That was not the case in Great Britain.

Judging by the Press, continued the Prime Minister, "The Opposition are in favor of no agreement at all. They are in favor of unbridled competition. If that policy were carried out expenditures would go up by the millions and millions and the expenditure would be absolutely wasted."

Three Powers at Geneva

The Prime Minister said that if Great Britain was not to build in accordance with the agreement with other powers and if Mr. Baldwin thought a Three Power agreement was so unsatisfactory that it was wrong, then why did he send representatives to the Geneva Conference of 1927 where only three powers were represented.

The Premier said he could claim he had seeen the advisability of a five power agreement while Mr. Baldwin had not.

"The world does not consist of the United States and ourselves only, not even of the Pacific alone" said the Premier. "There is the Pacific and the European group and consideration of group questions is inseparable from any effective reduction of armament."

SIXTY-FIVE BIRTHS IN CITY DURING MAY

Birth figures in the city's vital statistics for the month of May show a considerable decrease in the number of births over April but an increase over the month of May last year. There were 65 births last month, compared with 81 the preceding month, and 55 during the corresponding month in 1929.

The number of marriages was 10 during May. There were 11 during April and 16 in May, 1929. A decrease of 5 over April is to be found in the death total. Thirty-one deaths occurred this May, 36 during April and 32 during May last year.

LOCAL SONS OF ENGLAND ATTEND SERVICE IN ST. JAMES' CHURCH

Rev. J. H. Dudgeon Delivers Eloquent Message to Lodgemen on Sunday Evening.

SPECIAL MUSIC.

A large assembly of the order of the Sons of England, worshipped in St. James United Church on Sunday evening, when the pastor, the Rev. J. H. Dudgeon delivered an eloquent message based upon the scripture, "Bear ye one another's burdens and so fulfill the law of Christ," from Galatians, 6-1-10.

"Mutual dependence is the law of the universe," said the speaker. "Nothing stands alone. Each depends on all."

The material world is one vast interdependence, a grain of seed, perfect in itself alone, will never produce the golden harvest nor can old Mother Earth, nor the sun or the rain but all combined united one with the other, obtain marvelous results."

"I live not wholly for myself," said a beautiful flower, "Mortals gaze on me breathe my fragrance and go away better than they came. I give to the bee honey, to the insect food. I help to make earth more beautiful."

"I live not wholly to myself," said a wide spreading tree, "I give a happy home to a hundred living things, support to the tender vine, and shade for man and beast. I too help to make earth more beautiful."

"I live not wholly to myself," said the mountain streamlet. "I am heading for the ocean, but along the way I want to do all the good I can. Tree and flower love my banks, birds and beasts drink and go on their way happy. Fish find a happy home, so I too, help to make earth more beautiful."

I live not wholly to myself should be the language of every thinking mind for it is the language of duty guiding to the only paths of happiness on earth. The apostle Paul in writing of our mutual dependence compared it to the body. It requires each member, one depending on the other to compose the perfect body. As in the human body so it is in human society. "No man liveth unto himself." The greatest happiness is not attained by each one being his own servant, but by a division of labor and each being as much as possible the servant of all.

So with nations—how soon a nation feels the dependence on other nations when a blockade is established—as in the Great War, it is not therefore to be wondered at that Christian founding a society lays down the law of dependency for its regulation. It seems all the more wonderful that the Creator should adhere to this dame principle in bringing a lost world back to Himself and being dependent upon mankind in this great work. Paul says, 'Workers together with Christ," We are God's workmen and the only instruments He has to dispel the shadows of earth.

Principles of Orders.

The principles of your order are those of religion and humanity. Its object to promote the general good of mankind and to spread abroad the light of morality and Fraternalism. The man who walks along the paths of life and does not remember the other fellow has not understood the spirit of your order—nor the spirit of Jesus. The big word in the vocabulary of Jesus was 'Others' His life story could be written in five words "He went about doing good." He best serves God who best serves others. Man's greatness in time to come will be measured by his ability to serve the world. Service is the keynote of the day, and the noblest forms of service lies in unselfish devotion to the welfare of one's fellow.

Remember the other fellow has needs. We are told that when Christ shall come in His glory, many shall depart from His presence because, "They gave the hungry no meat, the thirsty no drink." Christianity developed a happy heart and smile, and its essence is service for others.

What is religion but a burden bearer? What is your noble order but a burden bearer? To visit the sick relieve distress and to give the hand to the stumbling brother—It belongs to man to weep with them that weep. The strings of one's heart vibrates to those of another. Woe awakens woe, grief infects with sadness.

The speaker appealed to the Sons of England to see humanity through Christ's eyes. The reason common people heard the Master gladly was because they felt He saw good in them. Jesus looked upon all men hopefully.

We are justified in serving the other fellow. Many a man owes his success to the inspiration of a friendly word of cheer—as Benjamin West, Demosthenes, John B. Gough and others. "There are two kinds of people on earth to-day. Just two kinds of people, no more I say. The two kinds of people on earth I mean, are the people who lift and the people who lean. Wherever you go you will find the world's masses are always divided in just these two classes. And oddly enough you will find too, I mean, there is only one lifter to twenty who lean. In which class are you? Are you easing the load, of overtaxed lifters who toil down the road? Or are you a leaner, who lets others bear your portion of labor and worry and care?"

Veteran of Order.

The music which was fitting to the occasion included a beautiful solo, "Land of Hope and Glory," by Mrs. Ernest Kitney.

A special feature of interest at this service was the present among the Sons of England of Uriah Wheeler who resides on Romaine street and who had attained his nine-first birthday. The veteran member was accorded a hearty applause by the whole congregation.

JAMES KELLY IS KILLED IN STATES

Funeral Will Be Held on Wednesday Morning in Church of Immaculate Conception.

He was married in this city to Emily Sweeney who died in the States last September and whose remains were brought to this city for burial.

The late Mr. Kelly leaves his father, one brother, John and two sisters, Lizzie and Helen of this city.

Interment will be made at St. Peter's cemetery on Wednesday morning following a nine o'clock service at the Church of the Immaculate Conception.

McCONNELL FINISHES HIS TASK IN MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, June 2. (C.P.)—Donald Henry McCannell of Toronto, who came to Mexico to close up the affairs of Tom Brown, former mayor of Stratford, Ont., who died here three weeks ago, left last night for home, having completed his task.

Roberto Gomez, Mexican ex-policeman, wanted here in connection with the investigation into Brown's affairs and his death, is still at Matamoros where he has obtained a temporary injunction writ preventing his removal to Mexico City. Gomez who was seen with Brown repeatedly prior to the death of the Canadian, will be questioned concerning the whereabouts of securities said to be missing.

ROTARY HEARS OF WONDERS OF OCEAN PARADISE

Mrs. Frank C. Neal Gives Interesting Address on Hawaiian Islands.

TICKET CAMPAIGN.

Reports From Committee Shows That Estimates on Car Are in Demand.

A most interesting address by Mrs. Frank C. Neal gave local Rotarians a chance at their weekly luncheon to-day to visualize something of the color and glamor that marks life in the Hawaiian Islands. Mrs. Neal's description of the outstanding characteristics of the islands and their varied inhabitants, the background of history which she set up, and her graphic recital of the many points of interest that impress visitors to the "Paradise of the Pacific," made her address one of the most interesting in Rotary history and the vote of thanks eloquently voiced by Rotarian Fred L. Roy was no mere gesture of appreciation.

Past President W. R. Morris was in the chair at to-day's luncheon in the absence from the city of President Ross L. Dobbin and Vice-President Robert Abbott.

Rotarian J. H. Seels, chairman of the Street Fair committee, announced that the Pontiac prize car will journey to Belleville for the race meeting tomorrow and that several car loads of Rotarians will accompany the car and stage a ticket-selling campaign.

Rotarian Tom Dutton reported in regard to the sale of tickets for the car estimates and reports from the various teams indicated that the tickets are being disposed of rapidly.

Mrs. Neal remarked that in the short time at her disposal, it would be impossible to do more than touch upon the highest of the high lights of the Hawaiian group and then proceeded to show how much of the interesting a facile speaker could crowd into a few minutes. She was able to decipher that characteristic Hawaiian feature, the volcanoes, to touch upon the varied population of the islands, with its mixture of many races, to trace the history of the group from its discovery by Captain Cook in the seventeenth century, to picture the beautiful flowers and trees, and to eulogize the school system with beautiful public schools and a university that did not need to lower its head to any institution anywhere. The hotels of Honolulu, she said, were splendidly modern; the business establishments surprisingly up to date and the restaurants offering almost anything desired in the way of cuisine. In the way of sports the islands presented a variety of entertainment—bathing, surfboard riding, water polo, deep-sea fishing, hiking, motoring, golf with 18 beautiful courses available, and other forms of recreation, so visitors had no difficulty in keeping their time fully occupied.

Among the visitors to-day were Dr. Gillespie of Vancouver, B.C.; Wm. Newman, M.P.P. of Lorneville, and Rotarian "Mac" Robertson of Belleville.

KILLED IN PLANE CRASH.

WINDSOR, Ont., June 2.—(C.P.)—Nicholas J. Shafer, 26, of Detroit, a student flier with only two hours' experience in the air, was dashed to death last evening when his plane went into a nose dive above the Walkerville airport and crashed 500 feet to earth.

J. CORBEOT HEADS BOARD.

WINNIPEG, Man., June 2.—(C.P.)—J. Corbeot, London, Ont., was elected general chairman of the joint protection board of the Railway Carmen of America, whose members are employees of Canadian National Railways, at the organization's annual convention Saturday. Other officers named were: Secretary-treasurer, F. J. Cullum, Stratford, Ont., vice-chairman, George O'Neill, Moncton, N.B., and H. H. Binnette, Montreal.

TAKE SOME OTHER STREET.

It has been suggested to The Examiner that we could do a good service to the public generally if we would urge motorists to do as little driving as possible on the business streets now under course of repair.

We are glad to pass on the suggestion to local car owners who, in view of the conditions on several blocks on George street at the present time, should really need little urging to keep them away from that particular neighborhood.

With the street materially narrowed by the operations of the paving company and the intersections partially blocked by work being done by the Bell Telephone Company, anything like heavy traffic presents accident hazards that wise drivers should be glad to avoid.

There are many motorists who have no particular business or reason to drive up and down this section of George street, and the situation would be greatly improved if joy-riding car owners would for the next few weeks confine their attention to other thoroughfares.

A little thoughtfulness and a spirit of co-operation in this respect would be appreciated, not only by those motorists whose business makes it necessary for them to drive on these blocks and by the bus drivers and police, but by the citizens generally, who find the normal difficulty of crossing streets safely seriously increased by the present conditions.

HELP THE ENUMERATORS.

In the various polling sub-divisions in Peterborough enumerators representing the two political parties started out to-day on their task of compiling the voters' list that will be used in the federal election on July 28th.

These persons, it should be understood, are not political agents whose mission it is to see how you are going to vote, but duly appointed officials whose duty it is to make sure that your name is on the election list.

They are doing a very necessary and important work, and the duty of the public therefore is to give them every assistance in order that their compilation of names may be as accurate and complete as possible.

Have the necessary information as to the number of eligible voters in your homes ready so that the task of the enumerators will be facilitated and the completion of the list correspondingly hastened.

Every person 21 years of age who is a British subject, who has lived in Canada for at least a year and who was a resident of this riding on Friday last, the date on which the writs were issued, is entitled to a vote, and it will be the duty of the householder to furnish the enumerators with the names of all such persons living in his house.

The more accurate the first list the less work there will be for the revising officer and the less trouble for citizens whose names happen to be missed by the enumerators.

TOWNSHIP HISTORIES.

From St. Thomas comes the interesting news that the farmers of South Dorchester in that district have formed a historical society for the purpose of compiling a history of their township.

Committees have been named to interview the few remaining pioneer residents and to preserve their reminiscences of early days in the township, while the interest of the school children was stimulated by essay contests in the various schools.

This is a splendid movement that The Examiner would be glad to hear of townships in our own county adopting.

We know far too little of the history of our own neighborhood, and the old residents whose memory goes back to pioneer days and who form our chief link with the past are rapidly thinning out.

An organization in each township to compile the reminiscences of pioneers with other information as to the founding and developing of the various communities would be contributing a most useful public service, the value of which would increase with the passing year.

The township of Douro some years ago celebrated its one hundredth anniversary, and the occasion gave rise to some most interesting information as to pioneer days in Douro and cast some light upon the deep debt of gratitude the prosperous people of to-day owe to the men and women who carved flourishing townships out of the forest.

THE RADIO SITUATION.

It was announced by Hon. P. J. A. Cardin, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, shortly before the House dissolved, that the Government had decided it would be unfair to withhold licenses for new radio broadcasting licenses until the new Parliament to be elected next month has a chance to consider the recommendations of the Radio Commission.

At the same time, the Minister explained, the granting of such licenses will not carry any guarantee that firms and individuals who may now proceed to establish new broadcasting stations will be recompensed in the event of an eventual decision to adopt the Aird recommendations and substitute Government-owned stations in place of the present privately-owned facilities.

The Examiner is sure that this decision on the part of the Government will meet with general approval.

As this paper has already pointed out on several occasions, Canada has for many months been shut off from any improvement in Canadian broadcasting because applications for new stations and for improving those already in commission have been held up until Parliament made up its mind as to what policy to adopt.

Another year would have been lost had the situation been allowed to remain until the House meets again, and the announcement that those who are willing to take a chance on the proposed Government ownership of radio stations ultimately being discarded are now to have the opportunity of building new stations should be satisfactory both to them and to the army of listeners-in throughout the country.

When you want to have fun get a crowd to telling their middle names.—Kingston Whig-Standard.

DRUG STORES.

The American Booksellers, in convention at New York, have started something which, if it becomes general, will have a sweeping effect on the drug stores of the continent. Some time ago books were added to the already extensive list of this and that and them and those which adorn the shelves of drug stores. These book departments ran largely to reprints, offered at cut prices, and the Booksellers' Association, it seems, has felt a stinging blow in the pocket book. We do not see that there is anything that the booksellers can do but deplore. It is altogether unlikely that they can bring enough pressure to bear on publishers to prevent distribution of books through this source. There are drug stores in every community where one may buy drugs, despite the wise-cracking of vaudeville quipsters, but it is a fact that in many drug stores drugs are just an incidental side-line. One may buy canary birds, phonograph records, tea and coffee, bathing supplies, lunches—yea, even full-course dinner—marbles, sporting equipment and scores of other things which hardly come under the classification of drugs. The modern drug store is really a departmental store. There are some druggists who maintain prescription departments, in which they take a genuine pride, and then again, on the other hand, there are druggists who consider the prescription end of their business to be a nuisance they would like to dispense with. It is permissible for druggists to sell anything that may legally be sold, and who is there to blame them if they are but hearkening to that well-known law of supply and demand one hears so much about? Their best answer to the criticism sometimes leveled at the diversity of the products they sell is that they stock these knick-knacks because there is a call for them, and it follows that if there is a demand they are rendering a service by meeting that demand. The booksellers, we think, have started something they will not be able to finish. There may be a drug store that is making money by selling nothing but drugs, but you don't know where it is and neither does anybody else. —Hamilton Spectator.

CANADIAN AND ARGENTINE WHEAT.

The forthcoming Imperial economic conference in London of representatives of the various parts of the British Empire might well take into consideration a problem raised by the declaration last week of Professor T. Wibberley, specialist on wheat content and qualities in the Old Country, who stated that Argentine and American wheats were distinctly inferior to Canadian and British in combination.

The learned professor gave as the reason for the use of the Argentine-American combination for milling in the Old Land, the fact that "under the present dumping system, and with the cheap labor of Argentina, they can be sold cheaper than Canadian wheat."

"There is no doubt bread made from Canadian and British wheat contains the greatest proportion of nutritive qualities," declared Professor Wibberley.

So that the choice lies at the present with the people of the Old Land as to whether they will continue to support "cheap labor in the Argentine" at the expense of a more nutritive loaf made of a combination of Canadian and British wheat.

It would seem as if a Labor Government, at any rate, should not have great difficulty in deciding what was to the best advantage of the people of Britain in such a case.

Cheap labor in the Argentine and, indeed, anywhere else, can only make it more difficult to maintain an adequate standard of living in any civilized country. Add to that the fact that the British people must, perforce, be content also with a less nutritive loaf, according to the distinguished professor, and the issue would seem to be fairly clear.—Ottawa Journal.

APPRECIATED.

What is termed international amity on a new scale is the appreciation of the United States for legislation passed by both Great Britain and Canada to enforce the Volstead Act.

New York Sun submits that early in its effort to enforce prohibition the United States found the three-mile limit on territorial waters a serious handicap on its agents. The Government at Washington appealed to Great Britain for modification of the traditional and historic rules of the high seas. His Majesty's Government proved sympathetic and the treaty of 1924, permitting pursuit and search of British vessels far beyond the three-mile limit, was drafted and put into effect. The precedent thus established was followed by other nations. Had the British declined to accede to the request of the United States it is unlikely that any other nation would have been willing so to do.

There is now pending in the British Parliament a bill to cancel the licenses of officers of the British merchant marine who engage in rum running. The importance of this is obvious; much of the rum running by sea is from British possessions, and the trade on which it is based—the sale of alcoholic beverages—is legal in Great Britain and the colonies.

Canada's Parliament has enacted a statute under which clearance will be refused to vessels carrying liquor to prohibition countries; this will soon go into effect. Numerous exporting agencies along the international boundary are reported to be closing in anticipation of the act.

This record, continues the New York paper, of diplomatic and legislative acts by the Imperial and Dominion Governments discloses official willingness—more than willingness, it is fair to say—to assist the United States in prohibition enforcement at the sacrifice of commercial profits in a legal business and of Government revenues that might be derived from that business. It forms an interesting chapter in the application of international amity. The historian of prohibition in the United States must recognize that in its "experiment noble in purpose" this country has had the hearty co-operation of Great Britain and of Canada.—St. Catharines Standard.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

June came in amid the shaking of furnaces and the freezing of tomato plants. We'll hope for better things during the month of roses.

The rival politicians shook hands at Ottawa when the House dissolved. Starting just like a real prize fight as it were.

So long as Bobby Jones stays in the game it looks as if the Motherland ought to slap on some safeguarding duties to protect her golf trophies.

The election campaign will be eight weeks long, which is more than sufficient for most people, especially if or when a heat wave arrives.

Despite the approaching examinations, the small boy should be happy. Isn't Peterborough to be visited by a circus next month?

GIRLIGAGS

"The trouble with rich men," says pertinent Polly, "is they can't distinguish between popularity and a gold rush."—By Gettler.

A Thought

ADVANCEMENT

He only is advancing in life whose heart is getting softer, whose blood warmer, whose brain quicker, whose spirit is entering into living peace.
—Ruskin.

What To-day Means To You

"GEMINI."

If June 2nd is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8 a.m. to 9:30 a.m., from 1 p.m. to 2 p.m., and from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m. The danger periods are from 11 a.m. to noon, and from 9 p.m. to 10 p.m.

The astrological influences on this date are adverse for a happy spiritual or mental state, and nerves will be taut. Financial conditions will be normally stable. It will be difficult to carry on harmoniously or peacefully until the astrological atmosphere changes, and nerves are relaxed.

The child born on this June 2nd will have a stubborn will power, and if its parents are afraid to say "no", and mean it, it will be destined to receive many hard lessons from the world. It will have a depth of feeling, and considerable courage, especially mentally.

You have a capricious nature, and as many moods as a centipede has legs—this applies to those of both sexes born on this date. You should take steps to prevent your state of mind from upsetting other people. If you cannot entirely conquer them, you can learn to control them. People of your type expect others to instinctively know just where their temperamental barometer stands, and to obey its warnings. Strange as it may seem, you have no tolerance or sympathy for others who are affected with the same trait, you ask for the world's rights for moodiness. You can be a most delightfully charming being, a pleasant companion, and a cheerful worker.

You can also be a morose being, a sour companion, and a disgruntled worker. It is difficult for your friends to keep step with you, and many give you up in despair. Deep in your heart you long to be a "good fellow," and to be fair and square. You can always be depended upon to play the game concerning the big issues of life—it is only in the small things that you can be petty. When you are "glad," you love the beautiful things of life, and your spirits are bubbling over with the joy of living. In time of real trouble, you are very sporting, and you hold up your end of the horn. Your affections are deeper than they appear.

APRIL ESCAPADES

CHAPTER XXIV.

The thought of her mother, and the home kitchen, with little Pat at the table looking up from a bitten slice of bread on which brown sugar glistened, were like the dream of a mirage. Oh, the coolness, the utter refreshment of home, and her limp blue kitchen apron, and the dish towels that hung, all winter long above the stove, and that one fingered tentatively when a dish towel was needed to determine their exact degree of dryness!

Her eyes were sick for the familiar sights, the crowded shelf above the sink the windows with the dingy background beyond them, where the handsome fire-escapes and kitchen windows of the big new apartment houses on Geary Street formed a back-drop fled with unending fascinations and surprises.

And here she sat, in her night robe and a man's wrapper, at four o'clock in the morning, looking at loathsome Spanish walls, and Spanish furniture, and Spanish saints, and a ridiculous medieval staircase, winding up from the room itself, with a red cord balustrade.

When Mrs. Peters appeared, with a great armful of blankets and sheets, Mary Kate arose, to help her make a comfortable bed on a couch, it appeared that Peters was to finish the night in the house. After that the lights began to go out, and Chris went upstairs, and the two women went into that pretty spare room that Mary Kate had discovered with such thrilled enthusiasm, less than twelve hours ago.

It had been put into order now, and both beds were turned down, but there was a strangeness and chilliness about it, in the dead hour before dawn, that struck to Mary Kate's heart like an icicle. She lay down in the dressing-gown, and pulled the covers over her, opening a book. But for a long time the words danced meaningless on the page, she could not read.

Mrs. Peters, observing sapiently that it wasn't likely that anything more would happen to-night, but that it surely did get on your nerves to have such going-on in a place, climbed comfortably into her own bed, and was instantly snoring heavily.

Mary Kate resented her, her snoring, her nervelessness, and above all, her quiet refusal to be drawn intoher—Mary Kate's affairs.

The girl had thought she would explain to Mrs. Peters, as lightly and briefly as possible, her reason for being in Mr. Steynes' house under these curious circumstances.

But Helga Peters was not interested. They could do anything they wanted to do, as long as she was paid her good eighty dollars a month. Mary Kate could be a lily of purity, or she could be Tony Moody's confederate in the house-breaking job, it was nothing to Helga. She would turn the girl's bed down, just the same, and throw damp towels into the basket, wipe out the tub, put books back on the shelves.

It did not signify what this great dull animal of a woman thought, Mary Kate reflected, closing her book, snapping off her light, resolutely shutting her eyes.

But she had said that of a good many persons to-day, and it was not true—she had known it was not true, even while she had said it. Of course it signified what persons thought about a girl. She might not admire Gordon Rountree or Don Archibald, or Chris Steynes, or Helga Peters, or Constable Browning, but their respect—their good opinion, was important.

"My God!" prayed Mary Kate, covering her eyes with her hand crouching down against her pillow, shuddering in the chilly gloom that comes before morning. "My God, what have I done!

"Is it as easy as this," she thought, "for a girl to get in wrong? Is this all there is to it?"

Whether it was the coffee, or Mrs. Peters' snoring, or her own tirelessly threshing thoughts that kept her restless the fact was that she was hopelessly awake, sleep was as absent from the possibilities of the moment as flight, or peace of mind, or coherent reflection. Mary Kate tossed and twisted, sighed, started up nervously, settled herself, with an aching head and a dry throat resolutely to sleep.

After awhile there was pearly gray at the windows. Morning! And never had she longed so little to see the day.

The shapes of the furniture emerged slowly from the mass of shadows. The glass doors through which along the light was filtering—for Mrs. Peters had barred and locked the window—grew a brighter gray.

Mary Kate had been cold, an hour or two ago. But now she was feverish with the bad air of the hermetically sealed room, maddened by the drone—drone—drone of the sleeping woman's breath.

Suddenly she was out of bed. She groped for the gressing-gown, and felt for her slippers. Noiselessly she opened one of the porch doors, and noiselessly crept out into the wet freshness and silence of the porch.

On this same porch she had been happy, last night, just as the sun was sinking. But between sunset and sunrise she had lived through half the emotions of her life.

The garden was drenched with heavy dews, but already the warmth of the coming day was softening the air, and the trees and shrubs, gray shadows on lighter-gray a few moments ago, were taking definite shape. Color was pouring into them; brown into the great gnarled oak boles, green into the young trembling leaves on the lilac trees. A great clump of bridal wreath stretched snowy streamers into the brightening air; the sad and subtle odor of wet earth and grass was cut by a sudden, exquisite breath of acacia.

Mary Kate huddles in a basket chair, wrapping about herself a plaid that had been folded across it. She saw the wet leaves glisten in the first shafts from the east and the stiff, curved leaves of the oaks and the thin shredded foliage of the peppers take on a paten of shining gold. The sun dazzled bright in the upper leaves of all the trees, sank down through their branches in broad banners and waves of warmth and brightness. It was morning.

The girl watched until her eyes were heavy and sore, and until columns of blue smoke were arising here and there beyond the trees, from more than one stately roof-line. Birds were hopping and calling among the wet bushes now, there was chirping, and the flash of wings, everywhere, and toward the kitchen Mary Kate heard the crisping of steps, and the clink of milk bottles.

She went wearily indoors, finding Mrs. Peters gone, and the neighboring bed flung open to air with a certain Nordic thoroughness. Exhaustedly she flung herself once again on her bed, drawing the covers over her, wrapper and all. And this time sleep found her almost instantly, deep, dreamless sleep, in which she could forget for a little while what had proceeded the merciful oblivion, and what must follow the inevitable awakening.

"This is Miss O'Hara. Yes. Now, Miss O'Hara," said Constable Browning, looking up from an improvised desk, in that very living room of whose Spanish completeness Mary Kate was so deadly weary, "we'll only detain you a moment. Will you sit down?"

Mary Kate had entered heavily, slowly, looking fearfully into the face of one man after another. She was dressed in the clothing she had worn down from town, on the day before; she looked ghastly pale, and the rings about her eyes were black this morning.

There were several persons in the room. Chris was there, Peters and Joseph the old gardener, Gordon Rountree, looking nervous and sympathetic and troubled, a young police officer, Constable Browning, who had been here last night, and a businesslike young man who was busily taking stenographic records of everything that was said. There was also a heavy-faced, gloomy-looking man who seemed to be from the Coroner's office, or perhaps he was from the City and County Hospital. A jury of Spanish Inquisitors could not have appeared more horrible to Mary Kate. To her the room was a veritable torture chamber.

The bright dawn had been obscured by a heavy fog; the garden, the world, were blotted out by it. There was a certain gloom in the room, accentuated by the roughly plastered walls and the dark furniture; above the table where the Constable sat a light was burning.

"You were in this house last night, Miss O'Hara?"

"I—yes. I was here."

"Have I your name and address correctly."

He read them. Her tragic eyes wandered to Chris's face.

"Yes, that's right."

"You are a friend of Mr. Steynes"?

"Hardly that. He asked me to do something for him, as a sort of joke—"

She saw the expressionless glances of the officers cross and meet.

"Why that's all right," Browning said considerately. "That isn't our affair. We merely want to know how you first became aware that somebody was trying to break into the house. Just tell it simply, what you heard and saw, and what you did. Take it easy. All we want is the truth."

"I told you," Gordon Roumtree said in a low, hurried voice, uncomfortably awkwardly, "that Miss O'Hara has been my secretary for two years, and that she is a young lady for whom—ha!—I have the greatest—well, respect."

The Constable's hard eyes fixed him with an impersonal stare. He pursed his lips as if about to expectorate, swallowed, looked back at his papers.

"Sure," he conceded indifferently.

'JUST SUPPOSE' IS GREAT SUCCESS

Staged By Albert College Players Under Auspices of St. John's Sunday School.

AT CAMPBELLFORD.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 2 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent).—Playing to a capacity audience in the high school auditorium, Campbellford, on Friday evening, "Just Suppose," a dramatic presentation by A. E. Thomas, met with distinct success.

The play, which was produced by the Albert College Players, under the direction of Miss Jessie B. Tuite, was sponsored by the Sunday School of St. John's United Church. It was in three acts, each of which was set in the drawing room of a Virginia home, with a period of two weeks' elapse between the entrance and exit of the cast.

The story is centered around the visit of a prince, incog., to a southern home, while out on a joy ride with his friend and personal attendant, to escape from the ceremonial routine of a goodwill visit to the States. While there, he falls in love with the daughter of the house, much to the alarm of his friend, who is responsible for his person.

The play becomes intensely dramatic when the affection of the two is realized by each other, although no word is spoken. Then the visit of the foreign Ambassador, who eventually takes the prince back with him to his duties. The third act deals with the arrival of the prince to say good-bye and ends on a note of tragedy.

The play was exceptionally well acted, and the dramatic ability shown was splendid. Some of the conversational portions were cleverly done, and showed to what extent the cast forgot their own personalities and entered into the spirit of their role.

Alex. Finlayson plays the part of the southern gentleman, Kingsley Stafford, in a very able manner. The negro servant, Hannibal, is portrayed by James Pullenm, and proves a very interesting study, adding that humor to the presentation that relieves it from the more serious situations. Mrs. Carter Stafford, the grandmother, is very well done by Mabel Sutton, who in a very feeling way describes the days long past when North and South were bitter enemies. Howard Purchase, as Montgomery Warren, the American lover, is typical of that type, and handles his role with ease. Mildred Lloyd, as Lindy Lee Stafford, the girl in the case, takes one of the leading roles. She is mistress of her art, and in the dramatic portions of the play, shows her ability in the portrayal of emotions. Playing opposite her as George the Prince, is Jack Naylor, who makes a splendid lead, and is very human in his love-making. A very difficult character to act, he is impressive in his representation. James Cook, as the friends, the Hon. Calverton Shipley, and James Grimmon, as the Marquis of Karnaby, the ambassador, prove very fine characters, with a perfect portrayal of the Englishman of high birth. Word perfect, they act with a precision and niceness that rounds off the play and makes it a premier dramatic production.

Musical numbers during the performance were given by Albert Hazel's orchestra. During the casts, Miss Leona Riggs, lyric soprano, late of New York, delighted the audience with a vocal number and received a bouquet of flowers, presented by Patricia Ironside.

At the conclusion of the play, Mr. G. A. Kingston, superintendent of St. John's Sunday School, presented the director, Miss Jessie B. Tuite, to the audience, who received a floral tribute from the hands of little Bobbie Tait.

A new delivery service has been organized at the Dominion store here, which will enable customers to phone in their orders and have them delivered free of charge. This should prove a handy arrangement for the housewife, especially on wet days. A great many people are taking advantage of this new system.

An inspection of the new roof on the Wallace Block by one of the Hydro inspectors, brought forth the comment that it was one of the best roofs ever laid in the district. It is a metal roof, galvanized, and was laid by James Jacobs, assisted by Earl Turner. The re-building of this block is under the supervision of A. H. McKeel.

A number of local Masons attended the dedication of the Masonic lodge at Keene on Friday, and the banquet that was part of the event.

ENDS PILES QUICK

No Salves or Cutting

Piles are caused by congestion of blood in the lower bowel. Only an internal medicine can remove the cause. That's why salves and cutting fail. HEM-ROID, the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, removes this congestion and strengthens the affected parts.

HEM-ROID is now sold by druggists everywhere, and has such a wonderful record of success even in chronic and stubborn cases that McDermid & Jury, Bond's Drug Store invites every Pile sufferer to try HEM-ROID and guarantees money-back if it does not end all Pile misery.

Members Decide to Hold Strawberry Festival on June 27.

NORHAM, June 2. — (Examiner Correspondence).—The Ladies' Aid of the United Church, Norham, met at the home of Mrs. B. Isaac on Thursday afternoon. There were 25 ladies present.

The president, Mrs. Norman Gummer, had charge of the meeting. Owing to the absence of the secretary, Mrs. Windover, her place was filled by Mrs. Lorne Evans. The Scripture lesson was read by Mrs. West, after singing and prayer. Several items of business were discussed. The question of electric fixtures for the parsonage was left to the parsonage committees of the circuit. It was decided to hold a strawberry festival on Friday, June 27, at the church. A program committee was appointed. Mrs. C. Breton and Mrs. Clare was appointed as program committee for the next Ladies' Aid meeting.

At the close of the business Mrs. Curtis and Mrs. Campbell were responsible for the program. A solo was sung by Mrs. B. West and a solo by Mrs. R. Knight. Lunch was served and an enjoyable social half-hour spent.

Plans for a uniform currency in China have been completed.

HOMES ARE NOT DETERIORATING

are good and total abstinence from those things harmful.

"We further believe that indulgence in beverage alcohol is injurious to the individual, a menace to the home and an enemy to the nation.

"We lament the increased consumption of liquor during recent years, and strongly advise a thorough and comprehensive educational campaign revealing the dangers involved therein and urging total abstinence from alcohol as a beverage for the individual and society.

"We commend the Ontario Prohibition Union's efforts for a province-wide educational temperance campaign throughout Ontario for enlistment of total abstainers, protected home and also service members among educational and spiritual leaders in schools and churches. We urge our people to cooperate in all wise efforts along inter-denominational lines to secure community expression adverse to the traffic in strong drink.

"We deplore the fact that our nation is spending $200,000,000 annually on beverage alcohol, particularly during a period when unemployment is rife. Intemperance may not be the fundamental or sole cause of unemployment, but an expenditure of such an amount on something worse than a luxury at such a time as this is undoubtedly an aggravating circumstance.

The Home

We look upon the home as basic in regard to our social ethical national and religious life, and anything that threatens its security we view with anxiety. It is regrettable that in every country the standards of home life seem to be deteriorating, and this, we believe, to be the result of a number of contributing causes. We would mention in our own land such things as the danger arising from certain kinds of literature that find their way into our modern homes; the effect of the moving picture on the life of our young people; the gradual weakening of parental control, and the possibility of the home ceasing to be a centre of domestice interest and entertainment.

We deplore the marked increase in the number of divorces obtained annually in our Dominion during recent years. The number for 1929 was 785, such a number being possibly not more than one third of the divorces actually secured during the year. We fear any cause or any method that makes it easier to wreck a home, and surely no deeper tragedy can occur in the life of a nation than a broken home."

A Change Proposed

A proposal from the Lay Association that a change be made in the present system of settling ministers will be recorded in the year book. Endorsation by Conference was not sought.

In the discussion on this subject, Rev. M. C. Mackinnon, Perth, offered a resolution which Rev. Jas. Talor of Eganville seconded: "that this Conference recommend to the General Council that pastoral charge be divided into two categories, (a) those desiring no time limit for pastors, (b those desiring a local time limited pastor; with the request that those of the latter class so declare themselves, and that a year's notice be given by any church that wishes to change from one category to the other."

Rev. Thos. Green, Kingston, remarked that the itinerant system does not now exist in the United Church.

"We should not give a wrong impression to those outside the church nor to our own people, "Rev. Mr. Mackinnon said. "I doubt very much if the old system before union would have worked as well as it did if they had the surplus of ministers which we have in the United Church. We have a surplus and it is not yet absorbed."

"The General Council has done away with the itinerant system and some congregations have not" Rev. Dr. Green observed.

In withdrawing the resolution, Rev. Mr. Mackinnon pointed out that the General Council was going to deal with the question of a five year term limit. He did not believe it to be a good thing to have hard and fast uniformity in this matter and others in the United Church.

Religious Education

Rev. L. S. Throop, Demorestville, presented the report of the committee on Religious Education showing the following increases in this department:

Sunday schools, 8; membership, 6927; No. taking teacher training, 121; teacher training credits, 265; preparation classes for church membership, 29; pupils entering church membership from Sunday school 524.

Missionary and Maintenance Fund, $41. Girls' organizations, 12.

The following are the decreases: Boys' organization, 16; M. and M. fund from girls' and boys' organizations and Y. P. S. $2164.

Home Religion

In matters pertaining to Home religion we recommend the practice of family worship in which all the members of a family be given a part. As an aid to this our department has prepared books for parents' and children's reading. Lists of these may be obtained from the Department.

Although the Y. P. S. and S. S. raised $26,613 last year for missionary purposes, the committee asked these societies to increase their contribution by at least $6,000 this year.

(Another clause was: "That the urgency of the present situation and the need of the missionary work of the church at home and abroad be placed before our Sunday School and Young People's Society with a view to raising their share of the new money required for the purpose by the Missionary and Maintenance committee.

Temperance

Regular and graded study of the effect of alcohol on human personality as a means of counteracting the mounting sale of liquors was also suggested by the committee.

"We believe that this study should culminate in a challenge of a life of total abstinence from alcoholic drinks for beverage purposes presented periodically and definitely.

Tribute of Conference

The assembly stood during the reading of the following clause: "We desire to express our joy in the fellowship and service that the former Presbyterians and for the last five years the United Church of Canada enjoyed with that gentle but princely soul, the late Rev. J. C. Robertson, D. D. He gave a lifetime of service to the Master and His little ones. We are assured that we can say as the little girl did of Bishop Brooks when told that he had gone to heaven. "How happy the angels must be."

Settlement Committee

Nominations to settlement committee:

Rev. Wm. McDonald and R. F. Downey, Peterborough.

Rev. Thos. Wallace, Newtonville and Mr. O. M. Alger, Oshawa.

Rev. C. E. Dyer, Greenbank and Newton Smale, Lindsay.

Rev. Thos. P. Perry and Clifford Sine, Gananoque.

Rev. D. R. Clare, Norham and Rev. G. A. Sisco, Port Hope.

Rev. G. W. Rivers, Madoc, and C. W. Burr.

Rev. M. C. Mackinnon, Perth and Rev. H. H. Hillis, Pakenham.

The committee appointed Rev. T. P. Perry, chairman, and Rev. M. C. Mackinnon, secretary.

Friday Night Meeting

A resolution Rev. Dr. Green of Kingston, seconded by Rev. J. F. Stillman of Norwood to restore the Friday night service of Conference was defeated, and also an amendment that the proposal be referred to the executive with power to report.

Rev. Dr. Green said that many delegates miss the Friday night session of the former Methodist Conference. His motion suggested that arrangements be made for an opportunity next year for the young candidates for ordination to state their conversion and call to the work.

Rev. Mr. Stillman expressed the opinion that there might be a danger of losing something of the mystical and peculiar spiritual side of the ministry by discontinuing this Friday night service.

I believe a contribution was made to the lives of the young men who were to be ordained," Rev. Mr. Stillman said, "and anything that tends to develop the spiritual side is something we should undertake."

Some views by those who were opposed to the idea were that conversion and the preparation for ordination were matters that were too personal and sacred to the individual candidate to be given public declaration.

Settlement Report

The business of Conference was concluded with the presentation of the Settlement Committee's report.

The changes announced in the Presbytery of Peterborough were:

Bethany—Rev. L. W. W. Scott, from Smith's Falls.

Cordova Mines —Ralph Spencer, student supply.

St. James Church, Peterborough,—Rev. Anson E. Moorhouse.

Pontypool—Rev. Geo. A. Adamson, from Eldorado.

Warsaw— Rev. J. W. Wilkinson, from Victoria Road.

Hastings and Westwood charges are merged with Rev. H. J. Bell, pastor.

No appointment has yet been made for Hiwatha. Rev. J. E. Moore, Ph.D., superannuated, is added to Mark Street church, Peterborough; and Rev. A. H. Going, superannuated, to Trinity Church, Peterborough.

Cobourg Presbytery

SEVEN LIVES LOST OVER THE WEEK-END

Four Are Killed in Motor Accidents on Ontario's Highways.

TORONTO, Ont., June 2 (C.P.) — Brilliant weather over the week-end which resulted in United States tourists literally pouring into the Province caused a noticeable crowding on Ontario highways, and consequently the number of motor-car accidents showed a decided increase. A check to-day revealed four persons had lost their lives as a result of the smashes. The total fatality list was seven. Two men being drowned in Northern Ontario waters and an American aviator meeting death in a crash at Walkerville airport.

A serious tragedy was narrowly averted near Oakville when a motor-bus from Toronto turned over on its side. The 32 occupants of the bus crawled out through the broken windows; only one was seriously hurt.

HOW I LOST 28 LBS. IN A SAFE, EASY WAY

Read how one woman lost 28 lbs. of fat, without diet, without dangerous drugs or exercises.

"I take a daily dose of Kruschen and I have lost two inches round the waist and hips and 28 lbs. since last summer. I feel very well on it and people tell me I look very fit. I am 5 ft. 4 in. in height, 40 years old, and come of a stout family." Miss E. L.

Don't go lumbering about with a burden of unhealthy, excess fat—you can get rid of it easily if you get the Kruschen habit.

Kruschen Salts provides the easiest, safest and surest way to lose fat that you can possibly desire. By purifying your blood of harmful acids, helping the liver, kidneys and bowels to throw off waste material, they remove in a natural way the fatty deposits which poisonous waste matter has produced. Not only do you lose pounds in weight, but you lose years in appearance. Little by little, the ugly fat disappears—slowly, yes—but surely—and you soon feel wonderfully healthy, vital and energetic—more so than ever before in your life.

DAIRY WAGON IS HIT BY TRAIN

Horse is Uninjured and Driver Escapes Death By Jumping.

LINDSAY, June 2—While moving from the roundhouse to the station in preparation for its usual morning run from Lindsay to Belleville via Peterborough, the C. N. R. deisel-electric train struck a dairy rig belonging to C. H. Lee at the Cambridge street crossing in Lindsay on Saturday morning. Lee, who was in the rig miraculously escaped injury by jumping before the crash.

The rig was torn from the horse and thrown into the ditch 30 yards down the track a broken, splintered wreck. The horse was uninjured and Lee avoided death by jumping out of the vehicle and running up beside the horse.

After the accident Lee claimed that he could not see the train coming as a line of parked coaches hid it from view. He was driving north on Cambridge street and the train was going eastward. The horse had just cleared the track when the collision occured.

The rig was loaded mostly with empty milk bottles.

SALT RAIDS OVER BUT NEW CRISIS ARISES IN INDIA

vailed that civil resistance would have been checked or abandoned by then, "although at the moment all signs point in the contrary direction."

The correspondent said that growth of the Gandhi movement was shown among other things by the increased number of people wearing the Gandhi caps. In the cities, he said, the majority of the people wear them. They also are beginning to be worn in villages in Punjab while even in aristocratic Simla one in six of the population in the bazaars have donned the symbol of the Nationalist campaign.

Concurrently he said there has been an intensification of the boycott of British goods, and he cited an un-named Punjab merchant is determed to accept his losses cheerfully as a contribution to the Nationalist cause.

The Government was represented in the dispatch as determined to put down lawlessness, but the writer implied a doubt as to whether the civil forces would be able to prevail against disruption without the aid of the military.

SIGNIFICANCE OF TROUBLE

BOMBAY, India, June 2.—(A.P.)—The salt tax, which is the center of the Nationalist attack, is less than a farthing a pound, and is not new to India. It was an ancient method of raising money which the East India Company inherited from the Mogul Empire. Collected at first only in Bengal, it was subsequently extended to other districts.

The native peasant are great consumers of salt, much of which is required to counteract the insipidity of their vegetable diet.

In some districts the manufacture has diminished owing to the importation of foreign salt, but the industry is still widespread and very important. It is carried on partly by private firms and partly by Government agents, but duty has to be paid on it, and to carry on the manufacture without license is illegal, hence the significance of the Gandhi procedure.

LINDSAY CITIZENS WARNED TO BOIL DRINKING WATER

Town's Water Supply Reported Dangerous For Human Consumption.

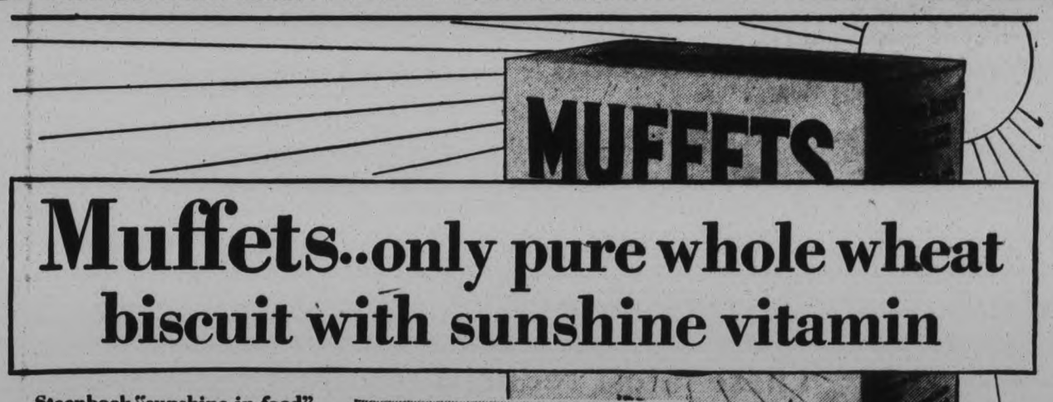
DEPARTMENT MADE TESTS.

Health Officials Grade Water "D" in Recent Tests Made.

LINDSAY, June 2.—Lindsay citizens were warned to boil their drinking water until further notice on Saturday by Medical Officer of Health Dr. F. Blanchard, following the receipt of a report from the Provincial Department of Health rating the town's water supply as dangerous for human consumption.

Water tests had always been reported as satisfactory since the installation of the new water plant in the town, but the water was graded "D" by the Department in its most recent test. Such a grading indicates that in the opinion of the Department that there is present in the water colon bacteria in sufficient numbers to make the water unsafe for drinking unless it has been boiled or treated in some other manner to kill the bacteria.

Steps will be taken to try and remedy the trouble and further tests will be taken.



Muffets..only pure whole wheat biscuit with sunshine vitamin

Steenbock "sunshine in food" discovery makes every Muffet equal in vitamin effect to one hour spent in the sun.*

"EATING for health" now has a new meaning. For now one whole wheat biscuit gives you four of the important vitamins on which health depends.

Muffets is the name of this new cereal. It is a crisp, well-browned biscuit made of the entire wheat grain . . . nothing removed. Thus there is iron, protein and minerals in Muffets that few other foods can offer. Read the health facts printed here.

And such wholesome, appetizing taste of whole wheat, thoroughly baked and toasted through and through! Enjoy the nut-like flavor of Muffets either alone or with milk or cream or fruit juices added.

"Sun" vitamin added

And now by a patented, scientific process, the precious vitamin of sunlight is stored up in every Muffet! You eat Muffets and gain in vitamin result as from basking for 20 minutes in noonday summer sunshine or for 3 hours in winter sun!*

You will want to take advantage of this superior nutrition . . . this promise of more energetic health that only Muffets can give. Mothers now may safeguard their children against the ills that come when sunshine is lacking. Not a day but the whole family now may find health and happiness in Muffets.

Good at any meal. Economical . . . the price has not been changed. Get them at your grocer.

BEAUTIFUL MEMORIAL UNVEILED BY COL. ANDERSON OF KINGSTON

four and five deep in a solid phalanx behind them.

The troops and ex-service men, headed by Lakefield Citizens' Band, under Bandmaster Walter Madill, marched down Bridge Street to the tune of "God Bless the Prince of Wales," at their head was Standard-bearer Sergeant Thomas Cunningham, and at the rear of the band the Lakefield High School Cadets, under Cadet Captain Ronald Kemp. Grove School Cadet Corps, under Cadet Captain John Macauley, with their bugle band, in charge of Bandmaster Beardmore, son of Colonel Beardmore, of the Toronto Grenadiers, and the color party, with Colorbearer J. McCrea, ex-servicemen of the Canadian Legion, Lakefield Post No. 77, in command of President J. R. Hill, M.M., and a detachment of the Peterborough Rangers and the 3rd Company, 4th Machine Gun Corps.

The guard of honor, in charge of Sergeant Stenner, an old soldier of the Afghan and South African campaigns, and a member of the original Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, solemnly and reverently took up their positions at each of the four corners on the grass plot surrounding the cenotaph. The other members of the inner guard were Lawrence Charlton and Edward Tighe and Arthur Barker. The last two were former members of the 93rd Battalion. The outer guard was supplied by members of the Peterborough Rangers Regiment, and was changed periodically. The guard stood at the present while Colonel Anderson, accompanied by his aide-de-camp, Captain H. Brownfield, M.C., the president of the local post of the Canadian Legion, J. R. Hill, M.M., and K. A. Mackenzie, secretary of the Legion, concluded the inspection of all units on parade, during which time the buglers sounded the general salute. Then with reversed arms and bowed heads the guard maintained their vigil in full military honor to their dead comrades.

Rev. A. W. Mackenzie, D.D., principal of the Grove School, in the introductory address, said: "We are assembled here with one common cause, with one thought in our minds, that of honoring the young men who went from Lakefield and district to serve their country, and who did not come back. As we unveil this memorial cross in their honor, we are, as it were, obliged to renew our own loyalty to God, our King, and Canada." Speaking to those whose hearts are sad, who have had the door of memory reopened and whose grief has been awakened, the speaker thought that although they would feel more deeply than the rest, they could never know how proud we all are, and he added, "we are all one in sympathy."

"This emblem chosen by you as a memorial, the symbol of the cross, will stand here in this public place as a constant reminder of the sacrifices made by the men of this district who died overseas—who gave their all."

Flag Used in London.

The reverend speaker drew attention to the white ensign which draped the monument, and said that it was the identical flag used on the cenotaph in London on the first Armistice anniversary. It was presented by Lord Jellicoe to the Canadian Legion, and was loaned by that organization for this occasion. He also noted the fact that several ex-service men were present—"comrades of those whom the service commemorates." The speaker specially mentioned Archdeacon Davidson, chaplain of the 93rd Regiment, Colonel Charles Ackerman, president of the Ontario Command, Canadian Legion, Colonel Anderson, and Rev. T. M. Wesley, the only minister in Lakefield who went overseas.

The hymn, "Fight the Good Fight," was followed by the Scripture reading from Psalm 46, and with the Lord's Prayer, the assembly being led by Rev. T. M. Wesley, after which the hymn, "O Valiant Hearts," was sung.

The Honor Roll.

Colonel Anderson read the honor roll, which bears the following forty-two names:

Arthur Alfred.
Frank Armstrong.
John Armstrong.
Dalling Barlee.
Edward Bloomfield.
Gordon Calberry.
Herbert Calberry.
Roland Carter.

"We all feel joined close together and uplifted together by the spirit of this national and community act. This memorial which you citizens have erected is so splendid and appropriate," declared Archdeacon J. C. Davidson, in making the unveiling statement. "Lakefield has reason to be proud of the men who so worthily represented her in the world convulsion which threatened the British Empire and her ideals. This monument is placed on the highway amid the traffic and work and pleasures of the world, and will stand as silent testimony to the unseen world which often seems so far away, and yet is so near, and to which all noble dead have gone." As the reverend speaker proceeded to speak of the days in France, where he had comforted the dying in his duties as chaplain, the church bell commenced to toll solemnly. Yes, he said, those men died heroically, and our hearts go out tenderly to all connected to those men. The message comes to each one to-day, through this memorial, to do our bit, as they did their bit. We must seize every opportunity of performing national or private service to our fellow-men, we must rise to the splendor of forgetful self-sacrifice."

"Citizens of Lakefield," he concluded, "you have helped to perpetuate these men's lives — to bring them home, as it were, to live among you in their homeland to which their faces so often turned. May this monument be an inspiration to live true, worthwhile, and self-sacrificing lives."

Congratulating the citizens of Lakefield and the members of the Canadian Legion on producing such a fitting memorial, Colonel Anderson said it is over eleven years since the war was brought to a conclusion, and there are many children of to-day who have no recollection of the war. He hoped that children would be brought up to have a proper regard for the sanctity of the cenotaph, and would never pass it without thinking of the supreme efforts made by Canada and her great part in the war and the great number of heroic dead who fell in France and foreign battlefields. May it help," he said in closing, "each one of us to live better lives of service to our country."

He then unveiled the cenotaph, while Bugler Cadet C. Warren sounded the Last Post, to be followed, after an interval of two minutes' silence, by the sounding of the Reveille, at which time the guard of honor and all troops on parade stood at the present.

"O Canada" sung by the entire assembly preceded a short address by Colonel Charles Ackerman, who read the funeral oration of Pericles, which he said described his feelings better than anything else could. He congratulated the citizens and comrades of the Legion on the wonderful memorial, which was strong and dignified in its simple beauty, and said it is a tangible manner of reminding rising generations of the men who gave their lives that this country should be a better country in which to live. Colonel Ackerman also called attention to the flag which had shrouded the memorial, adding that it is one of the many flags which will be sent out by the British Empire Service League in the hope that the use of them will do much to impress upon the people the great work which the B.E.S.L., with which is incorporated the Canadian Legion, is doing among ex-service men by trying to incorporate into their lives all the best that we find in the British Army while on active service.

The prayer of dedication was then offered by Archdeacon Davidson, after which a few words of thanks to the various organizations and to were addressed by the president of Colonel Anderson and the clergy the Legion, who is also a member of the War Memorial Committee.

A Fenian Veteran.

The speaker called attention to the presence of an old comrade who served in the Fenian Raids in 1866, and who is one of the last of that gallant little company of men who served in that campaign under the late Major Leigh. The old veteran, John Edwards, is still hale and hearty, and was the recipient of a handshake and good wishes of Col. Anderson. Other veterans present included Captain T. W. B. Marling, M.C., Captain M. P. Kennedy, M.C., and Dr. C. W. Finnemore, who along with Sergeant Stenner is also a member of the original battalion of the P.P.C.L.I.

W. H. Casement, of the War Memorial Committee, presented the Cenotaph to the town of Lakefield, to be taken care of by the citizens for all time, and in accepting the honor Reeve C. S. Tanner said, "We also accept the responsibility for caring for and protecting it. We are honored to accept that sacred duty."

Several wreaths were laid at the base of the memorial, including one from the Canadian Legion Ladies' Auxiliary per Mrs. J. R. Robinson, and from the Women's Institute and Junior Institute by Mrs. A. Davies and Miss R. Frankish respectively.

Work was completed on the memorial during the second week of February of this year. The contractor, John Coughlin of Peterborough, built the monument in six sections, each weighing approximately four and one-half tons, with grey granite obtained from Stanstead, Quebec. The Memorial Committee is composed of the following:

Rev. A. W. Mackenzie, W. H. Casement, postmaster, G. G. Connell, manager, Royal Bank, R. E. Nevison, former manager local branch Canadian Bank of Commerce, J. R. Hill, and K. A. Mackenzie, representing the veterans of the Legion, M. P. Kennedy, the first man in Lakefield to enlist on the outbreak of war, Mrs. W. M. Graham and Miss B. Graham.

Invitations were extended by the committee to Rev. Father Paul Costello of Peterborough and Rev. Father J. J. Garvey of St. Paul's Church, who were unavoidably absent.
